Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On September 15, 2010, Cleveland BioLabs, Inc. (the “Company”) was awarded a contract (the “Contract”) by the U.S. Department of Defense (the “DoD”) Chemical Biological and Medical Systems Medical Identification and Treatment Systems (the “CBMS-MITS”) for the advanced development and procurement of CBLB502 as a medical radiation countermeasure.

The Contract is valued at up to $45 million, including all options provided thereunder. Under the terms of the Contract, the CBMS-MITS will initiate funding of up to $14.8 million, including all options, for the advanced development of CBLB502 through the receipt of approval from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (the “FDA”). In addition, the Contract includes options for the purchase of an aggregate of up to 37,500 troop-equivalent doses, in pre-determined increments, for $30,000,000.

The Contract requires the Company to provide the DoD with periodic status reports and to maintain, to the maximum extent possible, the employment of certain key personnel during the duration of the program. As a government contract subject to the Federal Acquisition Regulation, the Company will be permitted to retain title to any patentable invention or discovery made while performing the contract. The U.S. government, in return, will receive a non-exclusive, non-transferable, irrevocable, paid-up license to the subject inventions throughout the world. The U.S. government will also have unlimited rights in the technical data produced in the performance of the Contract. Furthermore, the DoD has the right to terminate the Contract at any time. In certain instances, the Contract also limits the Company’s ability to engage in certain activities, such as subcontracting a portion of the work, without prior approval from the DoD.

A copy of the Company’s press release announcing the awarding of the Contract is attached as Exhibit 99.1.
