Item 8.01. Other Events.

On August 17, 2010, United States Cellular Corporation (the Company) and Amdocs Software Systems Limited (Amdocs) entered into a Software License and Maintenance Agreement (SLMA) and a Master Service Agreement (MSA) (collectively, the Agreements) to develop a Billing and Operational Support System (BSS/OSS) with a new point-of-sale system to consolidate billing on one platform.

Under the Agreements, Amdocs will license to the Company certain ordering, customer relationship management, revenue management and billing software (the Licensed Systems) relating to the BSS/OSS system.

The implementation of the Licensed Systems will commence on September 1, 2010, and is expected to take approximately two years to complete. After the parties document the Company's detailed requirements for the Licensed Systems (which is estimated for completion during the first seven months), if the fees require an adjustment in excess of a specified amount, the Company may terminate the project.

The Agreements contain detailed terms governing license fees, professional services fees and ongoing maintenance fees, including discounts and credits, as well as fees and rates for additional licenses and services that may be requested by the Company. The payments include $4.8 million to be paid by the Company as of the execution of the Agreement. In addition, some of the fees remain at risk based upon the Company's success or failure in achieving certain business metrics after implementing the Licensed Systems. The total estimated amounts to be paid to Amdocs with respect to the Agreements through delivery of the BSS/OSS system is $73 million. The Company also is committed to purchase maintenance for seven years at $4.6 million per year (or a total of $32.4 million).

The Agreements are master-type agreements pursuant to which the Company and Amdocs will enter into License and Maintenance Orders (pursuant to the SLMA) and Statements of Work (pursuant to the MSA). Accordingly, neither of the Agreements has a fixed term and is terminable only as provided therein.
