LETTER TO THE SHAREHOLDERS

May 20, 2005

Dear Shareholders,

In 2005, financial markets have continued to focus on commodity prices and slowing global growth. Western Europe already revised low growth forecasts downward, blaming oil prices for depressing gross domestic product (GDP). US markets were constrained by waning consumer confidence and slowing GDP growth, but the US central bank insisted oil prices were not having an adverse impact on the economy and pushed ahead with systematic increases in the federal funds rate. Emerging markets performed well and continued to see robust growth, but rising U.S. interest rates have dampened investor appetite for emerging market risk as spreads over developed markets tighten.

Against these trends, the Central Europe and Russia Fund performed well during the period again, outperforming its benchmark. (A custom blend of 45% in Central Europe (CECE-Index), 45% Russia (RTX-Index) and 10% in Turkey (ISE National 30))¹. For the six months ended April 30, 2005, the Central Europe and Russia Fund's total return (based on its net asset value per share) was 8.96% in US dollar terms, while its total return based on share price was 11.31%. The fund's benchmark rose 5.43% during the same period.

In Russia, the fund benefited from its exposure to the oil sector. Lukoil, our largest holding in the fund, outperformed other oil stocks as well as the market on the back of good results and an improving production outlook. Our holding in Mechel Steel Group OAO, the largest and most comprehensive producer of specialty steels and alloys in Russia, also performed well since its IPO in November 2004, and contributed positively to the fund's outperformance. In terms of the broader Russian market, MSCI recently increased Russia's weighting in its emerging market indices, which should increase demand for Russian stocks. In recognition of the growing importance of non-oil stocks in the Russian market, MSCI added several Russian telecom and consumer stocks to the index.

Contrary to our expectations, the Czech and the Hungarian markets continued their strong favorable performance, driven by strong international capital inflows, and supported by good company results. During the second quarter, we have initiated a position in the Hungarian company BorsodChem, a major chemical producer as well as the largest maker of PVC plastic in Eastern Europe. The company also contributed positively to the fund's performance. On April 14, the company was also added to the CECE Index. The Polish market underperformed its Central European peers during the reporting period as increasing political uncertainty and unfavorable exchange rate trends brought a major correction to the Polish market, and as a consequence our holdings in Polish midcap stocks, Echo Investment and Cersanit-Krasnystaw, negatively impacted the Fund's performance.

In the second fiscal quarter, the positive performance contribution from the Turkish financial sector continued. The fund benefited again from its overweight in Finansbank, which rose 175% during the reporting period, and its holding in Yapi ve Kredi Bankasi. During the period under review, Turkish markets were mostly driven by news flow on European Union (EU) accession talks and the country's International Monetary Fund (IMF) loan agreement, both of which have helped to spur merger and acquisition activity. Over the next few months, we expect Turkish markets to focus on any signs of a delay to the previously agreed October start date for accession talks.

The Fund's discount to net asset value averaged 8.6% during the period.
Sincerely,

/S/Christian Strenger/S/Julian Sluyters

INTERVIEW WITH THE CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER

QUESTION: RUSSIA RECENTLY REACHED AN AGREEMENT WITH THE EU TO REPAY A PORTION OF ITS PARIS CLUB DEBT EARLY. WHAT IS THE SIGNIFICANCE OF THIS?

ANSWER: Russia's landmark agreement to repay $15 billion of its $40 billion Paris Club debt--the largest ever early repayment of Paris Club debt--is significant for a number of reasons. First, the Russian government will save $6 billion in interest payments between now and 2020. Second, early repayment sends a signal to the markets that the government is exercising fiscal responsibility. Rather than squander the windfall it has received from high oil prices, the government is using monies from its Oil Stabilization Fund to strengthen its fiscal position. The improved credit ratios resulting from Russia's pay-down of external debt could ultimately lead to upgrades in sovereign credit ratings and lower borrowing costs.

QUESTION: IN HIS STATE OF THE NATION ADDRESS, PRESIDENT PUTIN OUTLINED A PROPOSAL FOR LEGISLATION THAT WOULD LIMIT FOREIGN OWNERSHIP IN CERTAIN SECTORS OF THE ECONOMY DEEMED TO BE IMPORTANT TO NATIONAL SECURITY. IS THIS A PENDULUM SWING IN THE WRONG DIRECTION?

ANSWER: This legislation is not necessarily bad for foreign investors. One of the greatest risks in investing in Russia is the significant leeway the government has in its interpretation of current laws. It might be important to watch how the legislation develops to see the extent to which foreign investment is restricted and whether the legislation outlines clear rules. Well-defined property rights ultimately mitigate risk to foreign investors and could help reduce the possibility of another Yukos-style affair.

QUESTION: THE CE-3 COUNTRIES--POLAND, HUNGARY, AND THE CZECH REPUBLIC--HAVE BEEN MEMBERS OF THE EUROPEAN UNION FOR A YEAR NOW. ARE THERE ANY TANGIBLE BENEFITS TO THEIR EU MEMBERSHIP YET?

ANSWER: Since gaining EU membership last year, the CE-3 countries have performed well, and the governments have continued to move forward on macroeconomic goals. In particular, all three countries have achieved progress on inflation targets. In terms of specific benefits of EU membership, the impact on trade, foreign investment and infrastructure development is already tangible. Farmers have reaped the rewards of EU trade in Poland, for example, where agricultural exports are up 39% and average income for agricultural workers increased 73% last year (FT/Eurostat, 5/9/05). Opening borders with Western Europe has also led to increased foreign direct investment (FDI), as global companies increasingly build manufacturing and distribution centers in the lower-cost countries of Central and Eastern Europe. Meanwhile, commercial real estate developers are flocking to the region to capitalize on growing consumer demand. The region has also seen improved infrastructure, as CE-3 countries now have access to EU funds to upgrade highways and ports. The success of the CE-3 countries is ultimately contingent on the continued commitment of their governments to implement reforms, but the benefits of EU membership are already evident.

QUESTION: THE TURKISH MARKET HAS RESPONDED FAVORABLY TO THE POSSIBILITY OF EU MEMBERSHIP. HOWEVER, THERE IS A LOT OF DEBATE AMONG CURRENT MEMBER COUNTRIES AS TO WHETHER TURKEY SHOULD BE INCLUDED IN THE EU. IF MEMBERSHIP TALKS FAIL, ARE THE FUNDAMENTALS STRONG ENOUGH TO SUPPORT CURRENT MARKET VALUATIONS?

ANSWER: EU membership certainly carries with it a certain value for the markets, but it is important to realize that Turkey earned a start date for EU membership talks by making progress on economic and political reforms. Over the past six months, the government has demonstrated further commitment to those reforms, and the international community has recognized those efforts, as shown by the dramatic increase in foreign investment in Turkey in the past few months. We believe this inflow of funds, coupled with expected M&A activity in the banking and telecommunications sectors, is changing the structure of the Turkish market. Even if talks ultimately fail, the fiscal and economic strength that Turkey is building now could limit the impact of any potential political derailment of membership talks.

REPORT FROM THE INVESTMENT ADVISER AND MANAGER

CZECH REPUBLIC:

The final quarter of 2004 saw real gross domestic product (GDP) expand 4.3% year-over-year (y-o-y), which was the best performance by the Czech economy since 1996. This result was even more welcome due to the improved structure of growth that combined a sharp slowdown of import growth with an acceleration of export growth. Apart from solid external demand, an inventory adjustment by domestic companies was behind the shift in structure of GDP growth. Q1 2005 data held up reasonably well but reflected high base effects associated with EU accession last year. Industrial output, exports and retail sales all posted solid gains. Within the balance-of-payments data, foreign direct investment (FDI) remains robust. Due to expected rising private-sector consumption, strong investment and export growth we are anticipating that GDP will rise by more than 4% this year. Over the medium term, supply-side reforms (improving labor-market flexibility, promoting new small businesses, etc.) are needed to maintain this pace. The Czech National Bank cut its repossession rate three times since the beginning of the year, to 1.75%.

HUNGARY:

Q4 GDP growth edged up to 3.8% y-o-y, one tick higher than in Q3, and was roughly in line with consensus. Overall, GDP rose 4.0% in 2004. Unemployment has hit a multi-year high this year, partly due to seasonal factors but also as a result of a slowdown in the lower-value-added sectors of the economy. We are basing our investment stance on the consumer price index meeting the National Bank of Hungary's target both this year and next and remain between 3.5% to 4.0% for the rest of this year. We see room for 50 to 75 basis points (bps) in easing before year-end. The foreign trade deficit narrowed in Q4 2004: export growth picked up to 3.8% quarter over quarter in seasonally adjusted terms, following 1.8% in Q3, while import growth was broadly flat over Q4. Fiscal credibility remains weak, with the deficit at the end of April 2005 standing at 69% of the full-year target. We expect the official annual goal of 4.7% to be missed, with a deficit of 5.2% to 5.4% of GDP more likely. Like most Central European currencies, the forint has weakened over recent months, though to a much smaller extent. We believe that the risks are weighted toward further weakness from here, given Hungary's ongoing twin-deficits problem.

POLAND:

The Polish economy in Q4 2004 saw a further slowing in the pace of expansion, with GDP growth slowing to 3.9% year-over-year (y-o-y), from 4.8% in Q3 and 6.1% in Q2. The paces of exports and industrial production both cooled from their above-trend tracks during the first half of 2004. Q1 2005 saw a further deceleration in growth, due to low real-wage growth and weaker Euroland demand for Polish exports. Based on economic stimulus, we expect GDP to pick up again in the second half of 2005. Falling inflation (3.0% y-o-y in April, compared with 4.4% y-o-y in December) should support real wage growth, while rising growth in consumer credit should also boost consumer purchasing power. We also expect a pickup in Euroland growth in the second half of the year, supporting Polish industrial production and exports. The combination of the strong currency, slower growth and much better-than-expected inflation performance has prompted the National Bank of Poland ("NBP") to cut rates by 100 bps to 5.5% year-to-date. With further currency appreciation in sight and risks weighted toward an undershoot of the inflation target, we are assuming the NBP is likely to cut rates by a further 50 bps to year-end. The current account has surprised on the upside year to date, registering a surplus over the first two months of EUR195mn, compared with a deficit of EUR96mn for the same period in 2003. The state budget has also performed reasonably in the first months of 2005, despite frontloaded payments to the EU. Overall, we believe the economy is in good condition, with a sustainable balance-of-payments picture. Fiscal policy requires reform, and we expect the next government to push ahead with this. GDP growth is forecast at a robust 3.8% for the year as a whole.

RUSSIA:

The Russian economy turned in a strong performance in 2004, posting GDP growth of 7.1%, several notches above expectations even three months ago. The source of this surprise stems from the high raw materials prices enjoyed by exporters, especially in the second half of 2004. The Russian consumer was also in good form, having seen real incomes grow nearly 11% that led to a growth in retail sales of about the same magnitude. Economic growth during Q1 2005, from the evidence in hand, appeared to maintain itself near 5% y-o-y, though within this there were important crosscurrents. On the one side, the economy was buoyed by the extremely high export selling prices for oil, metals and other natural resources, which drove the "top line" of economic value. But this masked other, more worrying trends which will become visible once the price of oil moderates. Fixed capital investment is one weak area, and spending year-over-year may actually decline during the first half of 2005, as the investment climate remains uncertain. Real personal income growth has also moderated, heralding a likely slowing in domestic consumption. Currency reserves soared to $125 billion (US $) by year-end 2004, pushing Russia into net creditor status for the first time since communism, and paving the way for another round of credit rating upgrades, perhaps in mid-2005. Inflation was a disappointment, though, as cash inflows to the economy and high real income growth made price restraint difficult. Authorities will struggle to bring price growth down to the 10% level by year-end, let alone the earlier 8% target. But of greater concern currently is maintaining GDP growth as both investment and export prices slow. A conscious effort to weaken the ruble in order to help exporters will also not help the inflation fight, which may be deferred until 2006.

TURKEY:

After the 9.9% growth seen for 2004 GNP, some moderation is in store, but growth near 5% looks plausible for 2005 and 2006, especially if ongoing reforms are pushed ahead. In fact, there is some chance of this target being exceeded this year, with industrial output starting strongly. For the first three months of the year, output was up 8.2% y-o-y, reflecting strong growth of both exports and imports. In March, industry grew 5.5%, exports rose 23.5%, and imports were up 20.3%. However, the larger size of cumulative imports meant that the trade deficit rose 15% y-o-y, to $3.7 billion (US$). The current account deficit also rose, increasing 18% in the first three months to $2.8 billion (US$) due to the higher trade deficit. FDI flows are expected to reach a record high level of $7.8 billion (US$), which will help allay financing concerns to a great extent. Total foreign debt at year-end 2004 was $162 billion (US$), or 54% of GNP, down from 61% the year before. We feel this is a major progress and could support a credit rating upgrade later in 2005. Some aspects of the economy are doing extremely well. Among these is tourism, where the monthly data for March show a 41% rise in visits, y-o-y. Another positive trend is inflation, where CPI has come in below consensus in both February and March, with the latest figure falling to 7.9% y-o-y, versus 8.7% in February. And though the producer price index rose a fuel-induced 1.3% month-over-month in March, taking the annual rate up to 11.3%, the CPI is on track to reach 7% by year-end. This has led the central bank to cut interest rates, currently at 14.5%; the benchmark rate could see several more cuts during 2005, to as low as 13.5%.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

The observations in this letter reflect our own opinions as of May 20, 2005 and are based on our own analysis, and others may have different opinions. Events may not transpire as we or they currently expect. Also, while economic events can influence broad market trends, political, monetary and other factors are also relevant to stock performance. In any event, investment results will depend on our success in identifying individual stocks, which are influenced by many factors beyond general economic matters. We cannot predict investment results or whether they will be successful.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS--APRIL 30, 2005 (UNAUDITED)

NOTE 1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Central Europe and RUSSIA FUND, Inc. is a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company incorporated in Maryland. The Fund commenced investment operations on March 6, 1990.

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

SECURITY VALUATION: Investments are stated at value. All securities for which market quotations are readily available are valued at the last sales price on the primary exchange on which they are traded prior to the time of valuation. If no sales price is available at that time, and both bid and ask prices are available, the securities are valued at the mean between the last current bid and ask prices; if no quoted asked prices are available, they are valued at the last quoted bid price. All securities for which market quotations are not readily available will be valued as determined in good faith by the Board of Directors of the Fund. The Fund calculates its net asset value per share at 11:30 A.M., New York time, in order to minimize the possibility that events occurring after the close of the securities exchanges on which the Fund's portfolio securities principally trade would require adjustment to the closing market prices in order to reflect fair value.

SECURITIES TRANSACTIONS AND INVESTMENT INCOME: Securities transactions are recorded on the trade date. Cost of securities sold is calculated using the identified cost method. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Such dividend income is recorded net of unrecoverable foreign withholding tax.

LOANS OF PORTFOLIO SECURITIES: The Fund may lend portfolio securities while it continues to earn dividends on such securities loaned. The market value of government securities received as collateral is required to be at least equal to 105 percent of the market value of the securities loaned, which are marked-to-market daily. Securities lending fees, net of rebates and agency fees, are earned by the Fund and are identified separately in the Statement of Operations.

FOREIGN CURRENCY TRANSLATION: The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars.

Assets and liabilities denominated in euros and other foreign currency are translated into United States dollars at the 10:00 A.M. mid-point of the buying and selling spot rates quoted by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses are reported at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. The resultant gains and losses arising from exchange rate fluctuations are identified separately in the Statement of Operations, except for such amounts attributable to investments, which are included in net realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments.

Foreign investments may involve certain considerations and risks not typically associated with those of domestic origin as a result of, among others, the possibility of political and economic developments and the level of governmental supervision and regulation of foreign securities markets. In addition, certain foreign markets may be substantially smaller, less developed, less liquid and more volatile than the major markets of the United States.

CONTINGENCIES: In the normal course of business, the Fund may enter into contracts with service providers that contain general indemnification clauses. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss to be remote.

TAXES: No provision has been made for United States Federal income tax because the Fund intends to meet the requirements of the United States Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its taxable income to shareholders.

DIVIDENDS AND DISTRIBUTIONS TO SHAREHOLDERS: The Fund records dividends and distributions to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. Income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with United States Federal income tax regulations which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences, which could be temporary or permanent in nature, may result in reclassification of distributions; however, net investment income, net realized gains and net assets are not affected.

NOTE 2. MANAGEMENT AND INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENTS

The Fund had a Management Agreement with Deutsche Bank Securities Inc. (the "Manager"). At its July 12, 2004 Board meeting, the Board approved transferring the Fund's management agreement with Deutsche Bank Securities Inc. to an affiliated company, Deutsche Investment Management Americas Inc. The transfer, which became effective September 1, 2004, does not involve any change in control or actual management of the investment manager, which will provide the same scope of services, will utilize the same people for work on Fund matters and will charge the same fees under the agreement. The Fund has an Investment Advisory Agreement with Deutsche Asset Management International GmbH (the "Investment Adviser"). The Manager and the Investment Adviser are affiliated companies.

The Management Agreement provides the Manager with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of .65% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $100 million, and .55% of such assets in excess of $100 million. The Investment Advisory Agreement provides the Investment Adviser with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rates of .35% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to $100 million and .25% of such assets in excess of $100 million. Accordingly, for the period ended April 30, 2005, the fee pursuant to the Management and Investment Advisory Agreements was equivalent to an annual effective rate of .86% of the Fund's average net assets.

Pursuant to the Management Agreement, the Manager is the corporate manager and administrator of the Fund and, subject to the supervision of the Board of Directors and pursuant to recommendations made by the Fund's Investment Adviser, determines the suitable securities for investment by the Fund. The Manager also provides office facilities and certain administrative, clerical and bookkeeping services for the Fund. Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, the Investment Adviser, in accordance with the Fund's stated investment objective, policies and restrictions, makes recommendations to the Manager with respect to the Fund's investments and, upon instructions given by the Manager as to suitable securities for investment by the Fund, transmits purchase and sale orders to select brokers and dealers to execute portfolio transactions on behalf of the Fund.

NOTE 3. TRANSACTIONS WITH AFFILIATES

Certain officers of the Fund are also officers of either the Manager or Deutsche Bank AG.

The Fund pays each Director not affiliated with the Manager retainer fees plus specified amounts for attended board and committee meetings.

NOTE 4. PORTFOLIO SECURITIES

Purchases and sales of investment securities, other than short-term investments, for the period ended April 30, 2005 were $49,075,724 and $50,733,685, respectively.

The cost of investments at April 30, 2005 was $196,443,835 for United States Federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, as of April 30, 2005, net unrealized appreciation of investments aggregated $118,283,416, of which $121,636,335 and $3,352,919 related to unrealized appreciation and depreciation, respectively.

For United States Federal income tax purposes, the Fund had a capital loss carryforward at October 31, 2004 of approximately $3,500,000 which will expire in 2010.

No capital gains distribution is expected to be paid to shareholders until future net gains have been realized in excess of such carry forward.

NOTE 5. PORTFOLIO SECURITIES LOANED

As of April 30, 2005, the Fund had no securities on loan. For the period ended April 30, 2005, the Fund earned $30,590 as securities lending fees, net of rebates and agency fees.

NOTE 6. CAPITAL

During the year ended October 31, 2004, the Fund purchased 97,300 of its shares of common stock in the open market at a total cost of $2,074,803. The weighted average discount of these purchased shares comparing the purchased price to the net asset value at the time of purchase was 9.35%. These shares are held in treasury. The Fund had no capital stock repurchase activity for the period ended April 30, 2005.
