Kansas City Southern Announces Appointment of James S. Brook
as Vice President and Comptroller

Kansas City Southern (KCS) (NYSE: KSU) announced today that James S. Brook has been appointed vice president and comptroller. Mr. Brook joins KCS from Aquila, Inc., where he held a variety of senior executive positions from 1993 to 2004, most recently as vice president international regulation. From 1993 to 1999, he served as vice president controller and chief accounting officer.

Mr. Brook has 20 years of management experience in electric and gas utilities and associated regulated and unregulated ventures. His skills range from corporate governance, international mergers and acquisitions and capital deployment to treasury, audit and regulatory and financial reporting.

"We are pleased that Jim Brook will bring his financial and managerial expertise to KCS," said Ronald G. Russ, executive vice president and chief financial officer. "Jim brings a fresh perspective to the railroad industry that will be an asset as Kansas City Southern grows and strengthens in the NAFTA trade corridor."

Mr. Brook holds a master of business administration with an emphasis on finance and marketing from the University of Kansas and a bachelor of commerce with a major of accounting and finance from the University of Manitoba. He is a chartered accountant, the Canadian equivalent to a certified public accountant.

KCS is a transportation holding company that has railroad investments in the U.S., Mexico and Panama. Its primary holding is The Kansas City Southern Railway Company, which serves customers in the central and south central regions of the U.S. KCS' rail holdings and investments are primary components of a NAFTA Railway system that links the commercial and industrial centers of the U.S., Canada and Mexico.
