FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Leading Independent Proxy Advisory Firm Glass Lewis Recommends Solera Shareholders Reject Michael Quagliano's "Profoundly Inexperienced and Unqualified" Director Nominees By Voting the WHITE Proxy Card

Citing "overwhelming concerns about the credibility of his position," the report concludes that Quagliano's solicitation is "fundamentally flawed"

LAKESWOOD, Colo., May 9, 2014 - Solera National Bancorp, Inc. (SLRK) ("Solera," the "Company," "we," or "us"), the holding company for Solera National Bank, today announced that Glass Lewis & Co. ("Glass Lewis"), a leading independent proxy advisory firm, has recommended that Solera shareholders vote FOR the director candidates nominated by Solera's board of directors on the WHITE proxy card at the Company's 2014 Annual Meeting of Shareholders to be held on May 22, 2014.

Director Nominees

Regarding the Quagliano nominees, the Glass Lewis report stated (emphasis added):

"The [Solera] board fairly laments what is a profoundly inexperienced and unqualified slate of individuals, the bulk of which have no credible foundation upon which to oversee the complex operational structure and regulatory obligations attendant to a publicly traded bank."

"[T]he fact that Mr. Quagliano has proposed himself and two young family members out of six total nominees suggests there is a brazen intent to craft a board wholly beholden to his own perspectives, rather than the interests of Solera's other shareholders."

"We believe there is no justifiable basis upon which to suggest retaining a 28-year old Florida horse farm employee and a 21-year old college student in any way serves the interest of any shareholders other than Mr. Quagliano."

Business Plan

Regarding Mr. Quagliano's plans for the Company, the report said (emphasis added):

"[T]he strategy promulgated by Mr. Quagliano appears no less flawed, as he proposes little more than cutting pay, firing employees and renegotiating existing lease agreements. The problems with this framework are glaring and manifold.... [W]e note the Company has already undertaken a series of terminations under Mr. Carmichael, including eliminating the entire tier of executive vice president employees.... Rather than acknowledge this effort, Mr. Quagliano has found a rather strange bedfellow in Robert Fenton, himself a former executive vice president of Solera, who was recently compelled to jointly file a Schedule 13D with Mr. Quagliano in connection with the current contest. We hardly consider this association emblematic of any intention to meaningfully follow through on executive-level terminations with an even hand."

"Perhaps most damning here, there is a coarse lack of causality between the absolute performance figures cited by Mr. Quagliano and the nature of his plans for Solera going forward.... [T]his concern is exacerbated with reference to Mr. Quagliano's brash preference for nominating observably ill-equipped family members to key oversight roles. Further still, absent a clearly disclosed plan, we believe Mr. Quagliano's lease renegotiation strategy is a complete non-starter."

Conclusion

The report concluded that “[g]iven the sum of the foregoing factors, we strongly believe shareholders should reject Mr. Quagliano’s solicitation in full” (emphasis added).
