32 Wintergreen False Claims Versus the Facts Original PART IV Wintergreen's Claims The Facts Wintergreen's objective is to run CTO in a thoughtful manner for long-term success Wintergreen has repeatedly demanded an expedited sale or liquidation of CTO. As recently as November 2016, Wintergreen has stated that its nominees "will seek to complete the mandate to maximize shareholder value through the sale of CTO or through the liquidation of CTO's assets." Wintergreen's operating "plans" for CTO lack specifics, calling into doubt Wintergreen's understanding of CTO's core business and whether Wintergreen has really thought strategically about running CTO. CTO's 2016 exploration of strategic alternatives with Deutsche Bank was "an unmitigated disaster" conducted "under the cloak of darkness." CTO announced commencement of Strategic Alternatives Process in February 2016. CTO's Special Committee ran a deliberate, comprehensive, and fair process. CTO's Board provided no preferred transaction types or bidder requirements to Deutsche Bank. Deutsche Bank was paid no retainer and would have been paid only on a successful transaction. Contacted more than 200 potential bidders. Two all-stock offers were received; the offers reflected a price-per-share for CTO's common stock of no greater than a 5% premium to the then trading price. CTO disclosed the results of the process shortly after it concluded in July 2016. CTO disclosed additional information at the request of shareholders in December 2016. Wintergreen is Wrong! 33 Wintergreen False Claims Versus the Facts Original PART IV Wintergreen's Claims The Facts CTO's executive compensation is excessive and not tied to performance Under the current management team, Named Executive Officer compensation has always been aligned with performance targets. In response to shareholder input and based on guidance from two nationally recognized compensation consultants, CTO introduced modified executive compensation practices for 2017. John Albright's stock sales show that he sees CTO as "his own personal piggy bank." Mr. Albright purchased a significant amount of CTO stock well before becoming CEO. In 2014 and 2015, Mr. Albright's largest stock sales were to pay taxes and the strike price as applicable for vested share awards. Mr. Albright's recent sales were the result of the Board implementing a policy (phased in beginning July 2016) prohibiting margin loans for executives and board members on CTO stock. Mr. Albright is one of CTO's largest individual shareholders with approximately 1.3% of the shares outstanding, representing a significant percentage of his net worth. Wintergreen is Wrong! 34 Wintergreen False Claims Versus the Facts Original PART IV Wintergreen's Claims The Facts CTO is spending too much money on its new headquarters CTO's new office space will be located in the vacant 7,500 square feet of the Williamson Business Park that the Company built in 2014. This provides net savings of approximately $200,000 per year. The increase in Grant Thornton's audit fees are "alarming." The fees paid to our auditor are in line with market and reflect the growth in CTO total assets. Grant Thornton serves as an important protection to our shareholders. And then he has that kind of record himself, I think he’s a fellow living in an all glass house.” Warren Buffett Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Berkshire Hathaway Inc. 36 “ we have no desire to ‘gain control of Consolidated-Tomoka,’ nor a desire to micromanage the company .. Our director candidates are totally independent from Wintergreen and would represent the interests of all shareholders. We did not nominate them to push a certain agenda or business plan, but rather to act as intelligent and independent stewards of CTO 's assets. They will not report back to Wintergreen on the dealings of the company any more than they will report to all other shareholders. The Wintergreen proposed independent directors offer an array of backgrounds, talents, and viewpoints that we believe would undoubtedly help the company maximize shareholder value in the long run.” David Winters, Chief Executive Officer, Wintergreen Advisers, LLC. David Winter's Own Words 46 An example of this is Consolidated Tomoka Land Company ("CTO"), of which the Fund owns approximately 21% of the company's outstanding stock. When Wintergreen first invested in CTO in 2006, the company was comprised of a wonderful asset, 10,500 acres of undervalued land in Daytona Beach, Florida, as well as income producing properties which generated enough steady cash flow to sustain the company when land sales slowed. The company had benefitted from the long boom in Florida's housing market, but as time went on, we felt that they were not doing enough to actively grow the value of the company. We engaged in many long conversations with management and encouraged them to become more proactive in unlocking the enormous value of the company. As we continued to press our concerns, management and the board of directors seemed to dig in their heels and insist on doing things as they had always done. It became clear to us that we would have to take a more active and public role in steering the company in the right direction. Owning valuable assets, such as CTO's land, is a great advantage for a company, but without the right people running the company, there is little chance of that asset value ever accruing to shareholders. Over the course of three years, Wintergreen Advisers, LLC, the Fund's Investment Manager, proposed several candidates for election to the board of directors, all of whom were independent from Wintergreen. Four of these candidates became directors, and several of the old guard directors were voted out or resigned. The reinvigorated board evaluated management and the company's strategy with fresh eyes and came to the conclusion that change was needed. With the support of Wintergreen, the board appointed John Albright as CEO in 2011 and empowered him to bring in his own management team and develop plans to unlock the enormous value of the company's assets. The board devised an executive compensation plan which closely aligns their pay with long term value creation for shareholders. With renewed confidence in the company's leadership at all levels, Wintergreen gave CTO time and space to revitalize the company. Under guidance from the board, the new management team developed plans to attract new developers to Daytona Beach, from national homebuilders to Trader Joe's and Tanger Factory Outlet Centers. They have grown and diversified their income property portfolio and increased outreach to potential investors. A deal announced in November 2014, for CTO to sell 1,600 acres of land to Minto Communities is expected to bring 3,000 new households to Daytona Beach, which should further drive demand for CTO's land. The real estate market in Daytona Beach is bouncing back, and the actions taken by CTO's management team and board over the past four years have put the company in position to benefit from this rebound. This progress at CTO has not gone unnoticed by investors. Since the board appointed John Albright as CEO in 2011, CTO shares have risen by 22% annually as of the date of this letter, far outpacing the 16% annual gain for the S&P 500. In 2014, the company sold less than 1% of its land but realized its highest per share earnings since 2007. That performance combined with the recent disclosure that the company is considering converting to a Real Estate Investment Trust (which has significant tax advantages for the company), has driven the shares up by more than 80% over the past twelve months. Wintergreen's involvement with CTO has been a long and often trying experience, but it now stands as a great example of the value we can add by combining long term investing with our own brand of activism. Wintergreen's actions at CTO separated the Chairman and CEO positions, gave investors an annual say on pay vote (before it became a requirement), and put a strong lineup of directors on CTO's board. The board in turn hired a very capable management team, which has transformed the company into the profitable and growing enterprise it is today. We believe the best is yet to come for CTO.
