ITEM 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

In early 2001, Plaintiff Collier Black commenced legal proceedings against Rollins, Inc. (the "Company") and one of its subsidiaries, Orkin, Inc., in which he alleged that Orkin breached its subterranean termite agreement and repair guarantee and sought repair damages and diminution of value to his estate home.

Edgar Filing: ROLLINS INC - Form 8-K

In 2002, the complaint was amended to include claims of fraud, deceptive trade practices, false advertising and civil racketeering.

In September 2003, an arbitration panel issued a verdict in favor of Mr. Black against the Company and Orkin on the breach of contract and deceptive trade practices claims, and in the Company's and Orkin's favor on all remaining claims. The arbitrators awarded Mr. Black $750,000 in compensatory damages, $2.25 million in punitive damages, plus attorney's fees and costs later determined to be approximately $1.25 million, for a total award of approximately $4.25 million. Shortly thereafter, the Company and Orkin commenced a lawsuit in federal court in Jacksonville, FL seeking to vacate or, in the alternative, to modify the arbitration award on the grounds that it was a manifest disregard of the law and violated due process.

On August 23, 2004, a U.S. District Court (Middle District of Florida) judge vacated the entire punitive damage award and reduced the judgment to approximately $2.0 million. Additional motions or appeals may be filed. In the opinion of Management, the outcome of this action will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial position, results of operations or liquidity.
