PULSE ELECTRONICS FILES INVESTOR PRESENTATION
Details Strategic Plan to Deliver Shareholder Value
Reiterates Recommendation to Shareholders to Vote FOR ALL of Pulse s Highly Qualified Director Nominees

PHILADELPHIA April 12, 2011 Pulse Electronics Corporation (NYSE: PULS) (Pulse or the Company), a leading provider of electronic components, today announced that it has made publicly-available an investor presentation that details Pulse s comprehensive plan to enhance shareholder value and why Pulse shareholders should vote for the Company s highly qualified Board of Director nominees at the Annual Meeting of Shareholders on May 18, 2011. The investor presentation is available in the Investor Information section of Pulse s website at www.pulseelectronics.com and also at the Securities and Exchange Commission s website, www.sec.gov. On February 28, 2011, Pulse received an unsolicited, highly uncertain and opportunistic proposal from one of its direct competitors, Bel Fuse Inc. (NASDAQ: BELFA) (NASDAQ: BELFB), to acquire the Company for $6.00 per share in cash or non-voting stock. In accordance with its fiduciary duties, Pulse s Board of Directors reviewed the proposal in consultation with financial and legal advisors and on March 10, 2011 unanimously rejected it. In an attempt to further its proposal, Bel Fuse has also nominated two hand-picked individuals for election to Pulse s Board. Pulse recommends shareholders vote FOR ALL of Pulse s Board candidates on the WHITE proxy card. In the presentation, Pulse outlines key issues for its shareholders to consider regarding the upcoming director elections:

With industry-leading products, global presence, and design, engineering and manufacturing strength, Pulse represents a significant value opportunity for shareholders, and is positioned for growth and increased profitability.

Pulse has begun implementing a well-defined strategic turnaround plan with clear value enhancement capabilities, including initiatives such as:

Improving the Company s wireless business;

Lowering operating expenses;

Optimizing manufacturing efficiencies;

Implementing a new enterprise resource planning (ERP) system; and

Building on its technology leadership.

Bel Fuse, a direct competitor to Pulse, is attempting to capture for itself the significant current and future value that rightly belongs to all Pulse shareholders.

Through nomination of hand-picked individuals to the Pulse Board, Bel Fuse is running an M&A proxy fight, not a governance proxy fight as purported.

The Bel Fuse proposal has serious shortcomings:

Bel Fuse has NOT demonstrated committed financing or the ability to secure financing.

Bel Fuse stock that would be part of a transaction would provide Pulse shareholders with class B shares which have NO voting rights.

Bel Fuse has provided NO details of how much cash and non-voting Bel Fuse stock it is offering.

Pulse has nominated three new, highly qualified independent nominees. If elected, the enhanced Pulse Board will provide valuable industry and financial expertise to the Company and seven of the Board's eight directors would be independent.

Given Pulse's strategic plan for shareholder value creation, and with the increasing momentum in its business, the Pulse Board and management team are confident in their ability to deliver value to Pulse shareholders.

Pulse's Board of Directors recommends shareholders vote FOR ALL the highly qualified director candidates nominated by the Company on the WHITE proxy card by telephone, Internet or by signing, dating and returning the Company's WHITE proxy. Pulse urges shareholders NOT to sign any gold proxy card sent to them by Bel Fuse. Shareholders who have any questions about how to vote their shares or need assistance voting their shares should contact Innisfree M&A Incorporated, Pulse's proxy solicitor, by calling toll-free at (888) 750-5834 (banks and brokers may call collect at (212) 750-5833).
