SUPPORT FOR HP-COMPAQ MERGER TWICE AS HIGH AMONG NON-FAMILY INSTITUTIONS THAT HAVE ANNOUNCED THEIR INTENT

SUPPORT FOR MERGER GAINS MOMENTUM IN ADVANCE OF MARCH 19 SPECIAL MEETING

PALO ALTO, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- March 17, 2002 -- Hewlett-Packard Company (NYSE:HWP - news) today issued the following update with respect to its merger with Compaq Computer Corporation. More information on the merger is available at www.VotetheHPWay.com.

The number of shares owned by institutions that have publicly indicated their support for the merger is about double that of those that have indicated they are opposed, excluding shares owned by the Hewlett and Packard families and the foundations associated with them. In the last several weeks, more than 20 institutional shareowners, many of them pension funds, have issued press releases or disclosed to members of the media how they are voting their shares. (1)

HP is pleased that the institutions that have announced they will vote for the merger in recent days recognize the importance of the merger for HP. Last week, HP stated its belief that most of the top 20 HP institutional investors are in support of the merger. Many large institutional shareowners have policies against publicly indicating how they will vote.

Institutions that have disclosed their plans to vote their shares in support of the merger include: Alliance Capital, Banc One Investment Advisors, Barclay's Global, Collins & Co., Domini Social Investments, Federated Investors, Fremont Investment, General Motors Investment Management, Intel Corp., ITUG, Interex, L. Roy Papp Associates and Putnam Investment.

In addition, in the last 48 hours, four big retirement funds -- Florida State Board of Administration, Pennsylvania Public School Employees Retirement System, State Teachers Retirement System of Ohio and the Wisconsin Investment Board -- have stated their intent to vote in favor of the merger.

HP acknowledges that the investors that have publicly announced represent only a portion of the total shares voting and that HP cannot predict the outcome of the vote until all votes are in. Accordingly, HP encourages shareowners to continue returning their proxies in advance of the March 19 special meeting.
