Item 32. Sales to Special Parties.

Not applicable.

Item 33. Recent Sales of Unregistered Securities.

On January 4, 2006, we completed the issuance and sale of $50.0 million aggregate principal amount of unsecured 5.68% Class B Senior Notes due January 4, 2014.

On April 27, 2006, we completed the issuance and sale of $50.0 million aggregate principal amount of unsecured 5.53% Class A Senior Notes due April 27, 2011 and $50.0 million aggregate principal amount of unsecured 5.77% Class C Senior Notes due April 27, 2016.

On June 9, 2006, we completed the issuance and sale of $275.0 million aggregate principal amount of unsecured Class D Senior Notes due June 9, 2008. The entire principal amount of the Class D Notes currently bears interest at a floating rate of interest per annum equal to LIBOR in effect from time to time plus 0.73%. We may, at our option, but not more than once, elect to convert (on a date not earlier than September 11, 2006) up to $175.0 million of the principal amount of the Class D Notes from floating rate notes to fixed rate notes and extend the maturity of such converted portion to a date (as elected by us) five, seven or ten years from the date of conversion, provided that no default exists under such Notes.

Our company and certain subsidiary guarantors guaranteed all of the notes referred to above. Such notes were issued pursuant to the terms of two note purchase agreements we entered into with affiliates of ING Investment Management LLC. These notes and guarantees were sold for cash to institutional investors in the United States in private offerings under Section 4(2) of the Securities Act.

From April 8, 2005 through November 16, 2006, our operating partnership issued common units of limited partnership interest (OP units) in our operating partnership to certain accredited investors in conjunction with the exercise of certain purchase options pursuant to which our operating partnership had the right to acquire undivided tenancy-in-common interests (TIC Interests) in certain industrial properties from such investors. Such investors had previously acquired such TIC Interests from a wholly-owned subsidiary of our operating partnership primarily to serve as replacement property for such investors seeking to complete a like-kind exchange transaction under Section 1031 of the Internal Revenue Code. The following table describes the issuance of OP units referred to above.

Issuance Date	Units
	Issued	Issue Price

The securities described above were issued relying on Rule 506 of Regulation D and/or Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended. The investors received a confidential private placement memorandum containing information about our operating partnership and their investment therein and made certain written representations, including representations as to their accredited investor status.

Each of these investors will generally have the right to cause our partnership to redeem all or a portion of its OP units for, at our sole discretion, shares of our common stock or cash, or a combination of both. If we elect to redeem OP units for shares of our common stock, we will generally deliver one share of our common stock for each OP unit redeemed. If we elect to redeem OP units for cash, we will generally deliver cash to be paid in an amount equal to the most recent selling price of our common stock per redeemed OP unit. In connection with the exercise of these redemption rights, the investor must make certain representations, including that the delivery of shares of our common stock upon redemption would not result in such investor owning shares in excess of our ownership limits in our charter. Subject to the foregoing, the investor may exercise its redemption rights at any time after one year following the date of issuance of its OP units; provided, however, that it may not deliver more than two redemption notices each calendar year and may not exercise a redemption right for less than 1,000 OP units, unless it holds less than 1,000 OP units, in which case, it must exercise its redemption right for all of its OP units.

Effective April 12, 2002, we issued 200 shares of common stock to an affiliate of Dividend Capital Advisors LLC, our former advisor, for $2,000 in cash. We relied on Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, for the exemption from the registration requirements of such Act. The investor, by virtue of its affiliation with us, had access to information concerning our proposed operations and the terms and conditions of its investment. In addition, the investor acknowledged its intent to acquire our shares for investment purposes and not with a view toward the subsequent distribution thereof. Any certificates which may be issued with respect to the shares will contain a legend restricting transfer of the shares represented thereby.

Effective April 12, 2002, our operating partnership issued 20,000 OP units to Dividend Capital Advisors LLC for $200,000 in cash. Our operating partnership relied on Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, for the exemption from the registration requirements of such act. Dividend Capital Advisors LLC, by virtue of its affiliation with us, had access to information concerning our operating partnership s proposed operations and the terms and conditions of its investment.

In connection with the internalization of our external manager, Dividend Capital Advisors LLC, our operating partnership issued 15,111,111 OP units in our operating partnership, which included the modification of a special series of units of limited partnership interest in our operating partnership held by Dividend Capital Advisors Group LLC into OP units, in exchange for the entire outstanding membership interest, and all economic interests, in Dividend Capital Advisors LLC to our operating partnership. The OP units issued and sold to Dividend Capital Advisors Group LLC were issued and sold in reliance on Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

In addition, subsequent to the consummation of the internalization, Philip L. Hawkins purchased 88,889 shares of our common stock for $11.25 per share. The 88,889 shares of our common stock issued and sold to Mr. Hawkins were issued and sold in reliance on the exemption from registration contained in Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

Item 34. Indemnification of Directors and Officers.

Maryland law permits a Maryland corporation to include in its charter a provision limiting the liability of its directors and officers to the corporation and its stockholders for money damages except for liability resulting from (i) actual receipt of an improper benefit or profit in money, property or services or (ii) active and deliberate dishonesty established by a final judgment and which is material to the cause of action. Our charter contains such a provision that eliminates directors' and officers' liability to the maximum extent permitted by Maryland law.

Our charter also authorizes our company, to the maximum extent permitted by Maryland law, to obligate our company to indemnify and to pay or reimburse reasonable expenses in advance of final disposition of a proceeding to any present or former director or officer or any individual who, while a director or officer of our company and at the request of our company, serves or has served as a director, officer, partner or trustee of another corporation, real estate investment trust, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise, from and against any claim or liability to which such person may become subject or which such person may incur by reason of his or her service in any such capacity.

Our bylaws obligate us, to the maximum extent permitted by Maryland law, to indemnify any present or former director or officer or any individual who, while a director or officer of our company and at the request of our company, serves or has served, as a director, officer, partner or trustee of another corporation, real estate investment trust, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise, and who is made, or threatened to be made, a party to the proceeding by reason of his or her service in any such capacity, and to pay or reimburse his or her reasonable expenses in advance of final disposition of a proceeding. Our charter and our bylaws also permit our company to indemnify and advance expenses to any individual who served a predecessor of our company in any of the capacities described above and any employee or agent of our company or a predecessor of our company.

Maryland law requires a corporation (unless its charter provides otherwise, which our charter does not) to indemnify a director or officer who has been successful, on the merits or otherwise, in the defense of any proceeding to which he or she is made a party by reason of his or her service in that capacity. Maryland law permits a corporation to indemnify its present and former directors and officers, among others, against judgments, penalties, fines, settlements and reasonable expenses actually incurred by them in connection with any proceeding to which they may be made, or are threatened to be made, a party by reason of their service in those or other capacities unless it is established that (i) the act or omission of the director or officer was material to the matter giving rise to the proceeding and (1) was committed in bad faith or (2) was the result of active and deliberate dishonesty, (ii) the director or officer actually received an improper personal benefit in money, property or services or (iii) in the case of any criminal proceeding, the director or officer had reasonable cause to believe that the act or omission was unlawful.

A court may order indemnification if it determines that the director or officer is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnification, even though the director or officer did not meet the prescribed standard of conduct or was adjudged liable on the basis that personal benefit was improperly received. However, under Maryland law, a Maryland corporation may not indemnify for an adverse judgment in a suit by or in the right of the corporation or for a judgment of liability on the basis that a personal benefit was improperly received, unless in either case a court orders indemnification, and then only for expenses. In addition, Maryland law permits a corporation to advance reasonable expenses to a director or officer upon the corporation's receipt of (i) a written affirmation by the director or officer of his or her good faith belief that he or she has met the standard of conduct necessary for indemnification by the corporation and (ii) a written undertaking by him or her or on his or her behalf to repay the amount paid or reimbursed by the corporation if it is ultimately determined that the standard of conduct was not met.

In connection with our initial public offering, we entered into indemnification agreements with each of our then-current executive officers and directors. The indemnification agreements require, among other things, that we indemnify our officers and directors to the fullest extent permitted by law and our charter, and advance to the officers and directors all related expenses, subject to reimbursement if it is subsequently determined that indemnification is not permitted. In accordance with these agreements, we must indemnify and advance all expenses incurred by officers and directors seeking to enforce their rights under the indemnification agreements. We must also cover officers and directors under our directors' and officers' liability insurance.

On April 13, 2006, we entered into indemnification agreements with each of our then-current directors. In general, each of these indemnification agreements provides that we will indemnify and advance expenses to our directors to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law and our charter in effect as of the date of the agreement or to such extent as applicable law and our charter thereafter from time to time may permit. However, no change in Maryland law or our charter will have the effect of reducing the benefits available to our directors under the agreement.

Upon the closing of this offering, we will enter into indemnification agreements similar to the April 13 indemnification agreements with all of our directors and executive officers then in office, which will supersede any prior indemnification agreements we had with such persons.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act may be permitted to our directors, officers or persons controlling us pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise we have been advised that, in the opinion of the SEC, such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act and is, therefore, unenforceable.

Item 37. Undertakings.

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, may be permitted to directors, officers, and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer, or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any such action, suit, or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer, or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that (a) for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, the information omitted from the form of prospectus filed as part of this registration statement in reliance upon Rule 430A and contained in a form of prospectus filed by the registrant pursuant to Rule 424(b)(1) or (4) or 497(h) under the Securities Act shall be deemed to be part of this registration statement as of the time it was declared effective, and (b) for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each post-effective amendment that contains a form of prospectus shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.
