McDonald's has a track record of leadership in animal welfare and we report our progress on our website. To ensure that our suppliers meet McDonald's animal welfare objectives, we adopted the McDonald's Animal Welfare Guiding Principles. In addition, we were the first in our industry to initiate and organize a council of preeminent, independent animal welfare experts the McDonald's Animal Welfare Council to provide us with their recommendations and counsel. Our commitment, leadership and results are well established, recognized and global. Accordingly, the Board of Directors recommends a vote against this proposal.

Re: VOTING OF SHARES HELD IN EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLANS

The proxy season is upon us, and we are asking for your help to secure the vote. Over the years, the various benefit plans for McDonald's and its subsidiaries have continued to purchase shares and, in total, that ownership has become substantial. It is important that we get into the practice of voting these shares all over the world. The purpose of this memo is threefold:

1. To encourage you to remind your employees to vote the shares that they own as a result of stock options, bonuses and stock purchases;
2. To ensure that you vote the shares held by your company or employee benefit plans. In some cases, you may have to contact the bank or broker who is holding the shares for the benefit plans to direct the voting.
3. To enlist your support of the Board's voting recommendations.

Around April 10, shareholders were sent McDonald's summary annual report, financial report and proxy statement (all of which also are available on our website at <http://www.investor.mcdonalds.com>), as well as a voting card.

We would appreciate you using whatever communications tools are available to you (i.e., voicemail, e-mail or Intranet) to encourage your employees to vote as soon as possible. Shareholders should refer to their proxy voting card for instructions on voting shares by phone, fax, mail or via the Internet. For your convenience, I have enclosed a script you can use to encourage employees to vote.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Lynn Camp at lynn.camp@mcd.com or 630-623-8432. Thank you for your assistance on this annual matter.
