Re: Eaton Vance Florida Municipal Income Trust (FEV); and
Eaton Vance Insured Florida Municipal Bond Fund (EIF)

Mr. Marius:

Karpus Management, Inc., d/b/a Karpus Investment Management ("Karpus"), represents beneficial ownership of 469,984 shares, or 11.04%, of Eaton Vance Florida Municipal Income Trust ("FEV") and 285,293 shares, or 11.08%, of Eaton Vance Insured Florida Municipal Bond Fund ("EIF"). As you are aware, Florida repealed its intangible personal property tax effective January 1, 2007 and has no state income tax. As a result, municipal bonds issued by the state of Florida no longer provide a specific tax advantage to Florida residents, and there is no reason to maintain a Florida state specific bond fund. These funds do not offer shareholders the benefits of the funds' original objective, and shareholders should be given an opportunity to exit these funds without damage. We believe the board has 3 options to consider: 1.) liquidate; 2.) merge with a national municipal bond open-end fund; or 3.) merge with a national municipal bond closed-end fund. As the largest shareholder of these 2 funds, we are concerned with being exposed to a high concentration of Florida securities without realizing favorable tax treatment. Regarding Option 1, liquidating the fund would allow shareholders to exit the fund and diversify into a similar national municipal bond fund at net asset value. Alternatively, Option 2 would also allow dissenting shareholders an opportunity to reduce their exposure to Florida without damage. Lastly, Option 3 (and the least preferable), is to merge the funds into a similar national closed-end fund (EIM, EIV, EVN). While this option may increase liquidity and reduce expenses for the funds, we are concerned that it may create a disproportionate weighting of Florida bonds that could not be reduced in a timely and cost effective manner. Thank you for your time and consideration. Please do not hesitate to contact me directly to discuss these matters.

Sincerely,

/s/

Re: Eaton Vance Florida Municipal Income Trust (FEV); and
Eaton Vance Insured Florida Municipal Bond Fund (EIF)
(collectively, the "Funds")

Mr. Pelletier:

We are in receipt of your letter dated December 12, 2007 and are fully aware of the press release issued by the Funds on the same date. We are particularly concerned with the time frame and lack of direction which are referenced in the letter; specifically that "sufficient time" is needed to reduce the Funds' Florida bond concentration and that the Funds "may consider other additional measures" in the future. The repeal of the Florida intangible personal property tax was effective January 1, 2007. Shareholders have already waited almost one year for the Funds to address our concerns and now the Funds have told shareholders (via a press release on December 12, 2007) they will be incurring further expenses without offering a timely solution to the elimination of the purpose of the Funds' very existence. As we stated in our previous letter, due to the repeal of the Florida intangible personal property tax, there is no reason to maintain a Florida state specific bond fund. Furthermore, the Funds are relatively small and consequently carry high expense ratios relative to their peers. Our belief is that the persistently wide discount to net asset value of the Funds is a function of high expenses, limited liquidity (low volume), and limited geographical diversification of each portfolio's holdings. While we understand that the Trustees of the Funds cannot control legislative actions, we do believe that one year is more than adequate time to definitively address this issue. In fact, other fund families have proactively dealt with this very issue and have already obtained the necessary shareholder approvals to do so. It is our belief that the Trustees failure to be proactive has caused economic harm to shareholders due to excess discount widening (as can be seen on the attached charts comparing the discounts of FEV and EIF versus the national Eaton Vance municipal bond funds EIV, EIM and EVN). Essentially, each Funds' shareholders have already owned shares of an investment which is not allowing them to realize the geographic diversification and economies of scale that they otherwise could in larger national municipal bond fund. We are not comfortable with the Trustees' lack of urgency to address this issue, and are requesting a more expedient response to alleviate this problem. In the absence of such an action, we reserve all rights as shareholders to present any additional options to fellow shareholders so as to minimize further economic harm. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to speaking with you soon regarding our concerns.

Sincerely,

/s/

Re: Eaton Vance Insured Florida Municipal Bond Fund (NYSE: EIF)

Mr. Marius:

Pursuant to rule 14a-8 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, Karpus Management, Inc., d/b/a Karpus Investment Management ("Karpus"), submits the following proposal and supporting statement regarding the Eaton Vance Insured Florida Municipal Bond Fund. ("EIF" or the "Fund") for inclusion in management's proxy materials for the next meeting of shareholders (the "Meeting") anticipated to be held in July 2008:

RESOLVED: The shareholders request the Board of Trustees to promptly consider merging the Fund with a similar national closed-end municipal bond fund.

Supporting Statement

The repeal of the Florida intangible personal property tax was effective January 1, 2007. Shareholders have waited over one year for the Fund to address our concerns, and now the Fund has told shareholders (via a press release on December 12, 2007) they will continue to incur further economic harm without offering a timely solution to the elimination of the purpose of the fund's very existence. There is no reason to maintain a Florida state specific bond fund. Furthermore, the Fund is relatively small and carries a high expense ratio relative to its peers. Our belief is that the persistently wide discount to net asset value is a function of high expenses, limited liquidity (low volume), and limited geographical diversification of the portfolio holdings. The Trustees' failure to be proactive on this issue has caused and continues to cause economic harm to shareholders. We believe one year is more than adequate time to definitively address this issue, and we cannot wait any longer. We therefore ask that you vote FOR merging the Fund with a similar national closed-end municipal bond fund.

END OF PROPOSAL

As is also required by rule 14a-8, we have attached a letter from U.S. Bank N.A. as well as a written statement from the "record" holder of the referenced shares, verifying that, at the time our proposal was submitted, said shares were continuously and beneficially owned and having a value of $2,000 or more for at least one year from the date of the submittal of this proposal. Furthermore, Karpus intends to hold the referenced shares on the attached through the expected date of the Meeting.

Sincerely,

/s/

Re: Eaton Vance Insured Florida Plus Municipal Bond Fund (NYSE: EIF)

Mr. Marius:

Karpus Management, Inc., d/b/a Karpus Investment Management ("Karpus") represents beneficial ownership of 341,173 shares or 13.25% of the outstanding common shares of the Eaton Vance Insured Florida Plus Municipal Bond Fund ("EIF" or the "Fund"). Karpus intends to present the following proposal at the 2008 annual meeting, anticipated to be held in July 2008:

PROPOSAL

The investment advisory agreement between the Fund and Eaton Vance Management shall be terminated.

Florida repealed its intangible personal property tax effective January 1, 2007, and has no state income tax. As a result, there is no reason to maintain a Florida state specific municipal bond fund. On November 16th 2007, we sent a letter to the board addressing this specific concern. In response to our letter and concerns, the fund issued a press release stating that "sufficient time" is required to reduce the funds Florida bond concentration. Other fund companies have been far more proactive and have taken the initiative to reduce their geographical risk to Florida. We are concerned that the fund waited almost one full year to address this issue, and apparently did so only as a reaction to our shareholder letter. As of 12/31/2007, EIF was 90% invested in Florida Bonds (the remainder was NY and Puerto Rico). As shareholders, we should not have to continue to bear this concentrated geographical risk without any tax benefits. The NAV performance of EIF has been extremely volatile, and has significantly underperformed comparable national municipal bond funds. Below is a chart of the performance of EIF versus comparable municipal bond indices.

Fund/Comparable NAV/Index Performance

EIF	-8.75%
Lehman Muni Bond Index	-0.61%
Lehman Muni Bond Long Bond (22+)	-4.14%

Source: Bloomberg

The slow response of the fund to reduce exposure to Florida has caused economic harm to shareholders. The extreme volatility of the fund also indicates that the fund is not only exposed to geographic risk, but is also risky in nature. From 2/12 to 2/29, we saw the NAV decrease by 17%, then spring back the following week to increase by 12% by 3/7. We realize this was a volatile period for municipal bonds, but this is extreme as compared to the Lehman Muni Bond Index, which showed a 4.8% drop followed by a 3.0% increase. Indeed, this type of volatility is extreme even when compared to an equity index such as the S&P 500 which did not fluctuate nearly this much during the entire quarter. It appears that fund management has added risk to an already geographically risky portfolio. This is not what we signed up for and is hardly the performance and volatility we would expect from any municipal bond portfolio. In addition to submitting the proposal above, this letter shall also serve to notify the Fund as to the nomination by Karpus of three (3) independent nominees for election to the Board of Directors of EIF (the "EIF Board") at the next Meeting anticipated to be held in July 2008. Pursuant to the Fund's DEF14A filed on May 31, 2007, Karpus believes that the terms of three (3) directors currently serving on the EIF Board expire at the Meeting. To the extent there are in excess of three (3) vacancies on the EIF Board to be filled by election at the Meeting or EIF increases the size of the EIF Board above its existing size, Karpus reserves the right to nominate additional nominees to be elected to the EIF Board at the Meeting. Additionally, if this Notice shall be deemed for any reason to be ineffective with respect to the nomination of any of the Nominees at the Meeting, or if any individual Nominee shall be unable to serve for any reason, this Notice shall continue to be effective with respect to the remaining Nominee(s) and as to any replacement Nominee(s) selected by Karpus. Through this Notice, Karpus hereby nominates and notifies you of its intent to nominate Jeffrey P. Lessard, PhD, CFA, Dwight A. Pike, CFA and Brad Orvieto as independent nominees (the "Nominees") to be elected to the EIF Board at the upcoming Meeting. The basic premise of Karpus submitting nominees to the EIF Board is to ensure that shareholders' best interests are represented. Each of the Fund's nominees anticipated to be elected at the Meeting serve on an average of 171 funds within the Eaton Vance Fund Family. The current Board members are not independent in our view. This lack of independence means that the Board does not have shareholders' best interests in mind and can be evidenced by the Board's lack of timely reaction to the repeal of the Florida intangible property tax. As is stated above, the slow response of the Fund to reduce exposure to Florida state specific municipal bonds caused shareholders economic harm. We therefore believe that shareholders must have independent representation on the Board and submit the following nominees, whose information is set forth below:
