( Legato ) made a statement that Legato's annual revenues could reach $500 million. Mr. Wright's comments were based upon projected growth rates of specific segments of the software market related to Legato's business, but were not intended to specify the particular timeframe in which such annual revenue goal would be attained. In particular, this was not intended to provide specific guidance for Legato's 2003 or 2004 results.
