What is the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program?

Vonage is proposing to conduct an initial public offering of its common stock. In connection with the initial public offering, Vonage has requested that the underwriters reserve shares of common stock for sale to certain of its customers at the initial public offering price. The Vonage Customer Directed Share Program is the program through which the underwriters will make these shares available for purchase by eligible Vonage customers. The terms and conditions of the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program are set forth in detail on the Terms and Conditions page which can be accessed from the Main Menu of this website.

What is the initial public offering?

The initial public offering will be Vonage's first offering of shares of its common stock for purchase by the public. The proposed initial public offering is described in the registration statement of Vonage Holdings Corp. that has been filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, a copy of which can be found on the Securities and Exchange Commission's website at www.sec.gov. A copy of the prospectus currently on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission, which forms a part of the registration statement, is available by clicking on the Prospectus link on the bottom of each page of this website.

What is the prospectus?

The prospectus is a document that contains important information relating to an investment in Vonage's common stock. Before making any decision to invest in Vonage's common stock, you should understand and carefully consider all the information contained in the prospectus, especially the information set forth under the heading Risk Factors. Conditional Offer Questions

What is a conditional offer?

A conditional offer is an offer by you to purchase up to the number of shares of Vonage common stock you specify at any price within the expected initial public offering price range set forth on this website.

If you submit a conditional offer, you may withdraw your conditional offer at any time until we post an acceptance notification to this website, which will not occur until after the registration statement has been declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the initial public offering price of Vonage's common stock has been determined. The posting of the acceptance notification will constitute the underwriters' acceptance of your conditional offer. Once your conditional offer has been accepted, you will become obligated to purchase the number of shares you have been allocated at the initial public offering price. If the conditional offers placed by eligible Vonage customers exceed the number of shares that have been reserved for sale through this program, you may be allocated fewer than the number of shares you have conditionally offered to purchase, or no shares at all.

You must check this website regularly for any notices or announcements relating to your conditional offer and the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program. If the expected initial public offering price range is changed, or if the initial public offering price is set above or below the final price range, your original conditional offer will become invalid and you will need to enter a new conditional offer in order to continue to participate in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program. Your conditional offer also may become invalid in certain other circumstances.

Can I withdraw my conditional offer?

You may withdraw your conditional offer at any time until we post an acceptance notification to this website, which will not occur until after the registration statement has been declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the initial public offering price of Vonage's common stock has been determined.

Can I change my conditional offer?

Once you have entered a conditional offer, you may change your conditional offer only by withdrawing the conditional offer you entered and submitting a new conditional offer. Please note that while you can withdraw your conditional offer at any time until an acceptance notification is posted to this website, you may enter new conditional offers only until [time] on [date].

How will I find out if my conditional offer has been accepted?

After the registration statement relating to Vonage's initial public offering has been declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the initial public offering price of Vonage's common stock has been set, an acceptance notification will be posted to this website if your conditional offer has been accepted and you have been allocated shares to purchase in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program. The acceptance notification may be posted in as little as one hour after the initial public offering price is determined and posted on this website.

When do I become obligated to purchase Vonage common stock through the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program?

Limited Purpose Brokerage Accounts

In order to participate in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program, you must open a limited purpose brokerage account at either Smith Barney, Deutsche Bank Alex.Brown, a division of Deutsche Bank Securities Inc., or UBS Financial Services Inc. A limited purpose brokerage account opened through this website is a brokerage account that can be used only to purchase, hold, sell or transfer the shares of Vonage common stock that are allocated to you for purchase in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program. A limited purpose brokerage account opened through this website cannot be used to purchase or hold any other shares of Vonage common stock or any other securities. You will be permitted to purchase shares of Vonage common stock allocated to you in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program only through a limited purpose brokerage account at one of these financial institutions. Even if you already have a brokerage account at one of these financial institutions, you must open a new limited purpose account through this website. You will not be permitted to use any of your existing brokerage accounts to purchase shares allocated to you through this program. After you have purchased shares using the limited purpose brokerage account you open through this website, you may be able to transfer those shares into your existing brokerage accounts. Instructions for transferring your shares to another brokerage account can be found in the terms and conditions of your limited purpose brokerage account, which are posted elsewhere on this website.

You will be prompted to select the financial institution at which you would like to open your limited purpose brokerage account elsewhere on this website. The terms and conditions of limited purpose brokerage accounts at each financial institution may be different. Details about the terms and conditions of accounts at each financial institution are available elsewhere on this website. You must open an account at one of these financial institutions through this website by [time] on [date]. Your financial institution may require additional information from you in order to open your limited purpose brokerage account. As a result, delay in choosing a financial institution and opening a limited purpose brokerage account may result in you becoming ineligible to participate in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program.

Edgar Filing: VONAGE HOLDINGS CORP - Form FWP

You may change your selection of the financial institution at which you would like to open your limited purpose brokerage account at any time until you submit a conditional offer, as described in more detail below. Once you submit a conditional offer, you will no longer be able to change your selection of a financial institution.

Conditional Offers

In order to participate in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program, you must enter a conditional offer to purchase a number of shares of Vonage common stock. If you choose to participate, you must make a conditional offer to purchase at least 100 and no more than 5,000 shares. Conditional offers can be entered only for multiples of 100 shares. If you submit a conditional offer, you may withdraw your conditional offer at any time until we post an acceptance notification to this website, which will not occur until after the registration statement has been declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission and the initial public offering price of Vonage's common stock has been determined. At present, conditional offers may be entered until at least [time] on [date]. This deadline may be revised. You will be informed of any changes to this deadline through information posted on this website. If you do not provide a conditional offer and otherwise complete the process outlined on this page, you may be excluded from participation in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program.

By submitting a conditional offer, you will be offering to purchase up to the number of shares of Vonage common stock you specify at any price within the initial public offering price range set forth on this website. If the initial public offering price is set within that range, you likely will not be asked to resubmit or reconfirm your conditional offer. In that case, on the date the initial public offering price is set, an acceptance notification will be posted to this website, which will include a final summary of the terms of the offering and a notification of the number of shares you have been allocated to purchase through the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program. The posting of the acceptance notification will constitute the underwriters' acceptance of your conditional offer. Once your conditional offer has been accepted, you will become obligated to purchase the number of shares you have been allocated at the initial public offering price. You should only place a conditional offer for the number of shares for which you are willing and able to pay.

If the initial public offering price is set above or below the expected range, or if the expected initial public offering price range is changed, your then-outstanding conditional offer will become invalid and you will need to enter a new conditional offer in order to continue to participate in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program. Your conditional offer also may become invalid in certain other circumstances. If your conditional offer becomes invalid, you will be notified through information posted on this website. You must check this website regularly for any notices or announcements relating to your conditional offer.

You may withdraw your conditional offer at any time until an acceptance notification is posted to this website. The acceptance notification may be posted in as little as one hour after the initial public offering price is determined and posted on this website.

Once you have entered a conditional offer, you may change your conditional offer only by withdrawing the conditional offer you entered and submitting a new conditional offer. Please note that while you can withdraw your conditional offer at any time until an acceptance notification is posted to this website, you will not be able to enter a new conditional offer after [time] on [date].

Allocation Methodology

In the event that valid conditional offers are submitted for more shares than have been reserved for allocation in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program, Vonage will allocate shares for purchase by eligible Vonage customers as follows:

1. Vonage will first attempt to allocate shares to all customers who submitted a valid conditional offer by reducing each customer's conditional offer by a percentage and allocating shares to each customer in the amount of his or her reduced conditional offer.
 - o Each customer's conditional offer will be reduced by the same percentage, rounded up to the nearest 100 shares. No conditional offer will be reduced, however, to below 100 shares as a result of this pro rata reduction.
 - o Vonage will reduce the conditional offers by the lowest percentage that will allow all conditional offers, as reduced and after rounding, to be filled. Vonage will not, however, apply a pro rata reduction that exceeds 75%.
2. In the event that not all of the conditional offers, as reduced by 75% and after rounding, can be filled, the following allocation model will be used:
 - o Conditional offers, as reduced by 75% and after rounding, will be filled in size order, with the largest conditional offers filled first. For example, any conditional offers for 5,000 shares would be reduced by 75% and rounded up to the nearest 100 shares, resulting in conditional offers for 1,300 shares. Each of these conditional offers would be filled with 1,300 shares prior to filling any conditional offers for fewer shares.

o In the event that not all of the conditional offers of a particular size can be filled, but there remain shares available for allocation, conditional offers will be filled within the particular size by lottery.

Payment for Shares

If your conditional offer is accepted, you will be obligated to pay for the shares you are allocated. No payment will be accepted until the registration statement relating to Vonage's initial public offering has been declared effective and the initial public offering price has been determined. If you are allocated shares to purchase in the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program, payment instructions for those shares will be posted to this website at that time.

You will be able to make your payment by personal check or wire transfer. You will not be permitted to pay by credit card, debit card, money order or a check from someone other than yourself. Your payment must be received within three business days after Vonage's common stock begins to trade on the New York Stock Exchange.

While you will be able to place an order to sell shares you purchase through this program as soon as the trading of Vonage common stock begins on the New York Stock Exchange, no proceeds from the sale of those shares will be available to you until the financial institution at which you opened your limited purpose brokerage account has received your full payment for the shares and funds have settled.

I understand and accept these terms and am interested in learning more about the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program.

I do not accept these terms and I am not interested in learning more about the Vonage Customer Directed Share Program.

Terms & Conditions of W9 Form
Purpose of Form
	A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS, must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.
	U.S. person. Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:
1.	Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2.	Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3.	Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee.
	In 3 above, if applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. Person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.
Note: If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.
	For federal tax purposes you are considered a person if you are:
	An individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States,
	A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States, or Any estate (other than a foreign estate) or trust. See Regulations sections 301.7701-6(a) and 7(a) for additional information.
	Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income. The person who gives Form W-9 to the partnership for purposes of establishing its U.S. status and avoiding withholding on its allocable share of net income from the partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States is in the following cases: The U.S. owner of a disregarded entity and not the entity, The U.S. grantor or other owner of a grantor trust and not the trust, and The U.S. trust (other than a grantor trust) and not the beneficiaries of the trust.
	Foreign person. If you are a foreign person, do not use Form W-9. Instead, use the appropriate Form W-8 (see Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities).
	Nonresident alien who becomes a resident alien. Generally, only a nonresident alien individual may use the terms of a tax treaty to reduce or eliminate U.S. tax on certain types of income. However, most tax treaties contain a provision known as a saving clause. Exceptions specified in the saving clause may permit an exemption from tax to continue for certain types of income even after the recipient has otherwise become a U.S. resident alien for tax purposes.
	If you are a U.S. resident alien who is relying on an exception contained in the saving clause of a tax treaty to claim an exemption from U.S. tax on certain types of income, you must attach a statement to Form W-9 that specifies the following five items:
1.	The treaty country. Generally, this must be the same treaty under which you claimed exemption from tax as nonresident alien.
2.	The treaty article addressing the income.

Edgar Filing: VONAGE HOLDINGS CORP - Form FWP

		The article number (or location) in the tax treaty that contains the saving clause and its exceptions.
	4.	The type and amount of income that qualifies for the exemption from tax.
	5.	Sufficient facts to justify the exemption from tax under the terms of the treaty article.
	Example. Article 20 of the U.S.-China income tax treaty allows an exemption from tax for scholarship income received by a Chinese student temporarily present in the United States. Under U.S. law, this student will become a resident alien for tax purposes if his or her stay in the United States exceeds 5 calendar years. However, paragraph 2 of the first Protocol to the U.S.-China treaty (dated April 30,1984) allows the provisions of Article 20 to continue to apply even after the Chinese student becomes a resident alien of the United States. A Chinese student who qualifies for this exception (under paragraph 2 of the first protocol) and is relying on this exception to claim an exemption from tax on his or her scholarship or fellowship income would attach to Form W-9 a statement that includes the information described above to support that exemption.
		If you are a nonresident alien or a foreign entity not subject to backup withholding, give the requester the appropriate completed Form W-8.
	What is backup withholding? Persons making certain payments to you must under certain conditions withhold pay to the IRS 28% of such payments (after December 2002). This is called backup withholding. Payments that may be subject to backup withholding include interest, dividends, broker and barter exchange transactions, rents, royalties, nonemployee pay, and certain payments from fishing boat operators. Real estate transactions are not subject to backup withholding.
	You will not be subject to backup withholding on payments you receive if you give the requester your correct TIN, make the proper certifications, and report all your taxable interest and dividends on your tax return.
	Payments you receive will be subject to backup withholding if:
	1.	You do not furnish your TIN to the requester,
	2.	You do not certify your TIN when required (see the Part II instructions on page 4 for details),
	3.	The IRS tells the requester that you furnished an incorrect TIN,
	4.	The IRS tells you that you are subject to backup withholding because you did not report all your interest and dividends on your tax return (for reportable interest and dividends only),
	5.	You do not certify to the requester that you are not subject to backup withholding under 4 above (for reportable interest and dividend accounts opened after 1983 only).
	Certain payees and payments are exempt from backup withholding. See the instructions below and the separate Instructions for the Requester of Form W-9.
	Also see Special rules regarding partnerships on page 1.

Penalties

Failure to furnish TIN. If you fail to furnish your correct TIN to a requester, you are subject to a penalty of $50 for each such failure unless your failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

Civil penalty for false information with respect to withholding. If you make a false statement with no reasonable basis that results in no backup withholding, you are subject to a $500 penalty.

Criminal penalty for falsifying information. Willfully falsifying certifications or affirmations may subject you to criminal penalties including fines and/or imprisonment.

Misuse of TINs If the requester discloses or uses TINs in violation of federal law, the requester may be subject to civil and criminal penalties.

Part I. Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. If you are a resident alien and you do not have and are not eligible to get an SSN, your TIN is your IRS individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN). Enter it in the social security number box. If you do not have an ITIN, see How to get a TIN below.

If you are a sole proprietor and you have an EIN, you may enter either your SSN or EIN. However, the IRS prefers that you use your SSN.

If you are a single-owner LLC that is disregarded as an entity separate from its owner (see Limited liability company LLC on page 2), enter your SSN (or EIN, if you have one). If the LLC is a corporation, partnership, etc., enter the entity's EIN.

Note. See the chart on page 4 for further clarification of name and TIN combinations.

How to get a TIN. If you do not have a TIN, apply for one immediately. To apply for an SSN, get Form SS-5, Application for a Social Security Card, from your local Security Administration office or get this form online at www.socialsecurity.gov/. You may also get form by calling 1-800-772-1213. Use Form W-7, Application for IRS Individual Taxpayer Identification Number, to apply for an ITIN, or Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number, to apply for an EIN. You can apply an EIN online by accessing the IRS website at www.irs.gov/businesses/ and clicking on Employer ID Numbers under Related Topics. You can get Forms W-SS-4 from the IRS by visiting www.irs.gov or by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676).

If you are asked to complete Form W-9 but do not have a TIN, write Applied For in the space for the TIN, sign and date the form, and give it to the requester. For interest and dividend payments, and certain payments made with respect to readily tradable instruments, generally you will have 60 days to get a TIN and give it to the requester before you are subject to backup withholding on payments. The 60-day rule does not apply to other types of payments. You will be subject to backup withholding on all such payments until you provide your TIN to the requester.

Note. Writing Applied For means that you have already applied for a TIN or that you intend to apply for one soon.

Caution. A disregarded domestic entity that has a foreign owner must use the appropriate Form W-8.

Part II. Certification

To establish to the withholding agent that you are a U.S. person, or resident alien, sign Form W-9. You may be requested to sign by the withholding agent even if items 1, 4, and 5 below indicate otherwise.

For a joint account, only the person whose TIN is shown Part I should sign (when required). Exempt recipients, see Exempt From Backup Withholding on page 2
