ITEM 2.05 Costs Associated with Exit or Disposal Activities

On February 5, 2008 VoIP, Inc. (the “Company”) decided to reorganize its operations to focus primarily on business opportunities associated with its patented technology including “click-to-call” and “pay-per-click” applications. Associated with that decision, on February 5, 2008 the Company suspended all of its telecommunications network operations including all current revenue generating operations. The Company also reduced its workforce by 25 persons, eliminating most of its network operations and software engineering staff. The Company is currently entertaining offers on the sale of its network, and has not yet evaluated the potential financial statement impact of related impairments of its tangible and intangible assets. However, a material noncash asset impairment charge ranging up to $23.9 million to the Company’s consolidated 2007 results of operations is likely.

ITEM 2.06 Material Impairments

See Item 2.05 above.

ITEM 8.01 Other Events

See Item 2.05 above.
