With respect to the economic environment between April and December 2005, overseas economies such as United States and China showed steady signs of economic growth. Meanwhile, the Japanese economy started off slowly, as exports were sluggish due to the decline of foreign demand, which was caused by an adjustment in inventory mainly in the IT sector. However, increases in domestic capital expenditures and the steady rise in private consumption continued during this period, and with the rise in exports in summer, the Japanese economy moved toward recovery and the possible end of deflation.

Regarding the financial environment between April and December 2005, in the United States, the target for the federal funds rate was raised 6 times, from 2.75% to 4.25%. Similarly, in the EU, the European Central Bank s policy rate was raised from 2% to 2.25% in December 2005. However, in Japan, the Bank of Japan continued its current easy monetary policy and kept short-term interest rates at near zero percent. Regarding long-term interest rates, the yield on ten-year Japanese government bonds started a gradual uptrend from around summer, but the uptrend stopped at the end of December. In the foreign exchange markets, the yen depreciated against the US dollar during the period due to expectations of the widening in interest rate differentials between yen and US dollar, taking into account the rise in US interest rates.

On October 1, 2005, Mitsubishi Tokyo Financial Group, Inc (MTFG: the surviving entity) and UFJ Holdings merged and began operations as Mitsubishi UFJ Financial Group, Inc (MUFG). Amidst this environment, for the nine months ended December 31, 2005, MUFG s ordinary income was ¥2,756.5 billion, an increase of 46.7% compared to MTFG s for the nine months ended December 31, 2004, ordinary profit was
