ITEM 1.01. Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On July 27, 2006, the Board of Directors (the Board) of Builders FirstSource, Inc. (the Company) adopted the Builders FirstSource, Inc. Amended and Restated Independent Director Compensation Policy (the Policy). The primary effects of adopting the Policy on the Company's existing independent director compensation practices were: a) to increase the annual cash retainer for independent directors from $20,000 to $50,000, b) to increase the annual grants to independent directors of restricted shares of the Company's common stock under the Company's 2005 Equity Incentive Plan from a value of approximately $20,000 at the time of issuance to a value of approximately $50,000 at the time of issuance, and c) to provide that independent directors shall be paid an annual retainer of $5,000 for each year in which he or she serves as the chairperson of a committee of the Board. The Policy also eliminated the annual cash retainer for service on committees of the Board and eliminated meeting fees for all committee and Board meetings. The Policy is effective as of July 27, 2006, and grants of restricted shares of the Company's common stock under the Policy are expected to be made on or about August 1st of each year. The policy excludes compensation to directors who are associated with Building Products, LLC.

The initial restricted stock award to any independent director joining the Board will be prorated based on the number of full months he or she will serve in such first year of service. The restrictions on these shares will lapse on the first anniversary of the grant. Upon departure from the Board, a director will forfeit any shares as to which the restrictions have not lapsed.

The foregoing summary of the Policy and the changes resulting therefrom are qualified in their entirety by reference to the full text of the Policy, which is attached to this Current Report on Form 8-K as Exhibit 99.1 and is incorporated herein by reference.

USE OF NON-GAAP FINANCIAL MEASURES

The Company occasionally utilizes financial measures and terms not calculated in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (GAAP) in order to provide investors with an alternative method for assessing our operating results in a manner that enables investors to more thoroughly evaluate our current performance as compared to past performance. We also believe the non-GAAP measures provide investors with a better baseline for modeling the Company s future earnings expectations. Our management uses these non-GAAP measures for the same purpose. We believe that our investors should have access to the same set of tools that we use in analyzing our results. These non-GAAP measures should be considered in addition to results prepared in accordance with GAAP, but should not be considered a substitute for or superior to GAAP results. The Company s calculation of EBITDA, Adjusted EBITDA, Adjusted Net Income, Adjusted Net Income Per Share Diluted and Adjusted Return on Net Assets is not necessarily comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. We have provided definitions below for certain non-GAAP financial measures, together with an explanation of why management uses these measures and why management believes that these non-GAAP financial measures are useful to investors. In addition, we have provided tables with the Earnings Release to reconcile some of the non-GAAP financial measures utilized therein to their equivalent GAAP financial measures.

EBITDA

We define EBITDA as GAAP net income before depreciation and amortization, interest expense, and income taxes. Our management uses EBITDA as a supplemental measure in the evaluation of our business and believes that EBITDA provides a meaningful measure of our performance because it eliminates the effects of period to period changes in taxes, costs associated with capital investments and interest expense. EBITDA is not a financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, it should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net income or other financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. When evaluating EBITDA, investors should consider, among other factors, (i) increasing or decreasing trends in EBITDA, (ii) whether EBITDA has remained at positive levels historically, and (iii) how EBITDA compares to our debt outstanding. We provide a reconciliation of EBITDA to GAAP net income. Because EBITDA excludes some, but not all, items that affect net income and may vary among companies, the EBITDA presented by the Company may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies. EBITDA does not give effect to the cash we must use to service our debt or pay income taxes and thus does not reflect the funds generated from operations or actually available for capital investments.

ADJUSTED EBITDA

We define adjusted EBITDA as GAAP net income before depreciation and amortization, interest expense, and income taxes adjusted for the items detailed in the related reconciliation. Our management uses adjusted EBITDA as a supplemental measure in the evaluation of our business and believes that adjusted EBITDA provides a meaningful measure of our performance because it eliminates the effects of period to period changes in taxes, costs associated with capital investments and interest expense as well as the adjusting items, which are typically episodic in nature. We use this measure to analyze our results and to make operational decisions, as we believe it provides consistency and comparability in our financial reporting. We provide it in order to enable investors to more thoroughly evaluate our current performance as compared to past performance, because the adjusting items can be episodic in nature and can obscure our core operating results and skew projections. Adjusted EBITDA is not a financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, it should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net income or other financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. When evaluating adjusted EBITDA, investors should consider, among other factors, (i) increasing or decreasing trends in adjusted EBITDA, (ii) whether adjusted EBITDA has remained at positive levels historically, and (iii) how adjusted EBITDA compares to our debt outstanding. We provide a reconciliation of adjusted EBITDA to GAAP net income. Because adjusted EBITDA excludes some, but not all, items that affect net income and may vary among companies, the adjusted EBITDA presented by the Company may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies. Adjusted EBITDA does not give effect to the cash we must use to service our debt or pay income taxes and thus does not reflect the funds generated from operations or actually available for capital investments.

ADJUSTED NET INCOME

This measure consists of GAAP net income adjusted for the items detailed in the related reconciliation. Adjusting items solely relate to our refinancing and initial public offering. We use this measure to analyze our results and to make operational and investment decisions, as we believe it provides consistency and comparability in our financial reporting. We provide it in order to enable investors to more thoroughly evaluate our current performance as compared to past performance, because such items can be episodic in nature and can obscure our core operating results. Consequently, we believe adjusted net income more accurately represents our core operating results and provides a better baseline for modeling future earnings expectations. Adjusted net income does not provide a complete view of our operating results. Therefore a review of net income on both a non-GAAP basis and GAAP basis should be performed to get a comprehensive view of our operating results. We provide a reconciliation of adjusted net income to GAAP net income.

ADJUSTED NET INCOME PER SHARE DILUTED

This non-GAAP financial measure is defined as the portion of the Company's GAAP net income assigned to each share of common stock and common stock equivalent, after taking into account the adjusting items described in the related reconciliation. We use this measure to analyze our results and to make operational and investment decisions, as we believe it provides consistency and comparability in our financial reporting. We provide it in order to enable investors to more thoroughly evaluate our current performance as compared to past performance because the adjusting items can be episodic in nature and can obscure our core operating results. Consequently, we believe adjusted net income per share more accurately represents our core operating results and provides a better baseline for modeling future earnings expectations. Adjusted net income per share does not provide a complete view of our operating results. Therefore a review of net income per share on both a non-GAAP basis and GAAP basis should be performed to get a comprehensive view of our operating results. We provide a reconciliation of adjusted net income per share to GAAP net income per share.

ADJUSTED RETURN ON NET ASSETS (RONA)

This measure consists of return on net assets (calculated as earnings before interest and taxes divided by average net assets) adjusted for the items detailed in the related reconciliation. Adjusting items solely relate to our refinancing and initial public offering. We use this measure to analyze our results and to make operational and investment decisions, as we believe it provides consistency and comparability in our financial reporting. We provide it in order to enable investors to more thoroughly evaluate our current performance as compared to past performance, because such items can be episodic in nature and can obscure our core operating results. Consequently, we believe Adjusted RONA more accurately represents our core operating results. Adjusted RONA does not provide a complete view of our operating results. Therefore a review of RONA and Adjusted RONA should be performed to get a comprehensive view of our operating performance. We provide a reconciliation of Adjusted RONA to RONA and to net income.
