Corporate History

CEDA was incorporated in the State of North Carolina on December 2, 1996 under the name of ABC Realty Co. to engage in residential real estate transactions as a broker or agent. In performing these residential real estate services. The Company changed its name several times and engaged in several types of business before it became inactive.

On September 15, 2004, the Company executed a Plan of Exchange (the "Agreement"), between and among the Company, Zhong He Li Da Education Technology, Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the People's Republic of China ("ZHL D"), the shareholders of ZHL D (the "ZHL D Shareholders"), and Duane Bennett, Chairman of the Board and controlling shareholder of the Company.

At the closing of the Plan of Exchange which occurred on December 13, 2004, the Company issued the ZHL D Shareholders 55,000,000 shares of common stock of the Company, or 95% of the Company's then outstanding common stock, in exchange for all of the shares of capital stock of ZHL D owned by the ZHL D shareholders. Immediately upon the closing, the Company cancelled 11,000,000 shares of common stock controlled by Duane Bennett, and, as a result, the Company had 2,915,000 shares issued and outstanding before the issuance of the 55,000,000 new shares. Payment for the cancelled shares was made by ZHL D and/or the ZHL D Shareholders in the amount of $400,000 in the aggregate (composed of $300,000 in cash and $100,000 in a promissory note).

On November 17, 2004, the Company changed its name to China Education Alliance, Inc.

Educational Operations

Since the reverse merger was consummated, the Company has continued the operations of ZHL D.

ZHL D is a technology company engaged in the online education industry in The People's Republic of China ("China"). There is a significant market in China for education and education related products. It has been reported that the education budget established by the Chinese government is over $60 billion (U.S.) every year, which accounts for 3.41% of the GDP in China. It is expected to increase. Currently, ZHL D owns www.edu-chn.com, which is the only website in China having copyrights of examination materials of Chinese primary schools and middle schools, and ZHL D legally provides target users in the age group of 7 to 18 years with downloadable examination materials. ZHL D plans to provide other services such as text book downloading and SMS. When the visits to its web site increase, and its membership base expands, ZHL D plans to expand its products into the advanced education market and adult education market.

ZHL D has developed some successful educational software independently and owns a database covering all levels of basic education. Through cooperation with local education committees and schools, ZHL D started its business in the City of Harbin in Heilongjiang Province in northern China. ZHL D's plans for expansion of its business operations include the following:

- Buildup the infrastructure to ensure fast access and to satisfy the volume that would develop with increasing demand ;
- Boost market shares via nation-wide advertising campaigns;
- Invest in human resources to improve the quality of its services; and
- Open branch offices in key cities.

Competition. The Company has been taking steps to address the competition in the Chinese online educational industry. In order to increase market share and revenue, the Company has determined to establish offices in Beijing, Shanghai, Xian, Hubei and Guangzhou where the educational industry is comparatively well-established. It will continue to make use of its strategy of growth through the use of computer web sites. The Company will also take the following steps to increase sales and implement its marketing strategy:

1. Market penetration,
2. Establish resale networks, and
3. Seek strategic partners

It is expected that there will be more competitors from both domestic and overseas companies because the Chinese educational market is large and growing. In order to avoid or minimize the potential of low-price competition in the future, the Company has determined to increase its competitiveness in the educational markets.

Employees. The Company's employees are located in northern China. The Company has 99 employees, including 33 employees at its education training center and 22 marketing employees. The need for employees and their availability will be addressed in connection with the business development plans of the Company in the ordinary course of its business.

Regulation. No government approvals are required to conduct the Company's principal operations, and the Company is not aware of any probable governmental regulation of our business sector in the near future.

Additional Financing. The Company may need to raise additional funds to meet operating requirements in the future. If the Company raises additional funds through the issuance of common stock or debt securities, such securities may also have rights to the Company's common stock, such as warrants or options. Shareholders may experience dilution from the exercise of these equity instruments. The Company cannot be certain that additional financing will be available when required or at all.

Lack of Property and General Liability Insurance. The Company and its subsidiaries are self-insured, and they do not carry any property insurance, general liability insurance, or any other insurance that covers the risks of their business operations. As a result, any material loss or damage to its properties or other assets, or personal injuries arising from its business operations would have a material adverse affect on its financial condition and operations.

Risk of Doing Business in China. Doing business in China involves various risks including internal and international political risks, evolving national economic policies as well as financial accounting standards, expropriation and the potential for a reversal in economic conditions. Since the late 1970s, the government of China has been reforming the Chinese economic system. These reforms have resulted in significant economic growth and social progress. These policies and measure may from time to time be modified or revised. Adverse changes in economic policies of the Chinese government or in its laws and regulations could have a material adverse effect on the overall economic growth of China, and could adversely affect our business operations.

Risks of China Foreign Currency Conversion Policies. The Chinese currency, “Renminbi”, is not a freely convertible currency, which could limit our ability to obtain sufficient foreign currency to support our business operations.

Fluctuations in the exchange rate between the Chinese currency and the United States dollar could adversely affect our operating results.

The functional currency of our operations in China is “Renminbi”. Results of our operations are translated at average exchange rates into United States dollars for purposes of reporting results. As a result, fluctuations in exchange rates may adversely affect our expenses and results of operations as well as the value of our assets and liabilities. Fluctuations may adversely affect the comparability of period-to-period results. Although we may use hedging techniques in the future (which we currently do not use), we may not be able to eliminate the effects of currency fluctuations. Thus, exchange rate fluctuations could have a material adverse impact on our operating results and stock prices.

In order for the China subsidiaries of the Company to pay dividends to the Company, a conversion of Renminbi into US dollars is required. Under current Chinese law, the authorities may impose restrictions that could have a negative impact in the future on the conversion process and upon the ability of the Company to meet its cash needs, and to pay dividends to its shareholders. However, the principal subsidiary of the Company is presently classified as a wholly-owned foreign enterprise (“WFOE”) in China that have verifiable foreign investment in the PRC, funding having been made through an official China banking channel. Because the subsidiary of the Company qualifies for treatment as a WFOE, the subsidiaries can declare dividends and their funds can be repatriated to the Company in the United States under current laws and regulations in China.

Dividends. Dividends paid to the Company, as the U.S. parent company, would be subject to U.S. corporate income tax. The Company has not accrued any tax liability associated with the possible payment of dividends to the U.S. parent company.

No Bank Deposit Insurance. The Company maintains certain bank accounts in China that are not insured and are not protected by FDIC insurance or other insurance.

Item 2. Properties

The Company's main office building is located at 80 Heng Shan Road Kun Lun Shopping Mall Harbin, P.R. China 150090, which is owned by the Company that has a total area of 4,177 square feet. This space is adequate for the Company's present and their planned future operations. No other businesses operate from this office. The Company also owns two other buildings comprised of a 7,196 square foot building that it is used for its education training center. The Company has no current plans to occupy other or additional office space.

Item 3. Legal Proceedings

The Company is not aware of any pending or threatened legal proceedings. In addition, the Company is not aware of any pending or threatened legal proceedings in which entities affiliated with our officers, directors or beneficial owners are involved.

Item 4. Submission of Matters to a Vote of Security Holders

Item 6. Management's Discussion and Analysis or Plan of Operation

This Form 10-KSB contains forward-looking statements that involve substantial risks of uncertainties. You can identify these statements by forward-looking words such as "may", "will", "expect", "plans", "intends", "anticipate", "be", "estimate" and "continue" or similar words and are intended to identify forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. You should read statements that contain these words carefully because they discuss its future expectations, contain projections of its future results of operations or of its financial condition or state other "forward-looking" information. The Company believes that it is important to communicate its future expectations to its investors. However, there may be events in the future that the Company is not able to accurately predict or control. The factors listed above in the section captioned "Risk Factors", as well as any differ materially from the expectations the Company describe in its forward-looking statements.

China Education Alliance, Inc. was incorporated in the State of North Carolina on December 2, 1996 under the name of ABC Realty Co. to engage in residential real estate transactions as a broker or agent. The business the Company operates changed into education related internet high tech business in the People's Republic of China after the Company acquired Zhong He Li Da Education Technology, Inc. (ZHL D), a technology company engaged in the online education industry in China, after the Company acquired ZHL D in December 2004.

The Company's core business involves the following three main areas: large educational on line portal, education center, and educational software and media. CED A has developed and growing income through all three business areas in the year of 2005. The Company owns the only website, www.edu-chn.com, in China having copyrights of examination materials for elementary schools, middle schools, and high schools for target users from age 7 through 18. The company also twice, in March and July, expanded the scope of the website to increase the contents and extend the e-business horizon in 2005. The education center not only provides middle and high school related classes but also occupational training. We have achieved 167,640 training head count as of end of 2005. Electronic book and other education related media are also developed. The Company has been developing its business in the area of Harbin city of Heilongjiang province and its nearby regions in 2005.

In 2006, the company will:

- Strengthen its markets in Heilongjiang province.
- Develop markets in Jilin and Liaoning province.
- Further improve web portal and on line business network.
- Develop and/or improve on line occupational education.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

This management's discussion and analysis of financial condition and results of operations is based on our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. The preparation of these financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities, revenue and expenses and contingent assets and liabilities. Actual results may differ from those estimates and judgments under different assumptions or conditions.

We believe the following critical accounting policies affect our more significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our consolidated financial statements.

Property and Equipment. We include all property and equipment in the financial statements at cost and make provisions for depreciation of property and equipment using the straight-line method. Estimated useful lives generally range from three to ten years for our furniture and equipment, 5 to 10 years for leasehold improvements, 20 years for the buildings. Changes in circumstances, such as changes in our curricula and technological advances, may result in the actual useful lives of our property, equipment and capitalized software differing from our estimates. We regularly review and evaluate the estimated useful lives of our property and equipment and capitalized software. Although we believe our assumptions and estimates are reasonable, deviations from our assumptions and estimates could produce a materially different result.

Recognition of Revenue. The revenues from the general and specific study cards are recorded when they were either actually used or expired since these study cards are not refundable after the expiration date. Tuition revenue is recorded on a straight-line basis over the length of the applicable course. The revenues from e-business, advertisement, and domain name service are recorded when the services were provided and completed.

Results of Operations

The Company has revenue of $3,112,732 for the period ending December 31, 2005. The revenues were primarily from the sales of debit cards for use to obtain educational materials posted on the Company's website at the time of the delivery, when title to the products transfers and the customer bears the risk of loss. New revenues developed in 2005 such as tuitions, advertisement, and other e-business also contributed one third of the total revenues. The following table sets forth the percentage relationship of certain statement of income data to revenue for the periods indicated.

Description	2004		2005
Revenue	$ 51,700	100.0%	$ 3,112,732	100.0%
Cost of Goods Sold	$ 17,073	33.0%	$ 1,017,374	32.7%
Operating Expense	$ 139,795	270.4%	$ 417,043	13.4%
Net Income	$ (109,721)	-212.2%	$ 1,703,186	54.7%

The cost of goods sold includes material cost for the debit cards, teaching material cost, e-business commission, prelection cost, and depreciation, etc. The percent of cost of goods sold relative to the revenue remained about the same in the cost structure.

Operating expense includes staffing in support to the website and education center, depreciation, professional services, advertisement, etc. The percentage of operation expenses relative to the revenue was 13.4% indicating good utilization efficiency.

The Company is profitable in 2005 with net income to be 54.7% of revenue. We believe this trend will continue to grow as we expand out market as planned.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Liquidity is a measure of the company's cash position. It keeps a company in business in the short run. The company has net increase in cash of $507,703 in the year ended December 31, 2005. Net cash provided by operating activities were $2,299,422.

Cash flows used in investing activities were $1,765,982 for the period ending December 31, 2005. Cash flows for the 2005 were for the purchase of fixed assets.

Cash flows provided by financing activities were $23,763 for the period ending December 31, 2005. Cash flows for the 2005 were $23,763 in proceeds from notes payable.

The company's liquidity position is fairly good. The operating income was sufficient to support all the expenses and investment needs for the year 2005. If profitability and revenue continually move higher, the company should be able to elevate its position over time.

Impact of Inflation

The Company believes that inflation has had a negligible effect on operations since inception. The Company believes that they can offset inflationary increases in the cost of labor by increasing sales and improving operating efficiencies.

Year Ended December 31, 2005 Compared with Year Ended December 31, 2004

Revenue increased $3,061,032, or 5920%, to $3,112,732 in the year ended December 31, 2005 from $51,700 in the year ended December 31, 2004, primarily due to:

- A strong increase in the sales of general study cards including e-business income;
 - New tuition income generated from our education center;
- New income from advertisement, domain name service, and other technical services;

Cost of good sold increased $1,000,301, or 5859%, to $1,017,374 in the year ended December 31, 2005 from $17,073 in the year ended December 31, 2004, primarily due to:

- Increase volume in business operation;
 - Depreciation incurred in 2005;
- Prelection cost due to the material obtained for our database;

The 2005 cost of goods sold relative percentage to the total revenue remained about the same of 33% as in 2004.

Operating expenses increased $277,248, or 198%, to $417,043 in the year ended December 31, 2005 from $139,795 in the year ended December 31, 2004, primarily due to:

- Increase in staffing to support the operation;
- Increase in depreciation incurred in 2005;

The operating expense for 2005 is 13.4% of the total revenue, a drastic decrease from factor of 2.7 in 2004, indicating our business has entered into a healthy profitable operation.

Operating income for 2005 is $1,678,315 with gross margin of 67% compared to an operation loss in 2004. We expect the operating income continue to grow in 2006.

Demand for the products and services will be dependent on, among other things, market acceptance of the Company's on-line services and other related products. Inasmuch as a major portion of the Company's activities is the receipt of revenues from the sales of the Company's downloadable services, the Company's business operations may be adversely affected by their competitors and prolonged recession periods.

The Company's success will be dependent upon implementing their plan of operations and the risks associated with their business plans. The Company plans to strengthen their position in educational markets in China. The Company also plans to expand their operations through aggressively marketing their on-line business and Company concept.

New Accounting Pronouncements

In April 2003, the FASB issued SFAS No. 149, "Amendment of Statement 133 on Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities (SFAS 149)". SFAS 149 amends and clarifies certain derivative instruments embedded in other contracts, and for hedging activities under SFAS 133. SFAS 149 is effective for certain contracts entered into or modified by the Company after June 30, 2003. The adoption of SFAS 149 had no impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

In May 2003, the FASB issued SFAS No. 150, "Accounting for Instruments with Characteristics of Both Debt and Equity" (SFAS 150). Statement 150 requires liability classification for three types of instruments: 1) Mandatory redeemable shares that obligate the company to deliver cash or other assets to shareholders on fixed or determinable dates; 2) Freestanding written put options and forward purchase contracts on a company's own shares that obligate the company to deliver cash or other assets, and 3) Contracts that obligate a company to issue its own shares in amounts that are unrelated to, or inversely related to, the value of the shares. The adoption of SFAS 150 had no impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

In November 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 151 "Inventory Costs - an amendment of ARB No. 43, Chapter 4". Statement No. 151 requires that certain abnormal costs associated with the manufacturing, freight, and handling costs associated with inventory be charged to current operations in the period in which they are incurred. The adoption of SFAS 151 had no impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

In December 2004, the FASB issued a revision of SFAS No. 123 "Share-Based Payment". The statement establishes standards for the accounting for transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity investments for goods and services. It also addresses transactions in which an entity incurs liabilities in exchange for goods or services that are based on the fair value of the entity's equity instruments or that may be settled by the issuance of those equity instruments. The statement does not change the accounting guidance for share-based payments with parties other than employees.

The statement requires a public entity to measure the cost of employee service received in exchange for an award of equity instruments based on the grant-date fair value of the award (with limited exception). That cost will be recognized over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award (usually the vesting period). A public entity will initially measure the cost of employee services received in exchange for an award of liability instrument based on its current fair value; the fair value of that award will be remeasured subsequently at each reporting date through the settlement date. Changes in fair value during the requisite service period will be recognized as compensation over that period.

The grant-date for fair value of employee share options and similar instruments will be estimated using option- pricing models adjusted for the unique characteristics of these instruments.

The statement is effective for the quarter beginning January 1, 2006.

SFAS No. 152 "Accounting for Real Estate Time Sharing Transactions", SFAS No. 153 "Exchange of Nonmonetary Assets", SFAS No. 154 "Accounting for Changes and Error Corrections", SFAS No. 155 "Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financing Instruments", and SFAS No. 156 "Accounting for Servicing of Final Assets" were recently issued but have no current applicability to the Company and have no effect on the consolidated financial statements.

Item 7. Financial Statements

The consolidated financial statements of the Company for its fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, are provided with this Form 10-KSB.

Item 8. Changes In and Disagreements with Accountants on Accounting and Financial Disclosure

There have been no disagreements regarding accounting and financial disclosure matters with the independent certified public accountants of the Company.

During the year ended December 31, 2005, the Company changed its independent certified public accountants from Jimmy C.H. Cheung & Co. to e-Fang Accountancy Corp., & C.P.A.

Jimmy C.H. Cheung & Co., the previous independent registered public accounting firm of the Company for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2004, was terminated on January 15, 2006, from further audit services to the Company. During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2004, the consolidated financial statements of the Company did not contain any adverse opinion or disclaimer of opinion, nor were they qualified or modified as to any uncertainty, audit scope, or accounting principles. An uncertainty regarding the ability to continue as a going concern was noted in the accountant's report of the 2004 year ended financial statements. For the fiscal year ended December 31, 2004, and the subsequent interim period ended September 30, 2005, there were no disagreements between the Company and Jimmy C.H. Cheung & Co. on any matter of accounting principles or practice, financial statement disclosure, or auditing scope or practices which if not resolved to the satisfaction of Jimmy C.H. Cheung & Co. would have caused Jimmy C.H. Cheung & Co. to make reference to the subject matter of the disagreement in connection with its reports.

On January 18, 2006, the Company executed an engagement letter with e-Fang Accountancy Corp., & C.P.A., located at 17800 Castleton Street, Suite 208, City of Industry, CA 91748, to audit the consolidated financial statements of the Company for its fiscal year ended December 31, 2005, and the related statements of income, stockholders' equity, and cash flows for the year then ended. The Board of Directors approved the appointment of e-Fang Accountancy Corp., C.P.A. effective January 15, 2006. During the two most recent fiscal years or any subsequent interim period, the new independent registered public accounting firm had not previously been engaged as either the principal accountant of the Company to audit its consolidated financial statements or of any significant subsidiary, nor has the Company consulted with the firm regarding any accounting issue, auditing or financial reporting issue regarding such consolidated financial statements or any reportable event prior to December 31, 2005.

Item 8A. Controls and Procedures

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures. The Company's Chief Executive Officer and the Company's principal financial officer, after evaluating the effectiveness of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, Rule 13a-14(c) and 15d-14(c) as of a date within 90 days of the filing date of this report on Form 10-KSB for December 31, 2005, have concluded that as of the evaluation date that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were adequate and effective to ensure that material information relating to the Company and the Company's consolidated subsidiaries would be made known to them by others within those entities, particularly during the period in which this report on 10-KSB was being prepared.

Changes in Internal Controls. Audit Committee Financial Expert

The Company does not have a separately designated standing audit committee. Pursuant to Section 3(a)(58)(B) of the Exchange Act, the entire Board of Directors acts as an audit committee for the purpose of overseeing the accounting and financial reporting processes, and audits of the financial statements of the Company. The Commission recently adopted new regulations relating to audit committee composition and functions, including disclosure requirements relating to the presence of an "audit committee financial expert" serving on its audit committee. In connection with these new requirements, the Company's Board of Directors examined the Commission's definition of "audit committee financial expert" and concluded that the Company does not currently have a person that qualifies as such an expert. The Company intends to retain an additional director who will qualify as such an expert, as soon as reasonably practicable. While the members and current directors do not meet the qualifications of an "audit committee financial expert", each of the Company's directors, by virtue of his past employment experience, has considerable knowledge of financial statements, finance, and accounting, and has significant employment experience involving financial oversight responsibilities. Accordingly, the Company believes that its current directors capably fulfill the duties and responsibilities of an audit committee in the absence of such an expert.

In making this statement, the Company has relied solely on copies of any reporting forms received by it, and upon any written representations received from reporting persons that no Form 5 Annual Statement of Changes in Beneficial

China Education Alliance and Subsidiaries

(Incorporated in the State of North Carolina, USA)

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of Harbin China Education Alliance and its subsidiaries (the "Company") as of December 31, 2005 and the related statements of operations, retained earnings and cash flows for the years ended December 31, 2005. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards as established by the Auditing Standards Board (United States) and in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of China Education Alliance and its subsidiaries as of December 31, 2005 and the Company's results of its operations and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2005 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

2. Basis of Preparation of Financial Statements (Continued)

The accompanying financial statements differ from the financial statements used for statutory purposes in PRC in that they reflect certain adjustments, recorded on the entities' books, which are appropriate to present the financial position, results of operations and cash flows in accordance with US GAAP. The principal adjustments are related to revenue recognition, foreign currency translation, deferred taxation, consolidation, accounting for derivatives, and depreciation and valuation of property and equipment and intangible assets.

Principles of Consolidation - The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its subsidiary, China Education Alliance, ZHLD, Zhonghe Education Training Center. All inter-company transactions and balances were eliminated.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Use of estimates - The preparation of these financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affected the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the dates of the financial statements and the reported amounts of net sales and expenses during the reported periods.

Significant estimates included values and lives assigned to acquired intangible assets, reserves for customer returns and allowances, uncollectible accounts receivable, slow moving, obsolete and/or damaged inventory and stock option valuation. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Cash and cash equivalents - The Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with maturity period of three months or less to be cash equivalents. The carrying amounts reported in the accompanying consolidated balance sheet for cash and cash equivalents approximate their fair value.

Inventories - inventories were accounted for using the first-in, first-out method and included freight-in, materials, packing materials, labor and overhead costs and were stated at the lower of cost or market, cost being determined by a moving weighted average. Provision is made for slow moving, obsolete and/or damaged inventory based on a periodic analysis of individual inventory items, including an evaluation of historical usage and/or movement, age, expiration date and general condition.

China Education Alliance and Subsidiaries
Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

(Expressed in US Dollars)

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Property and equipment - Property and equipment are stated at the historical cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation on property, plant and equipment is provided using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets after taking into account estimated residual value of 5% of cost or valuation for both financial and income tax reporting purposes as follows:

Buildings	20 years
Communication Equipments	10 years
Motor vehicles	5 years
Furniture, Fixtures, and Equipments	5 years

Expenditures for renewals and betterments were capitalized while repairs and maintenance costs are normally charged to the statement of operations in the year in which they are incurred. In situations where it can be clearly demonstrated that the expenditure has resulted in an increase in the future economic benefits expected to be obtained from the use of the asset, the expenditure is capitalized as an additional cost of the asset. Upon sale or disposal of an asset, the historical cost and related accumulated depreciation or amortization of such asset were removed from their respective accounts and any gain or loss was recorded in the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Property and equipment are evaluated for impairment in value annually or whenever an event or change in circumstances indicates that the carrying values may not be recoverable. If such an event or change in circumstances occurs and potential impairment is indicated because the carrying values exceed the estimated future undiscounted cash flows of the asset, the Company would measure the impairment loss as the amount by which the carrying value of the asset exceeds its fair value.

Foreign currency translation - These financial statements have been prepared in U.S. dollars. China Education Alliance is only a holding company; it has no revenues with minor expenses, except those related to its ownership interest in ZHLD and Zhonghe Education Training Center. The functional currency for the ZHLD and Zhonghe Education Training is denominated in "Renminbi" ("RMB") or "Yuan". ZHLD and Zhonghe Education Training maintain its books and accounting records in Renminbi ("RMB"). It is the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entities operates.

FASB Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 52, "Foreign Currency Translation" requires differentials to be calculated and allocated using the current rate method if the foreign entity's functional and local currencies are the same. Non-monetary assets and liabilities are translated at historical exchange rates. Monetary assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rates in effect at the end of the year. The income statement accounts are translated at average exchange rates.

China Education Alliance and Subsidiaries

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

The conversion gains and losses are not recognized in the income statement under the functional currency approach. They are accumulated in a separate account in stockholders' equity (i.e., the cumulative foreign exchange translation adjustments account). This treatment is based on the FASB's view that translation gains or losses are not directly related to the foreign entities' operating cash flows. As a result, the Company recognized in equity the effect of currency translation in the amount of $19,067.

The official exchange rates as of December 31, 2005 and 2004, for one US dollar were 8.08 RMB and 8.28 RMB, respectively.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Impairment of Long-Lived Assets - The Company periodically evaluates the recoverability of the carrying amount of its long-lived assets in accordance with SFAS No. 144, "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long-Lived Assets". Whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of those assets may not be recoverable, the Company compares the undiscounted net cash flows estimated to be generated by those assets to the carrying amount of those assets.

When these undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amounts of the assets, the Company will record impairment losses to write the asset down to fair value, measured by the discounted estimated net future cash flows expected to be generated from the assets. During the years ended December 31, 2005 and 2004, no such impairments have occurred.

Advertising - The Company expensed advertising costs the first time the respective advertising took place. These costs were included in selling, general and administrative expenses. The total advertising expenses accrued for year 2005 was $140,445.

Income Taxes - Provision is made in the financial statements for taxation of profits in accordance with PRC legislation currently in force. The Company accounts for income taxes under the liability method in accordance with SFAS No. 109, "Accounting for Income Taxes". Under the liability method, deferred income taxes reflect the future tax consequences of temporary differences between the tax and financial statement basis of assets and liabilities and are measured using enacted tax rates applied to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities of a change in the tax rates is recognized in income in the period that includes the enactment date. A valuation allowance is provided when it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized in the future. These evaluations are based on the expectations of future taxable income and reversals of the various taxable temporary differences.

Provision for The People's Republic of China enterprise income tax is calculated at the prevailing rate based on the estimated assessable profits less available tax relief for losses brought forward.

Enterprise income tax

Under the Provisional Regulations of The People's Republic of China Concerning Income Tax on Enterprises promulgated by the State, income tax is payable by enterprises at a rate of 33% of their taxable income. Preferential tax treatment may, however, be granted pursuant to any law or regulations from time to time promulgated by the State Council.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Enterprise income tax (“EIT”) is provided on the basis of the statutory profit for financial reporting purposes, adjusted for income and expense items, which are not assessable or deductible for income tax purposes.

Value added tax

The Provisional Regulations of The People’s Republic of China Concerning Value Added Tax promulgated by the State Council came into effect on January 1, 1994. Under these regulations and the Implementing Rules of the Provisional Regulations of the PRC Concerning Value Added Tax, value added tax is imposed on goods sold in or imported into the PRC and on processing, repair and replacement services provided within the PRC.

Value added tax payable in The People’s Republic of China is charged on an aggregated basis at a rate of 13% or 17% (depending on the type of goods involved) on the full price collected for the goods sold or, in the case of taxable services provided, at a rate of 17% on the charges for the taxable services provided, but excluding, in respect of both goods and services, any amount paid in respect of value added tax included in the price or charges, and less any deductible value added tax already paid by the taxpayer on purchases of goods and services in the same financial year.

According to “Agriculture Product Value Added Tax Rate Adjustment and Certain Items’ Value Added Tax Waiver” published by the Ministry of Finance and the National Tax Affairs Bureau, the value added tax for agriculture related products are to be taxed at 13%. Furthermore, traditional Chinese medicine and medicinal plant are by definition agriculture related products.

Contingent liabilities and contingent assets - A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events and whose existence will only be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company. It can also be a present obligation arising from past events that is not recognized because it is not probable that outflow of economic resources will be required or the amount of obligation cannot be measured reliably.

A contingent liability is not recognized but is disclosed in the notes to the financial statements. When a change in the probability of an outflow occurs so that outflow is probable, they will then be recognized as a provision.

A contingent asset is a possible asset that arises from past events and whose existence will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain events not wholly within the control of the Company.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Contingent assets are not recognized but are disclosed in the notes to the financial statements when an inflow of economic benefits is probable. When inflow is virtually certain, an asset is recognized.

Related companies - A related company is a company in which the director has beneficial interests in and in which the Company has significant influence.

Retirement benefit costs - According to The People's Republic of China regulations on pension, the Company contributes to a defined contribution retirement scheme organized by municipal government in the province in which the Company was registered and all qualified employees are eligible to participate in the scheme.

Contributions to the scheme are calculated at 23.5% of the employees' salaries above a fixed threshold amount and the employees contribute 2% to 8% while the Company contributes the balance contribution of 21.5% to 15.5%. The Company has no other material obligation for the payment of retirement benefits beyond the annual contributions under this scheme.

Fair value of financial instruments - The carrying amounts of certain financial instruments, including cash, accounts receivable, commercial notes receivable, other receivables, accounts payable, commercial notes payable, accrued expenses, and other payables approximate their fair values as at December 31, 2005 because of the relatively short-term maturity of these instruments.

Recent accounting pronouncements - In May 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued SFAS No. 150 Accounting for Certain Financial Instruments with Characteristics of both Liability and Equity. This standard establishes standards for how an issuer classifies and measures certain financial instruments with characteristics of both liabilities and equity. As of December 31, 2005, the Company had no financial instruments with these characteristics.

In January 2003, the FASB issued Interpretation No. 46 ("FIN 46") Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, which addresses the consolidation of variable interest entities ("VIEs") by business enterprises that are the primary beneficiaries. A VIE is an entity that does not have sufficient equity investment at risk to permit it to finance its activities without additional subordinated financial support, or whose equity investors lack the characteristics of a controlling financial interest.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

Intangible assets are accounted for in accordance with Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 142, Goodwill and Other Intangible Assets ("SFAS 142"). Intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized while intangible assets with indefinite useful lives are not amortized. As prescribed by SFAS 142, goodwill and intangible assets are tested periodically for impairment. The Company adopted SFAS No. 144, "Accounting for the Impairment or Disposal of Long- Lived Assets", effective January 1, 2002. Accordingly, the Company reviews its long-lived assets, including property and equipment and finite-lived intangible assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the assets may not be fully recoverable. To determine recoverability of its long-lived assets, the Company evaluates the probability that future undiscounted net cash flows will be less than the carrying amount of the assets. Impairment costs, if any, are measured by comparing the carrying amount of the related assets to their fair value.

The primary beneficiary of a VIE is the enterprise that has the majority of the risks or rewards associated with the VIE. In December 2003, the FASB issued a revision to FIN 46, Interpretation No. 46R ("FIN 46R"), to clarify some of the provisions of FIN 46, and to defer certain entities from adopting until the end of the first interim or annual reporting period ending after March 15, 2004. Application of FIN 46R is required in financial statements of public entities that have interests in structures that are commonly referred to as special-purpose entities for periods ending after December 15, 2003. Application for all other types of VIEs is required in financial statements for periods ending after March 15, 2004. We believe we have no arrangements that would require the application of FIN 46R. We have no material off-balance sheet arrangements.

In April 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued SFAS No. 149, Amendment of Statement 133 on Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities. This statement amends and clarifies financial accounting and reporting for derivative instruments and for hedging activities under FASB No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities. As of December 31, 2005, the Company had no derivative or hedging activities.

In November 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 151, Inventory Costs - an amendment of ARB No. 43, Chapter 4. SFAS No. 151 requires that certain abnormal costs associated with the manufacturing, freight, and handling costs associated with inventory be charged to current operations in the period in which they are incurred. The adoption of SFAS 151 had no impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

3. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Continued)

In December 2004, the FASB issued SFAS No. 153, Exchanges of Non-monetary Assets-amendment of APB Opinion No. 29. SFAS No. 153 eliminates the exception to fair value for exchanges of similar productive assets and replaces it with a general exception for exchange transactions that do not have commercial substance, defined as transactions that are not expected to result in significant changes in the cash flows of the reporting entity. This statement is effective for exchanges of non-monetary assets occurring after June 15, 2005. Management believes adoption of this new statement will not have any significant effect on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

In November 2002, the FASB approved FASB Interpretation ("FIN") No. 45, "Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others, an Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 5, 57 and 107 and Rescission of FASB Interpretation No. 34". FIN 45 clarifies the requirements of SFAS No. 5, "Accounting for Contingencies", relating to a guarantor's accounting for, and disclosure of, the issuance of certain types of guarantees. Specifically, FIN 45 requires that a guarantor recognize, at the inception of a guarantee, a liability for the fair value of the obligation undertaken in issuing the guarantee. The provisions for initial recognition and measurement are effective on a prospective basis for guarantees that are issued or modified after December 31, 2002, irrespective of a guarantor's fiscal year end. However, the disclosure provisions of FIN 45 are effective for financial statements of interim or annual periods ending after December 15, 2002. The adoption of FIN 45 is not expected to have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements

4. Concentrations of Business and Credit Risk

Substantially all of the Company's bank accounts are in banks located in the PRC and are not covered by any type of protection similar to that provided by the FDIC on funds held in U.S banks.

The Company is operating in China, which may give rise to significant foreign currency risks from fluctuations and the degree of volatility of foreign exchange rates between U.S. dollars and the Chinese currency RMB.

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to concentration of credit risk consist principally of cash and trade receivables, the balances of which are stated on the balance sheet. The Company places its cash in high credit quality financial institutions. Concentration of credit risk with respect to trade receivables are limited due to the Company's large number of diverse customers in different locations in China. The Company does not require collateral or other security to support financial instruments subject to credit risk. 90 percent the age of the Company's accounts receivable are less than 60 days.
