Vale on CEFM taxes

Rio de Janeiro, August 24, 2010 Vale S. A. (Vale) stresses that as a policy it is permanently in compliance with its social obligations, including the payment of all taxes, including the CFEM, the Brazilian royalty tax on mineral exploration.

However, the company considers that DNPM, the Brazilian agency responsible for the mineral royalty taxes, has been charging CFEM taxes according to some inappropriate interpretation of the tax code. Thus, Vale has been exercising its legitimate right contesting on the administrative and judicial spheres some of the tax debits imposed by DNPM.

At the moment, Vale does not have information about the debits recently included in the Cadastro Informativo de Créditos não-Quitados do Setor Público Federal (Cadin). Once the company receives the information which was requested to DNPM it will take the necessary measures in order to eliminate such registration.

This press release may include declarations about Vale's expectations regarding future events or results. All declarations based upon future expectations, rather than historical facts, are subject to various risks and uncertainties. Vale cannot guarantee that such declarations will prove to be correct. These risks and uncertainties include factors related to the following: (a) the countries where Vale operates, mainly Brazil and Canada; (b) the global economy; (c) capital markets; (d) the mining and metals businesses and their dependence upon global industrial production, which is cyclical by nature; and (e) the high degree of global competition in the markets in which Vale operates. To obtain further information on factors that may give rise to results different from those forecast by Vale, please consult the reports filed with the Brazilian Comissão de Valores Mobiliários (CVM), the French Autorité des Marchés Financiers (AMF), and with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), including Vale's most recent Annual Report on Form 20F and its reports on Form 6K.
