PRELIMINARY SUBJECT TO COMPLETION DATED DECEMBER 20, 2010 PROPOSED MERGER YOUR VOTE IS VERY IMPORTANT

To the shareholders of A.D.A.M., Inc.:

The board of A.D.A.M., Inc. (ADAM) has approved a strategic merger combining ADAM with Ebix, Inc. (Ebix). We believe that the proposed merger will allow Ebix and ADAM to be better positioned to compete as a provider of software and e-commerce solutions for both the insurance industry and employers, benefits brokers, healthcare organizations and online media companies. Ebix and ADAM have entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger under which a newly formed, direct wholly owned subsidiary of Ebix will merge with and into ADAM, with ADAM becoming a wholly owned subsidiary of Ebix.

In the proposed merger, ADAM shareholders will receive 0.3122 shares (the Exchange Ratio) of Ebix common stock for each share of ADAM common stock, subject to certain adjustments specified in the merger agreement. Based on the closing sale price for Ebix common stock on August 27, 2010, the last trading day before public announcement of the merger, the 0.3122 exchange ratio represented approximately $6.11 in value for each share of ADAM common stock. Based on the closing sale price for Ebix common stock on [] ,2010, the latest practicable date before the printing of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, which we refer to as this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, the 0.3122 exchange ratio represented approximately $[] in value for each share of ADAM common stock.

The Exchange Ratio will be adjusted downward if ADAM fails to pay at or prior to closing (i) the amount of any ADAM debt owed out of ADAM s cash on hand, (ii) the amount of expenses of ADAM s financial advisor in excess of $650,000 out of ADAM s cash on hand, or (iii) the amount of expenses of ADAM s legal counsel on this Proxy Statement/Prospectus out of ADAM s cash on hand. If there is an adjustment event, then ADAM s common shareholders will receive a number of shares of Ebix common stock equal to the aggregate merger consideration of $65,350,000 minus (a) $5,071,000 for ADAM options and minus (b) $947,000 for ADAM s outstanding warrant (proportionately reduced for any option or warrant exercises, forfeitures or cancellations), minus the amounts under clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) to the extent not paid by ADAM at or prior to the closing, divided by $19.06, which was the agreed upon value of Ebix common stock for purposes of the merger agreement. As of the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, based on ADAM s current cash on hand and expected earnings before closing, ADAM does not expect that an adjustment event will occur.

Ebix common stock is listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market under the symbol EBIX. ADAM common stock is listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market under the symbol ADAM. We urge you to obtain current market quotations for the shares of Ebix and ADAM.

Your vote is very important. The merger cannot be completed unless ADAM shareholders adopt and approve the merger agreement. ADAM is holding a special meeting of its shareholders to vote on the proposals necessary to complete the merger. The enclosed Proxy Statement/Prospectus provides you with detailed information about the special meeting, the merger, the documents related to the merger, and the other business to be considered by shareholders. A copy of the merger agreement is attached as Annex A to this Proxy Statement/Prospectus. We urge you to read this document and the Proxy Statement/Prospectus carefully, including Risk Factors beginning on page 15 for a discussion of the risks relating to the merger .

Whether or not you plan to attend ADAM s special meeting of shareholders, please submit your proxy as soon as possible to make sure that your shares are represented at that meeting.

The ADAM board of directors has unanimously approved the merger agreement and recommends that you vote FOR the proposal to adopt and approve the merger agreement and FOR the approval of the proposal to adjourn or postpone the special meeting, if necessary, to solicit additional proxies.

Mark B. Adams
President and Chief Executive Officer
A.D.A.M., Inc.

Neither the Securities and Exchange Commission nor any state securities commission has approved or disapproved of the securities to be issued in connection with the merger or determined if this Proxy Statement/Prospectus is accurate or complete. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense.

This Proxy Statement/Prospectus is dated [] [], 2010, and is first being mailed to ADAM shareholders on or about [] [], 2010.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE MERGER

The following questions and answers briefly address some commonly asked questions about the merger. The following questions and answers may not include all the information that is important to shareholders of ADAM. We urge shareholders to read carefully this entire Proxy Statement/Prospectus, including the annexes and the other documents referred to or incorporated by reference herein.

Q: Why am I receiving these materials?

A: ADAM and Ebix have entered into a merger agreement that is described in this document. A copy of the merger agreement is attached to this Proxy Statement/Prospectus as Annex A. In order to complete the merger, the shareholders of ADAM must vote to approve the merger agreement. ADAM will hold a special meeting of its shareholders to obtain this approval. This document contains important information about the merger, the merger agreement, the special meeting of ADAM shareholders and other related matters. We are sending you these materials to help you decide how to vote your shares of ADAM common stock with respect to the proposed merger and related transactions.

This document is a proxy statement because the ADAM board of directors is soliciting proxies from its shareholders to vote on the approval of the merger agreement, as well as other related matters set forth in the Notice of Special Meeting and described in this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and your proxy will be used at the meeting or any adjournment or postponement of the meeting. This document is a prospectus of Ebix because Ebix will issue registered shares of Ebix common stock in exchange for shares of ADAM common stock in the merger. For ease of reference, we refer to this document as the Proxy Statement/Prospectus. The enclosed voting materials will allow you to vote your shares of ADAM common stock without attending the special meeting in person.

Q: What will happen in the merger?

A: In the proposed merger, a newly formed wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix will merge with and into ADAM, with ADAM becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix. As a result of the proposed merger, each share of ADAM common stock will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock, subject to certain adjustments as specified in the merger agreement and described below. After giving effect to the merger and assuming there are no adjustments to the exchange ratio, current ADAM shareholders will hold, in the aggregate, approximately 8% of the outstanding common stock of Ebix.

Q: What will ADAM shareholders receive in the merger?

A: At the effective time of the merger, each issued and outstanding share of ADAM common stock will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock, which we refer to as the exchange ratio. The exchange ratio is subject to adjustment if ADAM fails to pay in full at or prior to the closing out of its cash on hand any of the following items (each, an adjustment event):

its bank debt;

any expenses of its financial advisor in excess of $650,000; or

ADAM's legal expenses related to the preparation of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

As of the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, based on ADAM's current cash on hand and expected earnings before closing, ADAM does not expect that an adjustment event will occur. If there is an adjustment event, then the shares of Ebix common stock to be received upon the exchange of one share of ADAM common stock shall equal a ratio the numerator of which is $65,350,000 minus (a) $5,071,000 for ADAM options and minus (b) $947,000 for ADAM's outstanding warrant (proportionately reduced for any option or warrant exercises, forfeitures or cancellations), minus (c) the amounts in the bullet list above to the extent not paid by ADAM at or prior to the closing, divided by $19.06, which was the agreed upon value of Ebix common stock for purposes of the merger agreement, and the denominator of which is the number of issued and outstanding shares of ADAM common stock to be converted.

Table of Contents

If there is an adjustment event, then the actual exchange ratio will not be determined until the closing date, which may not be the same date as the special meeting. Only by way of example, the table below shows the adjustment to the exchange ratio based on the amount by which the items listed above exceed ADAM's available cash on hand at closing, in each case based on the number of ADAM shares outstanding on August 25, 2010 and assuming that there have been no option exercises, forfeitures or cancellations.

Amount by which Expenses Exceed Cash on Hand	Adjusted Exchange Ratio
$0	0.3122
$500,000	0.3096
$1,000,000	0.3069
$1,500,000	0.3043
$2,000,000	0.3017
$2,500,000	0.2990

Holders of ADAM common stock will not receive any fractional shares of Ebix common stock in the merger. Instead, the total number of shares of Ebix common stock that each holder of ADAM common stock will receive in the merger will be rounded down to the nearest whole number and a shareholder that was to receive a fractional share will receive cash for any resulting fractional share that an ADAM shareholder otherwise would be entitled to receive. The exchange agent will compile all of the fractional shares of Ebix common stock and sell them as whole shares at the then prevailing price on the NASDAQ Stock Market. Upon completion of the sale of all such shares, the exchange agent will distribute the proceeds pro rata to the individuals that were to receive fractional shares.

Q: Is the merger expected to be taxable to ADAM shareholders?

A: The merger is intended to qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, which we refer to as the Code, and holders of ADAM common stock are not expected to recognize any gain or loss for United States federal income tax purposes on the exchange of shares of ADAM common stock for shares of Ebix common stock in the merger, except with respect to cash received instead of fractional shares of Ebix common stock.

If the merger does not qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code, the merger generally will be a taxable transaction to you, and you will generally recognize gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference, if any, between (i) the sum of the value of the Ebix common stock plus the amount of any cash received instead of fractional shares of Ebix common stock and (ii) your adjusted tax basis in the shares of ADAM common stock exchanged in the merger.

You should read Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences beginning on page 45 for a more complete discussion of the United States federal income tax consequences of the merger. Tax matters can be complicated and the tax consequences of the merger to you will depend on your particular tax situation. You should consult your tax advisor to determine the tax consequences of the merger to you

Q: When do Ebix and ADAM expect to complete the merger?

A: Ebix and ADAM expect to complete the merger after all conditions to the merger in the merger agreement are satisfied or waived, including the receipt of shareholder approval at the special meeting of ADAM and the receipt of all required regulatory approvals. Ebix and ADAM currently expect to complete the merger during the first quarter of 2011. However, it is possible that factors outside of either company's control could cause the merger to be completed at a later time or not at all.

Q: What are the conditions to completion of the merger?

A: The obligations of ADAM and Ebix to complete the merger are subject to the satisfaction or waiver of certain closing conditions contained in the merger agreement, including the receipt of required regulatory approvals and the approval of the merger agreement by ADAM shareholders.

Q: What vote is required to approve the proposal to adopt and approve the merger agreement and approve the merger?

A: The affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding shares of ADAM common stock entitled to vote is required to adopt and approve the merger agreement, which is referred to in this Proxy Statement/Prospectus as the Merger Proposal.

Q: How does the board of directors of ADAM recommend that I vote?

A: The ADAM board of directors recommends that ADAM shareholders vote FOR the proposal to adopt and approve the merger agreement and, as a result approve the merger, and FOR the proposal to approve any motion to adjourn or postpone the special meeting to another time or place if necessary to solicit additional proxies if there are insufficient votes at the time of the special meeting to approve the previous proposal.

Q: What if I do not vote on the matters relating to the merger?

A: Because the approval of the Merger Proposal requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the outstanding shares entitled to vote on the proposal, the failure to vote your shares in favor of the Merger Proposal for any reason whatsoever (whether by withholding your vote, by abstaining, or by failing to instruct your broker or other nominee how to vote on the Merger Proposal) will have the same effect as a vote against the Merger Proposal. If you submit a proxy but do not indicate how you want your shares to be voted on the Merger Proposal, your shares will be counted as present for purposes of determining whether a quorum exists and will be counted as voting in favor of the Merger Proposal.

Q: How do I submit a proxy?

A: You may submit a proxy before the ADAM special meeting in one of the following ways:

by telephone, using the toll free number shown on your proxy card;

via the Internet, by visiting the website shown on your proxy card; or by mail, by completing, signing, dating, and returning the enclosed proxy card in the enclosed postage-paid envelope.

You also may cast your vote in person at the ADAM special meeting.

If your shares are held in street name, through a broker, bank, or other nominee, which institution will send you separate instructions describing the procedure for voting your shares. Street name shareholders who wish to vote at the meeting will need to obtain a proxy form from the institution that holds their shares.

Q: What do I need to do now?

A: After carefully reading and considering the information contained in this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, please submit a proxy to vote your shares as soon as possible so that your shares will be represented at the ADAM special meeting. Please follow the instructions set forth on the proxy card or on the voting instruction form provided by the record holder if your shares are held in the name of your broker or other nominee.

Table of Contents

Q: When and where is the ADAM special meeting of shareholders?

A: The special meeting of ADAM shareholders will be held at the offices of DLA Piper LLP (US) at One Atlantic Center, 1201 West Peachtree Street, Suite 2800, Atlanta, Georgia 30309-3450 at 10:00 a.m., local time on February 4, 2011. Subject to space availability, all shareholders as of the record date, or their duly appointed proxies, may attend the meeting. Since seating is limited, admission to the meeting will be on a first-come, first-served basis. Registration and seating will begin at 9:30 a.m., local time.

Q: If my shares are held in street name by a broker or other nominee, will my broker or nominee vote my shares for me?

A: Your broker or other nominee does not have authority to vote on the proposals described in this Proxy Statement/Prospectus without receiving instructions from the beneficial owner as to how the shares are to be voted. Your broker or other nominee will vote your shares held by it in street name with respect to these matters ONLY if you provide instructions to it on how to vote. You should follow the directions that your broker or other nominee provides.

Q: What constitutes a quorum?

A: Shareholders who hold a majority in voting power of the ADAM common stock issued and outstanding as of the close of business on the record date for the ADAM special meeting and who are entitled to vote must be present or represented by proxy in order to constitute a quorum to conduct business at the ADAM special meeting.

Q: May I change my vote after I have submitted my proxy?

A: Yes. You may change your vote at any time before your proxy is voted at the applicable special meeting. You may do this in one of four ways:

by sending a notice of revocation to the corporate secretary of ADAM;

by sending a completed proxy card bearing a later date than your original proxy card;

by submitting a later dated proxy via the Internet in the same manner that you submitted your earlier proxy via the Internet or by calling the telephone number specified on your proxy card, in each case if you are eligible to submit a proxy by Internet or telephone and following the instructions on the proxy card; or by attending the ADAM special meeting and voting in person.

Your attendance at ADAM's special meeting alone will not revoke any proxy. If you choose any of the first three methods, you must take the described action no later than the beginning of the ADAM special meeting.

If your shares are held in an account at a broker or other nominee, you should contact your broker or other nominee to change your vote.

Q: Do I have appraisal rights?

A: No. Holders of ADAM common stock will not be entitled to exercise any appraisal rights in connection with the merger.

Q: Should I send in my stock certificates now?

A: No. Please do not send your stock certificates with your proxy card. You will receive written instructions from the exchange agent after the merger is completed on how to exchange your ADAM stock certificates for your shares of Ebix common stock.

Q: What if I hold ADAM stock options or other stock-based awards?

Table of Contents

A: Immediately prior to the merger, all outstanding ADAM stock options will be cancelled and converted into a right to receive from Ebix an amount in cash, without interest, equal to the excess, if any, of $5.95 above the per share exercise price of such stock option multiplied by the number of shares subject to such stock option, subject to applicable tax withholding.

Q: Who should I contact if I have any questions about the merger, the proxy materials or voting power?

A: If you have any questions about the merger or if you need assistance in submitting your proxy or voting your shares or need additional copies of the Proxy Statement/Prospectus or the enclosed proxy card, you should contact ADAM S investor relations department at 800-755-ADAM (toll-free) or 404-604-2757 or via e-mail at pr@adamcorp.com.

Unless stated otherwise, all references in this Proxy Statement/Prospectus to Ebix are to Ebix, Inc., and, all references to ADAM are to A.D.A.M., Inc. and all references to the merger agreement are to the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of August 29, 2010, by and among Ebix, Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc., and ADAM, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

The Merger

Each of the boards of directors of Ebix and ADAM has approved a strategic merger of Ebix and ADAM. Ebix and ADAM have entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger under which a newly formed, direct wholly-owned, subsidiary of Ebix will merge with and into ADAM, with ADAM thereupon becoming a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix. In the proposed merger, ADAM shareholders will receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock for each share of ADAM common stock, subject to certain adjustments specified in the merger agreement. This exchange ratio will not be adjusted to reflect ADAM or Ebix stock price changes prior to the closing. Ebix's shareholders will continue to own their existing shares and will not need to exchange them in connection with the merger.

A copy of the merger agreement is attached as Annex A to this Proxy Statement/Prospectus. We encourage you to read the entire merger agreement carefully because it is the principal document governing the merger. For more information on the merger agreement, see The Merger Agreement beginning on page 47.

A.D.A.M.

ADAM, a Georgia corporation, primarily provides online information and technology solutions for employers, benefits brokers, healthcare organizations and online media companies.

In addition to ADAM's health information and benefits solutions, ADAM also markets a series of anatomy and physiology products for the K-12 and undergraduate educational market.

ADAM's principal executive offices are located at 10 10th Street NE, Suite 525, Atlanta, Georgia 30309 and its telephone number is (404) 604-2757.

Merger Sub

Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc., or Merger Sub, a direct wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix, is a Georgia corporation formed on August 26, 2010 for the purpose of effecting the merger. Upon completion of the merger, Merger Sub will merge with and into ADAM, and ADAM will become a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix.

Merger Sub has not conducted any activities other than those incidental to its formation and the matters contemplated by the merger agreement, including the preparation of applicable regulatory filings in connection with the merger.

What ADAM Shareholders Will Receive in the Merger

At the effective time of the merger, each outstanding share of ADAM common stock will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock in the merger, subject to certain adjustments specified in the merger agreement, which we refer to as the exchange ratio.

As of the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, based on ADAM's current cash on hand and expected earnings before closing, ADAM does not expect that an adjustment event will occur. If there is an adjustment event, then the actual exchange ratio will not be calculated until the closing date, which may not be the same date as the special meeting. Only by way of example, the table below shows the adjustment to the exchange ratio based on the amount by which the items listed above exceed ADAM's available cash on hand at closing, in each case based on the number of ADAM shares outstanding on August 25, 2010 and assuming that there have been no option exercises, forfeitures or cancellations.

Amount by which Expenses Exceed Cash on Hand	Adjusted Exchange Ratio
$0	0.3122
$500,000	0.3096
$1,000,000	0.3069
$1,500,000	0.3043
$2,000,000	0.3017
$2,500,000	0.2990

Holders of ADAM common stock will not receive any fractional shares of Ebix common stock in the merger. Instead, the total number of Ebix shares that each holder of ADAM common stock will receive in the merger will be rounded down to the nearest whole number and a shareholder that was to receive a fractional share will receive cash for any resulting fractional share that the ADAM shareholder otherwise would be entitled to receive. The exchange agent will compile all of the fractional shares of Ebix common stock and sell them as whole shares at the then prevailing price on the NASDAQ Stock Market. Upon completion of the sale of all such shares, the exchange agent will distribute the proceeds pro rata to the individuals that were to receive fractional shares.

Example (assuming no adjustment to the exchange ratio): If you currently own 25 shares of ADAM common stock, absent the treatment of the fractional shares described above, you would be entitled to receive (25 x 0.3122) or 7.805 shares of Ebix common stock. Since fractional shares will not be issued, you will be entitled to 7 shares of Ebix common stock. The remaining 0.805 shares will be grouped with other fractional shares and sold on the NASDAQ Stock Market as whole shares. You will then receive a check equal to your pro rata portion of the total proceeds of such sale.

The merger agreement provides for adjustments to the exchange ratio to reflect fully the effect of any stock split, stock dividend, reverse stock split, reclassification, recapitalization, or other similar transaction with respect to Ebix common stock or ADAM common stock with a record date prior to the merger.

Treatment of ADAM Options (see page 48)

Immediately prior to the merger, all outstanding ADAM stock options will be cancelled and converted into a right to receive from Ebix an amount in cash, without interest, equal to the excess, if any, of $5.95 above the per share exercise price of such stock option multiplied by the number of shares subject to such stock option, subject to applicable tax withholding.

Recommendation of the ADAM Board of Directors (see page 28)

The ADAM board of directors unanimously (i) determined that the merger agreement and the merger are advisable and in the best interests of ADAM and its shareholders, (ii) approved the merger agreement and (iii) resolved to recommend approval and adoption of the merger agreement to the ADAM shareholders. The ADAM board of directors recommends that ADAM shareholders vote FOR approval and adoption of the merger agreement.

For the factors considered by the ADAM board of directors in reaching its decision to approve the merger agreement, see The Merger The ADAM Board of Directors Recommendations and Reasons for the Merger beginning on page 23 of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

Opinion of ADAM's Financial Advisor (see page 31)

Table of Contents

At a meeting of ADAM's board of directors on August 29, 2010, ADAM's financial advisor, Needham & Company, LLC (Needham & Company), delivered its oral opinion, which it subsequently confirmed in writing, to ADAM's board of directors, that, as of August 29, 2010 and based upon and subject to the assumptions and other matters described in its written opinion, the consideration to be received by the holders of ADAM common stock pursuant to the merger agreement was fair to those holders from a financial point of view.

The full text of Needham & Company's written opinion, dated August 29, 2010, which sets forth the assumptions made, procedures followed, matters considered, and qualifications and limitations on and scope of the review undertaken by Needham & Company, is attached as Annex B to this Proxy Statement/Prospectus. We urge you to read the opinion in its entirety. Needham & Company provided its opinion for the information and assistance of ADAM's board of directors in connection with the board's consideration of the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement. Needham & Company's opinion does not address any other aspect of the merger or any related transaction and is not a recommendation as to how any ADAM shareholder should vote or act on any matter relating to the merger.

Interests of ADAM's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger (see page 41)

You should be aware that some of ADAM's directors and executive officers have interests in the merger that are different from, or are in addition to, the interests of ADAM shareholders generally. These interests relate to equity and equity-linked securities held by such persons; change of control severance arrangements covering ADAM's executive officers; and indemnification of ADAM's directors and officers by Ebix following the merger.

Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Merger (see page 45)

The merger has been structured as a tax-free reorganization for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, holders of ADAM common stock will generally not recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes on the exchange of their ADAM common stock for Ebix common stock in the merger, except for any gain or loss recognized in connection with any cash received instead of a fractional share of Ebix common stock. The companies themselves will not recognize gain or loss as a result of the merger. For further discussion, see Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences below.

The U.S. federal income tax consequences described above may not apply to all holders of ADAM common stock, including certain holders specifically referred to on page 45. Your tax consequences will depend on your own situation. You should consult your tax advisor to determine the particular tax consequences of the merger to you.

Accounting Treatment of the Merger (see page 43)

The merger will be accounted for as an acquisition by Ebix of ADAM under the purchase method of accounting according to U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

No Appraisal Rights (see page 43)

Under Section 14-2-1302 of the Georgia Business Corporation Code, the holders of ADAM common stock will not have appraisal rights in connection with the merger.

Regulatory Matters (see page 44)

Completion of the merger is conditioned upon, among other things, the receipt of antitrust approval under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvement Act of 1976, as amended (referred to herein as HSR). Ebix and ADAM have each agreed to use their reasonable best efforts to take all actions necessary, proper or advisable and to satisfy all conditions to the merger in the most expeditious manner practicable, including obtaining approval under HSR. On October 21, 2010, the FTC granted early termination of the waiting period under the HSR applicable to the merger. However, the foregoing does not require Ebix to consent, offer or agree any sale, license, assignment, transfer, divestiture or disposal of any assets, business or portion of the business of Ebix or conduct, restrict, operate, invest or otherwise change the assets, business or portion of business of Ebix or impose any restriction, requirement or limitation on the operation of the business or portion of the business of Ebix. Under the terms of the merger agreement, either party can terminate the merger agreement if the merger has not been effected by March 31, 2011. In such case, no termination fee is due. Each of Ebix and ADAM has the right to terminate the merger agreement if a governmental entity issues an order, decree or ruling or takes any other nonappealable final action permanently restraining, enjoining or otherwise prohibiting the merger. In this case, the terminating party would not be required to pay a termination fee.

Conditions to Completion of the Merger (see page 54)

Ebix and ADAM expect to complete the merger after all the conditions in the merger agreement are satisfied or waived, including after the receipt of shareholder approval at the special meeting of ADAM and the receipt of all required regulatory approvals. Ebix and ADAM currently expect to complete the merger during the first quarter of 2011. However, it is possible that factors outside of either company's control could cause the merger to be completed at a later time or not at all.

Each party's obligation to complete the merger is subject to the satisfaction or waiver of various conditions, including the following:

the receipt of approval from the holders of ADAM common stock;

the expiration or termination of the waiting period under HSR;

the effectiveness of the registration statement of which this Proxy Statement/Prospectus forms a part, and the registration statement not being subject to any stop order or threatened stop order;

the absence of any injunctions or legal prohibitions preventing the consummation of the merger;

the absence of any governmental restraints with respect to the merger;

the receipt of all governmental consents required by the merger agreement;

the receipt of authorization from the NASDAQ Stock Market for listing of Ebix common stock to be issued in connection with the merger.

the accuracy of the other party's representations and warranties in the merger agreement, including the other party's representation that no material adverse effect has occurred; and the other party's compliance in all material respects with its obligations under the merger agreement.

The merger agreement provides that certain of these conditions may be waived, in whole or in part, by Ebix or ADAM. Neither Ebix nor ADAM currently expects to waive any condition to the completion of the merger.

Termination of the Agreement and Plan of Merger (see page 57)

Generally, the merger agreement may be terminated and the merger may be abandoned at any time prior to the completion of the merger (including after shareholder approval, except where expressly noted):

by mutual written consent of ADAM; Ebix and Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc.

by either ADAM or Ebix, if:

the merger is not consummated on or before March 31, 2011 (except that this right is not available to any party whose breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement found in the merger agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, such failure to consummate the merger);

a governmental entity issues, promulgates, enforces or enters a final and nonappealable law, regulation, order, writ, assessment, decision, injunction, decree, ruling or judgment or takes any other nonappealable final action in each case making illegal, permanently enjoining or otherwise permanently prohibiting the completion of the merger (except that the right is not available to any party whose breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement found in the merger agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, the issuance, promulgation, enforcement or entry of such prohibiting circumstance);

the required ADAM shareholder vote has not been obtained at the ADAM shareholder meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof permitted under the merger agreement; or the other party breaches any of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the merger agreement in such a way as would cause one or more of the conditions to closing not to be satisfied, and such breach is either incurable or is not cured prior to March 31, 2011, provided that the non-breaching party must provide thirty (30) days notice of its intent to terminate pursuant to this right;

by Ebix, if:

ADAM's board of directors, or any committee thereof, makes, withdraws, amends, modifies or materially qualifies in a manner adverse to Ebix any public statement inconsistent with its recommendation that ADAM's shareholders vote in favor of the merger;

ADAM enters into or publicly announces its intention to enter into any agreement in principle, letter of intent, term sheet, acquisition agreement, merger agreement, option agreement, joint venture agreement, partnership agreement or other contract relating to any takeover proposal (as defined on page 57);

ADAM breaches or fails to perform in any material respect its covenants and agreements related to transactions with a buyer other than Ebix as more specifically described on pages 56 and 57;

ADAM's board of directors fails to reaffirm its recommendation of the merger as provided for in the merger agreement;

ADAM's board of directors, upon a tender offer or exchange offer from a third party, fails to send to the shareholders within ten (10) business days after such tender offer or exchange offer is received a statement reaffirming the board of directors recommendation of the merger and a recommendation that the shareholders reject such tender or exchange offer; or by ADAM, if prior to shareholder approval of the merger, ADAM enters into any agreement in principle, letter of intent, term sheet, acquisition agreement, merger agreement, option agreement, joint venture agreement, partnership agreement or other contract relating to any takeover proposal (as defined on page 57) with respect to a superior proposal (as defined on page 57), provided that ADAM pays the termination fee referred to below and concurrently enters into such agreement.

ADAM or its board of directors publically announces its intentions to take any of the actions permitting Ebix to terminate the merger agreement.

Termination Fees and Expenses (see page 59)

ADAM is required to pay Ebix a $3.5 million termination fee, referred to herein as the ADAM termination fee, if the merger agreement has been terminated because:

ADAM's board of directors, or any committee thereof, makes, withdraws, amends, modifies or materially qualifies in a manner adverse to Ebix any public statement inconsistent with its recommendation that ADAM's shareholders vote in favor of the merger; or prior to ADAM shareholder approval of the merger, ADAM enters into any agreement in principle, letter of intent, term sheet, acquisition agreement, merger agreement, option agreement, joint venture agreement, partnership agreement or other contract relating to any takeover proposal (as defined on page 57) with respect to a superior proposal (as defined on page 57), provided that ADAM pays the ADAM termination fee referred and concurrently enters into such agreement; or

ADAM's board of directors, or any committee thereof, recommends, or ADAM enters into or announces its intention to enter into any agreement in principle, letter of intent, term sheet, acquisition agreement, merger agreement, option agreement, joint venture agreement, partnership agreement or other contract relating to any takeover proposal (as defined on page 57); or

ADAM breaches or fails to perform in any material respect its covenants and agreements related to transactions with a buyer other than Ebix as more specifically described on page 55; or prior to shareholder approval of the merger, ADAM breaches any of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the merger agreement in such a way as would cause one or more of the conditions to closing not to be satisfied, and such breach is either incurable or is not cured prior to March 31, 2011, provided that Ebix must provide thirty (30) days notice of its intent to terminate the merger agreement pursuant to this right or the merger is not consummated on or before March 31, 2011 (except that this right is not available to any party whose breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement found in the merger agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, such failure to consummate the merger) or the required ADAM shareholder vote has not been obtained at the ADAM shareholder meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof permitted under the merger agreement and, prior to such termination, a takeover proposal shall be been publicly disclosed and not withdrawn and, within twelve months after such termination, ADAM enters into a definitive agreement with respect to a takeover proposal or a takeover proposal has been consummated (provided that, for purposes of the foregoing, the references to 15% in the definition of takeover proposal on page 57 shall be changed to 50%).

Ebix is required to pay ADAM a $3.5 million termination fee if the merger agreement has been terminated: by Ebix for a reason other than those expressly provided for in the merger agreement; or by ADAM because of a breach by Ebix or Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc. of any of their representations, warranties, covenants or agreements in the merger agreement in such a way as would cause one or more of the conditions to closing not to be satisfied, and such breach is either incurable or is not cured prior to March 31, 2011, provided that ADAM has provided thirty (30) days notice of its intent to terminate the merger agreement pursuant to this right or the merger is not consummated on or before March 31, 2011 (except that this right is not available to any party whose breach of any representation, warranty, covenant, or agreement found in the merger agreement has been the cause of, or resulted in, such failure to consummate the merger).

No Solicitation of Other Offers (see page 55)

In the merger agreement, ADAM has agreed that it will not directly or indirectly:

solicit, initiate, or knowingly take any action to facilitate or encourage the submission of any takeover proposal or the making of any proposal that could reasonably be expected to lead to a takeover proposal, including, without limitation, amending or granting any waiver or release under any standstill or similar agreement with respect to any ADAM common stock; or conduct or engage in any discussions or negotiations regarding, disclose any non-public information relating to ADAM, knowingly assist, participate in, facilitate or encourage any effort by any third party that is seeking to make a takeover proposal; or amend or grant any waiver or release under any standstill or similar agreement with respect to any equity securities of ADAM or approve any transaction under the provisions of the Georgia Business Corporation Code regarding business combinations with interested shareholders; or enter into any agreement in principle, letter of intent, term sheet, acquisition agreement, merger agreement, option agreement, joint venture agreement, partnership agreement or other contract relating to any takeover proposal.

The merger agreement does not, however, prohibit ADAM from considering a bona fide written acquisition proposal from a third party if certain specified conditions are met.

Matters to be Considered at the ADAM Special Meeting (see page 22)

At the ADAM shareholder meeting, ADAM shareholders will be asked to vote on the following proposals: to adopt and approve the merger agreement and approve the merger, and to approve any motion to adjourn or postpone the ADAM special meeting to another time or place if necessary to solicit additional proxies if there are insufficient votes at the time of the special meeting to approve the proposal listed above.

The ADAM board of directors recommends that ADAM shareholders vote FOR all of the proposals set forth above.

Certain Differences in the Rights of Shareholders (see page 68)

The rights of ADAM shareholders and other corporate matters relating to shares of ADAM common stock are controlled by the articles of incorporation and bylaws of ADAM and the Georgia Business Corporation Code. The rights of Ebix shareholders and other corporate matters relating to Ebix common stock are controlled by the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of Ebix and the Delaware General Corporation Law. Upon consummation of the merger, ADAM shareholders will become shareholders of Ebix whose rights will be governed by the Ebix certificate of incorporation and bylaws, and the provisions of the Delaware General Corporation Law only. There are several significant differences between the Georgia Business Corporation Code and the Delaware General Corporation Law and their respective corporate governance documents.

Risk Factors (see page 15)

The merger may not achieve the expected benefits because of the risks and uncertainties discussed in the sections entitled Risk Factors beginning on page 15 and Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements beginning on page 14. Such risks include risks relating to the uncertainty that Ebix and ADAM will be able to integrate their businesses successfully, uncertainties as to whether the merger will achieve expected synergies, and uncertainties relating to the performance of the combined company following the merger.

Table of ContentsCOMPARATIVE PRO FORMA FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The following historical and unaudited pro forma condensed combined income statement information for the year ended December 31, 2009 and the nine months ended September 30, 2010 includes the reported historical financial results of Ebix and ADAM and the historical pro forma financial results of ADAM as if this acquisition had been made on January 1, 2009. The following historical unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet information as of September 30, 2010 reflects the merger as if it had occurred on September 30, 2010.

The following comparative pro forma financial information presented on combined basis is based on the historical financial information of Ebix and ADAM after giving effect to the acquisition. The pro forma financial information is based on estimates and assumptions which are preliminary and have been made solely for the purposes of developing such pro forma information. The purchase price allocation for the acquisition of ADAM is preliminary and is subject to revision. The final purchase price allocation will be based on a formal third-party valuation of identifiable intangible assets, and an in-depth analysis of the value of other assets acquired and liabilities assumed. Actual results may differ from this unaudited pro forma combined financial information once the valuation studies necessary to determine the required purchase price allocation are completed. Pro forma adjustments reflect only those adjustments that are factually supportable and do not include the impact of contingencies that will not be known until the resolution thereof. No effect has been given in this pro forma information for future synergistic benefits that may be realized through the combination of the two companies or costs that may be incurred or reduced by integrating their operations. The unaudited pro forma condensed and combined financial information should not be considered representative of Ebix's future consolidated results of operation nor should the historical results of operations be indicative of Ebix's future expected results of operations. Therefore, this unaudited pro forma financial information is for informational purposes only and is not intended to represent or be indicative of the consolidated results of operations that would be reported had the acquisition of ADAM been completed as of the dates presented.

The information below should be read in conjunction with the audited and unaudited consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes of Ebix and ADAM.

Table of ContentsMARKET PRICES AND DISTRIBUTIONS*Stock Prices

Shares of Ebix common stock and ADAM common stock are listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market under the symbols EBIX and ADAM, respectively. The table below sets forth, in each case on August 27, 2010, the last full trading day prior to the public announcement of the merger, and on December 17, 2010, the latest practicable date before the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus:

the last reported sale price of a share of Ebix common stock and the last reported sale price of share of ADAM common stock, as reported by the NASDAQ Stock Market, and the market value of ADAM common stock on an equivalent per share basis, as determined by reference to the value of the merger consideration to be received in respect of each share of ADAM common stock in the merger, based on the exchange ratio of 0.3122 per share, which is subject to adjustment as described in the merger agreement.

Date	EBIX Common Stock	ADAM Common Stock	Equivalent Price per Share of ADAM Common Stock
August 27, 2010	$ 19.56	$ 3.17	$ 6.11
December 17, 2010	$ 23.27	$ 6.99	$ 7.26

These prices will fluctuate prior to the special meeting and the consummation of the merger, and ADAM shareholders are urged to obtain current market quotations prior to making any decision with respect to the merger. The exchange ratio is also subject to certain adjustments specified in the merger agreement.

Dividends and Other Distributions

Ebix has never paid cash dividends on its common stock. It currently intends to retain earnings, if any, for use in its business and does not anticipate paying any cash dividends in the foreseeable future. The terms of Ebix's outstanding notes and the terms of its credit facilities restrict its ability to pay dividends.

ADAM has never paid any dividends on its common stock. It currently intends to retain earnings, if any, for use in its business and does not anticipate paying any cash dividends in the foreseeable future.

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Proxy Statement/Prospectus contains or incorporates by reference a number of forward-looking statements by Ebix and ADAM, including statements relating to outlooks or expectations for earnings, revenues, expenses, asset quality, or other future financial or business performance, strategies, or expectations, or the impact of legal, regulatory, or supervisory matters on business, results of operations or financial condition. Specifically, forward looking statements may include:

statements relating to the benefits of the merger, including anticipated synergies and cost savings estimated to result from the merger; statements relating to future business prospects, revenue, income, and financial condition; and statements preceded by, followed by or that include the words estimate, plan, project, forecast, intend, anticipate, believe, seek, target, or similar expressions.

These statements reflect management judgments based on currently available information and involve a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements.

Future performance cannot be ensured. Actual results may differ materially from those in the forward-looking statements. Some factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from such forward-looking statements include those set forth under Risk Factors beginning on page 15, as well as, among others, the following:

the ability to obtain governmental approvals of the merger on the proposed terms and time schedule, and without the imposition of significant conditions, obligations, or restrictions;

the merger may be more expensive to complete than anticipated, including as a result of unexpected factors or events;

the risk that Ebix will not integrate the business, or its other recently acquired businesses, successfully;

the risk that expected cost savings from the merger may not be fully realized within the expected time frames or at all, and attrition in key client, partner and other relationships relating to the merger may be greater than expected;

the risk that the combined company's revenues following the merger may be lower than expected;

the effects of vigorous competition in the markets in which Ebix and ADAM operate;

the possibility of one or more of the markets in which Ebix and ADAM compete being impacted by changes in political or other factors such as monetary policy, legal, and regulatory changes or other external factors over which they have no control;

dilution to shareholders of the combined company as a result of any financing that involves equity or equity-linked securities; changes in general economic and market conditions; and other risks discussed, identified, or referenced from time to time in Ebix's and ADAM's public filings with the SEC.

Table of Contents

You are cautioned not to place undue reliance on any forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, or in the case of a document incorporated by reference, as of the date of that document. Except as required by law, neither Ebix nor ADAM undertakes any obligation to publicly update or release any revisions to these forward-looking statements to reflect any events or circumstances after the date hereof or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.

Additional factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in the forward-looking statements are discussed in reports filed with the SEC by Ebix and ADAM. See Where You Can Find More Information beginning on page 75 for a list of the documents incorporated by reference.

RISK FACTORS

In addition to the other information contained or incorporated by reference into this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, you should carefully consider the following risk factors described below in deciding how to vote on the merger. In addition, you should read and consider the risks associated with each of the businesses of Ebix and ADAM because these risks will also relate to Ebix following completion of the merger. Certain of these risks can be found in the documents incorporated by reference into this Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

Because the market price of Ebix common stock will fluctuate, ADAM shareholders cannot be sure of the market value of the Ebix common stock that they will receive.

When we complete the merger, each share of ADAM common stock will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock, unless an adjustment event occurs. The exchange ratio will not be adjusted for changes in the market price of either Ebix common stock or ADAM common stock. Accordingly, the market value of the shares of Ebix common stock that ADAM shareholders will be entitled to receive when the parties complete the merger will depend on the market value of shares of Ebix common stock at the time that the parties complete the merger and could vary significantly from the market value on the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus or the date of the ADAM special meeting. The market value of Ebix common stock may continue to fluctuate after the completion of the merger. For example, during 2010, the sales price of Ebix common stock ranged from a low of $13.91 to a high of $26.28, all as reported on the NASDAQ Stock Market. See Market Prices and Distributions on page 13.

These variations could result from changes in the business, operations, or prospects of Ebix or ADAM prior to or following the merger, market assessments as to whether and when the merger will be consummated, regulatory considerations, general market and economic conditions, and other factors both within and beyond the control of Ebix or ADAM.

The exchange ratio is subject to change, and the exact exchange ratio is not determinable at this time.

The exchange ratio is subject to adjustment if ADAM fails to pay in full at or prior to the closing out of its cash on hand any of the following items:

its bank debt;

any expenses of its financial advisor in excess of $650,000; or

ADAM's legal expenses related to the preparation of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

If there is an adjustment to the exchange ratio, then the shares of Ebix common stock to be received upon the exchange of one share of ADAM common stock shall equal a ratio the numerator of which is $65,350,000 minus (a) $5,071,000 for ADAM options, minus (b) $947,000 for ADAM's outstanding warrant (proportionately reduced for any option or warrant exercises, forfeitures or cancellations), minus (c) the amounts in the bullet list above to the extent not paid by ADAM at or prior to the closing, divided by $19.06, which was the agreed upon value of Ebix common stock for purposes of the merger agreement, and the denominator of which is the number of issued and outstanding shares of ADAM common stock to be converted.

Table of Contents

As a result, the exact number of shares to be delivered in the merger is not determinable at this time, since the exchange ratio used to calculate the number of shares of Ebix common stock that will be issued may vary based on the items listed above. The exchange ratio will be determined immediately prior to the closing, which may or may not occur on the same day as the special meeting.

The opinion obtained by ADAM from its financial advisor does not and will not reflect subsequent changes.

Needham & Company, the financial advisor to ADAM, has delivered a fairness opinion to the board of directors of ADAM. The opinion of Needham & Company is directed to the board of directors of ADAM and is not a recommendation to any shareholder on how to vote on the merger agreement or any other matter. The opinion, which was originally issued on August 29, 2010, states that, as of August 29, 2010 and based upon and subject to the assumptions and other matters set forth in the opinion, the consideration to be received by the holders of ADAM common stock pursuant to the merger agreement was fair to those holders from a financial point of view. The opinion does not reflect changes that may occur or may have occurred after the date of the opinion, including changes to the operations and prospects of Ebix or ADAM, changes in general market and economic conditions, changes in the market price of Ebix common stock, any adjustment to the merger consideration under the merger agreement, or regulatory or other factors. Any such changes, or changes in other factors on which the opinion was based, may alter the relative value of Ebix and ADAM.

The merger may fail to qualify as a reorganization for federal income tax purposes, resulting in your recognition of taxable gain or loss in respect of all of your ADAM common stock.

Ebix and ADAM intend for the merger to qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (the Code). The Internal Revenue Service (the IRS) will not provide a ruling on the matter. If the merger fails to qualify as a reorganization, you generally would recognize gain or loss on each share of ADAM common stock surrendered in an amount equal to the difference between your adjusted tax basis in that share and the fair market value of the Ebix common stock received in exchange for that share upon completion of the merger.

Uncertainty about the merger and diversion of management could harm Ebix and ADAM, whether or not the merger is completed.

In response to the announcement of the merger, existing or prospective customers of Ebix or ADAM may delay or defer their purchasing or other decisions concerning Ebix or ADAM, or they may seek to change their existing business relationship. In addition, as a result of the announcement of the merger, current and prospective employees could experience uncertainty about their future with Ebix or ADAM, and either organization could lose key employees as a result. In addition to retention, these uncertainties may also impair each company's ability to recruit or motivate key personnel. Completion of the merger will also require a significant amount of time and attention from management. The diversion of management attention away from ongoing operations could adversely affect ongoing operations and business relationships.

Failure to complete the merger could adversely affect Ebix's and ADAM's stock prices and their future business and financial results.

Completion of the merger is conditioned upon, among other things, the receipt of HSR approval, from the SEC as to the effectiveness of the related S-4 Registration Statement and approval of ADAM's shareholders. There is no assurance that the parties will receive the necessary approvals or satisfy the other conditions to the completion of the merger. Failure to complete the proposed merger would prevent Ebix and ADAM from realizing the anticipated benefits of the merger. Each company will also remain liable for significant transaction costs, including legal, accounting, and financial advisory fees. In addition, the market price of each company's common stock may reflect various market assumptions as to whether the merger will occur. Consequently, the completion of, or failure to complete, the merger could result in a significant change in the market price of Ebix's and ADAM's common stock.

Any delay in completion of the merger may significantly reduce the benefits expected to be obtained from the merger.

In addition to the required regulatory clearances and approvals, the merger is subject to a number of other conditions beyond the control of Ebix and ADAM that may prevent, delay, or otherwise materially adversely affect completion of the merger. See The Merger Regulatory Matters beginning on page 44 and The Merger Agreement Conditions to Completion of the Merger beginning on page 54. Ebix and ADAM cannot predict with certainty whether and when these other conditions will be satisfied. Further, the requirements for obtaining the required clearances and approvals could delay the completion of the merger for a significant period of time or prevent it from occurring. Any delay in completing the merger may significantly reduce the synergies and other benefits that Ebix and ADAM expect to achieve if they successfully complete the merger within the expected timeframe and integrate their respective businesses. In addition, either party can terminate the merger agreement if the merger has not been effected by March 31, 2011.

The anticipated benefits of the merger, including anticipated costs savings, may not be realized fully or at all or may take longer to realize than expected.

The success of the merger will depend, in part, on our ability to realize the anticipated benefits and cost savings from combining the businesses of Ebix and ADAM. However, to realize these anticipated benefits and cost savings, we must successfully combine the businesses of Ebix and ADAM. If we are not able to achieve these objectives, the anticipated benefits and cost savings of the merger may not be realized fully or at all or may take longer to realize than expected. The merger involves the integration of two companies that have previously operated independently with principal offices in two distinct locations. Due to legal restrictions, Ebix and ADAM are able to conduct only limited planning regarding the integration of the two companies prior to completion of the merger. Ebix will be required to devote significant management attention and resources to integrating the two companies. Delays in this process could adversely affect Ebix's business, financial results, financial condition, and stock price following the merger. Even if Ebix were able to integrate ADAM's business operations successfully, there can be no assurance that this integration will result in the realization of the full benefits of synergies, cost savings, innovation, and operational efficiencies that may be possible from this integration or that these benefits will be achieved within a reasonable period of time.

Additionally, as a condition to their approval of the merger, regulatory agencies may impose requirements, limitations, or costs or require divestitures or place restrictions on the conduct of the combined company's business. If Ebix and ADAM were to agree to these requirements, limitations, costs, divestitures, or restrictions, the ability to realize the anticipated benefits of the merger may be impaired.

The combined company will incur significant transaction and merger-related costs in connection with the merger.

Ebix and ADAM expect to incur significant costs associated with completing the merger and combining the operations of the two companies. The exact magnitude of these costs is not yet known. In addition, there may be unanticipated costs associated with the integration. Although Ebix and ADAM expect that the elimination of duplicative costs and other efficiencies may offset incremental transaction and merger-related costs over time, these benefits may not be achieved in the near term, or at all.

Table of ContentsBecause ADAM's directors and executive officers have interests in seeing the merger completed that are different than those of ADAM's other shareholders, these persons may have conflicts of interest in recommending that ADAM shareholders vote to adopt and approve the merger agreement.

ADAM's directors and executive officers have interests in the merger that are different from, or are in addition to, the interests of ADAM shareholders generally. This difference of interests stems from the equity-linked securities held by such persons; the change of control severance arrangements covering ADAM's executive officers under which such officers are entitled to severance payments and other benefits if their employment is terminated following the merger; Ebix's obligation under the merger agreement to indemnify ADAM's directors and officers following the merger. These and other material interests of the directors and executive officers of ADAM in the merger that are different than those of the other ADAM shareholders are described under "The Merger - Interests of ADAM's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger" beginning on page 41.

ADAM shareholders percentage of ownership of Ebix will be much smaller than their percentage ownership of ADAM.

ADAM shareholders currently have the right to vote in the election of the board of directors of ADAM and on other matters affecting ADAM. If the merger occurs and you become a shareholder of Ebix, you will have the right to vote in the election of the board of directors of Ebix and on other matters affecting Ebix. However, your percentage ownership of Ebix will be much smaller than your percentage ownership of ADAM.

The merger agreement contains provisions that could discourage a potential alternative acquirer that might be willing to pay more to acquire ADAM.

The merger agreement contains "no shop" provisions that restrict ADAM's ability to solicit or facilitate proposals regarding a merger or similar transaction with another party. Further, there are only limited exceptions to ADAM's agreement that its board of directors will not withdraw or adversely qualify its recommendation regarding the merger agreement and the merger. Although ADAM's board of directors is permitted to terminate the merger agreement in response to an unsolicited third party proposal to acquire ADAM, which ADAM's board of directors determines to be more favorable than the merger with Ebix, if ADAM's board of directors determines that a failure to do so could reasonably be expected to result in a breach of its fiduciary duties, its doing so would entitle Ebix to collect a $3.5 million termination fee from ADAM. In addition, Ebix is entitled to be paid the termination fee by ADAM if either Ebix or ADAM terminates the merger agreement because ADAM does not obtain its required shareholder vote and, in each case, prior to such termination a takeover proposal shall have been publicly disclosed and not withdrawn and, within twelve months after such termination, ADAM enters into a definitive agreement with respect to a takeover proposal and the termination or a takeover proposal has been consummated. We describe these provisions under "The Merger Agreement - Termination" beginning on page 57 and "The Merger Agreement - Termination Fees and Expenses" beginning on page 59.

These provisions could discourage a potential third party acquirer from considering or proposing an alternative acquisition, even if it were prepared to pay consideration with a higher value than that proposed to be paid in the merger, or might result in a potential third party acquirer proposing to pay a lower per share price than it might otherwise have proposed to pay because of the added expense of the termination fee.

Resales of shares of Ebix common stock following the merger, additional obligations to issue shares of Ebix common stock, and repurchases of common stock by Ebix may cause the market price of Ebix common stock to fluctuate.

As of December 16, 2010, Ebix had approximately 36.3 million shares of common stock outstanding and approximately 2.9 million shares of common stock subject to outstanding options and other rights to purchase or acquire its shares. Ebix currently expects that it will issue approximately up to 3.7 million shares of Ebix common stock in connection with the merger. The issuance of these new shares of Ebix common stock and the sale of additional shares of Ebix common stock that may become eligible for sale in the public market from time to time upon exercise of options and other equity-linked securities could have the effect of depressing the market price for shares of Ebix common stock.

Ebix previously announced that it has increased the number of shares of Ebix common stock authorized for repurchase under its share repurchase program from 5.0 million shares to 15.0 million shares. Any repurchases by Ebix could have the effect of raising or maintaining the market price of Ebix's common stock above levels that would have otherwise prevailed or preventing or slowing a decline in the market price of Ebix's common stock.

The trading price of shares of Ebix common stock after the merger may be affected by factors different from those affecting the price of shares of Ebix common stock or shares of ADAM common stock before the merger.

When the merger is completed, holders of ADAM common stock will become holders of Ebix common stock. The results of operations of Ebix, as well as the trading price of Ebix common stock, after the merger may be affected by factors different from those currently affecting Ebix's or ADAM's results of operations and the trading price of ADAM common stock. For a discussion of the businesses of Ebix and ADAM and of certain factors to consider in connection with those businesses, see the documents incorporated by reference into this Proxy Statement/Prospectus and referred to under "Where You Can Find More Information" beginning on page 75.

The shares of Ebix common stock to be received by ADAM stockholders as a result of the merger will have different rights from the shares of ADAM common stock.

Upon completion of the merger, ADAM stockholders will become Ebix stockholders and their rights as stockholders will be governed by the certificate of incorporation and bylaws of Ebix. The rights associated with ADAM common stock are different from the rights associated with Ebix common stock. Please see "Comparison of Rights of EBIX Shareholders and ADAM Shareholders" beginning on page 68 for a discussion of the different rights associated with Ebix common stock.

ADAM Record Date; Stock Entitled to Vote

The ADAM board of directors has fixed the close of business on November 26, 2010 as the record date for determining which ADAM shareholders of common stock are entitled to notice of, and to vote at, the special meeting. On the record date, there were 11,111,212 shares of ADAM common stock outstanding, held by approximately 144 holders of record.

A complete list of shareholders entitled to vote at the ADAM special meeting will be available for examination by any ADAM shareholder at ADAM's offices located at, 10 10 Street NE, Atlanta, Georgia, 30309 for purposes pertaining to the ADAM special meeting, during normal business hours for a period of ten days before the ADAM special meeting, and at the time and place of the ADAM special meeting.

Quorum and Votes Required

A majority of the shares of ADAM common stock outstanding on the record date must be represented, either in person or by proxy, to constitute a quorum at the special meeting. Proxies marked as abstentions and broker non-votes will be used in determining the number of shares present at the special meeting. At the special meeting, each share of ADAM common stock is entitled to one vote on all matters properly submitted to ADAM shareholders.

Table of Contents

The affirmative vote of the holders of at least a majority of the outstanding shares of ADAM common stock outstanding on the record date is required to approve the Merger Proposal.

ADAM's board of directors recommends that ADAM shareholders vote FOR the Merger Proposal.

Voting by ADAM Directors and Executive Officers

Certain directors and executive officers of ADAM beneficially owned and were entitled to vote, or shared the right to vote, 295,248 shares of ADAM common stock, or approximately 2.7% of the total outstanding shares of ADAM common stock on the record date, and each of them has indicated his, her or its intention to vote FOR the Merger Proposal.

Voting Procedures

ADAM shareholders may vote by returning the enclosed proxy card by mail or in person at the special meeting. All shares of ADAM common stock represented by properly executed proxy cards received before or at the special meeting will be voted in accordance with the instructions indicated on those proxy cards.

If no instructions are indicated on a properly executed proxy, the shares will be voted FOR the Merger Proposal. You are urged to sign and return the proxy card even if you plan to attend the special meeting. In this way, your shares will be voted even if you are unable to attend the special meeting.

If a properly executed proxy card is returned and the shareholder has abstained from voting on the Merger Proposal, the ADAM common stock represented by the proxy will be considered present at the special meeting for purposes of determining a quorum and entitled to vote on the Merger Proposal.

If you received more than one proxy card, your shares are held in more than one account. Please sign and return all proxy cards to be sure that all your shares are voted for you by the individuals named on the proxy card.

If your shares are held in an account at a brokerage firm or bank, you must instruct them on how to vote your shares. If an executed proxy card is returned by a broker or bank holding shares that indicates that the broker or bank does not have discretionary authority to vote on the Merger Proposal, the shares will be considered present at the special meeting for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum, but will not be considered to be entitled to vote on the Merger Proposal. Your broker or bank will vote your shares only if you provide instructions on how to vote by following the information provided to you by your broker.

Because approval of the merger agreement requires the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of ADAM's outstanding shares, any failure to vote or broker non-votes for the Merger Proposal will have the same effect as a vote against the Merger Proposal at the special meeting. Abstentions will also have the effect of a vote against the Merger Proposal.

Every ADAM shareholder's vote is important. Accordingly, each ADAM shareholder should sign, date, and return the enclosed proxy card, or vote via the Internet or by telephone, whether or not it plans to attend the ADAM special meeting in person.

Revocability of Proxies and Changes to a ADAM Shareholder's Vote

You may change your vote or revoke your proxy at any time before the special meeting. In order to do this, you must: (1) sign and return another proxy at a later date, OR (2) give written permission to the Secretary of ADAM at or before the special meeting at 10 10th Street NE, Atlanta, Georgia, 30309 OR (3) attend the special meeting and vote in person. Any one of these actions will revoke an earlier proxy from you. Merely attending the special meeting will not constitute revocation of your proxy. If your shares are held in street name by your broker, you will need to contact your broker to revoke your proxy.

However, if an ADAM shareholder has shares held through a brokerage firm, bank, or other custodian, it may revoke its instructions only by informing the custodian in accordance with any procedures it has established.

Table of Contents

Adjournment or Postponement

ADAM may adjourn or postpone the special meeting as set forth in ADAM's articles of incorporation or bylaws or as otherwise permitted by law.

Other Business

ADAM is not aware of any business to be acted on at the special meeting except as described in this Proxy Statement. If any other matters are properly presented at the special meeting, or any adjournment or postponement of the special meeting, the persons appointed as proxies or their substitutes will have discretion to vote or act on the matter according to their best judgment and applicable law unless the proxy indicates otherwise.

Solicitation of Proxies

Proxies may be solicited by directors, officers, and employees of ADAM by mail, by telephone, in person, or otherwise. They will receive no additional compensation for any solicitation efforts. In addition, ADAM will request banks, brokers, and other custodians, nominees, and fiduciaries to forward proxy materials to the beneficial owners of ADAM common stock and obtain voting instructions from the beneficial owners. ADAM will reimburse those firms for their reasonable expenses in forwarding proxy materials and obtaining voting instructions.

ADAM shareholders should not send in any stock certificates with their proxy card. If you are a ADAM shareholder, a transmittal letter with instructions for the surrender of your ADAM stock certificates will be mailed to you as soon as practicable after consummation of the merger.

Item 1. The Merger Proposal

(Item 1 on proxy card)

As discussed elsewhere in this Proxy Statement, ADAM is asking its shareholders to approve the Merger Proposal. Holders of ADAM common stock should read carefully this Proxy Statement in its entirety, including the annexes, for more detailed information concerning the merger agreement and the merger. In particular, holders of ADAM common stock are directed to the merger agreement, a copy of which is included as Annex A to this Proxy Statement.

The ADAM board of directors recommends a vote FOR the Merger Proposal (Item 1).

Item 2. Possible Adjournment or Postponement of the ADAM Special Meeting

(Item 2 on proxy card)

If, at the special meeting, the number of shares of ADAM common stock present or represented and voting in favor of the approval of the Merger Proposal is insufficient to adopt that proposal under applicable law, ADAM intends to move to adjourn the special meeting in order to enable its board of directors to solicit additional proxies in respect of the approval of the Merger Proposal. In that event, ADAM will ask its shareholders to vote only upon the adjournment proposal, and not the Merger Proposal. If the proposal to adjourn the ADAM special meeting for the purpose of soliciting additional proxies is submitted to ADAM shareholders for approval, such approval requires the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast on the matter.

In this proposal, ADAM is asking its shareholders to authorize the holder of any proxy solicited by the ADAM board of directors to vote in favor of granting discretionary authority to the proxy holders, and each of them individually, to adjourn the special meeting to another time and place for the purpose of soliciting additional proxies. If the shareholders approve the adjournment proposal, ADAM could adjourn the special meeting and any adjourned session of the special meeting and use the additional time to solicit additional proxies, including the solicitation of proxies from shareholders that have previously voted.

The ADAM board of directors recommends a vote FOR this item (Item 2).

Table of ContentsTHE MERGER

The following is a discussion of the merger and the material terms of the merger agreement between Ebix and ADAM. You are urged to read carefully the merger agreement in its entirety, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this Proxy Statement and is incorporated by reference herein.

Background of the Merger

ADAM has periodically reviewed and assessed trends and conditions impacting ADAM and its industry generally. From time to time, ADAM's board of directors has reviewed the strategic alternatives potentially available to enhance shareholder value. As leading companies in their respective lines of business, ADAM and Ebix are generally familiar with each other's business. The merger agreement is the culmination of a process that began in January 2009 when ADAM commenced a review of its strategic alternatives.

On January 23, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which Kevin Noland, ADAM's then President and Chief Executive Officer, presented an assessment of strategic alternatives for maintaining and improving ADAM shareholder value. Representatives from DLA Piper LLP (US) (DLA Piper), counsel to ADAM, advised the board with respect to its fiduciary duties with respect to these strategic alternatives. During this meeting representatives of ADAM's then financial advisor, Lane, Berry and Co. International, LLC (Lane Berry), presented a summary of strategic and financial alternatives and an assessment of the current environment. Following discussions, ADAM's board established a temporary executive committee consisting of Robert Cramer, Chairman of ADAM's board of directors and an independent director, and Clay Scarborough, another independent member of the board of directors, to work with ADAM's management to facilitate the company's consideration of strategic alternatives. ADAM terminated Lane Berry as its advisor on February 4, 2009.

On April 8, 2009, the executive committee, together with Mr. Noland and Mark Adams, ADAM's then Chief Financial Officer and ADAM's current President and Chief Executive Officer, met with representatives from Needham & Company to discuss ADAM's strategic alternatives. ADAM had asked Needham & Company to discuss strategic alternatives to drive future growth of the business and enhance shareholder value. Strategic alternatives discussed during the April 8, 2009 meeting included maintaining the status quo, acquiring or merging with another entity, raising equity capital, going private by partnering with a private equity firm, selling to a strategic buyer or acquiring a larger private company via a reverse merger.

On April 13, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which the board of directors discussed a broad range of strategic alternatives for ADAM to increase shareholder value, including the matters discussed with Needham & Company on April 8, 2009. At this time, ADAM's board determined to continue to focus on improving ADAM's fundamentals, seeking growth and preserving profitability.

On May 19, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which they further discussed various strategic alternatives for ADAM to increase value for its shareholders, including potential strategic business combinations and acquisitions. At this meeting, ADAM's board determined to engage Needham & Company as financial advisor to assist ADAM in evaluating strategic alternatives available to ADAM. On June 2, 2009, ADAM and Needham & Company executed an engagement letter and Needham & Company promptly commenced a preparatory review of ADAM's business and operations and ADAM's potential strategic alternatives.

On May 20, 2009, Mr. Noland met with Robin Raina, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer of Ebix. Mr. Noland and Mr. Raina discussed the possible synergies that could be derived from a business combination between Ebix and ADAM. These discussions did not include any pricing terms and ADAM did not further pursue discussions with Ebix regarding a potential transaction at that time.

Beginning in June 2009 and continuing through September 2009, Needham & Company contacted a targeted list of twenty potential strategic buyers and thirty-seven potential financial buyers, including parties that had previously approached ADAM regarding a potential transaction, to explore whether they had an interest in pursuing a potential transaction with ADAM. Needham & Company and ADAM identified potential strategic buyers based on the potential strategic buyers' business focus, acquisition interests and ability to consummate a transaction. Needham & Company and ADAM identified potential financial buyers based on the potential financial buyers' investment criteria, including their sector investment focus and target investment size. Five potential strategic buyers executed non-disclosure agreements (including Ebix and two third parties we refer to as Company A and Company B). Fifteen non-disclosure agreements were sent to potential financial buyers, eleven of which were executed.

On June 26, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which they approved a shareholder rights plan out of concern that ADAM's stock price might not properly reflect ADAM's intrinsic or fair value. The board of directors also continued to analyze, with assistance from Needham & Company, various strategic alternatives for ADAM to increase shareholder value, including various potential strategic business combinations or acquisitions. During this meeting, representatives from DLA Piper advised the board with respect to its fiduciary duties, the shareholder rights plan, and consideration of strategic alternatives. ADAM's board instructed management to work with Needham & Company to pursue these various alternatives and determine which of them, if any, would be attractive for ADAM's consideration. Mr. Cramer and Needham & Company also agreed to have regularly scheduled conference calls to discuss Needham & Company's progress and current assessments of alternatives and reactions from third parties.

Beginning in July 2009 and continuing through August 2009, ADAM held discussions with Company A, Company B, and Ebix regarding potential strategic alternatives and commenced preliminary due diligence.

ADAM and Company A had entered into a confidentiality agreement on October 7, 2007 and extended the term of this confidentiality agreement on July 8, 2009. In July 2009, ADAM and Company A held discussions regarding a transaction involving ADAM's online content business. As part of these discussions, ADAM and Needham met with Company A on July 28, 2009.

On April 1, 2009, ADAM entered into a confidentiality agreement with Company B. ADAM and Company B held discussions regarding a potential strategic transaction whereby Company B would acquire ADAM. In addition, Needham & Company held discussions with Company B's Chairman and members of Company B's finance team. In August 2009, Mr. Noland met with representatives from Company B. Following this meeting and further discussions, on August 17, 2009, Company B terminated discussions regarding a potential strategic transaction with ADAM.

On July 2, 2009, ADAM and Ebix entered into a confidentiality agreement (the "Confidentiality Agreement"), which included a standstill provision expiring on July 2, 2010 and provided that Ebix would not take certain actions with respect to ADAM. ADAM and Ebix held discussions regarding a potential strategic transaction whereby Ebix would acquire ADAM.

On August 6, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which they reviewed the status of Needham & Company's contacts with various strategic partners and potential financial buyers.

On August 10, 2009, ADAM received an offer from Ebix to acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares of common stock on a debt-free basis for $46.0 million, or approximately $3.86 per share, payable in either cash or Ebix common stock valued at a fifteen-day average preceding the closing of the transaction, with a floor collar value of $14.13 per Ebix share. The offer also required that ADAM grant Ebix exclusivity until September 30, 2009.

On August 13, 2009, ADAM's board held a meeting during which it discussed the status of the discussions with Ebix regarding its offer. Representatives from Needham & Company provided the ADAM board with an overview of Ebix's offer of August 10, 2009. At the end of the meeting, ADAM's board instructed Needham & Company to inquire if Ebix would be interested in acquiring a portion of ADAM's business as a result of the board's consideration of a potential sale of ADAM's healthcare content assets to Company A. Needham & Company and Ebix then discussed orally whether Ebix would still be interested in acquiring ADAM if the healthcare content assets were sold to a third party.

Table of Contents

On August 18, 2009, ADAM received a final revised offer from Ebix to acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares of common stock on a debt-free basis for $53.0 million, a $7.0 million increase from the August 10, 2009 offer, payable in cash or Ebix common stock valued at a fifteen-day average preceding the closing of the transaction, with a floor collar value of $14.13 per Ebix share. The offer also required that ADAM grant Ebix exclusivity until September 30, 2009.

Between August 20, 2009 and September 3, 2009, Needham & Company held preliminary discussions with financial buyers that had expressed interest and responded to requests for information. Some potential financial buyers expressed oral interest in pursuing a transaction with ADAM while many more were uninterested in pursuing a transaction with ADAM.

On August 24, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which they considered strategic alternatives for the company. Representatives from Needham & Company provided the ADAM board with an overview of Ebix's revised offer from August 18, 2009. DLA Piper advised the board with respect to its fiduciary duties with respect to the potential Ebix transaction. Following consideration of Ebix's offer by ADAM's board, ADAM's board determined to continue with the exploratory process previously started by Needham & Company. ADAM's board of directors also directed Needham & Company and DLA Piper to respond to Ebix's offer with an offer of approximately $63.0 million on a debt-free basis.

On August 25, 2009, Needham & Company delivered ADAM's counteroffer to Ebix pursuant to which Ebix would acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares of common stock on a debt-free basis for $63.0 million payable in cash or Ebix common stock valued at a fifteen-day average preceding the closing of the transaction, with a floor collar value of $14.13 per Ebix share.

On August 25, 2009, Ebix's board discussed the merits of ADAM's counteroffer.

On August 26, 2009, Ebix responded to ADAM's counteroffer by confirming that Ebix's August 18, 2009 offer was its final offer. Ebix extended the time period in which ADAM was required to respond to the offer to September 15, 2009 but did not improve the price terms of the offer. On September 15, 2009, Needham & Company communicated to Ebix that ADAM had declined the offer from Ebix.

On August 27, 2009, ADAM received an offer from Company A to acquire the assets of ADAM's healthcare content business for $35.0 million in cash. On August 31, 2009, ADAM delivered to Company A a counteroffer of $40.0 million in cash with respect to the sale of its healthcare content business. On September 1, 2009, Company A responded to ADAM's counteroffer with a revised proposal to acquire ADAM's healthcare content business for approximately $40.0 million in cash. Company A's offer excluded the assets of ADAM's broker/employer business and the education business. The offer also required that ADAM grant Company A exclusivity until October 9, 2009.

On September 1, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which the board of directors considered Company A's offer. Representatives from Needham & Company provided the ADAM board with an overview of Company A's offer. Representatives from DLA Piper advised the board with respect to its fiduciary duties as to Company A's offer. The ADAM board noted that none of the strategic buyers contacted by Needham & Company (other than Company A and Ebix) were interested in pursuing a transaction with ADAM and eighteen of the financial buyers contacted by Needham & Company stated that they were not interested in a transaction with ADAM and four of the financial buyers contacted by Needham & Company were unresponsive. While some financial buyers expressed oral interest in August 2009, the ADAM board of directors did not believe that those financial buyers could make a more attractive offer, especially given market conditions prevalent at the time and the risks associated with such financial buyers obtaining any required financing. As a result, the ADAM board instructed ADAM's management to negotiate and enter into a non-binding letter of intent with Company A with respect to the sale of ADAM's healthcare content business. As a condition to entering into a letter of intent with Company A, Company A demanded that ADAM enter into an exclusivity agreement. On September 2, 2009, ADAM entered into an exclusivity agreement with Company A that by its terms was to expire on the earlier of the date of the execution of a definitive agreement or October 19, 2009.

Table of Contents

On September 3 and September 4, 2009, Needham & Company, on ADAM's behalf, notified Ebix and the potential financial buyers who had executed non-disclosure agreements that ADAM's evaluation of strategic alternatives had been suspended.

Between September 4, 2009 and October 15, 2009, Company A conducted due diligence on ADAM and counsel for Company A and DLA Piper negotiated and exchanged drafts of an asset purchase agreement with respect to ADAM's healthcare content business. On September 12, 2009, DLA Piper sent an initial draft of an asset purchase agreement to counsel for Company A. On September 17 and 18, 2009, ADAM and Company A conducted in person due diligence meetings. On September 24, 2009, ADAM received a revised draft of an asset purchase agreement from counsel for Company A. On September 30, 2009, DLA Piper sent a revised draft of an asset purchase agreement to Company A's counsel. On October 1, 2009, ADAM and Company A also held detailed discussions regarding consents of ADAM customers that would be required as a condition of closing any asset sale, together with possible tax and accounting issues in connection with the transaction. The parties also discussed a license to the continued use by ADAM of the assets in its broker/employer business and its education business.

On October 15, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which the members of the board discussed the status of the potential transaction with Company A. The ADAM board also directed ADAM's management to work with Needham & Company to develop a financial model to reflect ADAM's then-current business strategies for the broker/employer business and the education business and the potential uses of the proceeds from the potential transaction with Company A.

On November 6, 2009, ADAM entered into a second exclusivity agreement with Company A that by its terms was to expire on the earlier of the date of the execution of an asset purchase agreement or January 5, 2010. This exclusivity agreement also provided that ADAM could terminate the exclusivity agreement on December 7, 2009 by providing written notice to Company A.

On November 23, 2009, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting during which representatives from Needham & Company reviewed with the ADAM board of directors a summary of ADAM management's financial model following the consummation of the sale of ADAM's healthcare content business to Company A, including various scenarios and assumptions as to the use of any proceeds. Following discussion, ADAM's board determined that: (i) following such sale, ADAM would not have sufficient scale to be a viable, stand-alone public company, (ii) a dividend of the net proceeds from such a sale would result in adverse tax consequences to ADAM's shareholders, (iii) the use of proceeds for an acquisition strategy involved too many risks and uncertainties, (iv) ADAM should focus on building out its operational returns and profitability of its current business, and (v) significant issues with Company A remained to be resolved with respect to a license for ADAM to continue to use the assets in its broker/employer business and its education business. As a result, the ADAM board decided not to pursue the potential sale of ADAM's healthcare content business to Company A. Needham & Company informed Company A that ADAM had declined to pursue the potential sale of ADAM's healthcare content business to Company A. On December 7, 2009, ADAM terminated the exclusivity agreement with Company A.

On January 5, 2010, ADAM announced that Mr. Noland had resigned as President and Chief Executive Officer of ADAM and that Mr. Adams had been promoted to the position of President and Chief Executive Officer.

In January 2010, Mr. Cramer and Mr. Raina discussed a potential strategic transaction whereby Ebix would acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares of common stock. These discussions terminated due to disagreement over valuation between ADAM and Ebix.

On March 26, 2010, ADAM's board held a meeting to consider a strategic transaction proposed by Ebix pursuant to which Ebix would acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares of common stock on a debt-free basis for $66.0 million, with two-thirds of the consideration payable in Ebix common stock valued at a fifteen-day average preceding the closing of the transaction and the remainder payable in cash. Ebix would have the option of paying the entire consideration in cash if its stock price at closing was less than $16.00 per share. The offer also required that ADAM grant Ebix exclusivity until April 30, 2010. Representatives from Needham & Company provided the ADAM board with an overview of Ebix's offer. Representatives from DLA Piper advised the board with respect to its fiduciary duties as to the offer. At the conclusion of the meeting, the ADAM board decided to pursue a transaction with Ebix and authorized management to negotiate a non-binding letter of intent.

Table of Contents

Between March 26, 2010 and April 1, 2010, ADAM and Ebix discussed and negotiated various aspects of the non-binding letter of intent.

On March 30, 2010, Ebix's board held a meeting to discuss the ADAM transaction, and after discussion, the board provided authorization for Ebix's senior management to proceed with the proposed transaction.

On April 1, 2010, ADAM and Ebix signed a non-binding letter of intent pursuant to which Ebix would acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares of common stock on a debt-free basis for $66.0 million, with two-thirds of the purchase price payable in Ebix common stock valued at a fifteen-day average preceding the closing of the transaction and the remainder payable in cash. Subject to the overall limits, ADAM shareholders would be entitled to elect whether to receive Ebix common stock, cash or a combination of cash and common stock. ADAM and Ebix also amended the Confidentiality Agreement to extend the term of certain provisions, including the standstill provision, by a period of one year. The offer required that ADAM grant Ebix exclusivity until April 30, 2010. Promptly following execution of the non-binding letter of intent, Ebix commenced due diligence on ADAM, and ADAM commenced due diligence on Ebix.

On April 27, 2010, Carlton Fields, P.A. (Carlton Fields), counsel for Ebix, delivered a draft merger agreement to DLA Piper. On May 5, 2010, DLA Piper sent a revised draft of the merger agreement to Carlton Fields. During this time, ADAM and Ebix also discussed certain structural issues, including the treatment of outstanding options to purchase shares of ADAM common stock and adjustments to the merger consideration based on various cash items. DLA Piper, Carlton Fields, ADAM and Ebix continued to discuss and negotiate issues with respect to the merger agreement. On May 16, 2010, Carlton Fields delivered a revised draft of the merger agreement to DLA Piper. Following repeated discussions, the parties were unable to reach agreement on the open issues and on May 20, 2010, ADAM and Ebix terminated discussions regarding the transaction.

On August 17, 2010, Mr. Cramer and Mr. Raina discussed renewing discussions with respect to a potential strategic transaction between ADAM and Ebix. Mr. Raina indicated that Ebix was willing to consider a transaction at the same value as indicated in April 2010, even though ADAM's stock price had declined since that time. On August 18, 2010, ADAM received from Ebix a draft of a non-binding letter of intent with respect to a proposed transaction pursuant to which Ebix would acquire all of ADAM's outstanding shares on a debt-free basis for $66.0 million of Ebix common stock, subject to certain adjustments. The offer required that ADAM grant Ebix exclusivity until August 25, 2010.

On August 20, 2010, ADAM's board held a meeting during which it discussed the negotiations with Ebix and the status of the non-binding letter of intent. Representatives from Needham & Company provided the ADAM board with an overview of Ebix's offer, including the relevant financial metrics. Representatives from DLA Piper advised the ADAM board with respect to its fiduciary duties with respect to a potential strategic transaction with Ebix. ADAM's board also discussed various strategic alternatives available to ADAM. At the conclusion of the meeting, ADAM's board directed Mr. Cramer and Mr. Adams to complete negotiation of and enter into the non-binding letter of intent. Over the following days, ADAM, with the assistance of DLA Piper, negotiated the terms of the non-binding letter of intent with Ebix, ultimately settling on merger consideration of approximately $65.4 million, subject to certain adjustments.

On August 23, 2010, ADAM and Ebix executed a non-binding letter of intent for the proposed transaction, which granted Ebix exclusivity until August 26, 2010.

On August 24, 2010 and continuing through August 29, 2010, Ebix performed due diligence on ADAM and ADAM performed due diligence on Ebix. On August 24, 2010, Carlton Fields delivered a revised draft of the merger agreement to DLA Piper, which was based on the draft merger agreement discussed by the parties in May 2010. On August 25, 2010, DLA Piper sent a revised draft of the merger agreement to Carlton Fields.

On August 26, 2010, ADAM's board of directors held a meeting to discuss the status of the potential transaction with Ebix, focusing on issues such as termination fees and the exclusivity of certain remedies and the fact that Ebix was requiring certain adjustments to the merger consideration. The ADAM board also discussed the treatment in the merger of outstanding options to purchase shares of ADAM's common stock in the merger. Ebix had previously indicated that it was only willing to have ADAM's outstanding options exchanged for Ebix common stock or exchanged for a fixed cash amount to be set on the date the merger agreement was signed. Representatives from Needham & Company reviewed with ADAM's board of directors the financial aspects of these alternatives. Representatives from DLA Piper advised ADAM's board of directors on the legal aspects of these alternatives. Following the discussions with Needham & Company and DLA Piper, ADAM's board determined to have the outstanding options to purchase shares of ADAM common stock exchanged for a fixed cash amount to be set on the date the merger agreement was signed.

Over the next two days, DLA Piper and Carlton Fields continued discussions with respect to the merger agreement. On August 27, 2010, Carlton Fields delivered a revised draft of the merger agreement to DLA Piper, and DLA Piper delivered an initial draft of ADAM's disclosure schedules to Carlton Fields. On August 28, 2010, DLA Piper delivered a revised draft of the merger agreement and a revised draft of ADAM's disclosure schedules to Carlton Fields.

Throughout the day on August 28 and August 29, 2010, DLA Piper and Carlton Fields continued to negotiate the terms of the merger agreement. In the early evening of August 28, 2010, Carlton Fields delivered a draft of Ebix's disclosure schedules to the merger agreement.

On August 29, 2010, Ebix's board of directors signed a unanimous consent approving the transaction with ADAM.

On August 29, 2010, the ADAM board of directors held a meeting during which they reviewed the proposed transaction. Representatives of DLA Piper and Needham & Company were present at this meeting. DLA Piper advised the ADAM board with respect to its fiduciary duties as to the potential transaction with Ebix and reviewed the terms of the proposed merger agreement. A representative of Needham & Company then presented its financial analysis of the proposed transaction with Ebix and delivered its oral opinion (which was subsequently confirmed in writing) to the effect that, as of August 29, 2010 and based upon and subject to the limitations, qualifications and assumptions to be set forth in its written opinion, the consideration to be received by the holders of ADAM common stock pursuant to the merger agreement was fair to those holders from a financial point of view. Representatives of DLA Piper and Needham & Company responded to various questions from the ADAM board of directors. After the presentations from DLA Piper and Needham & Company, discussion ensued regarding the transaction and other strategic alternatives available to ADAM. At the conclusion of the meeting, the ADAM board of directors unanimously approved the merger agreement and recommended that the shareholders of ADAM vote in favor of the adoption and approval of the merger agreement.

Following the ADAM board meeting, representatives of DLA Piper and Carlton Fields proceeded to finalize the merger agreement and disclosure schedules during the course of the night on August 29, 2010. The merger agreement was promptly thereafter executed and the parties announced the transaction in a jointly issued press release at 8:30 a.m. Eastern Daylight Time on August 30, 2010.

The ADAM Board of Directors' Recommendations and Reasons for the Merger

The ADAM board of directors believes that the merger and the merger agreement are advisable and in the best interests of ADAM and its shareholders. Accordingly, the ADAM board of directors has unanimously approved the merger and the merger agreement and unanimously recommends that ADAM shareholders vote FOR adoption and approval of the Merger Proposal. When ADAM's shareholders consider the ADAM board of directors' recommendation, ADAM's shareholders should be aware that ADAM's directors may have interests in the merger that may be different from, or in addition to, their interests. These interests are described in Interests of ADAM's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger beginning on page 41.

In the course of determining that the merger and the merger agreement are advisable and in the best interests of ADAM and its shareholders, the ADAM board of directors consulted with management as well as its financial and legal advisors and considered a number of factors in making its determination, including the following:

Table of Contents

Merger consideration. The ADAM board of directors considered the 0.3122 shares of the combined company that ADAM shareholders will receive for each ADAM share if the merger is consummated and the adjustments set forth in the merger agreement. The ADAM board of directors concluded that such shares are likely to deliver greater long-term value to ADAM's shareholders than would be expected if ADAM remained independent. The ADAM board of directors also considered that the exchange ratio represented approximately 7% ownership in the combined company by ADAM shareholders on a pro forma basis and, based on the closing prices of Ebix's and ADAM's common stock on the NASDAQ Stock Market on August 27, 2010, corresponded to a price of approximately $6.11 per share, a 93% premium to the closing price of ADAM common stock on that date. The ADAM board of directors further considered the fact that, subject only to the adjustments set forth in the merger agreement, the exchange ratio provides ADAM shareholders with certainty regarding the number of Ebix shares they will receive in connection with the merger, and allows them to benefit from any increase in the price of Ebix common stock during the pre-closing period.

Participation in future growth; synergies. The ADAM board of directors considered the fact that ADAM shareholders will participate in the future growth of an organization with considerably greater scale and breadth than ADAM alone and will benefit from the synergies that are expected to be realized as a result of the merger. In particular, the ADAM board of directors identified as potential strategic advantages and synergies: the fact that the combined company would have a stronger presence in the health information and insurance markets than ADAM alone; the fact that Ebix has an international footprint that ADAM lacks; the fact that the combined company would offer end-to-end health and employee benefit software services; the fact that the combined company would have opportunities to cross-sell complementary services to existing clients of the two companies; the fact that both companies are based in Atlanta, which should facilitate integration and make cost synergies even more achievable; and the fact that ADAM would no longer incur the substantial costs associated with being a public company. The ADAM board of directors also considered the fact that shares of Ebix common stock to be received would be freely transferable should ADAM's shareholders wish to sell those shares.

Review of prospects in remaining independent. The ADAM board of directors considered ADAM's financial condition, results of operations, and business and earnings prospects if it were to remain independent in light of various factors, including consolidation, increased competition, and regulatory and other developments occurring in the healthcare and benefits industries. The ADAM board of directors concluded that there were significant risks in remaining independent and that ADAM could best realize long-term shareholder value as part of a global enterprise with greater scale, resources and reach.

Extensive process. Based on the ADAM board of directors' review of ADAM's strategic alternatives and the extensive process that the board of directors conducted during the many months prior to the signing of the merger agreement, which involved contacting a significant number of parties who were believed to have a potential interest in a strategic combination with ADAM, the board of directors considered the fact that only two potential counterparties had made a proposal for a transaction with ADAM and that there was no assurance as to when or whether another favorable opportunity to engage in a strategic combination would arise.

Opinion of Needham & Company. The ADAM board of directors considered the financial analysis presented by Needham & Company and Needham & Company's opinion that, as of August 29, 2010, and based upon and subject to the assumptions and other matters described in Needham & Company's written opinion, the consideration to be received by the holders of ADAM common stock pursuant to the merger agreement was fair to those holders from a financial point of view. See "The Merger" Opinion of Financial Advisor to ADAM beginning on page 31.

Terms of the merger agreement. The ADAM board of directors considered the terms of the merger agreement, including the parties' respective representations, warranties, and covenants, the conditions to their respective obligations to complete the merger and the ability of the respective parties to terminate the merger agreement. The ADAM board of directors noted that the termination or breakup fee provisions of the merger agreement could have the effect of discouraging alternative proposals for a business combination involving ADAM but that such provisions are customary for transactions of this size and type. The ADAM board of directors also considered that the $3.5 million amount of the termination fee, which amount is approximately equal to 5.3% of the equity value of ADAM at the exchange ratio based on the closing prices on August 27, 2010, was within a reasonable range, particularly in light of the process conducted by the ADAM board of directors with the assistance of Needham & Company and management. The ADAM board of directors also noted that the merger agreement permits ADAM and the ADAM board of directors to respond to a bona fide acquisition proposal that the ADAM board of directors determines is or is reasonably likely to lead to a superior proposal, subject to certain restrictions imposed by the merger agreement, and the requirement that ADAM pay Ebix the termination fee in the event that ADAM terminates the merger agreement to enter into an alternative transaction with respect to such superior proposal.

Likelihood of closing. The ADAM board of directors considered the relatively limited nature of the closing conditions included in the merger agreement, including the likelihood that the merger would be approved by the relevant regulatory authorities and that the merger would be approved by ADAM's shareholders.

Tax-free merger. The ADAM board of directors considered the fact that the merger is expected to be tax-free to ADAM shareholders for U.S. federal income tax purposes, except to the extent that ADAM shareholders recognize gain on cash received instead of any fractional shares of Ebix common stock.

Risks. The ADAM board of directors also identified and considered a number of countervailing factors and risks to ADAM, ADAM's shareholders, and the combined company that could arise from the merger, including:

the risk that the combined company will not achieve the growth or financial results anticipated or otherwise fail to deliver greater value to ADAM shareholders than they would have received had ADAM remained independent;

the challenges and costs inherent in integrating the two businesses and the time and effort that will be required from employees of both companies to successfully complete that integration;

the possibility that synergies may not be realized as a result of the merger or that they may be lower than expected;

the potential loss of customers, suppliers, and employees of the combined company following the merger or of either party during the pre-closing period;

the possibility that the merger may not be completed and the potential adverse consequences to ADAM if the merger is not completed, including the potential to depress values offered by others to ADAM in a business combination and to erode customer and employee confidence in ADAM;

the risks associated with a fixed exchange ratio, which by its nature will not compensate ADAM shareholders for any declines in the price of Ebix's stock prior to the completion of the merger;

the risk that the final exchange ratio will not be known until closing and that the exchange ratio may be adjusted downward if ADAM fails to pay at or prior to closing (i) the amount of any ADAM debt owed out of ADAM's cash on hand, (ii) the amount of expenses of ADAM's financial advisor in excess of $650,000 out of ADAM's cash on hand, or (iii) the amount of expenses of ADAM's legal counsel as to this Proxy Statement out of ADAM's cash on hand;

the absence of any termination right in the merger agreement that would be triggered by a decrease in Ebix's stock price (or the corresponding decrease in the value of the merger consideration to be received by ADAM shareholders);

Table of Contents

the fact that ADAM option holders will receive cash based on a price of $5.95 per share of ADAM common stock on the date of the merger agreement, which may be higher or lower than the value to be received by ADAM shareholders at the closing;

the limitations imposed in the merger agreement on the conduct of ADAM's business during the pre-closing period, its ability to solicit and respond to proposals for alternative transactions, and the ability of its board of directors to change or withdraw its recommendation of the merger;

the $3.5 million termination fee payable to Ebix if the merger agreement is terminated under certain circumstances, and the potential effect that such termination fee may have on deterring other potential acquirers from proposing an alternative transaction that would be more advantageous to ADAM shareholders; and the potential conflicts of interest of ADAM's directors and executive officers, as described in the section entitled "Interests of ADAM's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger" beginning on page 41.

The foregoing discussion of the information and factors considered by the ADAM board of directors is not intended to be exhaustive but includes the material factors considered by the ADAM board of directors. In view of the wide variety of factors considered in connection with its evaluation of the merger and the complexity of these matters, the ADAM board of directors did not find it useful to and did not attempt to quantify, rank, or otherwise assign relative weights to these factors. In addition, the ADAM board of directors did not undertake to make any specific determination as to whether any particular factor, or any aspect of any particular factor, was favorable or unfavorable to its ultimate determination, but rather the ADAM board of directors conducted an overall analysis of the factors described above, including discussions with ADAM's management and its financial and legal advisors. In considering the factors described above, individual members of the ADAM board of directors may have given different weights to different factors.

Opinion of Financial Advisor to ADAM

ADAM retained Needham & Company to act as financial advisor in connection with the merger and to render an opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the holders of ADAM common stock of the consideration to be received by those holders pursuant to the merger agreement. Under the merger agreement, each issued and outstanding share of ADAM common stock, other than shares owned by ADAM or any subsidiary of ADAM, will be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of Ebix common stock equal to the exchange ratio (such number of shares so issuable, the "consideration").

On August 29, 2010, Needham & Company delivered its oral opinion, which it subsequently confirmed in writing, to the ADAM board of directors that, as of that date and based upon and subject to the assumptions and other matters described in the written opinion, the consideration to be received by the holders of ADAM common stock pursuant to the merger agreement was fair to those holders from a financial point of view. Needham & Company provided its opinion for the information and assistance of the ADAM board of directors in connection with and for the purpose of the board's evaluation of the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement. Needham & Company's opinion relates only to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the holders of ADAM common stock of the consideration, which was determined through arm's length negotiations between ADAM and Ebix and not by Needham & Company. While Needham & Company provided independent financial advice to the ADAM board of directors during the course of negotiations between ADAM and Ebix, the decision to approve and recommend the merger was made independently by the ADAM board. Needham & Company's opinion does not address any other aspect of the merger, or any related transaction, and does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder of ADAM as to how that shareholder should vote or act on any matter relating to the merger.

The complete text of Needham & Company's opinion, which sets forth the assumptions made, procedures followed, matters considered, and qualifications and limitations on and scope of the review undertaken by

Table of Contents

Needham & Company, is attached to this Proxy Statement/Prospectus as Annex B. The summary of Needham & Company's opinion set forth below is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the opinion. ADAM shareholders should read this opinion carefully and in its entirety.

In arriving at its opinion, Needham & Company, among other things:
reviewed a draft of the merger agreement dated August 28, 2010;

reviewed certain publicly available information concerning Ebix and ADAM and certain other relevant financial and operating data of Ebix and ADAM furnished to Needham & Company by Ebix and ADAM; reviewed the historical stock prices and trading volumes of Ebix common stock and ADAM common stock; held discussions with members of management of Ebix and ADAM concerning the current operations of and future business prospects for Ebix and ADAM and joint prospects for the combined companies, including the potential cost savings and other synergies that may be achieved by the combined companies;

reviewed certain financial forecasts with respect to Ebix and ADAM prepared by the respective managements of those companies and held discussions with members of management concerning those forecasts;

compared certain publicly available financial data of companies whose securities are traded in the public markets and that Needham & Company deemed relevant to similar data for ADAM; reviewed the financial terms of certain other business combinations that Needham & Company deemed generally relevant; and reviewed such other financial studies and analyses and considered such other matters as Needham & Company deemed appropriate.

In connection with its review and in arriving at its opinion, Needham & Company assumed and relied on the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial, accounting, legal, tax and other information discussed with or reviewed by it for purposes of its opinion and did not independently verify, nor did Needham & Company assume responsibility for independent verification of, any of that information. Needham & Company assumed the accuracy of the representations and warranties contained in the merger agreement and all agreements related thereto. In addition, Needham & Company assumed that the merger will qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code and will be consummated on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the draft merger agreement furnished to Needham & Company without waiver, modification or amendment of any material term, condition or agreement thereof and that, in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory or third party approvals, consents, and releases for the merger, no delay, limitation, restriction, or condition will be imposed that would have an adverse effect on Ebix, ADAM or the contemplated benefits of the merger. Needham & Company also assumed, with the ADAM board's consent, that no adjustment will be made to the initial exchange ratio of 0.3122 pursuant to the terms of the merger agreement. This 0.3122 exchange ratio is referred to in this discussion as the assumed exchange ratio. In addition, Needham & Company assumed that the financial forecasts for Ebix and ADAM provided to Needham & Company by Ebix and ADAM management were reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of management, at the time of preparation, of the future operating and financial performance of Ebix and ADAM and the combined companies, and Needham & Company relied, without independent verification, upon the estimates of Ebix and ADAM management of the potential cost savings and other synergies, including the amount and timing thereof, that may be achieved as a result of the merger. Needham & Company expressed no opinion with respect to any of those forecasts, including those costs savings and other synergies, or the assumptions on which they were based.

Table of Contents

Needham & Company did not assume any responsibility for or make or obtain any independent evaluation, appraisal or physical inspection of the assets or liabilities of Ebix or ADAM nor did Needham & Company evaluate the solvency or fair value of Ebix or ADAM under any state or federal laws relating to bankruptcy, insolvency, or similar matters. Needham & Company's opinion states that it was based on economic, monetary and market conditions as they existed and could be evaluated as of its date, and Needham & Company assumed no responsibility to update or revise its opinion based upon circumstances and events occurring after its date. Needham & Company's opinion is limited to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the holders of ADAM common stock of the consideration to be received by those holders pursuant to the merger agreement and Needham & Company expressed no opinion as to the fairness of the merger to, or any consideration received in connection therewith by, the holders of any other class of securities, creditors, or other constituencies of ADAM, or as to ADAM's underlying business decision to engage in the merger or the relative merits of the merger as compared to other business strategies that might be available to ADAM. In addition, Needham & Company expressed no opinion with respect to the amount or nature or any other aspect of any compensation payable to or to be received by any officers, directors, or employees of any party to the merger, or any class of those persons, relative to the consideration to be received by the holders of ADAM common stock pursuant to the merger agreement or with respect to the fairness of any such compensation. Needham & Company did not express any opinion as to what the value of Ebix common stock will be when issued pursuant to the merger or the prices at which Ebix common stock or ADAM common stock will actually trade at any time.

ADAM imposed no limitations on Needham & Company with respect to the investigations made or procedures followed by Needham & Company in rendering its opinion.

In preparing its opinion, Needham & Company performed a variety of financial and comparative analyses. The following paragraphs summarize the material financial analyses performed by Needham & Company in arriving at its opinion. The order of analyses described does not represent relative importance or weight given to those analyses by Needham & Company. Some of the summaries of the financial analyses include information presented in tabular format. The tables are not intended to stand alone, and in order to more fully understand the financial analyses used by Needham & Company, the tables must be read together with the full text of each summary. The following quantitative information, to the extent it is based on market data, is, except as otherwise indicated, based on market data as it existed on or prior to August 27, 2010 and is not necessarily indicative of current or future market conditions.

Historical Stock Trading and Exchange Ratio Analysis. Needham & Company reviewed the historical trading prices of Ebix common stock and ADAM common stock as of and for various periods ending on August 27, 2010, the last full trading day prior to the date of Needham & Company's opinion, in order to determine the various implied exchange ratio premiums or discounts that existed for those periods. The following table presents:

the average stock price ratios for August 27, 2010, and the three month, six month, 12 month, two year and five year periods ending on August 27, 2010. Average stock price ratio data represents the daily closing price of ADAM common stock divided by the daily closing price of Ebix common stock averaged over the respective periods; and the implied exchange ratio premium (discount) to the average stock price ratio, which is equal to the percentage by which the assumed exchange ratio (0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock for each share of ADAM common stock) exceeds (or is less than) the average stock price ratio for the specified periods.

Contribution Analysis. Needham & Company reviewed and analyzed the implied percentage contribution of each of Ebix and ADAM to pro forma combined operating results for the last reported 12 months ended June 30, 2010 and pro forma projected fiscal year 2010 and fiscal year 2011 combined operating results. In calculating the pro forma projected combined operating results, Needham & Company used estimates provided by Ebix and ADAM management. Needham & Company reviewed, among other things, the implied percentage contributions to pro forma combined revenues, gross profit, earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, amortization, and stock compensation expense, or adjusted EBITDA, earnings before interest and taxes, or EBIT, and net income. The following tables present the results of this analysis and the estimated percentage ownership of the combined company on a pro forma basis by the Ebix shareholders and the ADAM shareholders and estimated pro forma enterprise value contributions of Ebix and ADAM, based on the assumed exchange ratio of 0.3122. In calculating pro forma equity ownership and enterprise value contributions, Needham & Company assumed that outstanding options to purchase ADAM common stock would remain outstanding and would not be cashed out in the merger, used the treasury stock method to calculate the number of pro forma shares of Ebix common stock outstanding, and assumed conversion of all outstanding Ebix convertible debt.

Accretion/Dilution Analysis. Needham & Company prepared pro forma analyses of the financial impact of the merger based on the assumed exchange ratio, estimated financial results of Ebix and ADAM for 2011, and estimated transaction fees, and assuming cost savings and other synergies resulting from the merger. The estimated financial results, transaction fees, cost savings, and other synergies were based upon Ebix and ADAM managements' estimates. Based upon these estimates and assumptions, Needham & Company noted that the merger would result in accretion to the estimated earnings per share of Ebix for 2011. The actual operating or financial results achieved by the combined entity may vary from estimated results, and these variations may be material.

Premiums Paid Analysis. Needham & Company analyzed publicly available financial information for 21 merger and acquisition transactions, which represent transactions announced and closed between January 1, 2007 and August 27, 2010 that involved all stock consideration, equity values between $10 million and $1 billion, and acquired companies that were publicly-traded technology and technology-enabled service companies. In reviewing these transactions, Needham & Company analyzed the premium of consideration offered to the acquired company's stock price one trading day, five trading days, and 30 trading days prior to the announcement of the transaction.

Needham & Company calculated premiums for ADAM based on the Ebix closing stock price of $19.56 on August 27, 2010 and the assumed exchange ratio of 0.3122. The following table sets forth information concerning the stock price premiums in the selected transactions and the stock price premiums implied by the merger.

Discounted Cash Flow Analysis. Needham & Company performed an illustrative discounted cash flow analysis to determine indicators of illustrative implied equity values for ADAM and illustrative implied equity values per share of ADAM common stock based on ADAM management's financial forecasts. Needham & Company calculated a range of indications of the present value of unlevered free cash flows for ADAM for projected 2011 and 2012 using discount rates ranging from 12.5% to 17.5%. Needham & Company then calculated a range of illustrative terminal enterprise values by applying assumed perpetual growth rates ranging from 0.0% to 4.0% to management's estimate of ADAM's 2012 unlevered free cash flow. These illustrative terminal enterprise values were then discounted to calculate ranges of implied indications of present values using discount rates ranging from 12.5% to 17.5%. Needham & Company then added the ranges of the implied present values of ADAM's unlevered free cash flows for the projected years to the ranges of implied present values of ADAM's terminal enterprise values to derive ranges of implied present enterprise values of ADAM. After adding net cash and subtracting assumed debt to derive ranges of implied present equity values, these amounts were divided by the number of fully diluted shares outstanding to derive a range of illustrative implied equity values per share of $3.65 to $7.14, with a midpoint of $4.81. Needham & Company noted that the per share value implied by the assumed exchange ratio of 0.3122 and the Ebix closing stock price on August 27, 2010 of $19.56 was $6.11.

No company, transaction, or business used in the Selected Companies Analysis, Selected Transactions Analysis or Premiums Paid Analysis as a comparison is identical to Ebix, ADAM, or the merger. Accordingly, an evaluation of the results of these analyses is not entirely mathematical; rather, it involves complex considerations and judgments concerning differences in the financial and operating characteristics and other factors that could affect the acquisition, public trading or other values of the selected companies or selected transactions or the business segment, company or transaction to which they are being compared.

The summary set forth above does not purport to be a complete description of the analyses performed by Needham & Company in connection with the rendering of its opinion. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex analytical process involving various determinations as to the most appropriate and relevant quantitative and qualitative methods of financial analyses and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances and, therefore, such an opinion is not readily susceptible to summary description. Accordingly, Needham & Company believes that its analyses must be considered as a whole and that selecting portions of its analyses or the factors it considered, without considering all analyses and factors, could create a misleading or incomplete view of the process underlying its analyses and opinion. Needham & Company did not attribute any specific weight to any factor or analysis considered by it. The fact that any specific analysis has been referred to in the summary above is not meant to indicate that such analysis was given greater weight than any other analysis.

In performing its analyses, Needham & Company made numerous assumptions with respect to industry performance, general business, and economic conditions and other matters, many of which are beyond Ebix's or ADAM's control. Any estimates contained in or underlying these analyses, including estimates of future performance, are not necessarily indicative of actual values or predictive of future results or values, which may be significantly more or less favorable than those estimates. Additionally, analyses relating to the values of businesses or assets do not purport to be appraisals or necessarily reflect the prices at which businesses or assets may actually be sold or the prices at which any securities have traded or may trade at any time in the future. Accordingly, these analyses and estimates are inherently subject to substantial uncertainty. Needham & Company's opinion and its related analyses were only one of many factors considered by ADAM's board of directors in their evaluation of the merger and should not be viewed as determinative of the views of ADAM's board of directors or management with respect to the consideration or the merger.

Table of Contents

Under the terms of its engagement letter with Needham & Company, ADAM has paid Needham & Company a retainer fee of $60,000 and will pay a nonrefundable fee of $150,000 for rendering the Needham & Company opinion. If the merger is consummated, ADAM has agreed to pay Needham & Company an additional fee of 2.0% of the aggregate purchase price paid in the merger, against which the $60,000 retainer fee would be credited. If the merger were consummated on December 17, 2010, the total fees payable to Needham & Company, including the fee for rendering the Needham & Company opinion, would be approximately $1.9 million. Whether or not the merger is consummated, ADAM has agreed to reimburse Needham & Company for certain of its out-of-pocket expenses and to indemnify Needham & Company and related persons against various liabilities, including certain liabilities under the federal securities laws.

Needham & Company is a nationally recognized investment banking firm. As part of its investment banking services, Needham & Company is regularly engaged in the valuation of businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, negotiated underwritings, secondary distributions of securities, private placements, and other purposes. Needham & Company was retained by the ADAM board of directors to act as its financial advisor based on Needham & Company's experience as a financial advisor in mergers and acquisitions as well as Needham & Company's familiarity with ADAM and its industry generally. Needham & Company has not had any other investment banking relationship with Ebix or ADAM during the past two years. Needham & Company may in the future provide investment banking and financial advisory services to Ebix, ADAM, or their respective affiliates unrelated to the merger, for which services Needham & Company would expect to receive compensation. In the normal course of its business, Needham & Company may actively trade the equity securities of Ebix and ADAM for its own account or for the account of its customers and, therefore, may at any time hold a long or short position in those securities.

The Ebix Board of Directors Reasons for the Merger

In the course of determining that the merger and the merger agreement are advisable and in the best interests of Ebix and its shareholders, Ebix's management and board of directors considered a number of factors in making its determination, including the following:

belief that the business combination with ADAM will enable Ebix to offer and provide end-to-end health and employee benefit software services;

expectation that the combined companies would be able to offer ADAM's content syndication services, presently offered only in the United States, to an international customer base spread across six continents;

expectation that the combined businesses will be able to cross-sell each other's services to their existing customer bases; for example selling ADAM's benefit portals to Ebix's existing backend clients and vice versa; belief that the completed merger will drive considerable cost benefits from the resulting synergies;

the fact that both companies are headquartered in Atlanta, which is expected to facilitate efficient integration and the realization of anticipated cost reductions;

ADAM would no longer have to incur the costs of being a public registrant, resulting in substantial cost reduction to the combined company; belief that the combined businesses would have considerable greater scale and market breadth than either company alone; and expectation that the combined company's end to end solution offerings would enable the merged businesses to be a player in large deals that require end to end health insurance expertise, a market that was unavailable to each of the companies individually.

Taking all the above factors into consideration, Ebix's management and board of directors ultimately determined that its best option was to pursue a business combination with ADAM.

Table of Contents

The Ebix board of directors also considered a variety of other factors and risks concerning the merger, including the following:

the information concerning Ebix's and ADAM's respective historic businesses, financial results, and prospects, including the result of Ebix's due diligence review of ADAM;

Ebix's assessments that ADAM's business can effectively and efficiently be integrated;

Ebix's assessment of its ability to drive revenue growth given the market dynamics for ADAM's analog and memory products offering;

the favorable tax synergies that may be achievable in light of ADAM's significant sales outside the United States;

the exchange ratio of 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock for each share of ADAM common stock and the fact that the exchange ratio is fixed and will not fluctuate based upon changes in Ebix's stock price between signing and closing, reflecting the strategic purpose of the merger and consistent with market practice for a merger of this type;

the fact that the merger consideration is Ebix common stock, and Ebix did not therefore need to utilize cash or incur additional debt to finance the purchase price;

the relatively small size of the transaction, which limits Ebix's downside risk;

the terms of the merger agreement, including Ebix's right to receive a termination fee of $3.5 million if ADAM terminates the merger agreement in order to accept a superior proposal;

the challenges and costs of integrating ADAM's business into Ebix in light of Ebix's ongoing integration of its other recent acquisitions;

the potential for diversion of management and employee attention from other strategic priorities and for increased employee attrition both before and after the closing of the merger, and the potential effect on Ebix's business and relations with customers and suppliers;

the fees and expenses associated with completing the merger; and the risk that anticipated cost savings will not be achieved.

The foregoing discussion of the factors considered by Ebix's board of directors is not intended to be exhaustive but summarizes the material factors and risks considered by Ebix's board of directors in making its determination to approve the merger agreement and the merger. In view of the wide variety of factors considered in connection with its evaluation of the merger and the complexity of these matters, the Ebix board of directors did not find it useful to, and did not attempt to, quantify, rank, or otherwise assign relative weights to these factors. In considering the factors described above, individual members of the Ebix board of directors may have given different weight to different factors.

In addition, the Ebix board of directors did not undertake to make any specific determination as to whether any particular factor, or any aspect of any particular factor, was favorable or unfavorable to its ultimate determination, but rather conducted an overall analysis of the factors described above, including discussions with the Ebix management team and Ebix's outside legal and financial advisors. Based on the totality of the information presented, Ebix's board of directors determined that Ebix should proceed with the merger and the merger agreement.

Table of ContentsInterests of ADAM's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger

In considering the recommendation of the ADAM board of directors in favor of the merger, you should be aware that there are provisions in the merger agreement and other existing agreements that will result in certain benefits to ADAM's directors and executive officers that are not available to shareholders generally. The ADAM board of directors was aware of, and considered the interests of, ADAM's directors and executive officers and the potential conflicts arising from such interests in its deliberations of the merits of the merger and in approving the merger agreement and the merger. Other than the provisions of the merger agreement the employment agreement amendment described below, the arrangements described below were in existence before the discussions about the merger began. Shareholders should take these benefits into account in deciding whether to vote for approval of the merger agreement.

Stock Options and Restricted Stock Awards

Upon the completion of the merger, each ADAM outstanding stock option will vest in its entirety and will be cancelled and converted into a right to receive from Ebix an amount in cash, without interest, equal to the excess, if any, of $5.95 above the per share exercise price of such stock option multiplied by the number of shares subject to such stock option, subject to applicable tax withholding. All outstanding restricted stock awards will vest in their entirety on an accelerated basis contingent upon and immediately prior to the completion of the merger, subject to applicable tax withholding, and will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock, subject to the adjustments described in the merger agreement.

Change of Control and Severance Benefits

In connection with the appointment of Mark Adams as President and Chief Executive Officer on January 4, 2010, ADAM entered into a second amended and restated employment agreement with Mr. Adams dated February 24, 2010. The employment agreement provided for severance following a change in control in the event Mr. Adams's employment is terminated without cause or by him for good reason within twelve months following of a change in control. Pursuant to the amended and restated employment agreement, Mr. Adams is entitled to a lump sum cash payment in an amount equal to 200% of his annual base salary in effect on the date of termination, an amount equal to 12 months of COBRA premiums in an amount sufficient to continue the same medical coverage carried while an employee of ADAM and a prorated bonus for the year in which the termination occurs. On July 13, 2010, Mr. Adams's employment agreement was amended to also provide for severance following a change of control if Mr. Adams resigns without good reason.

Under Mr. Adams's employment agreement, with cause means the termination of employment resulting from: (i) any act or omission which constitutes a material breach by Mr. Adams of his obligations under the agreement; (ii) the commission by Mr. Adams of a felony or any crime involving moral turpitude, fraud, or dishonesty; (iii) the perpetration by Mr. Adams of any intentional, material act of dishonesty whether relating to ADAM, ADAM's employees or otherwise; (iv) the use of illegal drugs by the Mr. Adams, or drunkenness or substance abuse by the Mr. Adams that interferes with the performance of his duties; (v) gross incompetence on the part of Mr. Adams in the performance of his duties; (vi) the issuance of a final consent decree, cease and desist, or similar order against Mr. Adams by a regulatory agency relating to violations or alleged violations of any federal or state law or regulation governing the conduct of the business of ADAM; or (vii) any other act or omission (other than an act or omission resulting from the exercise by Mr. Adams of good faith business judgment) that materially impairs the financial condition or business reputation of ADAM. Without cause means the termination of employment for any reason other than those justifying termination with cause.

Under Mr. Adams's employment agreement, with good reason means Mr. Adams's termination of his employment with ADAM as a result of: (i) the assignment to Mr. Adams of any duties materially and adversely inconsistent with Mr. Adams's position as specified in the employment agreement (or such other position to which he may be promoted), including status, offices, responsibilities, or persons to whom Mr. Adams reports as contemplated in the employment agreement, or any other action by ADAM which results in a material adverse change in such position, status, offices, titles, or responsibilities; or (ii) any material breach of the employment agreement by ADAM, including the failure to pay Mr. Adams on a timely basis any material amounts to which he is entitled under the employment agreement. Mr. Adams must provide notice to ADAM of the existence of a condition constituting good reason within 90 days of the initial existence of the condition, and upon such notice,

Table of Contents

ADAM shall have a period of 30 days during which it may remedy the condition and not be required to pay the applicable severance.

On November 4, 2009, ADAM entered into an employment agreement with Christopher Joe as Director of Finance. Pursuant to this employment agreement, in the event Mr. Joe's employment is terminated without cause or by him for good reason or without good reason within 12 months following of a change in control, Mr. Joe is entitled to a lump sum cash payment in an amount equal to 50% of his annual base salary in effect on the date of termination, an amount representing his target bonus amount as set forth in the employment agreement, an amount equal to 12 months of COBRA premiums in an amount sufficient to continue the same medical coverage carried while an employee of ADAM and a prorated bonus for the year in which the termination occurs.

Under Mr. Joe's employment agreement, with cause means the termination of employment resulting from: (i) any act or omission which constitutes a material breach by Mr. Joe of his obligations under the agreement; (ii) the commission by Mr. Joe of a felony or any crime involving moral turpitude, fraud or dishonesty; (iii) the perpetration by Mr. Joe of any intentional, material act of dishonesty whether relating to ADAM, ADAM's employees or otherwise; (iv) the use of illegal drugs by the Mr. Joe, or drunkenness or substance abuse by the Mr. Joe which interferes with the performance of his duties; (v) gross incompetence on the part of Mr. Joe in the performance of his duties; (vi) the issuance of a final consent decree, cease and desist or similar order against Mr. Joe by a regulatory agency relating to violations or alleged violations of any federal or state law or regulation governing the conduct of the business of ADAM; or (vii) any other act or omission (other than an act or omission resulting from the exercise by Mr. Joe of good faith business judgment) which materially impairs the financial condition or business reputation of ADAM.

Without cause means the termination of employment for any reason other than those justifying termination with cause.

Under Mr. Joe's employment agreement, with good reason means Mr. Joe's termination of his employment with ADAM as a result of: (i) the assignment to Mr. Joe of any duties materially and adversely inconsistent with Mr. Joe's position as specified in the employment agreement (or such other position to which he may be promoted), including status, offices, responsibilities or persons to whom Mr. Joe reports as contemplated in the employment agreement, or any other action by ADAM which results in a material adverse change in such position, status, offices, titles, or responsibilities; or (ii) any material breach of the employment agreement by ADAM, including the failure to pay Mr. Joe on a timely basis any material amounts to which he is entitled under the employment agreement. Mr. Joe must provide notice to ADAM of the existence of a condition constituting good reason within 90 days of the initial existence of the condition, and upon such notice, ADAM shall have a period of 30 days during which it may remedy the condition and not be required to pay the applicable severance.

The merger will constitute a change of control transaction as defined in the employment agreements described above and Ebix has agreed that the change in duties for Mr. Adams and Mr. Joe following the merger will constitute good reason under those employment agreements.

Indemnification and Insurance

The merger agreement provides that for six years after the effective time of the merger (i) Ebix and Merger Sub will honor all rights to indemnification for acts or omissions prior to the effective time of the merger existing in favor of ADAM directors or officers as provided in ADAM organizational documents and any indemnification agreements with such individuals and (ii) indemnify, defend and hold harmless present and former officers and directors of ADAM (and those individuals serving as a director or officer of another entity at the request of ADAM) against all losses (including reimbursement of legal expenses) arising out of their actions as an officer or director occurring at or prior to the effective time of the merger (including in connection with the negotiation of the merger). The merger agreement also provides that Ebix will cause the surviving corporation to purchase six-year officers and directors liability insurance policies on terms and conditions no less favorable than ADAM's existing directors and officers liability insurance, subject to a premium cap of 200% of the annual premium paid by ADAM for its existing insurance. Ebix and the surviving corporation are obligated to maintain such policies in full force and effect and continue to honor their respective obligations thereunder for the full term thereof.

Ebix Stock Ownership

ADAM's directors and executive officers do not own any shares of Ebix common stock.

Accounting Treatment

The merger will be accounted for as an acquisition of ADAM by Ebix under the purchase method of accounting of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. Under the purchase method of accounting, the assets and liabilities of the acquired company are, as of completion of the merger, recorded at their respective fair values and added to those of the reporting public issuer, including an amount for goodwill representing the difference between the purchase price and the fair value of the identifiable tangible and intangible net assets. Financial statements of Ebix issued after the merger will include only the operations of ADAM after the merger and will not be restated retroactively to reflect the historical financial position or results of operations of ADAM.

Restrictions on Sales of Shares of Ebix Common Stock Received in the Merger

Ebix shares of common stock issued in the merger will not be subject to any restrictions on transfer arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), except for Ebix shares issued to any ADAM shareholder who may be deemed to be an affiliate of Ebix after completion of the merger. Former ADAM shareholders who were affiliates of ADAM at the time of the ADAM special meeting and who are not affiliates of Ebix after the completion of the merger may sell their Ebix shares at any time. Former ADAM shareholders who are or become affiliates of Ebix after completion of the merger will remain or be subject to the volume and sale limitations of Rule 144 under the Securities Act until they are no longer affiliates of Ebix. This Proxy Statement does not cover resales of Ebix common stock received by any person upon completion of the merger, and no person is authorized to make any use of this Proxy Statement in connection with any resale.

No Appraisal Rights

Under Section 14-2-1302 of the General Business Corporation Code of the State of Georgia, the holders of ADAM common stock will not have appraisal rights in connection with the merger as Ebix is listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market and holders of ADAM common stock are not being required to receive any consideration from Ebix in the form of cash.

Regulatory Matters

Completion of the merger is conditioned upon, among other things, the receipt of antitrust approval under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvement Act of 1976, as amended (referred to herein as HSR). Ebix and ADAM have each agreed to use their reasonable best efforts to take all actions necessary, proper, or advisable and to satisfy all conditions to the merger in the most expeditious manner practicable, including obtaining approval under HSR. Ebix and ADAM filed their respective HSR Notifications on October 8, 2010. On October 21, 2010, the FTC granted early termination of the waiting period under the HSR applicable to the merger. However, the foregoing does not require Ebix to consent, offer, or agree any sale, license, assignment, transfer, divestiture, or disposal of any assets, business, or portion of the business of Ebix, or conduct, restrict, operate, invest, or otherwise change the assets, business, or portion of business of Ebix or impose any restriction, requirement, or limitation on the operation of the business, or portion of the business of Ebix. In addition, either party can terminate the merger agreement if the merger has not been effected by March 31, 2011, so long as such party's breach did not cause the failure. In such case, no termination fee is due. Each of Ebix and ADAM has the right to terminate the merger agreement if a governmental entity issues an order, decree or ruling or takes any other nonappealable final action permanently restraining, enjoining, or otherwise prohibiting the merger. In this case, the terminating party would not be required to pay a termination fee.

Listing of Ebix Common Stock on the NASDAQ Stock Market; Delisting and Deregistration of ADAM Common Stock

Ebix has agreed that prior to the completion of the merger, it will cause the shares of Ebix common stock to be issued in the merger and reserved for issuance under any assumed equity awards to be approved for listing on the NASDAQ Stock Market. Such approval is a condition to the completion of the merger. If the merger is completed, ADAM common stock will cease to be listed on the NASDAQ Stock Market and its shares will be deregistered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act).

MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES

The following discussion summarizes the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger to holders of ADAM common stock.

This discussion addresses only those ADAM shareholders that hold their ADAM common stock as a capital asset and does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to a holder of ADAM common stock in light of that shareholder's particular circumstances or to a shareholder subject to special rules, such as:

a shareholder that is not a citizen or resident of the United States;

a financial institution or insurance company;

a mutual fund;

a tax-exempt organization;

a partnership or other pass-through entity (or a holder that holds its ADAM common stock through a partnership or other pass-through entity);

persons who received their ADAM common stock in connection with stock option or stock purchase plans or in other compensatory transactions;

a dealer or broker in securities or foreign currencies;

a trader in securities that elects to apply a mark-to-market method of accounting;

a shareholder that holds ADAM common stock as part of a hedge, appreciated financial position, straddle, conversion, or other risk reduction transaction; or a shareholder that acquired ADAM common stock pursuant to the exercise of options or similar derivative securities or otherwise as compensation.

If a partnership (or other entity treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes) holds ADAM common stock, the tax treatment of a partner in such partnership generally will depend on the status of the partners and the activities of the partnership. A partner in a partnership holding ADAM common stock should consult its tax advisor.

The following discussion is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service, referred to as the IRS. It is based on the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, referred to as the Code, applicable Treasury regulations, administrative interpretations and court decisions, each as in effect as of the date of this document and all of which are subject to change, possibly with retroactive effect. The tax consequences under U.S. state and local and foreign laws and U.S. federal laws other than U.S. federal income tax laws are not addressed.

Holders of ADAM common stock are strongly urged to consult their tax advisors as to the specific tax consequences to them of the merger, including the applicability and effect of U.S. federal, state, and local and foreign income and other tax laws in light of their particular circumstances.

General

Ebix and ADAM have structured the merger to qualify as a reorganization for U.S. federal income tax purposes and have each agreed to use their reasonable best efforts to cause the merger to qualify as a Reorganization for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Ebix and ADAM will receive an opinion from Carlton Fields, P.A. to the effect that, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, the merger will constitute a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368 of the Code. This opinion relies on assumptions, including assumptions regarding the absences of changes in existing facts and law and the completion of the merger in the manner contemplated by the merger agreement, and representations and covenants made by Ebix and ADAM, including those contained in certificates of officers of Ebix and ADAM.

The accuracy of those representations, covenants, or assumptions may affect the conclusions set forth in the opinion, in which case the tax consequences of the merger could differ from those discussed here. Opinions of counsel neither bind the IRS nor preclude the IRS from adopting a contrary position. No ruling has been or will be sought from the IRS on the tax consequences of the merger.

Table of Contents

U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences to ADAM Shareholders

The material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger will be as follows:

A holder of ADAM common stock will not recognize gain or loss upon the exchange of that shareholder's ADAM common stock for Ebix common stock in the merger, except that gain or loss will be recognized on the receipt of cash instead of a fractional share of Ebix common stock. If a holder of ADAM common stock receives cash instead of a fractional share of Ebix common stock, the holder will be required to recognize gain or loss, measured by the difference between the amount of cash received and the portion of the tax basis of that holder's ADAM common stock allocable to that fractional share of Ebix common stock. This gain or loss will be a capital gain or loss and will be a long-term capital gain or loss if the holding period for the ADAM common stock exchanged for the fractional share of Ebix common stock is more than one year at the completion of the merger.

A holder of ADAM common stock will have a tax basis in the Ebix common stock received in the merger equal to (1) the tax basis of the ADAM common stock surrendered by that holder in the merger, reduced by (2) any tax basis of the ADAM common stock surrendered that is allocable to a fractional share of Ebix common stock for which cash is received.

The holding period for the Ebix common stock received in exchange for shares of ADAM common stock in the merger will include the holding period for the shares of ADAM common stock surrendered in the merger, based on the assumption that the ADAM common stock is held as a capital asset.

In the case of a holder of ADAM common stock that holds shares of ADAM common stock with differing tax bases and/or holding periods, the preceding rules must be applied to each identifiable block of ADAM common stock. For this purpose, a block consists of shares acquired at the same cost in a single transaction.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

A holder of ADAM common stock may be subject to information reporting and backup withholding in connection with any cash payments received instead of a fractional share of Ebix common stock, unless such holder provides proof of an applicable exemption or a correct taxpayer identification number, and otherwise complies with the applicable requirements of the backup withholding rules. The amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules are not an additional tax and may be refunded, or credited against the holder's U.S. federal income tax liability, provided the required information is timely furnished to the Internal Revenue Service.

Reporting Requirements

A significant holder of ADAM stock will be required to retain records pertaining to the merger and will be required to file with such holder's U.S. federal income tax return for the year in which the merger takes place a statement setting forth facts relating to the merger, including:

the date of the merger;

the names and employer identification numbers of all parties to the merger;

the cost or other basis of the shares of the ADAM common stock transferred in the exchange; and the fair market value of the ADAM common stock, immediately before the exchange, and the amount of cash received in the exchange instead of receiving a fractional share.

A significant holder is a ADAM shareholder that receives Ebix common stock in exchange for such holder's ADAM common stock if, immediately prior to the exchange, such holder:

owned at least five percent (by vote or value) of the total outstanding stock of ADAM; or owned securities in ADAM with a basis of $1,000,000 or more.

This discussion is intended to provide only a general summary of the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger, and is not a complete analysis or description of all potential U.S. federal income tax consequences of the merger. This discussion does not address tax consequences that may vary with, or are contingent on, individual circumstances. In addition, it does not address any non-income tax or any foreign, state or local tax consequences of the merger. Accordingly, ADAM strongly urges each holder of ADAM common stock to consult his or her tax advisor to determine the particular U.S. federal, state, or local or foreign income or other tax consequences to that shareholder of the merger.

Table of ContentsTHE MERGER AGREEMENT

The following discussion summarizes material provisions of the Agreement and Plan of Merger a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this Proxy Statement and is incorporated by reference herein. The rights and obligations of the parties are governed by the express terms and conditions of the merger agreement and not by this summary. This summary is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the complete text of the merger agreement. We urge you to read the merger agreement carefully in its entirety, as well as this Proxy Statement, before making any decisions regarding the merger.

*The representations and warranties described below and included in the merger agreement were made by each of Ebix (and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc.) and ADAM to each other. The assertions embodied in those representations and warranties were made solely for purposes of the merger agreement and may be subject to important qualifications and limitations agreed to by the parties in connection with negotiating its terms. Moreover, the representations and warranties may be subject to a contractual standard of materiality that may be different from what may be viewed as material to shareholders, or may have been used for the purpose of allocating risk between Ebix (and its wholly-owned subsidiary, Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc.). The merger agreement is described in this Proxy Statement and included as Annex A only to provide you with information regarding its terms and conditions. The representations and warranties in the merger agreement and the description of them in this Proxy Statement should be read in conjunction with the other information provided elsewhere in this Proxy Statement as well as in conjunction with the documents incorporated by reference into this Proxy Statement for information regarding such entities and their respective businesses. See Where You Can Find More Information beginning on page 75 of this Proxy Statement.*

The Merger

Subject to the terms and conditions of the merger agreement and in accordance with Georgia law, Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc., a Georgia corporation and wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix, will merge with and into ADAM, and ADAM will survive the merger as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ebix.

Effective Time of the Merger

The merger will become effective upon the filing of a certificate of merger with the Secretary of State of the State of Georgia or at such later time as may be specified in the certificate of merger, with the consent of Ebix and ADAM. The filing of the certificate of merger will occur no later than three business days after the conditions to completion of the merger have been satisfied or waived.

Consideration to be Received in the Merger

At the effective time of the merger, each issued and outstanding share of ADAM common stock will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock, which we refer to as the exchange ratio. The exchange ratio is subject to adjustment if ADAM fails to pay in full at or prior to the closing out of its cash on hand any of the following items (each, an adjustment event):

its bank debt;

any expenses of its financial advisor in excess of $650,000; or

ADAM's legal expenses related to the preparation of this Proxy Statement.

As of the date of this Proxy Statement/Prospectus, based on ADAM's current cash on hand and expected earnings before closing, ADAM does not expect that an adjustment event will occur. If there is an adjustment event, then the shares of Ebix common stock to be received upon the exchange of one share of ADAM common stock shall equal a ratio the numerator of which is $65,350,000 minus (a) $5,071,000 for ADAM options and minus (b) $947,000 for ADAM's outstanding warrant (proportionately reduced for any option or warrant exercises, forfeitures or cancellations), minus (c) the amounts in the bullet list above to the extent not paid by ADAM at or prior to the closing, divided by $19.06, which was the agreed upon value of Ebix common stock for purposes of the merger agreement, and the denominator of which is the number of issued and outstanding shares of ADAM common stock to be converted.

Holders of ADAM common stock will not receive any fractional shares of Ebix common stock in the merger. Instead, the total number of Ebix shares that each holder of ADAM common stock will receive in the merger will be rounded down to the nearest whole number and Ebix will pay cash for any resulting fractional share that a ADAM shareholder otherwise would be entitled to receive. The exchange agent will compile all of the fractional shares of Ebix common stock and sell them as whole shares at the then prevailing price on the NASDAQ Stock Market. Upon completion of the sale of all such shares, the exchange agent will distribute the proceeds pro rata to the individuals that were to receive fractional shares.

Example (assuming no adjustment to the exchange ratio): If you currently own 25 shares of ADAM common stock, absent the treatment of the fractional shares described above, you would be entitled to receive (25 x 0.3122) or 7.805 shares of Ebix common stock. Since fractional shares will not be issued, you will be entitled to 7 shares of Ebix common stock. The remaining 0.805 shares will be grouped with other fractional shares and sold on the NASDAQ Stock Market as whole shares. You will then receive a check equal to your pro rata portion of the total proceeds of such sale.

Treatment of ADAM Options

At the effective time of the merger, each option to purchase shares of ADAM common stock that is outstanding and vested or exercisable immediately prior to the date the merger becomes effective will vest in its entirety and will be simultaneously canceled and converted into the right to receive from Ebix and the surviving corporation an amount in cash, without interest, equal to the aggregate number of ADAM shares of common stock subject to the option multiplied by the excess, if any, of $5.95 above the per share exercise price under the option, subject to applicable tax withholding. Such payments will be made by the surviving corporation after the merger.

ADAM Restricted Stock Awards

At the effective time of the merger, all restricted stock awards outstanding under ADAM's 1992 Stock Option Plan and 2002 Stock Incentive Plan shall vest in their entirety on an accelerated basis immediately prior to the consummation of the merger. All outstanding restricted stock awards will vest in their entirety on an accelerated basis contingent upon and immediately prior to the completion of the merger, subject to applicable tax withholding, and will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares of Ebix common stock, subject to the adjustments described in the merger agreement.

Other Adjustments to the Exchange Ratio

In addition to the adjustments explained in The Merger Agreement Consideration to be Received in the Merger above, the exchange ratio will be appropriately adjusted to reflect fully the effect of any reclassification, stock split (including a reverse stock split) or combination, exchange, merger consolidation or readjustment of shares, or any stock dividend or stock distribution, or any similar transaction or event with respect to Ebix common stock or ADAM common stock prior to the effective time of the merger.

Procedures for Exchange of Certificates

Ebix will appoint an exchange agent reasonably acceptable to ADAM for the purpose of exchanging certificates and book-entry shares representing shares of ADAM's common stock. Ebix shall pay all costs, fees, and expenses incurred in connection with the retention and engagement of the exchange agent. As soon as reasonably practical following the effective time of the merger, the exchange agent will mail transmittal materials to each holder of record of shares of ADAM's common stock, advising such holders of the procedure for surrendering their share certificates, or in the case of book-entry shares, the surrender of such shares, to the exchange agent.

Each holder of a share of ADAM's common stock that has been converted into a right to receive the merger consideration will receive the merger consideration upon surrender to the exchange agent of such holder's common stock certificate or book-entry share, together with a letter of transmittal covering such shares and such other documents as the exchange agent may reasonably require. All shares of Ebix common stock issued in exchange for shares of ADAM common stock will be issued in uncertificated book-entry form.

After the effective time of the merger, each certificate or book-entry share that previously represented shares of ADAM's common stock will represent for all purposes only the right to receive the applicable merger consideration as described on page 47 above under "The Merger Agreement - Consideration to be Received in the Merger," including cash for any fractional shares of Ebix's common stock. In addition, ADAM will not register any transfers of shares of ADAM's common stock after the effective time of the merger.

ADAM shareholders will not be paid any dividends or other distributions made by Ebix after the effective time of the merger, until such shareholders surrender their ADAM stock certificates or book-entry shares to the exchange agent.

Holders of ADAM's common stock should not send in their ADAM stock certificates or documents evidencing their surrender of ADAM book-entry shares until they receive, complete and submit a signed letter of transmittal sent by the exchange agent with instructions for the surrender of ADAM common stock.

ADAM and Ebix are not liable to holders of shares of ADAM's common stock for any amount delivered to a public official under applicable abandoned property, escheat, or similar laws.

Representations and Warranties

The merger agreement contains a number of representations and warranties made by ADAM and Ebix (including its wholly-owned subsidiary Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc.) to each other. ADAM agreed to cease immediately and cause to be terminated, and not authorize or knowingly permit any of its representatives to continue, any and all existing activities, discussions or negotiations, if any, with any third party conducted prior to the date of the merger agreement with respect to any takeover proposal and to use its reasonable best efforts to cause any such third party (or its agents or advisors) in possession of non-public information in respect of ADAM that was furnished by or on behalf of ADAM to return or destroy (and confirm destruction of) all such information.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, at any time before the date that the vote required to be obtained from ADAM's shareholders in connection with the merger has been obtained, and so long as the ADAM board of directors has delivered to Ebix written notice as required by the merger agreement related to the following, ADAM and its board of directors may, in each case referred to below, only if the ADAM board of directors determines in good faith, after consultation with outside legal counsel and financial advisors, that the failure to take such action could reasonably be expected to cause the ADAM board of directors to be in breach of its fiduciary duties under applicable law:

thereafter furnish to such third party non-public information relating to ADAM pursuant to an executed confidentiality agreement that contains provisions no less favorable than those in the confidentiality agreement between Ebix and ADAM (a copy of which ADAM is to promptly, in all events within twenty-four (24) hours, provide to Ebix);

following receipt of and on account of a superior proposal, change its recommendation that ADAM's shareholders approve the merger; and/or

Before the ADAM board of directors may make any change in its recommendation or ADAM may enter into any agreement in principle, letter of intent, term sheet, acquisition agreement, merger agreement, option agreement, joint venture agreement, partnership agreement, or other contract relating to any takeover proposal, ADAM must follow certain notice provisions and engage in good faith negotiations with Ebix to amend the merger agreement in such a way as to make the acquisition proposal no longer a superior proposal or obviate the need for a change of recommendation, as applicable.

The term takeover proposal means a proposal or offer from, or indication of interest in making a proposal or offer by, any person (other than Ebix and its subsidiaries, including Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc.) relating to any:

direct or indirect acquisition of assets of ADAM (including any voting equity interests of its subsidiaries, but excluding sales of assets in the ordinary course of business) equal to fifteen percent (15%) or more of the fair market value of the ADAM's consolidated assets or to which fifteen percent (15%) or more of the Company's net revenues or net income on a consolidated basis are attributable; direct or indirect acquisition of fifteen percent (15%) or more of the voting equity interests of ADAM; tender offer or exchange offer that if consummated would result in any person beneficially owning fifteen percent (15%) or more of the voting equity interests of ADAM;

merger, consolidation, other business combination or similar transaction involving ADAM, pursuant to which such person would own fifteen percent (15%) or more of the consolidated assets, net revenues or net income of ADAM, taken as a whole; or liquidation or dissolution (or the adoption of a plan of liquidation or dissolution) of ADAM or the declaration or payment of an extraordinary dividend (whether in cash or other property) by ADAM.

The term superior proposal means a bona fide written takeover proposal involving the direct or indirect acquisition pursuant to a tender offer, exchange offer, merger, consolidation, or other business combination, of all or substantially all of ADAM's consolidated assets or a majority of ADAM's common stock that the ADAM board of directors determines in good faith (after consultation with outside legal counsel and ADAM's financial advisor) is more favorable from a financial point of view to ADAM's shareholders than the merger, taking into account all financial considerations, the identity of the third party making such takeover proposal, the anticipated timing, required conditions (including any financing condition or the reliability of any debt or equity funding commitments) and prospects for completion of such takeover proposal, the other terms and conditions of such takeover proposal, and the implications thereof on ADAM, including relevant legal, regulatory, and other aspects of such takeover proposal deemed relevant by the board of directors, and any revisions to the terms of merger agreement proposed by Ebix in response to the notices required by the merger agreement.

The merger agreement also provides that ADAM must promptly notify Ebix in writing (but in no event later than twenty-four (24) hours) after it obtains knowledge of the receipt by ADAM of any takeover proposal, any inquiry that would reasonably be expected to lead to a takeover proposal, any request for non-public information relating to ADAM or for access to the business, properties, assets, books, or records of ADAM by any third party. Thereafter, ADAM must keep Ebix fully informed, on a current basis, of the status and material terms of any such takeover proposal, indication or request, including any material amendments or proposed amendments as to price and other material terms thereof.

Termination

Generally, the merger agreement may be terminated and the merger may be abandoned at any time prior to the completion of the merger (including after shareholder approval, except where expressly noted):

Anti-Takeover Provisions

The Delaware General Corporation Law (the "DGCL"), the Ebix amended and restated certificate of incorporation, and amended and restated bylaws contain provisions that could discourage or make more difficult a change in control of Ebix, including an acquisition of Ebix by means of a tender offer, an acquisition of Ebix by means of a proxy contest and removal of Ebix's incumbent officers and directors, without the support of the board of directors of Ebix. A summary of these provisions follows.

Shareholder Meetings

Under the Ebix amended and restated bylaws, the Ebix board of directors or a committee of the Ebix board of directors duly designated by the board of directors to call a meeting and holders of not less than ten percent of common stock able to cast votes at a special meeting may call special meetings of shareholders, and any business conducted at any special meeting will be limited to the purpose or purposes specified in the order calling for the special meeting.

Elimination of Shareholder Action by Written Consent

Ebix's amended and restated certificate of incorporation allows shareholder action to be taken not only at an annual or a special meeting of shareholders but also permits shareholders to act by written consent.

Undesignated Preferred Stock

Ebix's amended and restated certificate of incorporation authorizes the issuance of undesignated or blank check preferred stock. The authorization of blank check preferred stock makes it possible for the Ebix board of directors to issue preferred stock with voting or other rights or preferences that could impede the success of any attempt to change control of Ebix. These and other provisions may have the effect of deferring hostile takeovers or delaying changes in control or management of Ebix.

Amendment of Charter or Bylaw Provisions

The amendment of any of the above provisions would require approval by holders of at least a majority of the outstanding common stock.

Description of Ebix Preferred Stock

Preferred stock may be issued from time to time in one or more series, each of which is to have the voting powers, designation, preferences, and relative, participating, optional, or other special rights and qualifications, limitations, or restrictions thereof as are stated and expressed in the Ebix amended and restated certificate of incorporation, or in a resolution or resolutions providing for the issue of that series adopted by the board of directors.

The board of directors has the authority to create one or more series of preferred stock and, with respect to each series, to fix or alter as permitted by law, among other things:

the number of shares and the distinctive designation of the series;

the voting power, if any;

dividend rights;

In addition, Georgia law provides that a corporation may, before final disposition of a proceeding, advance to a director or officer funds to pay reasonable expenses incurred in defending any action if he or she delivers a written affirmation of his or her good faith belief that the applicable standard of conduct has been met and an undertaking by the director or officer to repay the amount advanced if it is ultimately determined that he or she is not entitled to indemnification.

ADAM's bylaws provide that it shall indemnify to the fullest extent permitted by the Georgia Business Corporation Code, and to the extent that applicable law from time to time in effect shall permit indemnification that is broader than provided in ADAM's bylaws, then to the maximum extent authorized by law, any individuals made a party to a proceeding (as defined in the Georgia Business Corporation Code) because he is or was a director or officer against liability (as defined in the Georgia Business Corporation Code), incurred in the proceeding, if he acted in a manner he believed in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Corporation and, in the case of any criminal proceeding, he had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful.

ADAM has the power to indemnify to the fullest extent permitted by the Georgia Business Corporation Code, any individual made a party to a proceeding (as defined in the Georgia Business Corporation Code) because he is or was an employee or agent of the Company against liability (as defined in the Georgia Business Corporation Code), incurred in the proceeding, if he acted in a manner he believed in good faith to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the Corporation, and, in the case of any criminal proceeding, he had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful.

ADAM shall pay for or reimburse the reasonable expenses incurred by a director or officer who is a party to a proceeding, and shall have the authority to pay for or reimburse the reasonable expenses of an employee or agent of ADAM who is a party to a proceeding, in each case in advance of the final disposition of a proceeding if:

(a) such person furnishes ADAM a written affirmation of his good faith belief that he has met the standard of conduct set forth in the paragraphs above, as applicable; and

(b) such person furnishes ADAM a written undertaking, executed personally on his behalf to repay any advances if it is ultimately determined that he is not entitled to indemnification.

The written undertaking required by paragraph (b) above must be an unlimited general obligation of such person but need not be secured and may be accepted without reference to financial ability to make repayment.

The right to indemnification and the payment of expenses incurred in defending a proceeding in advance of its final disposition conferred in ADAM's bylaws shall not be exclusive of any other right which any person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of the articles of incorporation, provision of these bylaws, agreement, vote of shareholders or disinterested directors or otherwise.

ARTICLE I
The Merger

Section 1.01 The Merger. On the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Agreement, and in accordance with the Georgia Business Corporation Code (the GBCC), at the Effective Time, (a) Merger Sub will merge with and into the Company (the Merger), and (b) the separate corporate existence of Merger Sub will cease and the Company will continue its corporate existence under the GBCC as the surviving corporation in the Merger (the Surviving Corporation).

Section 1.02 Closing. Upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein, the closing of the Merger (the Closing) will take place at 10:00 a.m., Eastern Time, as soon as practicable (and, in any event, within three (3) Business Days) after satisfaction or, to the extent permitted hereunder, waiver of all conditions to the Merger set forth in Article VI (other than those conditions that by their nature are to be satisfied at the Closing, but subject to the satisfaction or, to the extent permitted hereunder, waiver of all such conditions), unless this Agreement has been terminated pursuant to its terms or unless another time or date is agreed to in writing by the parties hereto. The Closing shall be held at the offices of Carlton Fields, P.A., Suite 3000, 1201 West Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Georgia 30309, unless another place is agreed to in writing by the parties hereto, and the actual date of the Closing is hereinafter referred to as the Closing Date .

Section 1.03 Effective Time. Subject to the provisions of this Agreement, at the Closing, the Company, Parent and Merger Sub will cause a certificate of merger (the Certificates of Merger) attached hereto substantially in the form of Exhibit A to be executed, acknowledged and filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Georgia in accordance with the relevant provisions of the GBCC. The Merger will become effective at such time as the Certificate of Merger has been duly filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Georgia or at such later date or time as may be agreed by the Company and Parent in writing and specified in the Certificate of Merger in accordance with the GBCC (the effective time of the Merger being hereinafter referred to as the Effective Time).

Section 1.05 Certificate of Incorporation; By-laws. At the Effective Time, (a) the amended and restated articles of incorporation of Merger Sub; and (b) the by-laws of Merger Sub as in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be the certificate of incorporation and by-laws of the Surviving Corporation until thereafter amended in accordance with the terms thereof, the certificate of incorporation of the Surviving Corporation or as provided by applicable Law.

Table of Contents

Section 1.06 Directors and Officers. The directors and officers of Merger Sub, in each case, immediately prior to the Effective Time shall, from and after the Effective Time, be the directors and officers, respectively, of the Surviving Corporation until their successors have been duly elected or appointed and qualified or until their earlier death, resignation or removal in accordance with the certificate of incorporation and by-laws of the Surviving Corporation.

ARTICLE II

Effect of the Merger on Capital Stock

Section 2.01 Treatment of Company Common Stock. At the Effective Time, the shares of Company Common Stock (each, a Share and collectively, the Shares) shall be treated as follows:

(a) Cancellation of Certain Company Common Stock. Each Share that is owned by the Company (as treasury stock or otherwise) or any of their respective direct or indirect wholly-owned Subsidiaries (collectively, the Cancelled Shares) will automatically be cancelled and retired and will cease to exist, and no consideration will be delivered in exchange therefor.

(b) Conversion of Company Common Stock. Each Share issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time (other than Shares to be cancelled and retired in accordance with Section 2.01(a)) will be converted into the right to receive a number of validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable shares of Parent Common Stock equal to the Exchange Ratio, as it may be adjusted pursuant to the terms of this Agreement (the Per Share Consideration , and together with cash in lieu of fractional shares pursuant to Section 2.02, the Merger Consideration). Upon such conversion at the Effective Time, all such shares of Company Common Stock shall no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be cancelled and retired and shall cease to exist, and each share of Company Common Stock shall thereafter only represent the right to receive the Merger Consideration and the right to receive any dividends or other distributions pursuant to Section 2.06, in each case without interest, upon the surrender of such share in accordance with the terms hereof.

(c) All Shares outstanding at the Effective Time and converted into Merger Consideration pursuant to this Section 2.01 shall no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be canceled and shall cease to exist as of the Effective Time, and each certificate previously representing any such Shares (a Certificate) and non-certificated Shares represented by a book entry (the Book-Entry Shares) shall thereafter represent the right to receive, with respect to each underlying Share, (i) the consideration to which such holder may be entitled pursuant to this Section 2.01, (ii) any dividends and other distributions in accordance with Section 2.03(g) and (iii) any cash to be paid in lieu of any fractional Parent Share in accordance with Section 2.02.

(d) If at any time during the period between the date of this Agreement and the Effective Time, any change in the outstanding capital stock of Parent or the outstanding Company Common Stock shall occur by reason of any reclassification, recapitalization, stock split (including a reverse stock split) or combination, exchange, merger, consolidation or readjustment of shares, or any stock dividend or stock distribution thereon with a record date during such period, or any similar transaction or event, the Merger Consideration, the Exchange Ratio and any other similarly dependent items described herein, as the case may be, shall be appropriately adjusted to provide the holders of Company Common Stock the same economic effect as contemplated by this Agreement prior to such event, and as so adjusted shall, from and after the date of such event, be the Merger Consideration, the Exchange Ratio or other dependent item, as applicable, subject to further adjustment in accordance with this sentence.

(e) At the Effective Time, each share of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, of Merger Sub issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be converted into and become one newly issued, fully paid and non-assessable share of common stock of the Surviving Corporation.

Section 2.02 No Fractional Shares.

(a) No fractional shares of Parent Common Stock shall be issued in the Merger, but in lieu thereof each holder of Shares otherwise entitled to a fractional share of Parent Common Stock will be entitled to receive, from the Exchange Agent in accordance with the provisions of this Section 2.02, a cash payment in lieu of such fractional share of Parent Common Stock representing such holder's proportionate interest, if any, in the proceeds from the sale by the Exchange Agent (reduced by any fees of the Exchange Agent attributable to such sale) in one or more transactions of shares of Parent Common Stock equal to the excess of (A) the aggregate number of shares of Parent Common Stock to be delivered to the Exchange Agent by Parent pursuant to Section 2.01 representing the Merger Consideration over (B) the aggregate number of whole shares of Parent Common Stock to be distributed to the holders of Shares pursuant to Section 2.01 (such excess being herein called the Excess Shares). The parties acknowledge that payment of this cash consideration in lieu of issuing fractional shares of Parent Common Stock was not separately bargained-for consideration but merely represents a mechanical rounding off for purposes of avoiding the expense and inconvenience to Parent that would otherwise be caused by the issuance of fractional shares of Parent Common Stock. As soon as practicable after the Effective Time, the Exchange Agent, as agent for the holders of Shares that would otherwise receive fractional shares of Parent Common Stock, shall sell the Excess Shares at the then prevailing prices on NASDAQ in the manner provided in the following paragraph.

(b) The sale of the Excess Shares by the Exchange Agent shall be executed on the NASDAQ and shall be executed in round lots to the extent reasonably practicable. Until the net proceeds of such sale or sales have been distributed to the holders of Shares, the Exchange Agent shall hold such net proceeds in trust for the holders of Shares that would otherwise receive fractional shares of Parent Common Stock (the Common Shares Trust). The Exchange Agent shall determine the portion of the Common Shares Trust to which each holder of Shares shall be entitled, if any, by multiplying the amount of the aggregate net proceeds comprising the Common Shares Trust (after the sale of all Excess Shares) by a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount of the fractional shares to which such former holder of Shares would otherwise be entitled and the denominator of which is the aggregate amount of fractional shares to which all former holders of Shares would otherwise be entitled.

Table of Contents

(c) As soon as reasonably practicable after the determination of the amount of cash, if any, to be paid to holders of Shares in lieu of any fractional shares of Parent Common Stock, the Exchange Agent shall make available such amounts to such former holders of Shares without interest, subject to and in accordance with Section 2.03.

Section 2.03 Exchange of Certificates.

(a) Prior to the Mailing Date, Parent shall appoint a commercial bank or trust company reasonably acceptable to the Company to act as agent (the Exchange Agent) for the purpose of exchanging Certificates and Book-Entry Shares for the Merger Consideration. Parent shall pay all costs, fees, and expenses incurred in connection with the retention and engagement of the Exchange Agent. In connection with the foregoing, Parent and Merger Sub shall enter into an exchange agent and nominee agreement with the Exchange Agent, in a form reasonably acceptable to the Company, setting forth the procedures to be used in accomplishing the deliveries and other actions contemplated by this Section 2.03.

(b) As soon as reasonably practicable after the Effective Time, Parent shall cause to be mailed to each record holder, as of the Effective Time, of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares (other than any holder which has previously and properly surrendered all of its Certificate(s) to the Exchange Agent in accordance with this Section 2.03) (each, an Electing Shareholder), a form of letter of transmittal (which shall be in customary form and shall specify that delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title to the Certificates shall pass, only upon proper delivery of the Certificates to the Exchange Agent or, in the case of Book-Entry Shares, upon adherence to the procedures set forth in the letter of transmittal) and instructions for use in effecting the surrender of the Certificates or, in the case of Book-Entry Shares, the surrender of such Shares in exchange for the Merger Consideration.

(c) Immediately prior to the Effective Time, Parent shall (1) issue and deposit or cause to be deposited with the Exchange Agent to be held in trust for the holders of Company Common Stock, evidence of shares in book-entry form in compliance with the Parent's certificate of incorporation and all applicable Laws, representing Parent Shares issuable pursuant to Section 2.01 in exchange for outstanding Company Common Stock, and to make any dividends or other distributions pursuant to Section 2.03(g), in each case, to be paid in respect of the Certificates and the Book-Entry Shares by holders thereof who have properly delivered to the Exchange Agent their Company Common Stock. Any cash and Parent Shares deposited with the Exchange Agent shall hereinafter be referred to as the Exchange Fund. The Exchange Agent shall, subject to the terms of the exchange agent and nominee agreement entered into with Parent, deliver the Merger Consideration contemplated to be issued pursuant to Section 2.01 and Section 2.02 out of the Exchange Fund. Until used for that purpose, the cash portion of the Exchange Fund shall be invested by the Exchange Agent in short-term obligations of or guaranteed by the United States of America or short-term obligations of an agency of the United States of America which are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States of America, in commercial paper obligations rated A-1 or P-1 or better by Moody's Investors Services Inc. or Standard & Poor's Corporation, or in deposit accounts, short-term certificates of deposit or banker's acceptances of, repurchase or reverse repurchase agreements with commercial banks which have capital, surplus and undivided profits aggregating more than $10 billion (based on the most recent financial statements of the banks which are then publicly available at the SEC or otherwise); provided, that no such investment or losses thereon shall affect the Merger Consideration payable to former holders of Company Common Stock entitled to receive such consideration or cash in lieu of fractional interests, and Parent shall promptly provide, or shall cause the Surviving Corporation to promptly provide, additional cash funds to the Exchange Agent for the benefit of the former holders of Company Common Stock in the amount of any such losses. The Exchange Fund shall not be used for any purpose other than the foregoing.

(d) Each holder of Shares that have been converted into a right to receive the Merger Consideration, upon surrender of a Certificate or Book-Entry Share to the Exchange Agent together with the letter of transmittal, duly executed and completed in accordance with the instructions thereto, and such other documents as may reasonably be required by the Exchange Agent, will be entitled to receive in exchange therefor (A) one or more Parent Shares which shall be in uncertificated book-entry form and which shall represent, in the aggregate, the whole number of Parent Shares that such holder has the right to receive pursuant to Section 2.01 (after taking into account all Shares then held by such holder) and (B) a check in the amount equal to any cash that such holder has the right to receive in lieu of any fractional Shares pursuant to Section 2.02 and any dividends and other distributions pursuant to Section 2.03(g), in each case, less any required withholding taxes. The Merger Consideration shall be paid as promptly as reasonably practicable after receipt by the Exchange Agent of the Certificate or Book-Entry Share and letter of transmittal in accordance with the foregoing. No interest shall be paid or accrued on any Merger Consideration, cash in lieu of fractional shares in accordance with Section 2.02 hereof or on any unpaid dividends and distributions payable to holders of Certificates or Book-Entry Shares. Section 5.07 Directors and Officers Indemnification and Insurance.

(a) Parent and Merger Sub agree that all rights to indemnification, advancement of expenses and exculpation by the Company now existing in favor of each Person who is now, or has been at any time prior to the date hereof or who becomes prior to the Effective Time an officer or director of the Company and each person who served as a director or officer of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, pension or other employee benefit plan or enterprise if such service was at the request of or for the benefit of the Company (each an Indemnified Party) as provided in the Company Charter Documents, in each case as in effect on the date of this Agreement, or pursuant to any other Contracts in effect on the date hereof and disclosed in Section 5.07, shall be assumed by the Surviving Corporation in the Merger, without further action, at the Effective Time and shall survive the Merger and shall remain in full force and effect in accordance with their terms for a period of six years, and, in the event that any proceeding is pending or asserted or any claim made during such period, until the final disposition of such proceeding or claim.

(b) For six years after the Effective Time, to the fullest extent permitted under applicable Law, Parent and the Surviving Corporation (the Indemnifying Parties) shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless each Indemnified Party against all losses, claims, damages, liabilities, fees, expenses, judgments and fines arising in whole or in part out of actions or omissions in their capacity as such occurring at or prior to the Effective Time (including in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement), and shall reimburse each Indemnified Party for any legal or other expenses reasonably incurred by such Indemnified Party in connection with investigating or defending any such losses, claims, damages, liabilities, fees, expenses, judgments and fines as such expenses are incurred, subject to the Surviving Corporation's receipt of an undertaking by such Indemnified Party to repay such legal and other fees and expenses paid in advance if it is ultimately determined in a final and non-appealable judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction that such Indemnified Party is not entitled to be indemnified under applicable Law; provided, however, that the Surviving Corporation will not be liable for any settlement effected without the Surviving Corporation's prior written consent (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed).

(c) The Surviving Corporation shall, and Parent shall cause the Surviving Corporation to, (i) maintain in effect for a period of six (6) years after the Effective Time, if available, the current policies of directors and officers liability insurance maintained by the Company immediately prior to the Effective Time (provided that the Surviving Corporation may substitute therefor policies, of at least the same coverage and amounts and containing terms and conditions that are not less advantageous to the directors and officers of the Company when compared to the insurance maintained by the Company as of the date hereof), or (ii) obtain as of the Effective Time tail insurance policies with a claims period of six (6) years from the Effective Time with at least the same coverage and amounts and containing terms and conditions that are not less advantageous to the directors and officers of the Company, in each case with respect to claims arising out of or relating to events which occurred before or at the Effective Time (including in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement); provided, however, that in no event will the Surviving Corporation be required to expend an annual premium for such coverage in excess of 200% of the last annual premium paid by the Company for such insurance prior to the date of this Agreement, which amount is set forth on Section 5.07(c) of the Company Disclosure Letter (the Maximum Premium). If such insurance coverage cannot be obtained at an annual premium equal to or less than the Maximum Premium, the Surviving Corporation will obtain, and Parent will cause the Surviving Corporation to obtain, that amount of directors and officers insurance (or tail coverage) obtainable for an annual premium equal to the Maximum Premium.

(e) In the event Parent, the Surviving Corporation or any of their respective successors or assigns (i) consolidates with or merges into any other Person and shall not be the continuing or surviving corporation or entity in such consolidation or merger or (ii) transfers all or substantially all of its properties and assets to any Person, then, and in either such case, proper provision shall be made so that the successors and assigns of Parent or the Surviving Corporation, as the case may be, shall assume all of the obligations set forth in this Section 5.07. The agreements and covenants contained herein shall not be deemed to be exclusive of any other rights to which any Indemnified Party is entitled, whether pursuant to Law, Contract or otherwise. Nothing in this Agreement is intended to, shall be construed to or shall release, waive or impair any rights to directors and officers insurance claims under any policy that is or has been in existence with respect to the Company or its officers, directors and employees, it being understood and agreed that the indemnification provided for in this Section 5.07 is not prior to, or in substitution for, any such claims under any such policies.

(f) Parent shall pay all reasonable expenses, including reasonable attorneys fees, that may be incurred by any Indemnified Party in enforcing the indemnity and other obligations provided in this Section 5.07.

(b) Without limiting the generality of the undertakings pursuant to Section 5.08(a) hereof, the parties hereto shall (i) provide or cause to be provided as promptly as reasonably practicable to Governmental Entities with jurisdiction over the Antitrust Laws (each such Governmental Entity, a Governmental Antitrust Authority) information and documents requested by any Governmental Antitrust Authority as necessary, proper or advisable to permit consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, including preparing and filing any notification and report form and related material required under the HSR Act and any additional consents and filings under any other Antitrust Laws as promptly as practicable following the date of this Agreement and thereafter to respond as promptly as practicable to any request for additional information or documentary material that may be made under the HSR Act or any other applicable Antitrust Laws and (ii) subject to the terms set forth in Section 5.08(c) hereof, use their reasonable best efforts to take such actions as are necessary or advisable to obtain prompt approval of the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement by any Governmental Entity or expiration of applicable waiting periods.

(c) In the event that any administrative or judicial action or proceeding is instituted (or threatened to be instituted) by a Governmental Entity or private party challenging the Merger or any other transaction contemplated by this Agreement, or any other agreement contemplated hereby, the Company shall cooperate in all respects with Parent and Merger Sub and shall use its reasonable best efforts to contest and resist any such action or proceeding and to have vacated, lifted, reversed or overturned any Order, whether temporary, preliminary or permanent, that is in effect and that prohibits, prevents or restricts consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Board of Directors
 A.D.A.M., Inc.
 10 10th Street, NE, Suite 525
 Atlanta, GA 30309
 Gentlemen:

We understand that Ebix, Inc. (Parent), A.D.A.M., Inc. (the Company), and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Parent (Merger Sub) propose to enter into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the Merger Agreement) whereby, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the Merger Agreement, Merger Sub will be merged with and into the Company and the Company will continue as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Parent (the Merger). The terms and conditions of the Merger will be set forth more fully in the Merger Agreement.

Pursuant to the proposed Merger Agreement, we understand that, at the Effective Time (as defined in the Merger Agreement), each issued and outstanding share of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company (Company Common Stock) (other than shares owned by the Company or any subsidiary of the Company) will be converted into the right to receive a number of shares of common stock, par value $.10 per share, of Parent (Parent Common Stock) equal to the Exchange Ratio (such number of shares so issuable, the Consideration). As defined in the Agreement, the Exchange Ratio equals 0.3122; provided, however, that the Exchange Ratio will be subject to adjustment under certain circumstances, as set forth in the Agreement.

You have asked us to advise you as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the holders of Company Common Stock of the Consideration to be received by such holders pursuant to the Merger Agreement.

For purposes of this opinion we have, among other things: (i) reviewed a draft of the Merger Agreement dated August 28, 2010; (ii) reviewed certain publicly available information concerning Parent and the Company and certain other relevant financial and operating data of Parent and the Company furnished to us by Parent and the Company; (iii) reviewed the historical stock prices and trading volumes of Parent Common Stock and Company Common Stock; (iv) held discussions with members of management of Parent and the Company concerning the current operations of and future business prospects for Parent and the Company and joint prospects for the combined companies, including the potential cost savings and other synergies that may be achieved by the combined companies; (v) reviewed certain financial forecasts with respect to Parent and the Company prepared by the respective managements of Parent and the Company and held discussions with members of such managements concerning those forecasts; (vi) compared certain publicly available financial data of companies whose securities are traded in the public markets and that we deemed relevant to similar data for the Company; (vii) reviewed the financial terms of certain other business combinations that we deemed generally relevant; and (viii) reviewed such other financial studies and analyses and considered such other matters as we have deemed appropriate.

In connection with our review and in arriving at our opinion, we have assumed and relied on the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial, accounting, legal, tax and other information discussed with or reviewed by us for purposes of this opinion and have neither attempted to verify independently nor assumed responsibility for verifying any of such information. We have assumed the accuracy of the representations and warranties contained in the Merger Agreement and all agreements related thereto. In addition, we have assumed, with your consent, that the Merger will qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 and will be consummated upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the draft Merger Agreement dated August 28, 2010 without waiver, modification or amendment of any material term, condition or agreement thereof and that, in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory or third party approvals, consents and releases for the Merger, no delay, limitation, restriction or condition will be imposed that would have an adverse effect on Parent, the Company or the contemplated benefits of the Merger. We have also assumed, with your consent, that no adjustment will be made to the initial Exchange Ratio of 0.3122 pursuant to the terms of the Agreement. With respect to the financial forecasts for Parent and the Company provided to us by management, we have assumed, with your consent and based upon discussions with such management, that such forecasts have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of such management, at the time of preparation, of the future operating and financial performance of Parent and the Company and the combined companies, and we have relied, without independent verification, upon the estimates of such management of the potential cost savings and other synergies, including the amount and timing thereof, that may be achieved as a result of the proposed Merger. We express no opinion with respect to any of such forecasts (including such cost savings and other synergies) or the assumptions on which they were based.

We have not assumed any responsibility for or made or obtained any independent evaluation, appraisal or physical inspection of the assets or liabilities of Parent or the Company nor have we evaluated the solvency or fair value of Parent or the Company under any state or federal laws relating to bankruptcy, insolvency or similar matters. Further, our opinion is based on economic, monetary and market conditions as they exist and can be evaluated as of the date hereof and we assume no responsibility to update or revise our opinion based upon circumstances and events occurring after the date hereof. Our opinion as expressed herein is limited to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the holders of Company Common Stock of the Consideration to be received by such holders pursuant to the Merger Agreement and we express no opinion as to the fairness of the Merger to the holders of any other class of securities, creditors or other constituencies of the Company, the Company's underlying business decision to engage in the Merger or the relative merits of the Merger as compared to other business strategies that might be available to the Company. In addition, we express no opinion with respect to the amount or nature or any other aspect of any compensation payable to or to be received by any officers, directors or employees of any party to the Merger, or any class of such persons, relative to the Consideration to be received pursuant to the Merger Agreement or with respect to the fairness of any such compensation. Our opinion does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder of the Company as to how such shareholder should vote with respect to the proposed Merger.

We are not expressing any opinion as to the value of Parent Common Stock when issued pursuant to the Merger or the prices at which Parent Common Stock or Company Common Stock will actually trade at any time.

We have been engaged by the Company as financial advisor in connection with the Merger and to render this opinion and will receive fees for our services, a portion of which is payable upon rendering this opinion and a substantial portion of which is contingent on the consummation of the Merger. In addition, the Company has agreed to indemnify us for certain liabilities arising out of our role as financial advisor and out of the rendering of this opinion and to reimburse us for certain of our out-of-pocket expenses. We have not in the past two years provided investment banking or financial advisory services to the Company unrelated to the proposed Merger and have not in the past two years provided investment banking or financial advisory services to Parent. We may in the future provide investment banking and financial advisory services to Parent, the Company and their respective affiliates unrelated to the proposed Merger, for which services we would expect to receive compensation. In the ordinary course of our business, we may actively trade the equity securities of Parent and the Company for our own account or for the accounts of customers or affiliates and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

This letter and the opinion expressed herein are provided at the request and for the information of the Board of Directors of the Company and may not be quoted or referred to or used for any purpose without our prior written consent, except that this letter may be disclosed in connection with any registration statement or proxy statement used in connection with the Merger provided that this letter is quoted in full in such registration statement or proxy statement. This opinion has been approved by a fairness committee of Needham & Company, LLC.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Consideration to be received by the holders of Company Common Stock pursuant to the Merger Agreement is fair, from a financial point of view, to such holders.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Needham & Company, LLC

BUSINESS

A.D.A.M., Inc. (Nasdaq: ADAM) primarily provides online information and technology solutions for employers, benefits brokers, healthcare organizations and online media companies. Our solutions are divided into two segments: Health information and health decision support tools that we market to healthcare organizations, online media companies, and Internet search and technology firms; and Benefits communication tools, that help employees evaluate, select and enroll in various benefit plans, and benefits broker tools that help advisors manage their business, market benefit related products and recommend benefit plans to employers. We market directly to employers with more than 500 employees and to benefits brokers and national agencies with employer clients.

Our solutions are delivered through a Software as a Service-type model (SaaS) that provides rapid and efficient deployment of our products and allows us to integrate third party products and services that we monetize across our network of clients and end users.

For the end users of our solutions consumers, employees, patients, and health plan members our products and services help people to better understand their health, and the benefits plans their employers provide, and make well informed decisions about their healthcare and benefits selections. In addition, we help people understand the relationship between their benefits and the costs associated with them. This connection between financial understanding and benefits choice and use of benefits is increasingly important as consumers are assuming more of the financial responsibilities for their healthcare. For our brokers and employer clients, our solutions provide the platform necessary to communicate, educate and enroll in benefits plans. For our healthcare and consumer health clients, our health information platform provides a broad portfolio of health reference products designed to promote services, build site traffic, and aid in the management of healthcare.

In addition to our health information and benefits solutions, we also market a series of anatomy and physiology products for the K-12 and undergraduate educational market.

Health Information Solutions

Our proprietary health information products are derived from what we believe to be one of the largest continually enhanced online consumer health reference information libraries available. The web-based information we provide includes information on diseases, symptoms, treatments, surgical procedures, specialty medicine and topics, and alternative medicine. Our content is enhanced with visuals, animations and other new media providing a graphically rich environment to promote learning retention and interactivity. In addition, we offer a number of health-related applications, such as health risk assessments and other decision support applications that are used by consumers to make informed healthcare decisions.

We market our health information solutions to a number of market segments, including:

Healthcare Providers hospitals and hospital systems that license our products for use on their consumer and patient-facing web sites. Our products help healthcare providers drive awareness to their services through site traffic, build brand credibility with expert health content offerings, and improve physician loyalty.

Health Plans health plans use our content as part of their overall care management strategies by making our information available to members through their member web sites. Our content helps plan members better understand their health, when to seek advice of a physician and how to live a healthier lifestyle. We also help improve members awareness and education on chronic disease conditions.

Online Media and Internet Search Providers national consumer portals, online media organizations and Internet technology companies use our content to build site traffic, enhance their brand and expand their page inventory for advertising.

Healthcare Information Technology electronic medical record providers and other healthcare technology companies integrate our content into their clinical applications for use in making context-relevant information available to patients and plan members.

We provide our clients with a flexible approach to the selection and deployment of our products. Through our proprietary content platform, our clients can choose to deploy the entire suite of our information or they can select those modules that are most relevant to their targeted business objectives. Our proprietary health information solutions can be grouped into four categories:

Health Reference a collection of more than 3,600 articles and thousands of medical images that span disease information, treatment, symptoms, injuries, and surgical procedures;

Interactive Decision Support a series of tools designed to attract and engage web site visitors while helping them better understand their healthcare needs. These products help consumers navigate to the right kind of information, assess their health, and educate themselves on health issues to make informed healthcare decisions;

Specialty Programs groupings of our health information designed to help healthcare organizations promote key areas of their business. We offer a number of specialty programs including pregnancy, heart health, chronic conditions, women's health and complementary and alternative medicine; and Marketing Technologies many of our clients want to optimize the number and quality of visitors to their organization's web site. We help healthcare organizations achieve a strong return on investment by providing tools and programs to assist in building and measuring site traffic associated with the deployment and use of our health information. These technologies include embedded XML metadata, web site analytics and other technologies, including mobile.

Our health information is written by our team of medical writers and editors and is subject to rigorous editorial and quality assurance standards. We use an extensive outside network of leading physicians and specialists from widely respected academic institutions and leading healthcare facilities who review and provide updates to our content on a regular basis. Our health information is also accredited by URAC, a leading third-party accreditation organization that ensures our content meets a high standard of accuracy. We are also a founding member of Hi-Ethics, a coalition of the most widely referenced health web sites and information providers committed to developing industry standards for the quality of consumer health information.

Broker and Employer Solutions

Our primary product for benefits brokers and employers is Benergy, a web-based portal for employees that communicates benefits and other company-sponsored information, improves benefits education and selection, automates benefits enrollment, manages healthcare financial accounts, such as Flexible Spending Accounts (FSA), and provides health content and decision support tools to aid in health education and awareness. The tools, information and services offered through Benergy automate and streamline many important human resource (HR) functions so that employers can optimize their time and reduce administrative costs while providing employees with a high level of access to pertinent benefits and health information. Benefits brokers consider Benergy to be an important part of their service offering to their employer clients. Brokers make available to their clients a Benergy site that is populated with that employer's specific benefits plan information. In many instances they manage the Benergy site on behalf of their employer client, providing a deeper level of client service.

Benergy is designed to address the needs of the small-to-mid-size employer (SME) market, which we consider to be those employers employing between 10 and 5,000 employees. Benergy is marketed to benefits brokers who are marketing to employers with typically less than 500 employees, and to employers with more than 500 employees directly through our team of direct sales executives. Brokers and employers enter into annual subscription agreements with us. The broker agreements typically are sold on a tiered, volume-based pricing scenario with minimum annual commitments. Agreements directly with employers are typically priced on a Per Employee Per Month (PEPM) basis. Our broker customer base encompasses a network of more than 300 benefits brokers throughout the United States.

Table of Contents

An important part of our Benergy system is automated, online benefits enrollment. With this application, which is integrated into Benergy, employees can enroll in their benefits plans quickly, easily and online with no paper forms. Once enrolled, employees are able to view their benefits elections and confirmation statements at any time. For the employer, our enrollment application reduces the amount of paperwork and time required by benefits personnel and improves the error rate by electronically feeding enrollment data directly to the carriers. Through the system's reporting capabilities, employers are able to manage and view enrollment statistics and other vital employee enrollment information at any time.

Because of the SaaS model we use for Benergy, other products and services that we may obtain from third parties can be efficiently integrated and made available through our Benergy system. Other products and services we currently offer include:

Tax-advantaged Health Accounts these include FSAs, Health Savings Accounts (HSA), Health Reimbursement Accounts (HRA) and Commuter Reimbursement Accounts (CRA); and COBRA Administrative Services comprehensive administration services for COBRA and for state benefits continuation requirements.

Broker Solutions

In addition to Benergy, we offer benefits brokers a comprehensive agency management system called AgencyWare. With AgencyWare, brokers can manage the entire employer client lifecycle, moving prospects through each phase of the sales process, sending requests for proposals (RFPs), preparing client presentations, managing client renewals and commissions, tracking customer service issues and organizing client data. We also offer brokers other tools that improve their communication with their respective clients:

Client Community a personalized portal that allows brokers to stay in touch with their clients at all times. Through Client Community, the broker can provide each employer 24/7 access to a variety of research tools, employee communications and other services. Client Community is also a two-way workspace where brokers and their clients can share messages and documents in a secure online environment. Directing all of the brokers' clients to a single online space allows brokers to equip their clients' HR staff with research tools along with information and news about the brokers' services.

Advisor Tools a collection of tools that provide brokers access to research and regulatory information, benchmark reporting, broker-to-broker messaging, regulatory reference materials, and other business tools.

Education

Our online subscription applications include A.D.A.M. Interactive Anatomy, our primary product for the undergraduate educational market, Interactive Physiology, also sold to the undergraduate market and which we co-market with one of our publisher partners, and a series of subscription products designed for the K-12 market. These applications are hosted on our own servers and delivered via the internet. We sell through our web site, direct sales force and selected international resellers. The development of our digital content is produced with internal and external resources.

Market Opportunity

We believe the market opportunity for our products and services is significant. Healthcare and benefits choices are becoming increasingly more complex. Consumers are assuming more of the financial responsibilities and healthcare decision-making as employers continue to shift the rising costs of benefits to their employees. At the same time, businesses are faced with increasing pressure to reduce administrative costs and find creative new ways to grow revenue with fewer resources.

Our health information solutions provide our clients ways to accomplish their business objectives while providing consumers a valuable service. The interactive nature of web-based information products can create stronger affiliations between consumers and healthcare organizations than traditional media and communication tools, at a lower cost. The primary market for our health information is the approximately 2,500 acute care, non-governmental hospitals and health systems with over 100 beds, regional and national health plans, online media organizations, consumer portals that offer health information, and other Internet search and technology companies.

Our solution for employers, Benergy, reduces costs by making benefits and other company-sponsored information available online, automating complex HR tasks and reducing paperwork. Benergy also helps employees make informed decisions about their health and benefits, which leads to improved productivity and employee satisfaction. Our solutions for benefits brokers provide enhanced value and service to their employer client relationships and tools to automate and manage their agency. The market for Benergy among employers is significant. According to 2008 data, there are over 1.5 million employers in the U.S. We reach employers with less than 500 employees primarily through our benefits broker channel. Currently we have over 300 benefits brokers under contract. We target the approximately 26,000 employers that have between 500 and 5,000 employees through a direct sales team as well as in conjunction with our brokers.

We believe that our Benergy system is uniquely positioned to take advantage of a paradigm shift in how employee healthcare costs are managed. While the percent of premium paid by employers and employees has remained relatively flat, the underlying trend is toward shifting cost to the employee. According to the Towers Perrin 2009 Healthcare Cost Survey total health care costs have increased by 33% since 2004, with the employee share increasing by 42% during the same period. In a 2009 survey conducted by Mercer, the employee benefits consulting firm, nearly half of the 428 employers polled indicated they plan to shift more health costs to employees in 2010. Twenty two percent of the companies in the Mercer study said they planned to switch to a high-deductible or consumer-directed health plan. The Kaiser Family Foundation 2009 Employer Health Benefits Annual Survey noted that among businesses offering health benefits to employees in 2010:

42 percent plan to increase worker contributions to premiums

36 percent plan to raise employees deductibles

39 percent will boost employees share of costs for primary- and specialty-care office visits

37 percent will hike employees share of prescription drug costs

The re-alignment of the responsibility for management of employee health care costs from employer to employee will necessitate the provision of tools for employees to make and manage health benefits decisions. We believe that this realignment will be a key driver of our growth over the next several years and allow Benergy, with its proprietary health content, and integrated decision support tools, to be a leading destination for employee directed health administration.

We believe that our products provide the following benefits to employers:

improved health outcomes by providing prevention and wellness information;

more efficient utilization of healthcare services and benefits plans through a better understanding of treatment plans and options, and through access to information and decision-support applications;

improved compliance with benefits plans and clinical guidelines;

reduced provider costs and drug costs through better education and more informed decision-making in regard to utilization of healthcare services;

reduced administration costs related to benefits administration, communication and benefits education to employees; and assistance in identifying at risk employee populations through risk assessment tools which provide increased opportunities to prevent adverse and catastrophic medical conditions.

Customer Support and Client Services

We believe that delivering quality customer support and client services provides us with a significant opportunity to differentiate ourselves in the marketplace. We believe that a high level of customer support is critical to our overall ability to deliver solutions to our clients. We provide customer support in two categories: (i) professional services, which include implementation and knowledge management (or training) services, and (ii) technical support services. Additionally, we provide hosting services for all of our Benergy clients and some of our Health Information clients.

Professional Services services we may provide our clients include implementation, requirements specification, testing, and knowledge management (or training) services. Additionally, we provide implementation assistance and software and content customization services.

Customer Technical Support we provide comprehensive technical and product-based support to our clients online and through telephone support.

Competition

The market in which we operate is highly competitive and continually evolving. Some of our competitors have greater technical, product development, marketing, financial and other resources than we do. These organizations may have longer operating histories, greater brand recognition and larger customer bases. We believe other competitive factors in our markets include product pricing, features, ease of implementation and use, and the quality of customer support. We cannot provide assurance that we will be able to compete successfully against these organizations. Our competitors vary by market and type of service and are categorized as follows:

Private portal and consumer health content providers such as WebMD Health Corp., StayWell Custom Communications (part of MediMedia USA), EBSCO and Healthwise, Inc.;

Public sector, government and non-profit organizations that provide healthcare information without advertising or commercial sponsorships such as the American Medical Association, the Mayo Clinic, the Department of Health and Human Services National Institutes of Health and the American Cancer Society;

We do not currently hold any patents or have any patent applications pending. There can be no assurance that these protections will be adequate to protect our intellectual property rights or that our competitors will not independently develop technologies that are substantially equivalent or superior to our technologies. We further believe that due to the rapid pace of innovation within the multimedia and software industries, factors such as the technological and creative skills of our personnel and the quality of the content of our products are as important in establishing and maintaining a leadership position within the industry as the various legal protections for our technology.

We believe that our products, trademarks and other proprietary rights do not infringe upon the proprietary rights of third parties and to date no third party has filed an infringement claim against us. However, as the number of products in our industry increases and the functionality of these products overlap, content and software providers, including A.D.A.M., may become increasingly subject to infringement claims. There can be no assurance that third parties will not assert infringement claims against us in the future with respect to current or future products, trademarks or other works of A.D.A.M., or that any assertion will not require us to enter into royalty arrangements or result in costly litigation.

We believe that our future growth and success will depend upon our ability to retain and continue to attract highly skilled and motivated personnel in all areas of our operations.

Properties

Our headquarters are located in approximately 24,000 square feet of leased office space in Atlanta, Georgia. The term of the lease ends in April 2019. In addition, we lease office space of approximately 36,000 square feet in Uniondale, New York. This lease extends through June 2011.

Legal Proceedings

We are not a party to any lawsuits or administrative actions pending, or to our knowledge, threatened, which we would expect to have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations.

FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Any reference to we, us or our refers to ADAM in this section only. This discussion should be read in conjunction with ADAM's financial statements for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 and 2009 and for the years ended December 31, 2009, 2008 and 2007.

GENERAL

We provide online information and technology solutions for employers, benefits brokers, healthcare organizations and online media companies. For the end users of our solutions—consumers, employees, patients, and health plan members—our products and services help people to better understand their health, and the benefits plans their employers provide, and make well informed decisions about their healthcare and benefits selections. In addition, we help people understand the relationship between their benefits and the costs associated with them. This connection between financial understanding and benefits choice and use of benefits is increasingly important as consumers assume more of the financial responsibilities for their healthcare.

Our proprietary health information products are derived from what we believe to be one of the largest continually enhanced online consumer health reference information libraries available. The web-based information we provide includes information on diseases, symptoms, treatments, surgical procedures, specialty medicine and topics, and alternative medicine. Our content is enhanced with visuals, animations and other new media providing a graphically rich environment to promote learning retention and interactivity. In addition, we offer a number of health-related applications, such as health risk assessments and other decision support applications that are used by consumers to make informed healthcare decisions.

Our primary product for benefits brokers and employers is Benergy, a web-based portal for employees that communicates benefits and other company-sponsored information, improves benefits education and selection, automates benefits enrollment, manages healthcare financial accounts, such as Flexible Spending Accounts, and provides health content and decision support tools to aid in health education and awareness. The tools, information and services offered through Benergy automate and streamline many important human resources functions so that employers can optimize their time and reduce administrative costs while providing employees with a high level of access to pertinent benefits and health information. Benefits brokers consider Benergy to be an important part of their service offering to their employer clients. Brokers make available to their clients a Benergy site that is populated with that employer's specific benefits plan information. In many instances they manage the Benergy site on behalf of their employer client, providing a deeper level of client service.

In addition to Benergy, we offer benefits brokers a comprehensive agency management system called AgencyWare™. With AgencyWare, brokers can manage the entire employer client lifecycle, moving prospects through each phase of the sales process, sending requests for proposals, preparing client presentations, managing client renewals and commissions, tracking customer service issues and organizing client data. We also offer brokers other tools that improve their communication with their respective clients.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations are based upon our financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles of the United States. The preparation of these financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and the accompanying notes. On an on-going basis, we evaluate our estimates, including those related to product returns, product and content development expenses, bad debts, intangible assets, income taxes and contingencies. We base our estimates on experience and on various assumptions that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions.

Table of Contents

We believe the following critical accounting policies affect our more significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of our financial statements:

Revenue Recognition

We derive revenues from the following sources: (1) electronically delivered software, which includes software license and post contract customer support (PCS) revenue; (2) hosted software, which includes software license, hosting and PCS revenue; (3) professional services; and (4) product sales. We recognize revenue when: (1) persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists; (2) delivery has occurred or services rendered; (3) the fee is fixed or determinable; and (4) collectability is reasonably assured. When a contract includes multiple elements, such as software and services, the entire fee is allocated to each respective element based on vendor specific objective evidence of fair value, and recognized when the revenue criteria for each element is met.

Electronically delivered software, which includes software license and PCS revenue, is recognized in accordance with the Software Topic of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB), Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) with the entire amount recognized ratably over the term of the license agreement.

Hosted software, which includes software license, hosting and PCS revenue, is recognized using GAAP principles for service revenue recognition as per the Software Topic of the FASB ASC. The entire amount of revenue is recognized ratably over the term of the license agreement, which matches the service that is being provided.

Professional service revenues are generally recognized upon completion and acceptance by the customer. For revenue arrangements in which we sell through a reseller, we recognize revenue only after an agreement has been finalized between the customer and our authorized reseller and the content has been delivered to the customer by the reseller. Product sales revenues are generally recognized at the time title passes to customers, distributors or resellers.

Sales Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

Significant management judgments and estimates must be made in connection with establishing the sales allowances for doubtful accounts in any accounting period. Management must make estimates of the uncollectability of accounts receivable. Management specifically analyzes accounts receivable and historical bad debts, customer concentrations, customer credit-worthiness, current economic trends and changes in our customer payment terms when evaluating the adequacy of the allowance for doubtful accounts. If the financial condition of our customers were to deteriorate, resulting in an impairment of their ability to make payments, additional allowances may be required.

Capitalized Software Product and Content Development Costs

We capitalize software product and content development costs in accordance with the Software Topic of the FASB ASC. This Topic specifies that costs incurred internally in creating a computer software product shall be charged to expense when incurred as research and development until technological feasibility has been established for the product. Technological feasibility is established upon completion of all planning, designing, and testing activities that are necessary to establish that the product can be produced to meet its design specifications including functions, features, and technical performance requirements. We cease capitalization of internally developed software when the product is made available for general release to customers and thereafter, any maintenance and customer support is charged to expense when related revenue is recognized or when those costs are incurred. We amortize such capitalized costs as cost of revenues on a product-by-product basis using the greater of the ratio of current product revenue to the total of current and anticipated product revenue or on a straight line basis over the estimated life of the software, which we have determined to generally be two years. We continually evaluate the recoverability of capitalized costs and if the successes of new product releases are less than we anticipate then a write-down of capitalized costs may be made which could adversely affect our results in the reporting period in which the write-down occurs.

We also capitalize internal software development costs for internal use in accordance with the Intangibles-Goodwill and Other Topic of the FASB ASC. This Topic specifies that computer software development costs for computer software intended for internal use occurs in three stages: (1) the preliminary project stage, where costs are expensed as incurred, (2) the application development stage, where costs are capitalized, and (3) the post-implementation or operation stage, where again costs are expensed as incurred. We cease capitalization of developed software for internal use when the software is ready for its intended use and placed in service. We amortize such capitalized costs as cost of revenues on a product-by-product basis using the straight-line method over a period of three years. We continually evaluate the usability of the products that make up our capitalized costs and if certain circumstances arise such as the introduction of new technology in the marketplace that management intends to use in place of the capitalized project, then a write-down of capitalized costs may be made which could adversely affect our results in the reporting period in which the write-down occurs.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

In accordance with the Intangibles-Goodwill and Other Topic of the FASB ASC, we evaluate goodwill and intangible assets for impairment on an annual basis.

Additionally, goodwill is tested for impairment between annual tests if an event occurs or circumstances change that would more likely than not reduce the fair value of an entity below its carrying value. These events or circumstances would include a significant change in the business climate, legal factors, operating performance indicators, competition, sale or disposition of a significant portion of the business or other factors. The carrying value of goodwill is evaluated in relation to the operating performance and estimated future discounted cash flows of the entity.

Income Taxes

As part of the process of preparing our financial statements we are required to estimate our taxes in each of the jurisdictions in which we operate. This process involves management estimating the actual tax exposure together with assessing temporary differences resulting from differing treatment of items for tax and U.S. GAAP purposes. These differences result in deferred tax assets and liabilities, which are included within our accompanying balance sheet. We must then assess the likelihood that deferred tax assets will be recovered from future taxable income and to the extent we believe that recovery is not likely, we must establish a valuation allowance.

In periodically assessing the Company's ability to realize deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of our deferred tax assets will be realized. Management analyzes several factors, including the amount and timing of the scheduled expiration and reversals of our net operating loss carryforwards (NOLs) and deferred tax items, as well as potential generation of future taxable income over the periods for which the NOLs are applicable. Certain estimates used in this analysis are based on the current beliefs and expectations of management, as well as assumptions made by, and information currently available to, management. In determining the potential generation of future taxable income related to the deferred tax asset, we estimate taxable income over the next 4 years. The recurring nature of our license revenue allows us to estimate future revenues based on an annual growth rate. We use historical operating margin percents of revenue to estimate future income over the 4 year period. Although it is the belief that the expectations reflected in these estimates are based upon reasonable assumptions, the Company cannot give assurance that actual results will not differ materially from these expectations.

Stock-based Compensation

We account for stock-based compensation in accordance with the Compensation Stock Compensation Topic of the FASB ASC. Accordingly, stock-based compensation cost is measured at grant date based on the fair value of the award, and is recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the employee's requisite service period. Options are granted at an exercise price as determined by our Board of Directors, which may not be less than the fair market value of our common stock at the date of the grant, and the options generally vest ratably over a three-year service period. Options granted under this plan generally expire ten years from the date of the grant. Upon exercise of options, stock is issued from our authorized and unissued shares of common stock. We use the Black-Scholes method (which models the value over time of financial instruments) to estimate the fair value at the grant date of the options.

Significant Events

On August 29, 2010, we entered into a definitive Agreement and Plan of Merger (the Merger Agreement) with Ebix, Inc. (Ebix) and Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc. (Merger Sub). Pursuant to the Merger Agreement, Merger Sub will merge (the Merger) with and into ADAM, with ADAM surviving the Merger. The Merger is intended to qualify as a tax-free reorganization under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and be tax-free to our shareholders.

Table of Contents

Pursuant to the Merger Agreement, at the effective time of the Merger, each share of our common stock, par value $.01 per share, (other than shares owned by the Company (as treasury stock or otherwise)) will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares (the Exchange Ratio) of common stock, par value $0.10 per share, of Ebix (the Merger Consideration), subject to certain adjustments specified in the Merger Agreement. The Exchange Ratio will be adjusted downward if we fail to pay at or prior to closing (i) the amount of any of our debt owed out of our cash on hand, (ii) the amount of expenses of our financial advisor in excess of $650,000 out of our cash on hand, or (iii) the amount of expenses of our legal counsel on the proxy statement/prospectus that has been filed in connection with the Merger out of our cash on hand. If there is an adjustment event, then our common shareholders will receive a number of shares of Ebix common stock equal to the aggregate merger consideration of $65,350,000 minus (a) $5,071,000 for our options and minus (b) $947,000 for our outstanding warrant (proportionately reduced for any option or warrant exercises, forfeitures or cancellations), minus the amounts under clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) to the extent not paid by us at or prior to the closing, divided by $19.06, which was the agreed upon value of Ebix common stock for purposes of the Merger Agreement.

The consummation of the Merger is subject to the approval of our shareholders. In addition, the Merger is subject to other customary closing conditions. Each party's obligation to close is also subject to the accuracy of representations and warranties of, and compliance with covenants by, the other party to the Merger Agreement, in each case, as set forth in the Merger Agreement.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONSComparison of the Three Months Ended September 30, 2010 with the Three Months Ended September 30, 2009.

Revenues (numbers in table in thousands)

	Three Months Ended		$	%
	2010	2009
Licensing	$ 6,678	$ 6,714	$ (36)	(0.5)%
Product	75	195	(120)	(61.5)%
Professional services and other	145	82	63	76.8%
Total Net Revenues	$ 6,898	$ 6,991	$ (93)	(1.3)%

Total net revenues decreased 1.3%, or $93,000, to $6,898,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. For the three months ended September 30, 2010, 96.8% of our total net revenues came from the licensing of our health, benefits and education solutions.

Licensing revenues are recognized on a monthly basis, either based on usage, expiration of monthly minimums, or on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract. Therefore, fluctuation in licensing revenue is due to new contracts, customer usage levels or contract changes and contract terminations. Licensing revenue decreased 0.5%, or $36,000, to $6,678,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. Licensing revenues of our health solutions increased 0.7%, or $24,000 over last year. Further, we launched our online education solutions in the third quarter of 2009 which accounted for $104,000 of licensing revenue in the three months ended September 30, 2010, compared to $8,000 in the three months ended September 30, 2009, or an increase of $96,000. This increase in health and education solutions revenue was offset by a decrease in broker license revenue of 4.9% or $155,000. The broker-related decrease is due to broker turnover and product utilization.

Revenues from product sales decreased 61.5%, or $120,000, to $75,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. Our product revenues consist primarily of CD-ROM product sales to the educational market. Revenues decreased in product sales because of a market shift from CD-ROM products to online solutions. To address this issue, during 2009, we launched three new online education products, which were formerly only available in a CD-ROM format. While these new online education products are designed to increase sales in the education market, product revenue will continue to decrease, as the revenue from these new online solutions is recorded as licensing revenue. Licensing revenue is recognized ratably over the subscription period.

C-12

Table of Contents

Professional services and other revenue increased $63,000, or 76.8%, to $145,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. Professional services and other revenue are derived from products such as custom implementation services and sales of nonrecurring products such as books, publications, and medical images. The increase in revenue is primarily related to an increase in professional services work related to updating and adding carrier feeds or changing benefit plans, that we did not charge for last year, and an increase in image sales, that we believe are driven by the new online education solutions.

Operating Costs and Expenses (numbers in table in thousands)

	Three Months Ended		$ Change	% Change

Total Operating Cost and Expenses	$ 5,264	$ 5,571	$ (307)	(5.5)%

Cost of revenues consists primarily of costs associated with royalties, distribution license fees and personnel support for our products and services. Cost of revenues decreased $35,000, or 4.2%, to $805,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. The decrease is attributable to fewer education product sales as a result of the new online education products, as well as a reduction in client service support due to cost-cutting measures as a result of improved organizational efficiencies.

Cost of revenues amortization decreased $223,000, or 34.2%, to $429,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. Cost of revenues amortization consists of costs associated with amortization of capitalized customer lists, software product, and content development costs. We see fluctuations in amortization costs from period to period based on the timing of capital projects and their completion dates. Compared to 2009, there were less capitalized projects put into service during 2010.

Product and content development expenses decreased $310,000, or 17.7%, to $1,438,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. Product and content development expenses consist of salary and costs associated with engineering and developing our product and service offerings. In 2010 our headcount decreased from the prior year, due to the loss of some highly compensated employees, that have not been replaced. Development capitalization decreased $44,000, or 9.6%, to $414,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010. The decrease in both expense and capitalization is also attributable to additional costs incurred in 2009 related to the transition from education products in CD-ROM format to online solutions.

Sales and marketing expenses increased 36.9%, or $537,000, to $1,991,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. Sales and marketing expenses include the personnel costs and their related travel and support costs, and the costs of our marketing and public relations programs. Sales costs increased with the building of our client relationship management team. Marketing costs have also increased as we invested in new marketing campaigns during 2010.

General and administrative expenses decreased 24.0%, or $320,000, to $1,015,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2009. In 2010 our headcount was down from the prior year, due to the loss of some highly compensated employees that have not been replaced. In addition, our Sarbanes Oxley expense has decreased, due to internal testing being performed by in-house personnel, instead of consultants, and the elimination of the need for external attestation this year. These decreases were offset by additional legal and consulting expenses resulting from the Ebix Merger Agreement. Operating profit increased $214,000 to $1,634,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared to $1,420,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2009.

Table of ContentsOther Expenses and Income

Interest expense, net was $69,000 and $127,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. This decrease in interest expense was primarily due to the pay down of debt from $9,000,000 at July 1, 2009 to $3,500,000 at September 30, 2010.

We recognized income tax expenses of $88,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010. Income tax recognized relates primarily to alternative minimum tax or to state taxes that either do not have net operating loss carryforwards or that do not consider net operating losses in the tax liability calculation.

Net Income

As a result of the factors described above, net income increased $184,000, to $1,477,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2010 compared $1,293,000 for the three months ended September 30, 2009.

Total Net Revenues	$ 20,348	$ 20,732	$ (384)	(1.9)%

Total net revenues decreased 1.9%, or $384,000, to $20,348,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. For the nine months ended September 30, 2010, 96.4% of our total net revenues came from the licensing of our health, benefits and education solutions.

Licensing revenues are recognized on a monthly basis, either based on usage, expiration of monthly minimums, or on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract. Therefore, fluctuation in licensing revenue is due to new contracts, customer usage levels or contract changes and contract terminations. Licensing revenue increased 1.0%, or $192,000, to $19,610,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. Licensing revenues of our health solutions increased 5.5%, or $536,000 over last year. Further, we launched our online education solutions in the third quarter of 2009 which accounted for $221,000 of licensing revenue in the nine months ended September 30, 2010, compared to $8,000 in the nine months ended September 30, 2009, or an increase of $213,000. This increase in health and education solutions revenue was offset by a decrease in broker license revenue of 5.8% or $556,000. This decrease is due to broker turnover and product utilization.

Revenues from product sales decreased 69.1%, or $518,000, to $232,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. Our product revenues consist primarily of CD-ROM product sales to the educational market. To address this issue, during 2009, we launched three new online education products, which were formerly only available in a CD-ROM format. Product revenue will continue to decrease, as the revenue from these new online education products is recorded as licensing revenue. Licensing revenue is recognized ratably over the subscription period.

Professional services and other revenue decreased $58,000, or 10.3%, to $506,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. Professional services and other revenue are derived from products such as custom implementation services and sales of nonrecurring products such as books, publications, and medical images. The decrease in revenue is related to the transition of our Flexible Spending Account administration delivery in 2009 which led to the recording of this service as broker licensing revenue.

Cost of revenues consists primarily of costs associated with royalties, distribution license fees and personnel support for our products and services. Cost of revenues decreased $472,000, or 15.6%, to $2,547,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. The decrease is attributable to fewer education product sales as a result of the new online education products, as well as a reduction in client service support due to cost-cutting measures as a result of improved organizational efficiencies.

Cost of revenues amortization decreased $294,000, or 18.1%, to $1,333,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. Cost of revenues amortization consists of costs associated with amortization of capitalized customer lists, software product, and content development costs. We see fluctuations in amortization costs from period to period based on the timing of capital projects and their completion dates. Compared to 2009, there were less capitalized projects put into service during 2010.

Product and content development expenses decreased $462,000, or 9.1%, to $4,627,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. Product and content development expenses consist of salary and costs associated with engineering and developing our product and service offerings. In 2010 our headcount was down from the prior year, due to the loss of some highly compensated employees, that have not been replaced. Development capitalization decreased $355,000, or 27.1%, to $954,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010. The decrease in both expense and capitalization is also attributable to significant costs incurred in 2009 related to the transition from education products in CD-ROM format to online solutions.

Sales and marketing expenses increased 14.0%, or $734,000, to $5,966,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. Sales and marketing expenses include the personnel costs and their related travel and support costs and the costs of our marketing and public relations programs. For 2010, we have expanded our client relationships by building our client management team and increasing our marketing activities to improve customer satisfaction with the broker clients.

General and administrative expenses decreased 17.1%, or $613,000, to $2,966,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2009. In 2010 our headcount was down from the prior year, due to the loss of some highly compensated employees, that have not been replaced. In addition, our Sarbanes Oxley expense has decreased, due to internal testing being performed by inhouse personnel, instead of consultants, and the elimination of the need for external attestation this year. These decreases were offset by additional consulting expenses resulting from the Ebix Merger Agreement.

Operating profit increased $15,716,000 to a profit of $3,863,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to a $11,853,000 loss for the nine months ended September 30, 2009. This increase is primarily due to the 2009 non-cash goodwill impairment charge of $13,940,000 and the 2009 non-cash restructuring cost of $1,408,000.

Other Expenses and Income

Interest expense, net was $258,000 and $360,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively. This decrease in interest expense was primarily due to the pay down of debt from $10,000,000 at January 1, 2009 to $3,500,000 at September 30, 2010.

We recognized income tax expenses of $148,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010. Income tax recognized relates primarily to alternative minimum tax or to state taxes that either do not have net operating loss carryforwards or that do not consider net operating losses in the tax liability calculation.

Net Income

As a result of the factors described above, net income increased $15,670,000, to a net income of $3,457,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 compared to net loss of $12,213,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2009.

Total net revenues decreased 2.4%, or $696,000, to $28,161,000, for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. For the periods shown above, over 85% of those revenues came from the licensing of our health information services and benefits technology solutions.

Our increase in licensing revenue is primarily due to new customer contracts and client retention from our health information products. We derive health information revenues from healthcare organizations and healthcare information technology companies. This increase is a result of the increased staffing in sales and marketing personnel, product enhancements, and an increase in the demand for online consumer-focused health information. This increase is offset by a decrease in client retention of our Benergy portal product. We are investing in Benergy portal product development to meet the current market requirements.

Revenues from product sales decreased by 11.4%, or $135,000, to $1,047,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. Our product revenues consist primarily of CD-based product sales to the educational market. Revenues were lower in this area due to a decrease in product sales, because of a market shift from CD-based products to online solutions. To address this issue, during 2009, we launched three new online education products, which were formerly only available in a CD-based format. While these products are designed to increase sales in the education market, product revenue will continue to decrease, as the revenue from these new online solutions will be recorded as licensing revenue. This new licensing revenue is recognized ratably over the subscription period.

Professional services and other revenue decreased $1,241,000, or 54.4%, to $1,039,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. Professional services and other revenue are derived from products such as custom implementation services, a direct to consumer product and sales of nonrecurring products such as books, publications, and medical images. Revenue has decreased in this area primarily due to no longer providing the direct to consumer product and the change of flexible spending account services to a licensing revenue product.

Cost of revenues decreased $60,000, or 1.4%, to $4,141,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008.

Cost of revenues amortization increased $475,000, or 28.0%, to $2,174,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. Cost of revenues amortization for customer lists and software product related to the acquisition of OnlineBenefits was $689,000 and $753,000 for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively. The amortization increases primarily relate to new benefit technology product releases and other product enhancements that were made in 2008 and an additional $214,000 of accelerated amortization due to a change of business strategy around the related products, which eliminated the potential for future income.

Product and content development expenses increased $795,000, or 13.2%, to $6,817,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. The increase in expense is due to additional resource costs used to develop the three new online education products and a transition to more senior product specialists.

Development capitalization decreased $169,000, or 9.8%, for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. This decrease is due to a shift from development of Health Content solutions to development of enhancements to our Benefits solutions, that were not capitalizable. Due to the increase in development costs, and the decrease in capitalization, the net expense increased $964,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the same period in the prior year.

Sales and marketing expenses decreased 23.1%, or $2,073,000, to $6,888,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. This decrease is primarily attributable to the decrease in personnel and overhead, related to the 2008 Facility Consolidation Program discussed in Note 14 of the notes to our consolidated financial statements.

General and administrative expenses increased 2.9%, or $166,000, to $5,870,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to the year ended December 31, 2008. In 2008, we recognized loan refinancing costs related to the termination of the 2006 Credit Agreement with Capital Source and the 2008 Loan Agreement with RBC bank. The total amount related to the refinancing was $813,000, consisting primarily of $406,000 and $366,000 related to the write-off of unamortized deferred financing fee and the fair value of the warrants issued to Capital Source, respectively. In 2009, our Board of Directors made the decision to terminate the employment of our former President and Chief Executive Officer. Severance costs related to his employment agreement were accrued in the amount of $1,149,000, which included 300% of his annual base salary, accrued bonus and stock-based compensation related to the modification of stock options. Excluding the one-time charges of $813,000 in 2008 and $1,149,000 in 2009, general and administrative expenses would have decreased 3.5%, or $170,000, to $4,721,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to $4,891,000 for the year ended December 31, 2008.

Due to the decline in our common stock price, we performed additional goodwill impairment testing as of March 31, 2009 and recorded a non-cash goodwill impairment charge of $13,940,000. This is described in further detail in Note 6 of the notes to our consolidated financial statements. We performed our annual goodwill impairment testing during the fourth quarters of fiscal year 2009 and 2008, and did not record an impairment loss on goodwill for either of those periods.

Restructuring costs were $1,408,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 and $2,193,000 for the year ended December 31, 2008. The $2,193,000 restructuring cost for 2008 was reclassified from general and administrative expenses in 2009. Restructuring costs are related to our 2008 Facility Consolidation Program. In 2009, based on the current real estate market conditions, we revised our estimate of sublease rental income from offices included in this Program. This is described in further detail in Note 14 of the notes to our consolidated financial statements.

Operating profit decreased $13,323,000 to a loss of $11,521,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009 compared to an operating profit of $1,802,000 for the year ended December 31, 2008. This decrease is primarily related to the goodwill impairment in 2009.

Other Expenses and Income

Interest expense, net was $478,000 and $1,468,000 for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively. This decrease in interest expense was primarily due to the pay down of debt from $20,000,000 at January 1, 2008 to $8,000,000 at December 31, 2009. Average debt outstanding for the year ended December 31, 2009 and 2008 was $9,167,000 and $13,482,000, respectively, having a weighted-average cost of 3.8% and 6.8% for the same periods, respectively.

We recognized income tax expenses of $1,336,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009, primarily a result of increasing our valuation allowance for our deferred tax asset, due to our assumptions based on future taxable income. This is described in further detail in Note 8 of the notes to our consolidated financial statements.

For the year ended December 31, 2008, we recognized a loss on the sale of interest bearing short-term investments of $296,000, as short term investments of $2,716,000 were sold. A portion of these funds were used to make a $5,000,000 early payment on the Capital Source Loan.

Net Income

As a result of the factors described above, net income decreased $13,373,000 to a net loss of $13,335,000 for the year ended December 31, 2009, compared to a net income of $38,000 for the year ended December 31 2008.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of September 30, 2010, we had current assets of $9,131,000, including cash and cash equivalents of $5,688,000, and $12,509,000 in current liabilities, or a negative working capital of $3,378,000. Working capital includes $6,174,000 in deferred revenue for which we have already received payment. While we are obligated to provide services related to those payments in the future, we will not receive additional payments related to those services. Excluding the deferred revenue, working capital would have been $2,796,000. Our working capital is affected by the timing of each period end in relation to items such as payments received from customers, payments made to vendors, and internal payroll and billing cycles, as well as the seasonality within our business. Accordingly, our working capital, and its impact on cash flow from operations, can fluctuate materially from period to period. We use working capital to finance ongoing operations, fund the development and introduction of new business strategies and internally developed software, acquire complementary businesses and acquire capital equipment.

Cash provided by operating activities was $4,666,000 during the nine months ended September 30, 2010, as compared to cash provided of $5,278,000 during the nine months ended September 30, 2009. The primary reason for the decrease in cash provided by operating activities was a decrease in cash provided by accounts receivable in 2010 compared to 2009. In 2009 we significantly improved our collection process and reduced our days to collect Accounts

Receivable, resulting in a significant amount of cash provided by those efforts. During 2010 we have maintained and kept those collections consistent, resulting in a much smaller amount of cash provided in this area.

Table of Contents

Cash used in investing activities was $1,456,000 during the nine months ended September 30, 2010, as compared to cash used of $1,634,000 during the nine months ended September 30, 2009. This $178,000 decrease in cash used was primarily due to lower capitalized software product and content development costs of $370,000 offset by an increase in cash used in purchases of property and equipment of $176,000. The high development costs in 2009 was related to the deployment of our new online education product. Equipment purchases increased in 2010 related to updates to our data center.

Cash used in financing activities was $2,968,000 during the nine months ended September 30, 2010, as compared to $1,536,000 during the nine months ended September 30, 2009. The $1,432,000 increase in cash used was primarily due to additional $3,000,000 advance payments made in the nine months ended September 30, 2010, related to the long-term debt associated with the OnlineBenefits acquisition, offset by an increase of $1,545,000 in proceeds from exercises of common stock options.

We believe our cash resources from cash and a $3,000,000 revolving credit line with our lender, together with anticipated cash flows from operations, will be sufficient to meet our working capital needs for the next twelve months. However, we may be required to raise additional funds in order to accelerate development of new and existing services and products, to respond to competitive pressures or to possibly acquire complementary products, businesses or technologies. In addition, the $3,000,000 revolving credit line with our lender expires in December 2010. There can be no assurance that any required additional financing will be available on terms favorable to us, or at all. If additional funds are raised by the issuance of equity securities, our shareholders would experience dilution of their ownership interest and these securities may have rights senior to those of the holders of the common stock. If additional funds are raised by the issuance of debt securities, we may be subject to certain limitations on our operations, including limitations on the payment of dividends. If adequate funds are not available or not available on acceptable terms, we may be unable to take advantage of acquisition opportunities, develop or enhance services and products or respond to competitive pressures, any of which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

We do not have any material off-balance sheet arrangements.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

For information with respect to new accounting pronouncements and the impact of these pronouncements on our consolidated financial statements, see Note 1 of the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

We do not have operations of a material nature that are subject to risks of foreign currency fluctuations, nor do we use derivative financial instruments in our operations or investment portfolio. Our exposure to risk and related changes in interest rates relates primarily to our investment portfolio and our variable rate debt. As of September 30, 2010, we had $5,688,000 in cash and cash equivalents. Due to the short-term nature of our investment portfolio, we believe that even a sudden ten percentage point change in interest rates would not have a material effect on the value of the portfolio. The average yield on our cash and cash equivalents at September 30, 2010 was approximately 0.02%. We do not expect our operating results or cash flows to be affected to any significant degree by a sudden change in market interest rates.

As of September 30, 2010, we had a total of $3,500,000 in variable rate debt at differing interest rates tied to one month LIBOR rates. If the interest rates on our existing variable rate debt were to increase by ten percentage points over the next twelve months, we would incur $271,000 of additional interest expense over a twelve month period.

1. BUSINESS AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Business

A.D.A.M., Inc. (Nasdaq: ADAM) primarily provides online information and technology solutions for employers, benefits brokers, healthcare organizations and online media companies. Our solutions are divided into two segments:

Health information and health decision support tools that we market to healthcare organizations, online media companies, and Internet search and technology firms; and

Benefits communication tools that help employees evaluate, select and enroll in various benefit plans, and benefits broker tools that help advisors manage their business, market benefit related products and recommend benefit plans to employers, each of which we market directly to employers with more than 500 employees and to benefits brokers and national agencies with employer clients.

Our solutions are delivered through a Software as a Service-type model (SaaS) that provides for rapid and efficient deployment of our products and allows us to integrate third party products and services that we monetize across our network of clients and end users.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles of the United States of America (GAAP) for interim financial information and the general instructions to Form 10-Q. Accordingly, certain information and footnotes required by GAAP for complete financial statements may be condensed or omitted. These interim financial statements should be read in conjunction with our audited financial statements and the notes to those financial statements which are included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2009. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

In the opinion of management, all adjustments considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. Certain amounts previously reported have been reclassified for comparative purposes to conform with current period presentation.

Operating results for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the year ending December 31, 2010 or any future period.

Recent accounting standards adopted

Effective January 1, 2010, we adopted the provisions of the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2010-06, Improving Disclosures about Fair Value Measurements. ASU 2010-06 updates the existing fair value measurements and disclosures guidance currently included in Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) 820, Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures. ASU 2010-06 requires new disclosures about significant transfers in and out of Levels 1 and 2 fair value measurements and separate disclosures about purchases, sales, issuances and settlements relating to Level 3 fair value measurements. ASU 2010-06 also clarifies existing disclosure requirements regarding inputs and valuation techniques, as well as the level of disaggregation for each class of assets and liabilities for which separate fair value measurements should be disclosed. The adoption of ASU 2010-06 did not have a material impact on our financial condition or results of operations.

New accounting standards to be adopted

In October 2009, the FASB issued ASU 2009-13, Revenue Recognition: Multiple-Deliverable Revenue Arrangements. This authoritative guidance revises the current accounting treatment to specifically address how to determine whether an arrangement involving multiple deliverables contains more than one unit of accounting. This guidance is applicable to revenue arrangements entered into or materially modified during our first fiscal year that begins after June 15, 2010. The guidance may be applied either prospectively from the beginning of the fiscal year for new or materially modified arrangements or retrospectively. We are currently evaluating this authoritative guidance to determine any potential impact that it may have on our financial results.

C-23

Table of Contents

In October 2009, the FASB issued ASU 2009-14, Software: Certain Revenue Arrangements That Include Software Elements. This authoritative guidance changes the accounting model for revenue arrangements that include both tangible products and software elements. Tangible products containing software components and non-software components that function together to deliver the tangible product's essential functionality, are no longer within the scope of the software revenue guidance. This guidance is applicable to revenue arrangements entered into or materially modified during our first fiscal year that begins after June 15, 2010. The guidance may be applied either prospectively from the beginning of the fiscal year for new or materially modified arrangements or retrospectively. We have evaluated this authoritative guidance and do not expect the adoption to have a material impact on our financial results.

Net income per common share

Net income per share is computed in accordance with ASC 260-Earnings Per Share. Basic net income per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for each period. Diluted net income per share is based upon the addition of the effect of common stock equivalents (stock options, stock warrants and restricted stock awards) to the denominator of the basic net income per share calculation using the treasury stock method, if their effect is dilutive. The computation of net income per share for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010 and 2009 is as follows (in thousands, except per share data):

		Three Months Ended		Nine Months Ended
		September 30,		September 30,
		2010	2009	2010	2009
Net income/(loss)		$ 1,477	$ 1,293	$ 3,457	$ (12,213)
Weighted average common shares outstanding	basic	10,013	9,888	9,963	9,884
Weighted average common share equivalents		519	368	494
Weighted average common shares outstanding	diluted	10,532	10,256	10,457	9,884
Net income (loss) per common share:
Basic		$ 0.15	$ 0.13	$ 0.35	$ (1.24)
Diluted		$ 0.14	$ 0.13	$ 0.33	$ (1.24)
Anti-dilutive stock options, restricted stock awards and warrants outstanding		861	1,466	893	2,249

2. Long-term debt

In conjunction with our acquisition of OnlineBenefits in 2006, we entered into a credit agreement (the 2006 Credit Agreement) with Capital Source Finance LLC (Capital Source).

All outstanding obligations under the 2006 Credit Agreement were repaid in full and the agreement was terminated on December 31, 2008 in connection with our entering into the 2008 Loan Agreement (as defined below). In connection with the termination of the 2006 Credit Agreement and as consideration for Capital Source's agreement to the prepayment of a convertible note, which we were not otherwise able to prepay, we issued a warrant to an affiliate of Capital Source to purchase up to 411,667 shares of our common stock at an exercise price of $3.65 per share, to replace the equity component of the convertible note. This warrant is exercisable immediately and expires on August 14, 2011; provided that the warrant will expire on August 14, 2014 if, as of August 14, 2011, we have issued any shares of any class of capital stock, which is preferred as to dividends or as to the distribution of assets upon the voluntary or involuntary dissolution, liquidation or winding up of the shares issued upon exercise of the warrant. This warrant was issued in a transaction not involving a public offering pursuant to the exemption provided under Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act). The shares of our common stock to be issued upon exercise of the warrant have not been registered under the Securities Act and may not be offered or sold in the United States in the absence of an effective registration statement or exemption from the registration requirements. As of September 30, 2010, the warrant has not been exercised in whole or in part.

Table of Contents

On December 31, 2008, we entered into a Loan and Security Agreement (the 2008 Loan Agreement) with RBC Bank (USA) (RBC Bank). The credit facility under the 2008 Loan Agreement consists of a revolving line of credit, a term loan facility and a letter of credit facility. The 2008 Loan Agreement, with related balances at September 30, 2010 and December 31, 2009, is summarized below (numbers in column are in thousands):

	Balance at September 30, 2010	Balance at December 31, 2009
$3,000,000 revolver principal repayable in full in December 2010; interest at 1-month LIBOR plus 2.75% (3.01% at 9/30/10 and 2.99% at 12/31/09), payable monthly in advance	$	$
$10,000,000 term loan principal repayable in monthly installments of $166,667 plus interest at 1-month LIBOR plus 3.25% (3.51% at 9/30/10 and 3.49% at 12/31/09) until December 2011, when one final payment of the remaining balance of principal, interest and any other fees and expenses outstanding are due	3,500	8,000
Total	$ 3,500	$ 8,000

Under the 2008 Loan Agreement, through December 31, 2010, we may request RBC Bank to issue letters of credit for its account in an aggregate outstanding face amount not to exceed the amount of advances available under the revolving line of credit at the time of the issuance of the letter of credit. Subject to other limitations set forth in the 2008 Loan Agreement, the amount of aggregate outstanding amount of letters of credit shall not exceed $500,000. We are required to pay RBC Bank a fee of 1.5% per annum of the face amount of the letters of credit issued pursuant to the 2008 Loan Agreement. As of September 30, 2010, we have no outstanding letters of credit.

Loans made under the 2008 Loan Agreement are secured by a first lien security interest on all of our assets, including our intellectual property.

The 2008 Loan Agreement contains customary representations, warranties, affirmative and negative covenants (including a requirement that we maintain our primary operating depository accounts with RBC Bank), agreements, default provisions and indemnities. We are also subject to certain specified financial covenants with respect to a minimum funded debt to EBITDA ratio and a modified fixed charge coverage ratio. The 2008 Loan Agreement generally prohibits us from paying dividends on our common stock. As of September 30, 2010, we were in compliance with all covenants related to the 2008 Loan Agreement.

Maturities of debt under the credit facility with RBC Bank as of September 30, 2010 are as follows (in thousands):

	2010	2011	Total Remaining Principal Repayments
2008 Loan Agreement	$ 500	$ 3,000	$ 3,500

We incurred $92,000 in financing fees related to the 2008 Loan Agreement. This amount has been deferred and is being amortized over the 36-month term of the loan. Accumulated amortization was $62,000 at September 30, 2010 and $40,000 at December 31, 2009. During the nine months ended September 30, 2010, we made additional advance payments on the loan totaling $3,000,000, which reduced our 2011 liability to $3,000,000.

Table of Contents3. Intangible Assets

Amortization expense for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010 was $429,000 and $1,333,000, respectively. This expense included amortization expense for internally developed software for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010 of $282,000 and $893,000, respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2009, amortization expense was $652,000 and $1,627,000, respectively. This expense included amortization expense for internally developed software for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2009 of $486,000 and $1,084,000, respectively.

4. Goodwill

Under GAAP, goodwill and other intangible assets with indefinite lives are not amortized, but rather tested for impairment at least annually. This annual evaluation was performed as of November 1, 2009 and the goodwill was deemed not impaired.

The Intangibles-Goodwill and Other Topic of the FASB ASC prescribes a two-step method for determining impairment of goodwill and certain other intangible assets. Factors considered in determining fair value for purposes of this Topic include, among other things, our market capitalization as determined by quoted market prices for our common stock, market values of our reporting units based on common market multiples for comparable companies, and discount rates that appropriately reflect not only our businesses, but also the current overall economic environment.

During the three months ended March 31, 2009, based on the further weakening of the then-current macro-economic business environment and the decline of our common stock price since the 2008 annual evaluation, we realized the need to re-evaluate and potentially lower the carrying amount of goodwill in the first quarter of 2009. Based on the results of the review performed as of March 31, 2009, we estimated that the fair value of the goodwill assigned to our benefit solutions was less than the carrying value on the balance sheet as of March 31, 2009, and accordingly we recognized a pre-tax non-cash impairment charge of $13,940,000 in the quarter ended March 31, 2009. While the impairment charge reduces reported results under GAAP, such charges do not affect our liquidity, cash flows, or future operations.

The estimation of the fair value was primarily determined based on an estimate of future cash flows (income approach) discounted at a market derived weighed average cost of capital, which cost of capital was estimated. The income approach was determined to be the most representative, because we do not have an active trading market for our equity in the reporting unit. The implied value of the goodwill was estimated based on a hypothetical allocation of each reporting unit's fair value, assuming a taxable asset sale, to all of our underlying assets and liabilities. The determination of future cash flows is based on the businesses' plans and long-range planning forecasts. Other valuation methods, such as a market approach utilizing market multiples, are used to corroborate the discounted cash flow analysis performed at the reporting unit. If different assumptions were used in these plans, the related cash flows used in measuring impairment could be different and additional impairment of assets might be required to be recorded.

Table of Contents

Impairment charges related to goodwill and other intangible assets are reflected as Goodwill impairment in the accompanying statements of operations. Such charges have no impact on our cash flows or liquidity.

5. Income Taxes

We recognized income tax expenses of $148,000 for the nine months ended September 30, 2010.

We account for income taxes using the liability method in accordance with the Income Taxes topic of the ASC. Deferred income taxes arise from the temporary differences in the recognition of income and expenses for tax purposes. A valuation allowance is established when we believe that it is more likely than not that some portion of our deferred tax assets will not be realized.

We performed our quarterly evaluation of the deferred tax asset and the related valuation allowance as of September 30, 2010 and based on our analysis, we do not expect to record an income tax provision or benefit for the quarter due to the release of a portion of the valuation allowance for tax assets we determined will more likely than not be utilized. Current income tax recognized for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 primarily related to alternative minimum tax or to state taxes that either do not have net operating loss carryforwards or that do not consider net operating losses in the tax liability calculation.

Internal Revenue Code Section (IRC) 382 limits the utilization of NOL carryforwards when a change in ownership, as defined by the Internal Revenue Service, occurs. We continue to track and monitor ownership changes as defined by IRC 382 to identify any future limitations on the use of NOL s to offset tax liability. As of September 30, 2010, no additional ownership changes have been identified. However, if the company were to incur any future 382 limitations, its usage of NOLs to offset income tax liabilities could be limited.

6. Stock-based Compensation

We account for stock-based compensation in accordance with the Compensation Stock Compensation Topic of the FASB ASC. Accordingly, stock-based compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on fair value of the award, and is recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the employee s requisite service period.

In 2002, our Board of Directors and shareholders approved the 2002 Stock Incentive Plan, under which 1,500,000 shares of common stock were reserved pursuant to the grant of incentive or non-qualified stock options to full-time employees and key persons. Under this plan, a number of additional shares are reserved annually. This number is 3% of the number of shares of stock outstanding on January 1 of each year, not to exceed 250,000 shares annually.

Stock Options

Options are granted at an exercise price as determined by our Board of Directors, which may not be less than the fair market value of our common stock at the date of the grant, and the options generally vest ratably over a three-year service period. Options granted under this plan generally expire ten years from the date of the grant. Upon exercise of options, stock is issued from our authorized and unissued shares of common stock. We use the Black-Scholes method (which models the value over time of financial instruments) to estimate the fair value at the grant date of the options. The Black-Scholes method uses several assumptions to value an option. The following assumptions were used:

Expected Dividend Yield because we do not currently pay dividends or expect to pay dividends in the near future, the expected dividend yield is zero;

Expected Volatility in Stock Price reflects the historical change in our stock price over the expected term of the stock option;

Risk-free Interest Rate reflects the average rate on a United States Treasury bond with maturity equal to the expected term of the option; and Expected Life of Stock Awards is based on historical experience that was modified based on expected future changes.

Table of Contents

The weighted average assumptions used in the option pricing model and the resulting grant date fair value for stock option grants were as follows:

	Nine Months Ended September 30,
	2010	2009
Expected Dividend Yield
Expected Volatility in Stock Price	62.41%	58.90%
Risk-Free Interest Rate	1.94%	1.79%
Expected Life of Stock Awards Years	3.50	3.50
Weighted Average Fair Value at Grant Date	$ 1.76	$ 1.34

For the three months ended September 30, 2010 and 2009, respectively, we recorded $75,000 and $156,000 of stock-based compensation expense related to employee stock options. We recorded $222,000 and $432,000, respectively, of stock-based compensation expense for the nine months ended September 30, 2010 and 2009. We expect to incur approximately $501,000 of expense over a weighted average of 2.2 years for all unvested options outstanding at September 30, 2010.

The following table summarizes stock option activity for the nine months ended September 30, 2010:

	Shares	Weighted Average Exercise Price
Outstanding at December 31, 2009	2,477,781	$ 4.44
Granted	340,000	$ 3.83
Exercised	(482,889)	$ 3.21
Forfeited or expired	(668,263)	$ 6.89
Outstanding at September 30, 2010	1,666,629	$ 3.69
Exercisable at September 30, 2010	1,237,467	$ 3.59

The weighted average remaining contractual term at September 30, 2010 for options outstanding was 5.08 years and for options exercisable was 3.65 years. During the nine months ended September 30, 2010, the aggregate intrinsic value of options exercised was $1,223,000, and the fair value of options vesting was $344,000.

As of September 30, 2010, the aggregate intrinsic value of options outstanding and exercisable was $4,570,000 and $3,515,000, respectively. Aggregate intrinsic value was calculated by multiplying the number of options by the amount by which our market price at September 30, 2010 exceeded the strike price for each option. The market price at September 30, 2010 was $6.34.

Restricted Stock Awards

The fair value of restricted stock awards used for the application of the Compensation-Stock Compensation Topic of the FASB ASC is the market value of the stock on the date of grant.

The following table summarizes restricted stock activity for the nine months ended September 30, 2010:

	Shares	Weighted Average Grant Date Fair Value
Unvested at December 31, 2009		$
Granted	14,284	4.20

Unvested at September 30, 2010

10. Fair value of financial instruments

The carrying value of long-term debt of $1,500,000 as of September 30, 2010 and $6,000,000 as of December 31, 2009 approximated fair value. The fair value of debt is estimated based on approximate market interest rates for similar issues.

Table of Contents11. Operating Segments

The Segment Reporting Topic of the FASB ASC establishes standards for reporting information about operating segments. It defines operating segments as components of an enterprise about which separate financial information is available that is evaluated regularly by the chief operating decision-maker, or decision-making group, in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. We operate in one reportable segment. We sell a portfolio of products related to health content solutions and broker/ employer solutions. We consider the health content products and broker/ employer products to be two operating segments which aggregate into one reportable segment. Our SaaS model allows us to manage and deploy these products in a similar manner to similar customers. Our chief operating decision-maker is our Chief Executive Officer. The Chief Executive Officer reviews financial information on a consolidated basis and by products when making decisions for allocating resources and evaluating financial performance. Periodic decisions may be made separately for the two operating segments due to timing of customer strategies, product releases, market conditions, acquisitions, or staffing resources, but the common long term growth outlook for each segment remains constant.

In determining that we have one reportable segment, we viewed both health content and broker/ employer products as sharing similar economic characteristics for long term growth. Historical product margins for both product segments have been in the 70-90% range. All products are distributed over a similar platform with low incremental costs so we expect margins to remain within the 70-90% range. The health content product which can be sold separately is also sold as an embedded product within our broker/ employer product. As the products continue to be more intertwined, the margins for both are expected to converge and the allocation of costs related to each will not be as relevant.

12. Significant Events

On August 29, 2010, we entered into a definitive Agreement and Plan of Merger (the Merger Agreement) with Ebix, Inc. (Ebix) and Eden Acquisition Sub, Inc. (Merger Sub). Pursuant to the Merger Agreement, Merger Sub will merge (the Merger) with and into ADAM, with ADAM surviving the Merger. The Merger is intended to qualify as a tax-free reorganization under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and be tax-free to ADAM s shareholders.

Pursuant to the Merger Agreement, at the effective time of the Merger, each share of our common stock, par value $.01 per share, (other than shares owned by us (as treasury stock or otherwise)) will be converted into the right to receive 0.3122 shares (the Exchange Ratio) of common stock, par value $0.10 per share, of Ebix (the Merger Consideration), subject to certain adjustments specified in the Merger Agreement. The Exchange Ratio will be adjusted downward if we fail to pay at or prior to closing (i) the amount of any of our debt owed out of our cash on hand, (ii) the amount of expenses of our financial advisor in excess of $650,000 out of our cash on hand, or (iii) the amount of expenses of our legal counsel on the proxy statement/prospectus that has been filed in connection with the Merger out of our cash on hand. If there is an adjustment event, then our common shareholders will receive a number of shares of Ebix common stock equal to the aggregate merger consideration of $65,350,000 minus (a) $5,071,000 for our options and minus (b) $947,000 for our outstanding warrant (proportionately reduced for any option or warrant exercises, forfeitures or cancellations), minus the amounts under clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) to the extent not paid by us at or prior to the closing, divided by $19.06, which was the agreed upon value of Ebix common stock for purposes of the Merger Agreement.

The consummation of the Merger is subject to the approval of our shareholders. In addition, the Merger is subject to other customary closing conditions. Each party s obligation to close is also subject to the accuracy of representations and warranties of, and compliance with covenants by, the other party to the Merger Agreement, in each case, as set forth in the Merger Agreement.

13. Subsequent Events

In accordance with FASB ASC Topic 855 Subsequent Events, general standards are established for the accounting and disclosures of, events that occurred after the balance sheet date but before financial statements are issued or are available to be issued. For the three months ended September 30, 2010, we evaluated, for potential recognition and disclosure, events that occurred through the date of the filing of our Quarterly Report on Form 10Q for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010, and determined no adjustment is needed.

On November 4, 2010, Capital Source exercised in full its warrant to acquire shares of our common stock pursuant to the cashless exercise provisions of the warrant. As a result, on November 4, 2010, we issued a net amount of 190,035 shares of our common stock to Capital Source.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audit included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of A.D.A.M., Inc. and subsidiary as of December 31, 2009 and 2008, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 31, 2009 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

1. Description of Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Business

A.D.A.M., Inc. (Nasdaq: ADAM) primarily provides online information and technology solutions for employers, benefits brokers, healthcare organizations and online media companies. Our solutions are divided into two segments: Health information and health decision support tools that we market to healthcare organizations, online media companies, and Internet search and technology firms; and Benefits communication, online benefit enrollment, decision support, human resources productivity, and benefits broker applications that we market to commercial benefits brokers in the small to midsize employer market.

Our solutions are delivered through a Software as a Service-type model (SaaS) that provides rapid and efficient deployment of our products and allows us to integrate third party products and services that we monetize across our network of clients and end users.

For the end users of our solutions consumers, employees, patients, and health plan members our products and services help people to better understand their health, and the benefits plans their employers provide, and make well informed decisions about their healthcare and benefits selections. In addition, we help people understand the relationship between their benefits and the costs associated with them. This connection between financial understanding and benefits choice and use of benefits is increasingly important as consumers are assuming more of the financial responsibilities for their healthcare. For our brokers and employer clients, our solutions provide the platform necessary to communicate, educate and enroll in benefits plans. For our healthcare and consumer health clients, our health information platform provides a broad portfolio of health reference products designed to promote services, build site traffic, and aid in the management of healthcare.

In addition to our health information and benefits solutions, we also market a series of anatomy and physiology products for the K-12 and undergraduate educational market.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Principles of consolidation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of A.D.A.M., Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiary, Online Benefits, Inc. (OnlineBenefits). On December 31, 2008, OnlineBenefits was merged into A.D.A.M., Inc. All inter-company transactions and balances have been eliminated.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of net revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue Recognition

We derive revenues from the following sources: (1) electronically delivered software, which includes software license and post contract customer support (PCS) revenue, (2) hosted software, which includes software license, hosting and PCS revenue, (3) professional services and (4) product sales. We recognize revenue when: (1) persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists; (2) delivery has occurred or services rendered; (3) the fee is fixed or determinable; and (4) collectability is reasonably assured. When a contract includes multiple elements, such as software and services, the entire fee is allocated to each respective element based on vendor specific objective evidence of fair value, and recognized when the revenue criteria for each element is met.

Table of Contents

Electronically delivered software, which includes software license and PCS revenue, is recognized in accordance with The Software Topic of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB), Accounting Standards Codification (ASC), with the entire amount recognized ratably over the term of the license agreement. For software revenue arrangements in which we sell through a reseller, we recognize revenue only after an agreement has been finalized between the customer and our authorized reseller and the content has been delivered to the customer by the reseller.

Hosted software, which includes software license, hosting and PCS revenue, is recognized using GAAP principles for hosted software arrangements per the Software Topic of the FASB ASC. The entire amount of revenue is recognized ratably over the term of the license agreement, which matches the service that is being provided.

Professional service revenues are generally recognized upon completion and acceptance by the customer. For revenue arrangements in which we sell through a reseller, we recognize revenue only after an agreement has been finalized between the customer and our authorized reseller and the content has been delivered to the customer by the reseller.

Product sales revenues are generally recognized at the time title passes to customers, distributors or resellers. In 2007, we adopted a return policy related to education product for a limited group of customers. The policy allows for the return of certain sellable product within 60 days of the invoice date.

Concentration of sales and credit risk

Financial instruments that potentially subject us to concentration of credit risk consist primarily of trade receivables. For the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, no single customer accounted for more than 10% of net revenues or total customer receivables.

A.D.A.M. has certain financial instruments that potentially subject the Company to significant concentrations of credit risk which consist principally of cash and cash equivalents, short term investments and accounts receivable. Cash and cash equivalents are maintained in short-term money market accounts. Our bank accounts are currently covered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, (the FDIC). The FDIC raised the coverage amount on normal checking and money market accounts to $250,000, until December 31, 2013. We maintain a money market balance below this $250,000 limit. Our bank also participates in FDIC program that fully insures all non-interest bearing checking accounts until June 30, 2010.

Fair value of financial instruments

The following methods were used to estimate the fair value of each class of financial instruments for which it is practicable to estimate that value:

Investments, short-term. For investment in securities, fair values are based on quoted market prices or dealer quotes, if available. If a quoted market price is not available, fair value is estimated using quoted market prices for similar securities;

Notes payable, debt instruments and capital lease obligations. For those debt instruments with adjustable interest rates, the carrying amount is a reasonable estimate of fair value. For debt instruments with fixed interest rates, the fair value is estimated by discounting future cash flows using current rates at which similar debt could be obtained.

The estimated fair value of the Company's financial instruments approximates the carrying value.

Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand and deposits and highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less when purchased.

Table of Contents

Investments, short-term

Mutual funds are categorized as available-for-sale, which requires the securities to be reported at fair value, with unrealized gains and losses reported as a separate component of shareholders' equity. Realized gains or losses, if any, are recorded within the statement of operations as other income (loss). For the purpose of computing realized gains and losses, cost is identified on a specific identification basis. We have no investments outstanding at December 31, 2009.

Investment in companies

Investments in companies where we own less than 20% are accounted for under the cost method.

Preferred Stock

As a result of the shareholder rights plan adopted on June 29, 2009, the Company authorized 100,000 shares of $0.01 par value Series B Preferred Stock in the year ended December 31, 2009. There were no shares of preferred stock authorized in the year ended December 31, 2008. No shares of preferred stock have been issued or outstanding as of December 31, 2009. The shareholder rights plan is described in further detail in Note 11 of the notes to our consolidated financial statements.

Treasury Stock

All treasury stock transactions are recorded at cost.

Advertising

Advertising costs are expensed as incurred and recorded in sales and marketing expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Operations. Advertising expense was $34,000 and $71,000 in 2009 and 2008, respectively.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are stated at the amount management expects to collect from outstanding balances. Management provides for probable uncollectible amounts through a charge to earnings and a credit to a valuation allowance based on its assessment of the current status of individual accounts. Balances that are still outstanding after management has performed reasonable collection efforts are written off through a charge to the valuation allowance and a credit to accounts receivable. We grant credit to our customers without requiring collateral. The amount of accounting loss for which we are at risk in these unsecured accounts receivable is limited to their carrying value.

Inventories

Inventories consist principally of computer software media, books and related shipping materials and are stated at the lower of cost or market. Cost is determined using the first-in, first-out method. The valuation of inventory requires the Company to estimate net realizable value. Inventory is written down for estimated obsolescence or to the lesser of cost or market value.

Deferred financing costs

Costs related to obtaining debt financing are capitalized and amortized over the term of the related debt using the effective interest method. When a loan is paid in full, any unamortized financing costs are removed from the related accounts and charged to interest in the period.

Property and equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost and depreciated over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method. Property and equipment held under capital leases and leasehold improvements are amortized over the shorter of the lease term or the estimated useful life of the related asset. Upon retirement or sale, the cost of assets disposed of and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts and any resulting gain or loss is credited or charged to income. Repairs and maintenance costs are expensed as incurred.

Intangible assets consist of purchased intellectual content, purchased customer contracts, purchased customer relationships, capitalized software product and content development costs to be sold, leased or otherwise marketed, and capitalized software development costs for internal use software.

Capitalized software product and content development costs to be sold, leased or otherwise marketed consist of development costs incurred for applications after technological feasibility has been established. These costs consist principally of salaries and certain other expenses directly related to the development and modifications of software products and content. Amortization of capitalized software product and content development costs is provided at the greater of the ratio of current product revenue to the total of current and anticipated product revenue or on a straight-line basis over the estimated economic life of the software, generally two years.

Capitalized software development costs for internal use software consists of costs of developing applications or the purchase of software for internal use. Capitalized costs are amortized over their estimated useful life, generally three years.

Impairment of long-lived assets and goodwill

Impairment of long-lived assets is evaluated, including property and equipment and intangible assets with finite lives, whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. If the sum of the expected future undiscounted cash flows is less than the carrying amount of the asset, an impairment loss is recognized. Measurement of an impairment loss for long-lived assets is based on discounted cash flows and the fair value of the asset.

Goodwill is evaluated annually or more often if an event occurs or circumstances change that would more likely than not reduce the fair value of an asset group below its carrying value. These events or circumstances would include a significant change in stock price, business climate, legal factors, operating performance indicators, competition, sale or disposition of a significant portion of the business or other factors. The carrying value of goodwill is evaluated in relation to the operating performance and estimated future discounted cash flows of the asset group.

Product and content development expenditures

Product and content development expenditures include costs incurred in the development, enhancement and maintenance of our content and technology. These costs have been charged to expense as incurred.

Income taxes

We account for income taxes using the liability method. Deferred income taxes arise from the temporary differences in the recognition of income and expenses for tax purposes. A valuation allowance is established when we believe that it is more likely than not that some portion of our deferred tax assets will not be realized.

Sales Tax

We presents our revenues net of sales tax in our Consolidated Statements of Operations. When invoicing for sales tax, we increase accounts receivable and increase sales taxes payable. If the receivable isn't collected, we decrease accounts receivable and increase bad debt expense in general and administrative expenses.

Recent accounting standards adopted

Effective July 1, 2009, we adopted ASC 105 The FASB Accounting Standards Codification and the U.S. GAAP Hierarchy. This standard establishes only two levels of GAAP, authoritative and nonauthoritative. ASC is the source of authoritative, nongovernmental GAAP, except for rules and interpretive releases of the SEC, which are sources of authoritative GAAP for SEC registrants. All other non-grandfathered, non-SEC accounting literature not included in the ASC is nonauthoritative. As the ASC was not intended to change or alter existing GAAP, it did not have any impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Effective April 1, 2009, we adopted ASC 855 Subsequent Events. The standard establishes general standards of accounting for, and disclosures of, events that occurred after the balance sheet date but before financial statements are issued or are available to be issued. For the twelve months ended December 31, 2009, we evaluated, for potential recognition and disclosure, events that occurred through the date of the filing of our Annual Report on Form 10-k for the year ended December 31, 2009. The adoption of this topic did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Effective April 1, 2009, we adopted ASC 825 Interim Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments and an update to ASC 820 Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures. The standard requires disclosures about fair value of financial instruments for interim reporting periods of publicly traded companies that were previously only required in annual financial statements. This topic is effective for interim reporting periods ending after June 15, 2009, with early adoption permitted for periods ending after March 15, 2009. The adoption of this topic did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Effective January 1, 2009, we adopted ASC 820 Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures. In September 2006, the FASB issued guidance now codified as ASC 820, which defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements and does not require any new fair value measurements. In February 2008, the FASB issued additional guidance which delayed the effective date of the application of certain guidance related to all non-financial assets and non-financial liabilities, except for items that are recognized or disclosed at fair value in the financial statements on a recurring basis (at least annually), until the beginning of the first quarter of fiscal 2009. The adoption of ASC 820 to nonrecurring non-financial assets and liabilities did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Effective January 1, 2009, we adopted ASC 805 Business Combinations. ASC 805 requires an entity to recognize the assets acquired, liabilities assumed, contractual contingencies, and contingent consideration at their fair value on the acquisition date. It further requires that acquisition-related costs be recognized separately from the acquisition and expensed as incurred; that restructuring costs generally be expensed in periods subsequent to the acquisition date; and that changes in accounting for deferred tax asset valuation allowances and acquired income tax uncertainties after the measurement period be recognized as a component of provision for taxes. In addition, acquired in-process research and development is capitalized as an intangible asset and amortized over its estimated useful life. ASC 805 is effective on a prospective basis for all business combinations for which the acquisition date is on or after the beginning of January 1, 2009, with the exception of the accounting for valuation allowances on deferred taxes and acquired contingencies. With the adoption of ASC 805, any tax related adjustments associated with acquisitions that closed prior to January 1, 2009 will be recorded through income tax expense, whereas the previous accounting treatment would require any adjustment to be recognized through the purchase price. The adoption of ASC 805 did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements and its future impact will be dependent upon the specific terms of future business combinations.

Effective January 1, 2009, we adopted ASC 350 Determination of the Useful Life of Intangible Assets which amends the factors considered in developing renewal or extension assumptions used to determine the useful life of a recognized intangible asset. The adoption did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Effective January 1, 2009, we adopted the Noncontrolling Interests in Consolidated Financial Statements subtopic of the FASB ASC 810 Consolidation, which establishes accounting and reporting standards for ownership interests in subsidiaries held by parties other than the parent, the amount of consolidated net income attributable to the parent and to the noncontrolling interest, changes in a parent's ownership interest and the valuation of retained noncontrolling equity investments when a subsidiary is deconsolidated. This Topic also established reporting requirements that provide sufficient disclosures that clearly identify and distinguish between the interests of the parent and the interests of the noncontrolling owner. The adoption did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Effective January 1, 2009, we adopted the Determining Whether Instruments Granted in Share-Based Payment Transactions Are Participating Securities subtopic of the FASB ASC 260 Earnings per Share, which requires that unvested share-based payment awards containing nonforfeitable rights to dividends or dividend equivalents (whether paid or unpaid) be considered participating securities and included in the computation of Earnings per Share pursuant to the two-class method of ASC 260, and adjusted retrospectively. The adoption did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

Table of Contents

Effective January 1, 2008, we adopted the Fair Value Option for Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities subtopic of the FASB ASC 825 Interim Disclosures about Fair Value of Financial Instruments, which permits many financial instruments and certain other items to be measured at fair value at our option. Most of the provisions in the Topic are elective; however, the Accounting for Certain Investments in Debt and Equity Securities Topic of the FASB ASC applies to all entities with available-for-sale and trading securities. The fair value option established, permits the choice to measure eligible items at fair value at specified election dates. Unrealized gains and losses on items for which the fair value option has been elected will be reported in earnings at each subsequent reporting date. The fair value option: (a) may be applied instrument by instrument, with a few exceptions, such as investments otherwise accounted for by the equity method; (b) is irrevocable (unless a new election date occurs); and (c) is applied only to entire instruments and not to portions of instruments. The adoption did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements.

New accounting standards to be adopted

In October 2009, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update (ASU) 2009-13, Revenue Recognition: Multiple-Deliverable Revenue Arrangements. This authoritative guidance revises the current accounting treatment to specifically address how to determine whether an arrangement involving multiple deliverables contains more than one unit of accounting. This guidance is applicable to revenue arrangements entered into or materially modified during our first fiscal year that begins after June 15, 2010. The guidance may be applied either prospectively from the beginning of the fiscal year for new or materially modified arrangements or retrospectively. We are currently evaluating this authoritative guidance to determine any potential impact that it may have on our financial results.

In October 2009, the FASB issued ASU 2009-14, Software: Certain Revenue Arrangements That Include Software Elements. This authoritative guidance changes the accounting model for revenue arrangements that include both tangible products and software elements. Tangible products containing software components and non-software components that function together to deliver the tangible product's essential functionality, are no longer within the scope of the software revenue guidance. This guidance is applicable to revenue arrangements entered into or materially modified during our first fiscal year that begins after June 15, 2010. The guidance may be applied either prospectively from the beginning of the fiscal year for new or materially modified arrangements or retrospectively. We are currently evaluating this authoritative guidance to determine any potential impact that it may have on our financial results.

Stock-based employee compensation

We account for stock-based compensation in accordance with the Compensation Stock Compensation Topic of the FASB ASC. Accordingly, stock-based compensation cost is measured at grant date based on the fair value of the award, and is recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the employee's requisite service period.

Net income per common share

Net income per share is computed in accordance with ASC 260 Earnings Per Share. Basic net income per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for each period. Diluted net income per share is based upon the addition of the effect of common stock equivalents (stock options, restricted stock awards and stock warrants) to the denominator of the basic net income per share calculation using the treasury stock method, if their effect is dilutive. The computation of net income per share for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008 is as follows (in thousands, except per share data):

	2009	2008
Net income (loss)	$ (13,335)	$ 38

Table of Contents2. Long-term debt

In conjunction with the acquisition of OnlineBenefits in 2006, we entered into a credit agreement (the 2006 Credit Agreement) with Capital Source Finance LLC (Capital Source). The 2006 Credit Agreement provided for a revolving credit facility of up to $2,000,000, which would have matured in August 2011, a $20,000,000 term loan, which would have matured in June 2011, and a $5,000,000 convertible note (the Convertible Note), which would have matured in August 2011. At the time of each maturity, all outstanding amounts and letters of credit for the related debt would have been due and payable.

In connection with the 2006 Credit Agreement, we entered into a Conversion and Registration Rights Agreement dated as of August 14, 2006, which specifies terms applicable to the conversion of the convertible note and provides Capital Source with certain registration rights with respect to the shares issuable on conversion of the Convertible Note.

All outstanding obligations under the 2006 Credit Agreement were repaid in full and the agreement was terminated on December 31, 2008. In connection with the termination of the 2006 Credit Agreement and as consideration for Capital Source's agreement to the prepayment of the Convertible Note, which we were not otherwise able to prepay, we issued a warrant to an affiliate of Capital Source to purchase up to 411,667 shares of our common stock at a price of $3.65 per share, to replace the equity component of the Convertible Note. This warrant is exercisable immediately and expires on either August 14, 2011 or August 14, 2014, depending on whether, as of August 14, 2011, we have issued any shares of any class of capital stock, which is preferred as to dividends or as to the distribution of assets upon the voluntary or involuntary dissolution, liquidation or winding up of the shares issued upon exercise of the warrant. This warrant was issued in a transaction not involving a public offering pursuant to the exemption provided under Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act). The shares of our common stock to be issued upon exercise of the warrant have not been registered under the Securities Act and may not be offered or sold in the United States in the absence of an effective registration statement or exemption from the registration requirements. None of the warrants have been exercised as of December 31, 2009.

The deferred financing fees related to the 2006 Credit Agreement were a gross amount of $1,340,000 with an accumulated amortization of $488,000 at December 31, 2007. Table of Contents6. Goodwill

Under GAAP, goodwill and other intangible assets with indefinite lives are not amortized, but rather are tested for impairment at least annually. This annual evaluation was performed as of November 1, 2009 and November 1, 2008 and the goodwill was deemed not impaired.

The Intangibles Goodwill and Other Topic of the FASB ASC prescribes a two-step method for determining impairment of goodwill and certain other intangible assets. Factors considered in determining fair value for purposes of this Topic include, among other things, our market capitalization as determined by quoted market prices for our common stock, market values of our reporting units based on common market multiples for comparable companies, and discount rates that appropriately reflect not only our businesses, but also the current overall economic environment.

Based on further weakening of the current macro-economic business environment and the decline of our common stock price since the annual evaluation, we realized the need to re-evaluate and potentially lower the carrying amount of goodwill in the first quarter of 2009. Based on the results of the review performed as of March 31, 2009, we estimated that the fair value of the goodwill assigned to our benefit solutions was less than the carrying value on the balance sheet as of March 31, 2009, and accordingly we recognized a pre-tax, non-cash impairment charge of $13,940,000 for the quarter ended March 31, 2009. While the impairment charge reduces reported results under GAAP, such charges do not affect our liquidity, cash flows from operating activities, or future operations.

The estimation of the fair value was primarily determined based on an estimate of future cash flows (income approach) discounted at a market derived weighed average cost of capital, which such cost of capital was estimated. The income approach has been determined to be the most representative, because we do not have an active trading market for our equity in the reporting unit. The implied value of the goodwill was estimated based on a hypothetical allocation of each reporting unit's fair value, assuming a taxable asset sale, to all of our underlying assets and liabilities. The determination of future cash flows is based on the businesses' plans and long-range planning forecasts. Other valuation methods, such as a market approach utilizing market multiples, are used to corroborate the discounted cash flow analysis performed at the reporting unit. If different assumptions were used in these plans, the related cash flows used in measuring impairment could be different and additional impairment of assets might be required to be recorded.

Impairment charges related to goodwill and other intangible assets are reflected as Goodwill impairment in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations. Such charges have no impact on our cash flows or liquidity. The following table reflects the change in the net carrying amount of goodwill and other intangible assets (in thousands):

In periodically assessing the Company's ability to realize deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of our deferred tax assets will be realized. Management analyzes several factors, including the amount and timing of the scheduled expiration and reversals of our net operating loss carryforwards (NOLs) and deferred tax items, as well as potential generation of future taxable income over the periods for which the NOLs are applicable. Certain estimates used in this analysis are based on the current beliefs and expectations of management, as well as assumptions made by, and information currently available to, management. Although it is the belief that the expectations reflected in these estimates are based upon reasonable assumptions, the Company can not give assurance that actual results will not differ materially from these expectations. We periodically evaluate the deferred tax positions and valuation allowances.

At December 31, 2009 the Company has approximately $1,830,000 of net operating losses attributable to tax deductions for the exercise of employee stock options in excess of related compensation expense recorded in the financial statements. The Company will record the benefit of the utilization of these net operating losses to additional paid-in capital when these net operating losses are realized.

The Company's valuation allowance was $11,079,000 and $12,520,000 as of December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

At December 31, 2009, we had NOL and R&D credit carryforwards available for tax purposes of approximately $50,140,000 and $960,000, respectively, which will expire on December 31 in years 2010 through 2022 and 2010 through 2023, respectively. As of December 31, 2009, the Company has capital loss carryforwards of approximately $335,000 of which $40,000 will expire on December 31, 2010 and $295,000 will expire on December 31, 2013. At December 31, 2009 we also have AMT credit carryforwards available of approximately $108,000 which do not have an expiration date.

The Company acquired $29,510,000 of NOL carryforwards as a result of the acquisition of OnlineBenefits in August 2006. Internal Revenue Code Section (IRC) 382 limits the utilization of NOL carryforwards when a change in ownership, as defined by the Internal Revenue Service, occurs. The acquisition of OnlineBenefits resulted in ownership change within the meaning of IRC 382. Of the total $29,510,000 NOLs acquired from OnlineBenefits, the NOLs estimated to be available for use after the application of the IRC 382 limitation is approximately $26,300,000. The Company continues to track and monitor ownership changes as defined by IRC 382 to identify any future limitations on the use of NOLs to offset tax liability. As of December 31, 2009, no additional ownership changes have been identified. However, if the company were to incur any future 382 limitations its usage of NOLs to offset income tax liabilities could be limited.

NOL carryforwards expiring over the next five years are as follows (in thousands):

A.D.A.M. adopted the uncertain tax positions provisions of ASC 740-Income Taxes on January 1, 2007. There are no material unrecognized tax benefits and related tax liabilities at December 31, 2009 and 2008. Penalties related to uncertain tax positions would be recorded as a component of general and administrative expenses. Interest relating to uncertain tax positions would be recorded as a component of interest expense.

The tax years 2006 to 2009 remain open to examination by the major taxing jurisdictions to which we are subject. However, upon utilization of the NOL and R&D credit carry forward tax benefits in future tax returns, the related tax benefit for the period in which the benefit arose is subject to examination.

9. Stock-based Compensation

We account for stock-based compensation in accordance with the Compensation Stock Compensation Topic of the FASB ASC. Accordingly, stock-based compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on fair value of the award, and is recognized as an expense on a straight-line basis over the employee's requisite service period.

In 2002, our Board of Directors and shareholders approved the 2002 Stock Incentive Plan, under which 1,500,000 shares of common stock were reserved pursuant to the grant of incentive or non-qualified stock options to full-time employees and key persons. Under this plan, a number of additional shares are reserved annually. This number is 3% of the number of shares of stock outstanding on January 1 of each year, not to exceed 250,000 shares annually. Options are granted at an exercise price as determined by A.D.A.M.'s Board of Directors, which may not be less than the fair market value of our common stock at the date of the grant, and the options generally vest ratably over a three-year period. Options granted under this plan generally expire ten years from the date of grant.

As of December 31, 2009, there were options outstanding to purchase a total of 2,477,781 shares of our common stock under our 2002 Stock Incentive Plan and our 1992 Option Plan with an aggregate intrinsic value of $2,563,934. Under the 1992 Option Plan, 4,500,000 shares of common stock were reserved and no additional options may be granted under the 1992 Plan. At December 31, 2009, there were approximately 803,937 shares available for future option grants under the 2002 Stock Incentive Plan.

Stock Options

Options are granted at an exercise price as determined by our Board of Directors, which may not be less than the fair market value of our common stock at the date of the grant, and the options generally vest ratably over a three-year service period. Options granted under this plan generally expire ten years from the date of the grant. Upon exercise of options, stock is issued from our authorized and unissued shares of common stock. We use the Black-Scholes method (which models the value over time of financial instruments) to estimate the fair value at the grant date of the options. The Black-Scholes method uses several assumptions to value an option. The following assumptions were used:

- Expected Dividend Yield because we do not currently pay dividends or expect to pay dividends in the near future, the expected dividend yield is zero;
- Expected Volatility in Stock Price reflects the historical change in our stock price over the expected term of the stock option;
- Risk-free Interest Rate reflects the average rate on a United States Treasury bond with maturity equal to the expected term of the option; and
- Expected Life of Stock Awards is based on historical experience that was modified based on expected future changes.

10. Benefit Plan

In 1995, the Company adopted a defined contribution plan that covers all full-time eligible employees of the Company. The plan allows eligible employees to contribute any amount of their pre-tax annual compensation up to the statutory limit prescribed by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company matches 75% of the first 4% contribution per participant on an annual basis. The Company contributed approximately $172,000 and $257,000 to the plan for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

11. Preferred Share Purchase Rights

On June 29, 2009, the Company adopted a Shareholder Rights Plan, which provided for the issuance of rights to purchase shares of the Company's Class B Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "Preferred Shares"). Under the Shareholder Rights Plan, the Company distributed one preferred stock purchase right (a "Right") for each outstanding share of common stock, par value $0.01 (the "Common Stock"), of the Company. The Rights were distributed as of July 31, 2009 to stockholders of record on that date.

Each Right entitles the holder to purchase from the Company one one-thousandth of a Preferred Share at a price of $12.00 per one one-thousandth of a Preferred Share, subject to adjustment. Subject to certain exceptions, the rights become exercisable ten business days after any party acquires or announces an offer to acquire beneficial ownership of 15% or more of the Company's Common Stock. In the event that any party acquires 15% or more of the Company's Common Stock, the Company enters into a merger or other business combination, or if a substantial amount of the Company's assets are sold after the time that the Rights become exercisable, the Rights provide that the holder will receive, upon exercise of each right, shares of the common stock of the surviving or acquiring company, as applicable, having a market value of twice the exercise price of the Right.

The Rights expire on June 29, 2019, and are redeemable by the Company at a price of $0.01 per Right at any time prior to the time that any party acquires 15% or more of the Company's Common Shares. Until the earlier of the time that the Rights become exercisable, are redeemed or expire, the Company will issue one Right with each new share of Common Stock issued.

in this company. The investment was accounted for under the cost method, as the Company has less than a 20% ownership and does not exercise significant influence over the investee.

At December 31, 2009 and 2008, the carrying value of the investment in BeBetter was $0. The Company has no plans to make additional investments in BeBetter in the future.

Investment with ThePort Network, Inc.

As of November 24, 2008, ThePort Network, Inc. (ThePort) closed a $4,100,000 Preferred Stock financing designated Series B Preferred Stock at $0.165 per share, including investment by our chairman. The Chairman of our Board of Directors also currently serves as the Chairman of the Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer of ThePort.

As a result of the financing, at December 31, 2009 and 2008, we held an approximate 3% voting interest in ThePort. The Chairman of our Board of Directors held an approximate 27% voting interest in ThePort at December 31, 2009 and 2008, and held a convertible note from ThePort in the amount of approximately $325,000 and $590,000 at December 31, 2009 and December 31, 2008, respectively. Two of the other directors of A.D.A.M. also own equity interests in ThePort. Historically ThePort was accounted for under the equity method. The financing in 2008 diluted our voting interest in ThePort, therefore for 2008 and going forward, the Company will account for this investment under the cost method.

As of September 10, 2008, ThePort converted its outstanding notes into a Preferred Stock designated Series A Preferred Stock at $0.30 per share, including notes held by our chairman. A.D.A.M.'s headquarters are located in approximately 24,000 square feet of leased office space in Atlanta, Georgia. The space is leased for a term ending in April 2019, with an option to renew for an additional 5-year term.

There is additional leased office space of 36,000 square feet in Uniondale, New York. The space is leased for a term ending in June 2011, for an amount of $124,000 per month. In conjunction with the purchase of OnlineBenefits in 2006, the difference between the cost of unused components of the Company's Uniondale lease and the related income from the sublease contracts, present valued, was recorded as a liability. This liability was reduced due to payments, offset by increased costs of sublease termination and replacement. At December 31, 2009, the liability was $2,366,000. Of this amount, $1,546,000 is included in accounts payable and accrued expenses, and the remainder in other liabilities. This liability includes the Facility Consolidation Program discussed below.

The Company indemnifies customers from third party claims of intellectual property infringement relating to the use of our products. Historically, costs related to this guarantee have not been significant and the Company is unable to estimate the potential impact of this guarantee on future results of operations.

14. Restructuring Costs

Restructuring costs consisted of the following at December 31, 2009 and 2008 (in thousands):

	Accrued Costs at December 31, 2007	Payments Made	Provision	Accrued Costs at December 31, 2008
Accrued restructuring costs:
Severance and exit costs	$	$ (460)	$ 985	$ 525
Contractual obligations	1,041	(196)	1,208	2,053
Total restructuring costs	$ 1,041	$ (656)	$ 2,193	$ 2,578

	Accrued Costs at December 31, 2008	Payments Made	Provision	Accrued Costs at December 31, 2009
Accrued restructuring costs:
Severance and exit costs	$ 525	$ (525)	$	$
Contractual obligations	2,053	(1,095)	1,408	2,366
Total restructuring costs	$ 2,578	$ (1,620)	$ 1,408	$ 2,366

In 2006, we acquired office space in NY with the acquisition of Online Benefits. Part of this office space was being sublet at a loss. The remaining loss on this first sublease at December 31, 2007 was $1,041,000.

In the fourth quarter 2008, we established a Facility Consolidation Program for the purpose of closing the NY office and consolidating operations in our GA office. The costs associated with this program included severance, fixed asset write-offs, contract and other office shut-down costs of $985,000. Additionally, the Facility Consolidation Program led to a second sublease for the remaining office space. The second sublease loss was recorded at fair value when the right to use the space ceased. The second sublease loss of $1,208,000 was made up of a $1,417,000 liability offset by a previously existing deferred rent liability of $209,000. This $1,417,000 liability recorded at the date of restructuring was based primarily on the present value of the net cash flows from the future rental payments of $2,016,000 less estimated second sublease rental income of $469,000.

During the second quarter of 2009, due to the change in the expected sublease rental income from both of these office spaces as a result of the current real estate market conditions, we revised our estimated loss and expensed an additional $1,408,000 of restructuring costs.

During the twelve months ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, we paid $1,620,000 and $656,000, respectively, related to these costs. We anticipate these remaining costs will be paid over the next 18 months.

15. Reclassification

Certain amounts in the 2008 financials were reclassified to conform with the current presentation. Restructuring costs of $2,193,000 were reclassified from general and administrative expenses to a separate restructuring line on the statement of operations, to be consistent with the 2009 presentation.

16. Fair value of financial instruments

We adopted ASC 820 Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures, which defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements for financial instruments effective January 1, 2008. The framework requires the valuation of investments using a three tiered approach. The statement requires fair value measurement to be classified and disclosed in one of the following three categories:

(Level 1) observable inputs such as unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical, unrestricted assets or liabilities;

(Level 2) quoted prices in markets that are not active, or inputs that are observable either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the asset or liability; and (Level 3) prices or valuation techniques the require inputs that are both significant to the fair value measurement and unobservable, due to little or no market data, which requires us to develop our own assumptions.

At December 31, 2008, we had goodwill of $27,617,000 and during the first quarter of 2009, we recognized a non-cash impairment charge of $13,940,000. See Note 6 for additional information regarding the goodwill impairment. The estimation of the fair value of the respective reporting units was primarily determined based on an estimate of future cash flows (income approach) discounted at a market derived weighted average cost of capital, which cost of capital was estimated based on the assistance of a third-party service provider. The income approach has been determined to be the most representative, because we do not have an active trading market for our equity or debt. The implied value of the goodwill was estimated based on hypothetical allocation of each reporting unit's fair value, assuming a taxable asset sale, to all of its underlying assets and liabilities in accordance with the requirements of ASC 820. We cannot predict the occurrence of events that might adversely affect the carrying value of goodwill. Further deterioration in global economic conditions, and/or additional changes in assumptions or circumstances could result in additional impairment charges in goodwill or other indefinite-lived intangibles and finite-lived intangibles in future periods in which the change occurs.

The carrying value of our current and long-term maturities of capital lease obligations and debt do not vary materially from fair value at December 31, 2009.

17. Severance

In 2009, our Board of Directors made the decision to terminate the employment of our former President and Chief Executive Officer. Severance costs related to his employment agreement were accrued in the amount of $1,149,000, which included 300% of his annual base salary, accrued bonus and stock-based compensation related to the modification of 237,000 stock options.

18. Operating segments

The Segment Reporting Topic of the FASB ASC establishes standards for reporting information about operating segments. It defines operating segments as components of an enterprise about which separate financial information is available that is evaluated regularly by the chief operating decision-maker, or decision-making group, in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. We operate in one reportable segment. We sell a portfolio of products related to health content solutions and broker/ employer solutions. We consider the health content products and broker/ employer products to be two operating segments which aggregate into one reportable segment. Our SaaS model allows us to manage and deploy these products in a similar manner to similar customers. Our chief operating decision-maker is our Chief Executive Officer. The Chief Executive Officer reviews financial information on a consolidated basis and by products when making decisions for allocating resources and evaluating financial performance. Periodic decisions may be made separately for the two solution groups due to timing of customer strategies, product releases, market conditions, acquisitions, or staffing resources, but the common long term growth outlook for each segment remains constant.

In determining that we have one reportable segment, we viewed both health content and broker/ employer products as sharing similar economic characteristics for long term growth. Historical product margins for both product segments have been in the 70-90% range. All products are distributed over a similar platform with low incremental costs so we expect margins to remain within the 70-90% range. The health content product which can be sold separately is also sold as an imbedded product within our broker/ employer product. As the products continue to be more intertwined, the margins for both are expected to converge and the allocation of costs related to each will not be as relevant.

Geographic Information

The Company sells products through agreements which grant territorial rights to international and domestic distributors. During the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, net revenues from international sales were approximately $352,000 and $432,000, respectively. Disclosed in the table below is geographic information for each country that comprised greater than one percent of our total revenues for fiscal years 2009 and 2008 (in thousands):

	Year Ended December 31,
	2009	2008
United States	$ 27,809	$ 28,425
Other foreign countries	352	432

INFORMATION NOT REQUIRED IN PROSPECTUS

ITEM 20. Indemnification of Directors and Officers.

Section 102(b)(7) of the Delaware General Corporation Law grants the Registrant the power to limit the personal liability of its directors to the Registrant or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of a fiduciary duty.

Section 145 of the Delaware General Corporation Law grants to the Registrant the power to indemnify its directors, officers, employees and agents against liability arising out of their respective capacities as directors, officers, employees or agents. Article VII of the Registrant's Bylaws provides that the Registrant shall indemnify any person who is serving as a director, officer, employee or agent of the Registrant or of another entity at the request of the Registrant against judgments, fines, settlements and other expenses incurred in such capacity if such person acted in good faith and in a manner reasonably believed to be in, or not opposed to, the best interests of the Registrant and, with respect to any criminal action, had no reasonable cause to believe his conduct was unlawful. In the event of an action or suit by or in the right of the Registrant, no indemnification shall be made in respect of any claim, issue or matter as to which such person shall have been adjudged to be liable for negligence or misconduct in the performance of his duty to the Registrant unless and only to the extent that the court in which such action or suit was brought shall determine upon application that, despite the adjudication of liability but in view of all the circumstances of the case, such person is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for such expenses as the court shall deem proper.

Article XI of the Registrant's certificate of incorporation, as amended, provides for the limitation of personal liability of the directors of the Registrant as follows:

A director shall not be personally liable to the Corporation or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director; provided that this sentence shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a director (i) for any breach of his duty of loyalty to the Corporation or its stockholders, (ii) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (iii) under Section 174 of the General Corporation Law, or (iv) for any transaction from which the director derives an improper personal benefit. This Article XI shall not eliminate or limit the liability of a director for any act or omission occurring prior to the date when this Article XI becomes effective.

The above discussion is qualified in its entirety by reference to the detailed provisions of Sections 102(b)(7) and 145 of the Delaware General Corporation Law and the Registrant's Certificate of Incorporation, as amended, and Bylaws. For additional information we refer you to the full text of our Certificate of Incorporation, as amended, filed as Exhibit 3.1 to our Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2009, filed with the SEC on March 16, 2010 as well as and our Bylaws filed as Exhibit 3.2 to our annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2000, filed with the SEC on April 2, 2001.

- (i) To include any prospectus required by Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act of 1933;
 - (ii) To reflect in the prospectus any facts or events arising after the effective date of the registration statement (or the most recent post-effective amendment thereof) which, individually or in the aggregate, represent a fundamental change in the information set forth in the registration statement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any increase or decrease in volume of securities offered (if the total dollar value of securities offered would not exceed that which was registered) and any deviation from the low or high end of the estimated maximum offering range may be reflected in the form of prospectus filed with the Commission pursuant to Rule 424(b) if, in the aggregate, the changes in volume and price represent no more than 20% change in the maximum aggregate offering price set forth in the Calculation of Registration Fee table in the effective registration statement;
 - (iii) To include any material information with respect to the plan of distribution not previously disclosed in the registration statement or any material change to such information in the registration statement.
- (2) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial, bona fide offering thereof.
- (3) To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remain unsold at the termination of the offering.
- (4) That, for the purpose of determining liability under the Securities Act to any purchaser, each prospectus filed pursuant to Rule 424(b) as part of a registration statement relating to an offering, other than registration statements relying on Rule 430B or other than prospectuses filed in reliance on Rule 430A, shall be deemed to be part of and included in the registration Statement as of the date it is first used after effectiveness; provided, however, that no statement made in a Registration statement or prospectus that is part of the registration statement or made in a document incorporated or deemed incorporated by reference into the registration statement or prospectus that is part of the registration statement will, as to a purchaser with a time of contract of sale prior to such first use, supersede or modify any statement that was made in the registration statement or prospectus that was part of the registration statement or made in any such document immediately prior to such date of first use.
- (5) That, for the purpose of determining liability of the undersigned under the Securities Act to any purchaser in the initial distribution of the securities, the undersigned undertakes that in a primary offering of securities of the undersigned pursuant to this registration statement, regardless of the underwriting method used to sell the securities to the purchaser, if the securities are offered or sold to such purchaser by means of any of the following communications, the undersigned will be a seller to the purchaser and will be considered to offer or sell such securities to such purchaser:
- (a) Any preliminary prospectus or prospectus of the undersigned relating to the offering required to be filed pursuant to Rule 424;
 - (b) Any free writing prospectus relating to the offering prepared by or on behalf of the undersigned or used or referred to by Amazon;
 - (c) The portion of any other free writing prospectus relating to the offering containing material information about the undersigned or its securities provided by or on behalf of the undersigned; and
 - (d) Any other communication that is an offer in the offering made by undersigned to the purchaser.
- (B) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each filing of the registrant's annual report pursuant to Sections 13(a) or 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (and, where applicable, each filing of an employee benefit plan's annual report pursuant to Section 15(d) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934) that is incorporated by reference in the registration statement shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.
- (C) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that prior to any public reoffering of the securities registered hereunder through use of a prospectus that is a part of this registration statement, by any person or party who is deemed to be an underwriter within the meaning of Rule 145(c), the issuer undertakes that such reoffering prospectus will contain the information called for by the applicable registration form with respect to reofferings by persons who may be deemed underwriters, in addition to the information called for by the other items of the applicable form.

(D) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that every prospectus (i) that is filed pursuant to paragraph (C) immediately preceding, or (ii) that purports to meet the requirements of Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act of 1933 and is used in connection with an offering of securities subject to Rule 415, will be filed as a part of an amendment to the registration statement and will not be used until such amendment is effective, and that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act of 1933, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

(E) Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act of 1933 may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the SEC such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.

(F) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes to respond to requests for information that is incorporated by reference in the prospectus pursuant to Item 4, 10(b), 11, or 13 of this form, within one business day of receipt of such request, and to send the incorporated documents by first class mail or other equally prompt means. This includes information contained in documents filed subsequent to the effective date of the registration statement through the date of responding to the request.

(G) The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes to supply by means of a post-effective amendment all information concerning a transaction, and the company being acquired involved therein, that was not the subject of and included in the registration statement when it became effective.
