CORNING, N.Y. Corning Incorporated (NYSE: GLW) today announced its results for the first quarter 2010.

First-Quarter Highlights

Sales were $1.55 billion, an increase of 1% sequentially and 57% year over year.

Earnings per share were $0.52. Excluding special items, EPS was also $0.52*, a gain of 18% over the fourth-quarter results and 420% year over year.

Display Technologies' wholly owned business volume was up 12% sequentially and 127% year over year. Samsung Corning Precision Glass Co., Ltd., volume was consistent with the previous quarter and up 64% year over year.

Gross margin improved significantly to 47% from 42% in the previous quarter, and over last year's first quarter of 27%.

Equity earnings were $469 million. This represents a slight increase over the previous quarter's $461 million. Year-over-year equity earnings improved by 141%.

Corning Announces First-Quarter Results

Page Two

Wendell P. Weeks, chairman and chief executive officer, said, "Our first quarter was outstanding, driven by excellent results across nearly all of our major business units. We were particularly pleased with the performance in Display Technologies where we were essentially sold out. We are also encouraged by the growing market demand for Corning® Gorilla® glass for handheld and other electronic devices.

First-Quarter Segment Results

Sales in the Display Technologies segment were $782 million, increasing 9% sequentially and 119% year over year. Glass prices for the quarter were down slightly and in line with expectations. Corning benefited from improved display manufacturing performance.

Telecommunications segment sales were $364 million, a sequential decline of 10% and in line with the company's previous expectations. Year-over-year sales declined 5% in the quarter. Despite the quarterly sales decline, the company saw improved profitability in this segment as it began realizing operational improvements from restructuring actions taken last year. Corning had a telecommunications restructuring charge in last year's fourth quarter.

Environmental Technologies segment sales were $192 million, an increase of 6% sequentially and 75% from a year ago. Sales were better than expected, resulting from higher-than-anticipated demand for auto emissions products around the world, particularly in North America and China. Profitability in the quarter was negatively impacted by higher transportation costs and manufacturing inefficiencies associated with restarting production to meet the increased demand.

Specialty Materials segment sales of $96 million decreased 13% sequentially, but increased 60% year over year. The business benefited by the continued popularity of Gorilla glass, now designed into 80 consumer devices across 17 major brands.

Life Sciences segment sales were $118 million, consistent with the previous quarter and a 55% improvement year over year. First-quarter 2009 sales do not reflect results from Axygen Bioscience, Inc., which Corning acquired in September of last year.

Corning's equity earnings totaled $469 million compared to $461 million in the previous quarter and $195 million a year ago. Equity earnings from Dow Corning Corporation were $112 million versus $133 million last quarter and $5 million in the first quarter of 2009. Equity earnings included special gains of $21 million in the first quarter of 2010 and $29 million in the fourth quarter of 2009, due primarily to tax credits. Equity earnings for Samsung Corning Precision were $350 million, a sequential increase of 10% and a year-over-year improvement of 87%.

Corning's first-quarter results were also positively impacted by the company's decision to repatriate approximately $1 billion of current year earnings from certain foreign subsidiaries. This decision allows Corning to record the benefit of excess foreign tax credits which reduced the company's effective tax rate in the quarter to 2% versus an original expectation of 10%. The difference between the new rate and the expected rate was worth approximately $64 million. Corning expects its full-year effective tax rate to be 2% as well.

James B. Flaws, vice chairman and chief financial officer, said, "We were very pleased with our first-quarter results. Even without the lower tax rate, EPS was significantly better than Wall Street's expectations. Corning generated $472 million of free cash flow* after capital expenditures of $173 million in the first quarter, versus break even a year ago. Historically, the first quarter of the year is Corning's worst for free cash flow, so we are delighted with this result," he added.

Looking Forward

Flaws said higher-than-expected retail demand for LCD televisions, laptops, and desktop computers in quarter one, along with an improved outlook for these consumer electronic products through the remainder of the year, have led us to increase our expectations for the annual growth of the LCD glass market. We now forecast a range of 2.9 billion square feet to 3.1 billion square feet of glass this year, up from our original expectation of 2.8 billion to 3.0 billion square feet. This represents a year-over-year growth rate of 18% to 27%.

In its Display Technologies segment, Corning expects second-quarter volume will increase in the mid-single digits for both its wholly owned business and SCP. Glass price declines in the quarter should be similar to the first quarter. The company said it plans on running all available capacity by the end of quarter two to meet panel maker demand.

The company anticipates its second-quarter Telecommunications segment sequential sales will increase by 10% to 15%. Optical fiber and cable sales are expected to show strength across North America and China throughout the quarter. Sales of hardware and equipment and private network products are also expected to remain strong.

Environmental Technologies segment sequential sales will be comparable to the first quarter. Specialty Materials segment sales are anticipated to increase in the range of 15% to 25% sequentially, driven by continued growth in Gorilla glass. In the Life Sciences segment sequential sales are expected to be up 5%.

Equity earnings are expected to be down 3% to 5% in the second quarter, excluding the Dow Corning tax gain. Dow Corning's equity earnings will be comparable to the first quarter despite higher costs, which include amounts for the start up of their new China operations. Samsung Corning Precision's equity earnings could be lower by about 5% in the quarter due to fluctuations in foreign exchange rates.

The company's second-quarter results could be affected by changes in the Japanese yen to U.S. dollar exchange rate. A one-point move in the yen is worth approximately $9 million in net profit after tax.

Corning Announces First-Quarter Results

Corning has increased its forecast of capital expenditures to $1 billion for 2010 from the previously announced level of $600 million to $700 million. The company has restarted expansion at its Taichung (Taiwan) LCD glass facility, which was halted in late 2008 as a result of an industry-wide slowdown. Additionally, Corning is preparing to retrofit a section of its Shizuoka (Japan) LCD glass plant to meet the emerging demand for LCD TV cover glass. We expect to secure our first customer agreement in the second quarter for this new product, Flaws said.

We are off to a very good start in 2010, Flaws said. However, we will remain cautious and continue to exercise tight control over spending. Our strategy of protecting the company's long-term financial health and maintaining a high level of investment in our future through research and development has us well-positioned to capitalize on the economic recovery that appears to be taking shape, he concluded.

Upcoming Meetings

Corning will present at 8:40 a.m. at the 38th annual J.P. Morgan Global Technology, Media and Telecom Conference on May 17 at the Westin Boston Waterfront hotel, Boston, Mass.

Presentation of Information in this News Release

Non-GAAP financial measures are not in accordance with, or an alternative to, GAAP. Corning's non-GAAP net income and EPS measures exclude restructuring, impairment and other charges and adjustments to prior estimates for such charges. Additionally, the company's non-GAAP measures exclude adjustments to asbestos settlement reserves, gains and losses arising from debt retirements, charges or credits arising from adjustments to the valuation allowance against deferred tax assets, equity method charges resulting from impairments of equity method investments or restructuring, impairment or other charges taken by equity method companies and gains from discontinued operations. The company believes presenting non-GAAP net income and EPS measures is helpful to analyze financial performance without the impact of unusual items that may obscure trends in the company's underlying performance. Reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures can be found on the company's Web site by going to www.corning.com/investor_relations and clicking Financial Reports on the left. NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(Unaudited)

1. Asbestos Litigation

On March 28, 2003, Corning announced that it had reached agreement with the representatives of asbestos claimants for the settlement of all current and future asbestos claims against Corning and Pittsburgh Corning Corporation (PCC) which might arise from PCC products or operations (the 2003 Plan). On December 21, 2006, the Bankruptcy Court issued an order denying confirmation of the 2003 Plan. On January 10, 2008, some of the parties in the proceeding advised the Bankruptcy Court that they had made substantial progress on an amended plan of reorganization (the Amended PCC Plan) that resolved issues raised by the Court in denying the confirmation of the 2003 Plan.

As a result of progress in the parties' continuing negotiations, Corning believes the Amended PCC Plan, modified as indicated below, now represents the most probable outcome of this matter and the probability that the 2003 plan will become effective has diminished. The proposed settlement under the Amended PCC Plan requires Corning to contribute its equity interest in PCC and Pittsburgh Corning Europe, N.V. (PCE) and to contribute a fixed series of cash payments recorded at present value. Corning will have the option to contribute shares rather than cash, but the liability is fixed by dollar value and not number of shares. The Amended PCC Plan does not include non-PCC asbestos claims that may be or have been raised against Corning. Corning has recorded an additional amount for such claims in its estimated asbestos litigation liability.

Several of the parties in the bankruptcy proceedings are anticipating that they will file a modification of the Amended PCC Plan with the Bankruptcy Court which will reduce the amount of cash expected to be contributed to the settlement. In the first quarter of 2010, we recorded a net credit of $52 million ($33 million after-tax) due largely to the change in terms of the proposed settlement.

2. Equity in Earnings of Affiliated Companies

In the first quarter of 2010, equity in earnings of affiliated companies included a credit of $21 million ($20 million after-tax) primarily for Corning's share of advanced energy manufacturing tax credits at Dow Corning Corporation.

3. Provision for Income Taxes

In the first quarter of 2010, we recorded a $56 million tax charge from the reversal of the deferred tax asset associated with a Medicare subsidy.
