On July 12, 2016, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Spectrum Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (“Spectrum”), Allos Therapeutics Inc. (the “Company”), and Fresenius Kabi USA, LLC (“Fresenius”), entered into a settlement agreement to resolve their patent litigation relating to Folutyn® (pralatrexate injection). As a result of the settlement, Fresenius will be permitted to market a generic version of Folutyn in the United States on November 15, 2022 or earlier under certain circumstances. Details of the settlement are confidential, and the parties will submit the agreement to the Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Justice. The parties will request that the court enter an order, in which it will dismiss the Company’s litigation against Fresenius. Fresenius was the last remaining defendant in the litigation, which accordingly is expected to conclude. As previously reported, the Company has also settled the litigation against Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, Inc., Dr. Reddy’s Laboratories, Ltd. & Dr. Reddy’s Laboratories, Inc. and Sandoz Inc. This litigation is described in further detail in Part II, Item 1 of Spectrum’s Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 2016, filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on May 6, 2016.

Forward-looking statement — This filing contains forward-looking statements regarding the anticipated results of the settlements and litigation that involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially. These statements are based on management's current beliefs and expectations. Risks that could cause actual results to differ include, whether the court approves the dismissal of the litigation, governmental review of the settlement agreements and potential future challenges from generic companies, and other risks that are described in further detail in the Company’s reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company does not plan to update any such forward-looking statements and expressly disclaims any duty to update the information contained in this filing except as required by law.
