PEARSON NINE-MONTH INTERIM MANAGEMENT STATEMENT

Strong trading in all businesses and full-year guidance raised:
adjusted EPS now expected to be approximately 10% ahead of last year

Pearson, the world's leading learning company, is today providing an update on trading in the first nine months of 2010.

Demand in some of our markets remained subdued in the third quarter, and the macroeconomic outlook is still uncertain. Even so, Pearson increased sales by 7% and adjusted operating profit 15% in the first nine months of 2010*. All parts of the company continued to perform strongly, with sales growth of 5% in Penguin, 7% in education and 11% at the Financial Times Group.

Our businesses continue to generate significant growth in digital and in developing markets, and to benefit from further efficiency gains. We are also building our position in developing economies and services businesses, reinvesting some of the Interactive Data sale proceeds in the acquisitions of America's Choice, Wall Street Institute, SEB and Melorio.

The end of the year is a key selling season in education and consumer publishing, and both businesses face tough comparables in the fourth quarter of 2010. However, we are trading ahead of previous guidance and we now expect full year adjusted earnings per share to increase by approximately 10% on the 2009 base of 65.4p. This guidance includes the profit contribution from Interactive Data for seven months of 2010 (compared with a full year in 2009) and assumes that the current exchange rate of £1:$1.57 prevails in the fourth quarter (a 5 cent move in the average £:$ exchange rate for the full year - which in 2009 was £1:$1.57 - has an impact of approximately 1.3p on adjusted earnings per share).

Highlights for the first nine months of 2010

In education, we continue to accelerate our transformation from book publisher to the leading global learning technology and services company through organic investment and bolt-on acquisitions.

In North America, this strategy enabled us to gain share and grow faster than our market, with sales growth of 5% in the first nine months.

Our Higher Education business grew strongly once again. Its market remains healthy (industry sales up 10% in the first eight months, according to the Association of American Publishers) and our leadership in digital learning continues to produce market share gains. More than 3.5m students have enrolled in an online course provided by eCollege in the first nine months, an increase of almost 39% over last year. More than 6.5m college students have registered for our subject-specific digital learning tools (MyLabs), an increase of almost 34%.

Our Assessment and Information business remained resilient as we won or renewed a number of contracts including a teacher certification contract in Pennsylvania and student data systems in Utah.

The breadth of our School Curriculum business and its strength in digital is enabling us to grow despite weakness in state and local funding and uncertainty around the impact of new Common Core standards. We are planning on the basis that school funding remains under pressure in 2011 and that the total new adoption opportunity will be lower than in 2010. We are accelerating the transformation of our School business, investing to broaden the range of products and services we offer to schools to help them boost student performance and institutional efficiency.

Sales in International Education are up 8% after nine months. We are benefiting from strong demand in developing markets and for assessment services, English Language learning in China and digital, while developed markets and school publishing are generally soft. In the first nine months, MyLab registrations outside North America were up almost 40% on the same period last year to more than 460,000.

We are continuing to build our business in fast-growing developing economies, taking a strong position in global English teaching through the acquisition of Wall Street Institute which now has 428 schools in 27 countries; and in Brazil through the acquisition of SEB (where we have completed the first phase of the acquisition, taking ownership of 70% of the school learning systems company, with our tender offer to buy out the remaining public shareholders expected to complete in the fourth quarter).

In Professional Education, sales are up 17%. We continue to see good growth in Professional Testing, administering almost 6m tests in the first nine months of the year, up 6% on 2009, with good growth in the IT and Professional segments. We completed the acquisition of Melorio on 17 June 2010, extending our position in vocational training. Market conditions in our professional publishing business remain challenging but we are benefiting from good growth in digital sales.

Sales are up 11% at the FT Group. The Financial Times had another good quarter, boosted by strong demand for its print and digital content (digital subscriptions up 50% to more than 180,000) and sustained advertising growth. Mergermarket also improved in both renewals and new sales, helped by increased M&A activity.

At Penguin, sales are up 5%. Physical retail markets are tough, but are offset for Penguin by strong publishing and rapid growth in eBook sales (which have increased threefold). Penguin continues to lead the industry in innovation in digital publishing, with 16,500 eBook titles now available and a number of children's apps for bestselling brands. The Fry Chronicles by Stephen Fry became a bestseller in five formats (hardback, ebook, enhanced ebook, app and audio), a publishing first. The fourth quarter is an important selling season in consumer publishing and Penguin has a strong line-up of bestselling authors including Tom Clancy, Patricia Cornwell, Barbra Streisand and Nora Roberts in the US; and Michael McIntyre and Jamie Oliver in the UK.

Balance sheet At the start of 2010, Pearson had net debt of £1.1bn. Our 2009 net debt/EBITDA ratio was 1.1x and interest cover was 8.8x. 2010 net debt peaked in June at £1.7bn, following the normal seasonal build-up of working capital in the first half of the year. Strong cash generation and the receipt of the proceeds from the sale of Interactive Data (£1.1bn) on 29 July 2010, partially offset by acquisitions (totalling approximately £0.6bn, reflecting only the first tranche payment for SEB), helped to reduce our net debt at the end of September 2010 to £0.7bn (September 2009: £1.7bn). We will pay £0.25bn of tax on the Interactive Data disposal proceeds in the fourth quarter.

Exchange rates Pearson generates approximately 60% of its sales in the US. Excluding Interactive Data, a 5 cent move in the average £:$ exchange rate for the full year (which in 2009 was £1:$1.57) has an impact of approximately 1.3p on adjusted earnings per share. The average rate during the first nine months of 2010 was £1:$1.53 (compared to £1:$1.54 in the first nine months of 2009), and the closing rate at the end of September was £1:$1.56).
