- EBITDA of USD423.0 million in the third quarter 2014, a 28% increase compared to the second quarter 2014. EBITDA in the third quarter 2014 included a non-recurring gain of USD57.5 million related to income recognition on an insurance recovery in Ternium's Argentine subsidiary Siderar.

- Excluding the insurance recovery gain, EBITDA per ton increased to USD157 in the third quarter 2014, and EBITDA margin to 16%.

- Earnings per American Depositary Share (ADS)<sup>3</sup> of USD0.57 in the third quarter 2014, a decrease of USD0.09 per ADS compared to the second quarter 2014 mainly due to higher income tax expense, partially offset by higher operating income.
- Capital expenditures of USD94.8 million in the third quarter 2014, down from USD136.4 million in the second quarter 2014.
- Net debt position of USD1.7 billion at the end of September 2014, down from USD2.0 billion at the end of June 2014.

<sup>1</sup> EBITDA in the third quarter 2014 equals operating income of USD314.5 million adjusted to exclude depreciation and amortization of USD108.5 million.

<sup>3</sup> Each American Depositary Share (ADS) represents 10 shares of Ternium's common stock. Results are based on a weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding (net of treasury shares) of 1,963,076,776.

Ternium's operating income in the third quarter 2014 was USD314.5 million, USD83.2 million higher than in the second quarter 2014 mainly as a result of USD57.5 million income recognition on insurance recovery in connection with damages in a blast furnace and coking batteries in Argentina during 2012 and higher operating margin<sup>4</sup>. Operating margin increased sequentially mainly as a result of USD15 higher steel revenue per ton and relatively stable steel operating cost per ton<sup>5</sup>. Steel revenue per ton increased in Ternium's main steel markets reflecting higher steel prices and a better product mix.

Compared to the third quarter 2013, the company's operating income in the third quarter 2014 increased by USD48.5 million, mainly as a result of USD45.8 million higher gain on insurance recovery (USD57.5 million in the third quarter 2014 and USD11.7 million in the third quarter 2013). Operating margin remained relatively stable, as a USD17 increase in steel revenue per ton was offset by a USD19 increase in steel operating cost per ton. Steel revenue per ton was higher in Mexico and Other Markets, and lower in the Southern Region reflecting changes in steel prices and a better product mix. Operating cost per ton increased mainly due to higher purchased slabs and energy costs, partially offset by lower raw material costs.

Net income in the third quarter 2014 was USD160.2 million, a decrease of USD20.1 million compared to net income in the second quarter 2014 mainly due to higher income tax expense, partially offset by the above-mentioned higher operating income. Income tax expense in the second quarter 2014 included a non-recurring tax gain related to a non-cash reduction of deferred tax liabilities at one of Ternium's subsidiaries.

Relative to the prior-year period, net income in the third quarter 2014 increased by USD24.2 million, mainly due to the above mentioned higher gain on insurance recovery, partially offset by higher income tax expense reflecting increased operating income.

<sup>5</sup> Operating cost per ton is equal to cost of sales plus SG&A, divided by shipments.

- Earnings per ADS<sup>7</sup> of USD1.99 in the first nine months of 2014, USD0.31 higher than in the first nine months of 2013 due to higher operating income, lower net financial expenses, lower losses from Usiminas and lower income tax expense.
- Capital expenditures of USD334.8 million in the first nine months of 2014, 54% lower than capital expenditures of USD725.1 million in the first nine months of 2013.

Operating income in the first nine months of 2014 was USD864.9 million, USD51.0 million higher than operating income in the first nine months of 2013. Operating income in the first nine months of 2014 included a USD45.8 million higher income recognition on insurance recovery. Steel shipments increased by 497,000 tons year-over-year in Mexico, and decreased a combined 225,000 tons in the Southern Region and Other Markets. Operating margin remained relatively stable reflecting USD8 lower steel revenue per ton partially offset by USD6 lower steel operating cost per ton. A decrease in steel revenue per ton in the Southern Region was mostly offset by higher steel revenue per ton in Mexico and Other Markets. ## Outlook

Ternium expects to maintain in the fourth quarter 2014 the strong shipment levels and operating margin performance it has achieved over the first nine months of 2014.

Demand for steel products in the U.S. and Mexican markets remains at healthy levels, sustained mainly by the continued expansion of manufacturing activity in both countries. Ternium has been able to capitalize on this positive trend during 2014 through an increased commercial effort and focus on high value-added products, which have enabled a 16% increase in sales in the Mexican market year-over-year.

In the Southern Region, Ternium expects the performance of the Argentine construction and industrial sectors to be stable relative to the average of the first nine months of 2014. This continuing trend should translate into a moderate year-over-year contraction of steel shipments in this region for 2014 compared to 2013.

The company anticipates slightly higher shipments in the fourth quarter 2014 compared to the third quarter 2014 mainly as a result of the ramp-up of its new facilities in Mexico in a seasonally weaker quarter for this country. Excluding the effect of a non-recurring insurance recovery gain in the third quarter 2014, Ternium expects relatively stable operating income in the fourth quarter 2014, reflecting slightly lower steel prices and costs in the context of lower raw material and purchased slab prices.

Working capital increased USD553.2 million in the first nine months of 2014 as a result of a USD411.8 million increase in inventories and an aggregate USD191.9 million increase in trade and other receivables, partially offset by an aggregate USD50.5 million net increase in accounts payable and other liabilities. Trade receivables increased as a result of higher sales volume. Inventories increased in the first nine months of 2014 mainly reflecting higher inventory volumes in a context of ramped-up production, and higher costs of raw materials, goods in process and finished goods. The above mentioned increase in working capital in the first nine months of 2014 included a negative non-cash effect of USD128.2 million reflecting variations in the exchange rates used by subsidiaries with functional currencies other than the U.S. dollar, mainly related to inventories.

Capital expenditures in the first nine months of 2014 were USD334.8 million, down from USD725.1 million in the first nine months of 2013. The main investments carried out during the period included, in Mexico, those made in the new cold rolling mill (Pesquería facility), in mining and iron ore reduction facilities and for the expansion of service center capacity and, in Argentina, those made for the expansion of specialty steel production capacity (including a new continuous caster in the steel shop, inaugurated during the first quarter) and for the expansion and enhancement of the coking facilities.

In the first nine months of 2014, Ternium had negative free cash flow of USD37.3 million<sup>8</sup>. The company's net proceeds from borrowings in the first nine months of 2014 were USD200.1 million. In addition, net dividends paid to shareholders were USD147.2 million and net dividends paid to minority shareholders were USD33.6 million. As of September 30, 2014, Ternium's net debt position was USD1.7 billion.

Net cash provided by operating activities in the third quarter 2014 was USD287.8 million. Working capital increased by USD48.7 million in the third quarter 2014 as a result of a USD107.0 million increase in inventories, partially offset by an aggregate USD19.6 million decrease in trade and other receivables, and an aggregate USD38.8 million net increase in accounts payable and other liabilities. Inventories increased in the third quarter 2014 mainly reflecting higher volumes of raw materials and purchased steel, partially offset by lower costs of raw materials. Capital expenditures were USD94.8 million in the third quarter 2014, compared to USD217.5 million in the third quarter 2013. Ternium's free cash flow in the period was USD193.1 million<sup>9</sup>. In addition, in the third quarter 2014 Techgen paid back Ternium USD62.5 million on loans granted during the first half 2014.
