Table of Contents*BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.*NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS    UNAUDITED*NOTE A. Restatement

During the first fiscal quarter of 2004, BankAtlantic Bancorp announced that it had settled litigation that the Company and certain of its affiliates had filed related to an investment in a private technology company. Pursuant to the settlement, the Company sold its stock in the technology company to a third party investor group for $15 million in cash, its original cost, and received additional compensation for legal expenses and damages consisting of $1.7 million in cash and return of 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock owned by the technology company. The parties also exchanged releases and the pending litigation between the parties was dismissed in connection with the settlement.

Based on the consultation and with concurrence of the Company's independent accountants, the Company recorded a $16.7 million equity security litigation settlement gain in its statement of operations resulting from the receipt of cash and accounted for the return of the 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock from the technology company in connection with the settlement and the subsequent retirement of those shares as an equity transaction, with no gain or loss recognized in the statement of operations.

Recently, the Company determined, with the concurrence of its independent accountants, that the fair value of 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock received as part of the settlement should have been reflected in the statement of operations as a $6.1 million pretax ($3.9 million after-tax) increase to the equity security litigation settlement gain. Based on such treatment, the Company has restated its results for the first quarter of 2004 to reflect the increase of $3.9 million in net income to $20.5 million, or $0.32 per diluted share as compared to the previously reported $16.6 million, or $0.26 per diluted share.

Based on such treatment, the Company has restated its financial statements as follows:

3. Equity Security Litigation Settlement Gain

In October, 1999 the Company made a $15 million investment in 3,033,386 shares of a privately held technology company's common stock for cash and 748,000 shares of the Company's Class A common stock. During 2002, the Company recorded an impairment charge for its entire investment in the technology company based on the Company's analysis of the technology company's operations. In March 2004, the technology company settled the litigation with the Company and its affiliates. Pursuant to the settlement, the Company sold its stock in the technology company to a third party investor group for its original cost of $15 million and received from the investor group and the technology company additional compensation for legal expenses and damages consisting of $1.7 million in cash and 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A common stock that had been owned by the technology company. The litigation between the parties was dismissed in connection with the settlement, and the Company retains no equity interest in the technology company. Alan B. Levan, John E. Abdo, and certain affiliates of the Company's parent, BFC Financial Corporation, elected to retain part or all of their investments in the technology company, but recovered, in connection with the settlement, legal expenses and damages totaling $442,590 in cash and 79,835 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock that had been owned by the technology company. The legal fees associated with the lawsuit and the damages received by the Company and its affiliates were shared pro rata based on the amount of each party's original investment in the technology company.

10. Segment Reporting

Operating segments are defined as components of an enterprise about which separate financial information is available that is regularly reviewed by the chief operating decision maker in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance. Reportable segments consist of one or more operating segments with similar economic characteristics, products and services, production processes, type of customer, distribution system and regulatory environment. The activities of reportable segments exclude discontinued operations, extraordinary gains (losses) and income (loss) from changes in accounting principles. The accounting policies of these reportable segments are the same as those of the Company.

As of January 1, 2004, the Company implemented a new internal reporting methodology for evaluating operating segment performance for BankAtlantic's reportable segments. Additionally, Ryan Beck changed the composition of its reportable segments, creating three reportable segments. As a result of Ryan Beck's change, the Company's results of operations are now reported through seven reportable segments instead of five reportable segments reported by the Company in prior periods. Segment reporting for the three months ended March 31, 2003 was restated to conform to the new methodology.

The following summarizes the aggregation of the Company's operating segments into reportable segments:

The amounts included in the three BankAtlantic reportable segments are derived using a management reporting model that includes the methodologies of funds transfer pricing and activity based costing. Exposure to interest rate risk is managed centrally and reflected in BankAtlantic's segment reporting under the heading entitled "Treasury". In each segment the funds transfer pricing model charges each interest earning asset with a duration-matched cost of funds at the date of origination for the life of the asset or until a variable rate asset reprices. This matching of durations between interest earning assets and rate-bearing liabilities isolates the net interest income of each banking operating segment from interest rate risk and places the gains and losses from BankAtlantic's management of interest rate risk in the Treasury. The duration on savings and transaction account deposit products that do not have maturities were estimated based on a deposit duration.

analysis performed by a third party consultant. The activity based costing model allocates costs to the activities and processes that create the expenses and transfers costs for services provided by one segment to another.

Net charge-offs or recoveries are allocated to the BankAtlantic reportable segment that generated the loss or recovery.

Non-interest income and expenses are credited to the reportable segment that generated the revenues or costs. Intersegment costs are allocated to the operating segments based on an activity based costing model.

Income tax expense is allocated based on a standard tax rate of 36% for BankAtlantic's reportable segments.

The Treasury net contribution represents the difference between the actual net interest income earned by BankAtlantic and the aggregate net interest income allocated to the reportable segments calculated using funds transfer pricing methodologies.

Other includes discontinued loan products and unallocated corporate overhead. Discontinued loan products represent the net interest income and net recoveries from our discontinued loan products (consumer indirect, syndication, lease financing and small business loans originated before January 1, 2001). Unallocated corporate overhead represents expenses that were not assigned to bank reportable segments through the activity based costing model. These overhead costs cannot be broken down and attributed directly to the activities of specific reportable segments, and therefore allocation of costs would have to be based on subjective measures that could distort the performance of the reportable segments. As a consequence, management has decided not to allocate these overhead costs. These overhead costs are primarily back office costs, such as human resources, accounting, finance, auditing, and data processing.

BankAtlantic's standby letters of credit are generally issued to customers in the construction industry guaranteeing project performance. These types of standby letters of credit had a maximum exposure of $29.9 million at March 31, 2004. BankAtlantic also issues standby letters of credit to commercial lending customers guaranteeing the payment of goods and services. These types of standby letters of credit had a maximum exposure of $6.1 million at March 31, 2004. These guarantees are primarily issued to support public and private borrowing arrangements and have maturities of one year or less. The credit risk involved in issuing letters of credit is essentially the same as that involved in extending loan facilities to customers. BankAtlantic may hold certificates of deposit and residential and commercial liens as collateral for such commitments. Included in other liabilities at March 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003 was $70,000 and $110,000, respectively, of unearned guarantee fees.

14. New Accounting Pronouncements

In March 2004, the Securities and Exchange Commission issued Staff Accounting Bulletin (SAB) No. 105, Application of Accounting Principles to Loan Commitments. This SAB provided guidance that should be considered when calculating the fair value of certain loan commitments accounted for as derivatives. Additionally, the SAB provided disclosure requirements with respect to loan commitments accounted for as derivatives. Although this SAB is applicable to the Company, the implementation of this SAB on April 1, 2004 did not have a material impact on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

In March 2004, the Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF) reached a consensus on EITF 03-1 The Meaning of Other-Than-Temporary Impairment and Its Application to Certain Investments. The EITF provides guidance on the meaning of other-than-temporary impairment and its application to investments classified as either available for sale or held to maturity under FASB Statement No. 115 and investments accounted for under the cost method of accounting. The Company has reviewed this guidance and management believes that it will not have a significant impact on the Company's existing accounting policies or on its financial statements.

In December 2003, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants Accounting Standards Executive Committee issued Statement of Position 03-3 (SOP), Accounting for Certain Loans or Debt Securities Acquired in a

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

Transfer . The SOP addresses accounting for loans and debt securities acquired in purchase business combinations or purchased subsequent to origination. The SOP prohibits the creation of valuation allowances in the initial accounting of all loans acquired. The SOP does not apply to originated loans. The SOP limits the yield that may be accreted to the excess of the purchaser's estimate of undiscounted expected principal, interest and other cash flows over the purchaser's initial investment. The SOP requires excess contractual cash flows over cash flows expected to be collected to not be recognized as an adjustment of yield, loss accrual or valuation allowance. Subsequent increases in cash flows expected to be collected generally should be recognized prospectively through adjustment of the loan's yield over its remaining life. Decreases in cash flows expected to be collected should be recognized as impairments. The SOP is effective for loans and securities acquired in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2004 with early adoption encouraged. Management intends to adopt the provisions of the SOP on January 1, 2005. The SOP will have an effect on future loan acquisitions that are within the scope of the SOP but will not have an effect on the Company's historical financial statements.

15. Subsequent Event

In April 2004, the Company withdrew the registration statement previously filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission relating to the offering of 4,000,000 shares of its Class A Common Stock.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The amounts in management's discussion and analysis have been restated as described in Note A to the consolidated financial statements in Item 1 of this Form 10Q/A.

The objective of the following discussion is to provide an understanding of the financial condition and results of operations of BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiaries (the Company, which may also be referred to as we, us, or our) for the three months ended March 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively. The principal assets of the Company consist of its ownership of these subsidiaries, which include BankAtlantic, a federal savings bank headquartered in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and its subsidiaries (BankAtlantic) and RB Holdings, Inc., the holding company for Ryan Beck & Co., Inc., a brokerage and investment banking firm located in Livingston, New Jersey, and its subsidiaries (Ryan Beck).

Except for historical information contained herein, the matters discussed in this document contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act), that involve substantial risks and uncertainties. When used in this document and in any documents incorporated by reference herein, the words anticipate, believe, estimate, may, intend, expect and similar expressions identify certain of such forward-looking statements. Actual results, performance, or achievements could differ materially from those contemplated, expressed, or implied by the forward-looking statements contained herein. These forward-looking statements are based largely on the expectations of the Company and are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties that are subject to change based on factors which are, in many instances, beyond the Company's control. These include, but are not limited to: risks and uncertainties associated with: the impact of economic, competitive and other factors affecting the Company and its operations, markets, products and services; credit risks and loan losses, and the related sufficiency of the allowance for loan losses; changes in interest rates and the effects of, and changes in, trade, monetary and fiscal policies and laws; adverse conditions in the stock market, the public debt market and other capital markets and the impact of such conditions on our activities and the value of our assets; BankAtlantic's seven-day banking initiative and other growth initiatives not being successful or producing results which do not justify their costs; the impact of periodic testing of goodwill and other intangible assets for impairment; and BankAtlantic's achieving the benefits of its prepayment of certain Federal Home Loan Bank (FHLB) advances. Further, this document contains forward-looking statements with respect to Ryan Beck, which are subject to a number of risks and uncertainties, including, but not limited to: the risks and uncertainties associated with its operations, products and services; changes in economic or regulatory policies applicable to it; the volatility of the stock market and fixed income markets; the mix of revenue-producing financial products in which it invests or which it offers its customers; the success of any new lines of business in which it may engage; uncertainties associated with litigation brought against Gruntal & Co., LLC (Gruntal), a company in which certain assets were acquired and certain liabilities were assumed by Ryan Beck in 2002; and additional risks and uncertainties that are subject to change and may be outside of Ryan Beck's control. In addition to the risks and factors identified above, reference is also made to other risks and factors detailed in reports filed by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company cautions that the foregoing factors are not exclusive.

Critical Accounting Policies

Management views critical accounting policies as accounting policies that are important to the understanding of our financial statements and also involve estimates and judgments about inherently uncertain matters. In preparing the financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the consolidated statements of financial condition and assumptions that affect the recognition of income and expenses on the statement of operations for the periods presented. Actual results could differ significantly from those estimates. Material estimates that are particularly susceptible to significant change in subsequent periods relate to the determination of the allowance for loan losses, evaluation of goodwill and other intangible assets for impairment, the valuation of real estate acquired in connection with foreclosure or in satisfaction of loans, the valuation of the fair value of assets and liabilities in the application of the purchase method of accounting, the valuation of securities, the amount of the deferred tax asset valuation allowance, and accounting for contingencies. The six accounting policies that we have identified as critical accounting policies are: (i) allowance for loan losses; (ii) valuation of securities; (iii) impairment of goodwill and other intangible assets; (iv) impairment of long-lived assets; (v) accounting for business combinations; and (vi) accounting for contingencies. For a more detailed discussion of these critical accounting policies see Critical Accounting Policies appearing in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003.

For the Three Months Ended March 31, 2004 Compared to the Same 2003 Period (as restated):

Income from continuing operations increased 90% from the same 2003 period, to $20.5 million for the first quarter of 2004, up from $10.8 million in the corresponding period in 2003. The increase in income from continuing operations consisted primarily of two components, a $22.8 million equity security litigation settlement gain recognized in connection with the Company's settlement in March 2004 of litigation with a technology company in which the Company was an investor, and an improvement in earnings at Ryan Beck. Ryan Beck experienced growth in merger and acquisition-related business that resulted in higher fee income for its investment banking segment, and growth in the business of its private client group that resulted in increased retail commission revenues. The improvement in Ryan Beck earnings and the equity security litigation settlement gain were partially offset by BankAtlantic earnings that were less than those for the comparable 2003 period, primarily because of the prepayment penalties incurred when BankAtlantic prepaid high fixed interest rate FHLB advances. The prepaid FHLB advances totaled $108 million, resulting in prepayment penalties of $11.7 million. Excluding the impact of the equity security litigation settlement gain and the FHLB advance prepayment penalties, income from continuing operations would have been $13.4 million for the first quarter of 2004, an increase of 24% over that for the same 2003 period.

Net interest income increased slightly from the 2003 quarter. The improvement was primarily the result of rates on interest bearing liabilities decreasing faster than yields earned on interest earning assets, a by-product of falling interest rates. Interest bearing liability rates also decreased because of a change in the mix of BankAtlantic's deposit accounts, with fewer high rate certificate of deposit accounts and more low cost deposit and insured money fund accounts in the first quarter of 2004 as compared to the first quarter of 2003. This change was due primarily to BankAtlantic's initiatives associated with its Florida's Most Convenient Bank campaign. Those initiatives include seven-day banking, extended weekday hours, 24/7 call center service, Totally Free Checking, free online banking, Totally Free Change Exchange coin counters, and various other products and services. Since the implementation of those initiatives during 2002, BankAtlantic has opened nearly 290,000 new checking and savings accounts, including more than 45,000 in the first quarter of 2004 compared to approximately 37,000 during the first quarter of 2003.

The improvement in the provision for loan losses reflects net recoveries of previously charged off loans associated with BankAtlantic's discontinued loan products and implementation of a loan underwriting policy that emphasizes collateral based lending relationships. These collateral based loans have lower credit risk than BankAtlantic's discontinued loan products, which allowed BankAtlantic to reduce its allowance for loan losses as a percentage of outstanding loans.

Gains on securities activities during the 2004 quarter resulted from the repositioning of mutual fund investments. Gains on securities activities during the 2003 quarter resulted from a liquidating dividend associated with equity securities owned by BankAtlantic Bancorp.

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

Other non-interest income increased 20% from the 2003 quarter. The increase primarily resulted from substantial increases in Ryan Beck's non-interest income and in service charges received by BankAtlantic.

Ryan Beck's non-interest income was $63.1 million in the first quarter 2004, representing an increase of 19% over the comparable 2003 period. The Private Client Group revenues for the first quarter 2004 rose 38% to $43.9 million, compared to $31.9 million in the comparable 2003 period. Investment Banking revenues for the quarter grew to $12.2 million, compared to $11.3 million in the comparable 2003 period.

BankAtlantic's non-interest income, which primarily consisted of service charges and other bank related fees, increased 21% in the first quarter of 2004 compared to the same quarter a year earlier. The increase is primarily attributable to growth in the number of deposit accounts at the bank. The growth in the number of deposit accounts were primarily the result of initiatives adopted in connection with BankAtlantic's Florida's Most Convenient Bank campaign.

Non-interest expense in the first quarter of 2004 increased 26% from the comparable 2003 quarter. Included in the 2004 quarter is an $11.7 million expense consisting of prepayment penalties incurred by BankAtlantic when it prepaid certain high rate FHLB advances. Excluding this expense item, non-interest expense increased 13%.

Ryan Beck's non-interest expense increased 10%, from $51.8 million in the first quarter of 2003 to $57.1 million in the first quarter of 2004, primarily as a result of increased commissions and other compensation expenses related to the generation of increased revenues.

BankAtlantic's non-interest expense, excluding the $11.7 million prepayment penalty, increased 17%, from $36.3 million in the first quarter of 2003 to $42.4 million in the first quarter of 2004. BankAtlantic's marketing initiatives, including 7-day banking and the newly introduced "Yeah, We're Open" slogan, resulted in increased advertising expenditures, and the extended banking hours implemented at its branches and the growth in customer accounts required additional employees which resulted in increased employee compensation and benefits expenses.

In December 2003, the Company completed the spin-off of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Levitt, and transferred its investment in Bluegreen Corporation to Levitt. During the year ended December 31, 2003, Ryan Beck sold two of its subsidiaries, GMS and Cumberland. The above transactions were presented as discontinued operations in our statement of operations for the three months ended March 31, 2003.

For the Three Months Ended March 31, 2004 Compared to the Same 2003 Period:

The slight improvement in net interest income in the first quarter of 2004 as compared to the first quarter of 2003 primarily resulted from an improvement in the net interest margin, partially offset by a decline in average earning assets.

BankAtlantic's average interest earning asset balances declined, as compared to the first quarter of 2003, primarily because the falling interest rates over the past year resulted in increased refinancings and prepayments of many residential loans originated or purchased by BankAtlantic. This reduced the balances in both its residential mortgage loan portfolio and its taxable investment securities portfolio. At the same time, BankAtlantic experienced growth in its commercial real estate loans and in consumer equity lines of credit, which mitigated the negative impact of residential loan prepayments.

As a by-product of the residential loan prepayment activity, BankAtlantic's average interest earning asset balances declined. As interest rates continued to fall, BankAtlantic found that few attractive alternatives existed for re-investment of the proceeds from the residential loan and taxable securities prepayments and from payments of loans and securities that matured during the same period. Therefore, instead of re-investing these proceeds in this rate environment, it chose to decrease the amount of its existing debt. The fixed interest rates on BankAtlantic's FHLB advances were higher than the interest rates that BankAtlantic determined it is presently able to obtain on its borrowings, and therefore it prepaid the FHLB advances with the expectation that their elimination will favorably impact its net interest margin in future periods. As a consequence, BankAtlantic's average FHLB advance balances declined by approximately $524 million, thereby reducing its interest expense on advances. During 2003, BankAtlantic repaid fixed rate FHLB advances that would have matured within 24 months, and during the 2004 quarter BankAtlantic repaid FHLB advances that would have matured during 2007 and 2008. The FHLB advances repaid had higher interest rates than alternative borrowings with the same maturity dates; however, they did not have higher rates than certain remaining BankAtlantic FHLB advance borrowings. As a consequence, average FHLB advance rates during the three months ended March 31, 2004 only declined slightly from the FHLB advance rates during the comparable 2003 period. Also, interest expense on BankAtlantic's short-term borrowings was substantially lower during 2004 due to the lower rates and lower balances on its debt. Average debt balances decreased as a direct result of having lower average interest earning assets.

Although the foregoing factors all had an impact on BankAtlantic's net interest margin, a significant factor resulting in the improvement of its net interest margin was a substantial reduction in its deposit interest expense, attributed to a 74 basis point reduction in average deposit interest rates. The reduction in average deposit interest rates resulted chiefly from a combination of the low interest rate environment and a change in the bank's deposit mix, with fewer higher rate certificate of deposit accounts and more low cost deposits and insured money fund accounts in the first quarter of 2004 as compared to the first quarter of 2003. Low cost deposits are checking and savings accounts. Average low cost deposits increased from $1,075 million during the first quarter of 2003 to $1,428 million during the comparable 2004 quarter, while certificate of deposit average balances declined from $967 million during the 2003 quarter to $770 million during the comparable 2004 quarter. Additionally, average non-interest bearing checking accounts included in low cost deposits grew from $478 million during the first quarter of 2003, to $665 million during the comparable 2004 quarter. Average insured money fund balances increased from $809 million during the first quarter of 2003, to $867 million during the comparable 2004 quarter. Growth in BankAtlantic's checking and saving accounts is primarily attributable to its Florida's Most Convenient Bank initiatives. Since the implementation of those initiatives in 2002, BankAtlantic has opened nearly 290,000 new checking and savings accounts, including more than 45,000 in the first quarter of 2004.

In total, the rate on BankAtlantic's interest bearing liabilities decreased 81 basis points as a result of the change in deposit mix, the historically low interest rate environment, and the decrease in its balances of high rate FHLB advances, whereas the rate on BankAtlantic's interest earning assets decreased only 44 basis points. The decline in average asset yields was due to the downward re-pricing of floating rate loans and the purchase of loans at rates lower than the rates earned on the loans that prepaid or remain in BankAtlantic's existing portfolio.

During the first quarter of 2004, recoveries on previously charged off loans exceeded gross loan charge-offs by $647,000. The net recoveries primarily related to BankAtlantic's discontinued loan products, which include lease financing, indirect consumer lending, syndication lending, and certain types of small business lending. The remaining balance of these discontinued products declined to $26.1 million from $58.6 million a year earlier. Although BankAtlantic discontinued these loan products, it did not sell any portion of these portfolios. The unamortized principal balances remain in BankAtlantic's loan portfolio. BankAtlantic continues to monitor the net charge off history of the remaining balances of these products, and continues to maintain an allowance for loan losses for these products that it believes reflects the historic performance of this portfolio.

During the first quarter of 2003, recoveries on previously charged off loans exceeded gross loan charge-offs by $557,000. The net recoveries in 2003 also related to discontinued loan products, including a $2.1 million recovery from settlement of a syndication loan that BankAtlantic had charged down by $8.0 million during the first quarter of 2002.

BankAtlantic's allowance for loan losses was 1.22% and 1.24% of total loans at March 31, 2004 and 2003, respectively. At March 31, 2004, loans receivable had declined to $3.720 billion from $3.930 billion at March 31, 2003. Management believes that the $859,000 loan loss recovery during the first quarter of 2004 was the result of a decline in the loan balances in the bank's loan portfolio and an improvement in the credit quality of the loans in the portfolio. The improvement in credit quality was associated with changes in BankAtlantic's loan underwriting standards placing an emphasis on collateral based lending, coupled with the run-off of the discontinued loan products. The $850,000 provision for loan losses during the comparable 2003 quarter resulted from loan growth resulting principally from the purchase of $675 million of residential loans.

In 2000, BankAtlantic significantly restructured its credit analysis procedures, shifting to a formal written credit analysis framework from its former approach based on credit scoring. In addition, lending policies were revised and a centralized underwriting department was established which reports to credit administration personnel, rather than loan origination personnel under the prior policy.

Adjustments to the allowance for loan losses acquired in 2003 were associated with loans acquired in connection with the 2002 purchase of Community. BankAtlantic reduced its allowance for loan losses and reduced goodwill by $734,000 during the 2003 first quarter for acquired loans which had been assigned a valuation allowance at the acquisition date that had either matured or were prepaid.

Non-performing assets continued to remain at historically low levels. Non-performing assets remained unchanged from December 31, 2003 at 0.36% of total loans, tax certificates and repossessed assets.

During the first quarter of 2004, non-accrual loans increased because BankAtlantic placed a $1.4 million loan to a borrower in the telecommunications industry on non-accrual status. This loan was placed on non-accrual status because of business adversity within the telecommunications industry and the borrower's failure to receive revenues from a significant contract which had a material adverse effect on the borrower's cash flow. As a consequence, the loan was individually evaluated for impairment by estimating the present value of the expected cash flows and comparing the amount to the outstanding balance of the loan. As a result of this analysis a $956,000 specific valuation allowance was established on this loan as shown in the above table.

The decline in repossessed assets was primarily due to sales of 1-4 family residential properties during the 2004 quarter.

Service charges and fees increased during the 2004 first quarter, as compared to the same 2003 quarter, primarily because of a 25% increase in check card and ATM fees. Service charges on deposits also increased by 32% over those charged during the comparable 2003 quarter. The increase in service charges primarily resulted from a 39% increase in overdraft fees from transaction accounts. The higher overdraft fees were due to both an increase in the number of accounts and additional fees assessed on overdrafts. Additionally, growth in the number of checking accounts resulted in additional income from check printing charges and checking account related services. The increase in revenues from service charges, check card, ATM and other checking account related fees is linked to the significant increase in the number of transaction accounts opened at BankAtlantic.

Income from real estate operations represents revenues from a real estate joint venture that was acquired as part of the Community acquisition in 2002. The decrease in real estate income in the first quarter of 2004 reflects a decline in the number of units closed by the joint venture during the first quarter of 2004, as compared to the same 2003 period. During the current quarter, the joint venture closed on two lots, whereas during the first quarter of 2003, the joint venture closed on four condominiums and one single family home.

Other income reported for the 2004 quarter was favorably impacted by $129,000 of gains on loans held for sale, compared to $3,000 for the 2003 quarter, and an increase in wire fee income during the current quarter, compared to the same 2003 quarter.

Compensation and benefit expenses increased in the first quarter of 2004 by 18% over the comparable 2003 quarter. In addition to annual employee salary increases, the growth in this expense category primarily resulted from an increase in the number of BankAtlantic employees. BankAtlantic hired additional employees to staff its branches and operations during the extended business hours implemented in connection with its Florida's Most Convenient Bank initiative. The number of full time equivalent BankAtlantic employees increased to 1,428 at March 31, 2004 versus 1,244 at December 31, 2002. In addition, the cost of BankAtlantic's regular benefit programs and health insurance increased significantly.

Occupancy and equipment expenses increased 7.5% over those in the first quarter of 2003, chiefly because BankAtlantic engaged additional guard services to increase security at its branches. This increase in occupancy and equipment expenses was partially offset by a reduction in data processing costs that resulted from a renegotiated contract with one of the bank's service providers.

Advertising expenses during the first quarter of 2004 increased significantly from those incurred during the comparable 2003 quarter, as a direct result of an aggressive BankAtlantic marketing campaign during the current quarter that included television and radio advertising to promote the Florida's Most Convenient Bank initiatives and the newly introduced "Yeah, We're Open" slogan. Management is aggressively marketing these initiatives and slogan, based on its determination to build upon the substantial increase in new BankAtlantic accounts since the introduction of the Florida's Most Convenient Bank campaign in 2002. Management ramped up the marketing campaign in early 2004, thereby increasing marketing expenditures, in an effort to attract additional low cost deposit accounts. The marketing campaign is ongoing and BankAtlantic anticipates continued higher advertising and promotion expenditures during the 2004 fiscal year compared to those incurred during the 2003 fiscal year.

Amortization of intangible assets during the three months ended March 31, 2004 and 2003 reflects the amortization of core deposit intangible assets acquired in connection with the Community acquisition. These core deposit intangible assets are being amortized over an estimated life of seven years.

The cost associated with debt redemption resulted from a prepayment penalty of $11.7 million incurred when BankAtlantic prepaid $108 million of FHLB advances that had an average interest rate of 5.55% and were scheduled to mature in 2007-2008. The interest rates on these FHLB advances exceeded the rates that BankAtlantic is currently able to obtain on FHLB advances, and therefore BankAtlantic expects to recover this expense in future periods through the savings realized from lower borrowing costs.

Other expenses, in total, remained stable for the three months ended March 31, 2004 compared to the same 2003 period. However, the 2003 period included a $750,000 write-down of a real estate owned (REO) property. This write-down resulted from a reassessment of a residential construction property that was transferred to REO during the second quarter of 2002. In the 2004 period, we incurred higher operating expenses linked to the substantial increase in new deposit accounts. These higher expenses include postage, correspondent bank clearing charges and insurance expenses.

Income from continuing operations	$ 5,128	$ 1,823	$ 3,305

Income from continuing operations increased primarily as a result of higher transactional business and investment banking activity associated with three large financial institution offerings during the first quarter of 2004.

Net interest income increased 32% in the first quarter of 2004, as compared to the same 2003 quarter. The increase in net interest income primarily resulted from expansion of municipal, corporate and government bond trading activities and the associated spread between the interest on the bonds and the financing costs incurred. Also included in interest income was Ryan Beck's participation in interest income associated with approximately $231 million of customer margin debit balances and fees earned in connection with approximately $1.2 billion in customer money market balances. Further contributing to the increase in net interest income was Ryan Beck's repayment of a subordinated loan from the Company in the third quarter of 2003, eliminating the interest expense on that loan. Ryan Beck's increase in interest income was partially offset by an increase in interest expense due to increased borrowings by Ryan Beck from its clearing agent in connection with a higher volume of trading activity.

Principal transaction revenue decreased by 3% as compared to the same quarter of 2003, primarily because in the 2003 quarter Ryan Beck recorded $7.7 million of principal gross sales credits in connection with a second step mutual to stock conversion and best efforts offering which it conducted for one of its financial institutions group clients. In the first quarter of 2004, Ryan Beck received principal gross sales credits of $2.3 million related to Unit Investment Trusts offerings. Ryan Beck's transactional business was higher in the 2004 first quarter as compared to 2003, and it expects a high level of transactional business to continue based upon the current economic climate.

Investment banking revenue increased by 64% from the same quarter of 2003, attributable mainly to increased merger and acquisition fees and consulting fees received by the Financial Institution and Middle Market Investment Banking Groups. During the first quarter, the Financial Institutions Group completed five mergers and the Middle Market Group completed one of the best performing IPO's for the quarter among domestic transactions. Additionally, in early April 2004, Ryan Beck completed certain major investment banking transactions which resulted in revenue in excess of all investment banking revenue realized by Ryan Beck in the 2004 first quarter. The impact of those transactions will be reflected in the second quarter of 2004.

Commission revenue increased by 31% from the same quarter of 2003, attributable mainly to increased agency transactions conducted in 2004. During the first quarter of 2004, Ryan Beck's ticket volume was 297,688, an increase of 44% compared to first quarter 2003.

The increase in employee compensation and benefits of 16% from 2003 is primarily due to the increase in bonus accruals necessitated by the additional investment banking revenue in 2004 versus 2003. Also contributing to the increase is commission expense associated with the increase in Ryan Beck's commissionable revenue.

Professional fees in the first quarter of 2004 were less than those in 2003 primarily because of reduced legal costs associated with the Gruntal transaction (see Part II, Item 1 Legal Proceedings herein for a further discussion.) During the first quarter of 2004, the bankruptcy court presiding over the Gruntal bankruptcy proceedings entered an order confirming a plan of liquidation for Gruntal that included a third-party release in favor of Ryan Beck and the Company, and it is expected that the majority of the claims against Ryan Beck associated with the Gruntal transaction will be permanently stayed or dismissed by the arbitration panels and courts hearing such claims.

The decrease in communications costs is primarily due to the elimination, as part of the integration of Gruntal operations into those of Ryan Beck, of duplicate services that were in place in the first quarter of 2003.

The increase in floor broker and clearing fees is due to the increase in transactional business in 2004, as compared to 2003.

Interest on loans during the 2004 quarter is interest income recognized by the Company on loans to Levitt having an aggregate principal balance of $42.1 million. Interest on loans during the 2003 quarter is interest income recognized by the Company on a $30 million loan to Levitt and a $5 million loan to Ryan Beck.

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

Interest expense increased during the first quarter of 2004, as compared to the same 2003 period, as a result of the Company's accrual of interest expense on $77.3 million of junior subordinated debentures issued during March and April of 2003 as part of the trust preferred securities offerings. The proceeds of these offerings were used to repay $46.0 million of convertible debentures and pay down by $16 million a bank line of credit. The junior subordinated debentures issued had higher rates than the convertible debentures and the bank line of credit.

Income from unconsolidated subsidiaries represents the equity earnings from trusts formed to issue trust preferred securities as part of trust preferred securities offerings. The increase in the first quarter of 2004 was primarily because of earnings from three new trusts established in March and April 2003.

The income from securities activities during the three months ended March 31, 2004 represents gains from mutual fund sales. The Company sold mutual funds to rebalance its investment portfolio to benchmark allocation percentages. The income from securities activities during the three months ended March 31, 2003 represented a gain realized from a liquidating dividend on an equity security.

The equity security litigation settlement gain reflects proceeds from a litigation settlement related to the Company's prior investment of $15 million in a technology company which it sold in connection with the settlement to a third party investor group. During 2002, the Company recorded an impairment charge for its entire $15 million investment in the technology company, based on the Company's analysis of the technology company's operations. During the first quarter of 2004, the Company and certain of its affiliates settled litigation related to its investment in this technology company. Pursuant to the settlement, the Company sold its stock in the technology company to a third party investor group for $15 million in cash, the Company's original cost, and the Company received consideration from the technology company for legal expenses and damages, consisting of cash of $1.7 million and 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock that the technology company returned to the Company. The litigation between the parties was dismissed in connection with the settlement, and the Company has no further interest in the technology company.

The Company's investment banking expense during the first quarter of 2003 resulted from fees paid by it to Ryan Beck in connection with Ryan Beck's underwriting of the Company's offering of trust preferred securities in 2003. These fees are included in Ryan Beck's investment banking income in Ryan Beck's business segment results of operations and were eliminated in the Company's consolidated financial statements.

Other income during the first quarter of 2004 includes fees received by the Company for investor relations and risk management services provided by the Company to Levitt and BFC Financial Corporation.

The Company incurred compensation expense as a result of hiring investor relations and risk management personnel as of January 1, 2004, who were formerly employed by BankAtlantic. Compensation expense during the three months ended March 31, 2003 primarily resulted from the issuance of Class A restricted stock to BankAtlantic employees and the amortization of a forgivable loan.

The increase in professional fees during the 2004 first quarter compared to the same 2003 period consisted of higher professional fees associated with the technology company litigation that was settled in 2004 and an accrual for risk management consulting services provided to the Company by Bluegreen Corporation.

Financial Condition (as restated)

Our total assets at March 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003 were approximately $4.8 billion. Changes in the components of total assets included reductions in the following assets:

Decreases in real estate held for development and investments and advances to unconsolidated subsidiaries due to the spin-off of Levitt;

Decreases in our loan portfolio due to residential loan refinancing activity and declining discontinued loan product balances;

Reduction in tax certificate balances primarily related to certificate repayments;

Lower securities owned associated with Ryan Beck's trading activities;

Decline in deferred tax assets related to the technology company litigation settlement and Redemptions of FHLB stock linked to the prepayment of FHLB advances.

The above decreases were partially offset by:

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

The origination of and participation in commercial real estate loans;

The origination of home equity loans;

Increases in office property and equipment renovation costs associated with the construction of BankAtlantic's new corporate headquarters and

Higher real estate inventory related to increased construction activity by a real estate joint venture acquired in connection with the Community acquisition.

The Company's total liabilities at March 31, 2004 were $4.3 billion compared to $4.4 billion at December 31, 2003. The decrease in total liabilities primarily resulted from:

The prepayment and repayment at maturity of over $191 million of FHLB Advances;

Reduction in certificate of deposit account balances associated with marketing initiatives focusing on the origination of low cost deposits;

Decreases in securities sold but not yet purchased associated with Ryan Beck trading activities and

Decline in other liabilities associated with lower accrued compensation expense.

The above decreases in total liabilities were partially offset by:

Higher transaction and savings account balances resulting from BankAtlantic's seven-day banking and totally free checking account initiatives and

Increases in due to clearing agent balances associated with Ryan Beck's trading activities.

Stockholders' equity at March 31, 2004 was $429.5 million compared to $413.5 million at December 31, 2003. The increase was primarily attributable to earnings of $20.5 million, a $1.4 million increase in other comprehensive income and $2.2 million of proceeds and tax benefits from the issuance of common stock upon the exercise of stock options. The above increases in stockholders' equity were partially offset by the payment of $1.9 million of common stock dividends and a $6.1 million reduction in additional paid in capital resulting from the retirement of 378,160 shares of the Company's Class A Common Stock received as part of its litigation settlement related to its investment in a private technology company.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc. Liquidity and Capital Resources

The Company's principal source of liquidity is dividends from BankAtlantic and, to a lesser extent, Ryan Beck. The Company also obtains funds through the issuance of equity and debt securities, borrowings from financial institutions, liquidation of equity securities and other investments it holds, management fees from subsidiaries and affiliates and principal and interest payments from loans to Levitt Corporation. The Company uses these funds to purchase equity investments, provide capital to its subsidiaries, pay dividends to its shareholders and to fund operations. The Company's annual debt service associated with its junior subordinated debentures and other borrowings is approximately $16.0 million. The Company's estimated current annual dividends to common shareholders are approximately $7.8 million. During 2003, the Company received $20.0 million of dividends from BankAtlantic. The declaration and payment of dividends and the ability of the Company to meet its debt service obligations will depend upon the results of operations, financial condition and cash requirements of the Company, indenture restrictions and loan covenants, and the ability of BankAtlantic to pay dividends to the Company. BankAtlantic's dividends are subject to regulations and OTS approval and are based upon BankAtlantic's regulatory capital levels and net income. In addition, Ryan Beck paid $5 million in dividends to the Company during the first quarter of 2004. This was the first time Ryan Beck has paid dividends to the Company since being acquired in 1998. However, whether dividend payments will be made in the future, and their timing and amount, will depend upon the results of operations, financial condition and capital requirements of Ryan Beck.

The Company maintains a revolving credit facility of $30 million with an independent financial institution. The credit facility contains customary covenants, including financial covenants relating to regulatory capital and maintenance of certain loan loss reserves and is secured by the common stock of BankAtlantic. The Company has used this credit facility to temporarily fund acquisitions and asset purchases as well as for general corporate purposes. The credit facility had an outstanding balance of $100,000 at March 31, 2004, and we were in compliance with all loan covenants. Amounts outstanding accrue interest at the prime rate minus 50 basis points, and the facility matures on March 1, 2005.

BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.

The Company filed a registration statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission relating to the offering of 4,000,000 shares of its Class A Common Stock, with an over allotment option of 600,000 shares. In April 2004, the Company withdrew this registration statement. The decision to withdraw the offering was based on the Company's shareholders' equity and cash position having improved significantly since the filing of the registration statement, but the trading price of bank equities, including the Company's stock, having declined following announcement of the offering, related largely to increased market expectations of higher interest rates. Additionally, BankAtlantic's regulatory capital ratios qualify BankAtlantic as well capitalized and the Company projects sufficient earnings to support its growth. The Company has no plans to offer these securities at this time.

BankAtlantic Liquidity and Capital Resources

BankAtlantic's liquidity will depend on its ability to generate sufficient cash to support loan demand, to meet deposit withdrawals, and to pay operating expenses. BankAtlantic's securities portfolio provides an internal source of liquidity through its short-term investments as well as scheduled maturities and interest payments. Loan repayments and sales also provide an internal source of liquidity.

BankAtlantic's primary sources of funds are: deposits; principal repayments of loans and tax certificates and securities available for sale; proceeds from the sale of loans and securities available for sale; proceeds from securities sold under agreements to repurchase; advances from the FHLB; and operations. These funds were utilized to: fund loan disbursements and purchases; cover deposit outflows; repay securities sold under agreements to repurchase; repay advances from the FHLB; purchase tax certificates; pay maturing certificates of deposit; pay operating expenses; and pay dividends to the Company. BankAtlantic has a $1.4 billion line of credit with the FHLB, subject to available collateral, with a maximum term of ten years. BankAtlantic has utilized its FHLB line of credit to borrow $591.5 million in FHLB advances, and the FHLB issued a $92 million letter of credit to secure public deposits under this line of credit at March 31, 2004. The line of credit is secured by a blanket lien on BankAtlantic's residential mortgage loans and certain commercial real estate loans. BankAtlantic's available borrowings under this line of credit were approximately $741.7 million at March 31, 2004. BankAtlantic has also established lines of credit for up to $250 million with other banks to purchase federal funds, and it has established an $8.6 million potential advance with the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta. BankAtlantic has various relationships to acquire brokered deposits. These relationships may be utilized as an alternative source of borrowings, if needed.

BankAtlantic's commitments to originate and purchase loans at March 31, 2004 were $353.8 million and $103.6 million, respectively, compared to $368.8 million and $124.5 million, respectively, at March 31, 2003. Additionally, BankAtlantic had commitments to purchase mortgage-backed securities of $106.4 million and $27.8 million, respectively, at March 31, 2004 and 2003. At March 31, 2004, loan commitments represented approximately 12.45% of loans receivable, net.

As of March 31, 2004, BankAtlantic had approximately $121.1 million in investments and mortgage-backed securities pledged against securities sold under agreements to repurchase.

During 2002, BankAtlantic purchased a $14.3 million building to consolidate its headquarters and back office operations into a centralized facility. BankAtlantic had incurred approximately $5.3 million in renovation costs. The total estimated cost to complete renovation is approximately $19.2 million, and the facility is expected to be completed in October, 2004. The costs to complete renovation will be funded by cash flow from operations.

At March 31, 2004, BankAtlantic met all applicable liquidity and regulatory capital requirements.

Ryan Beck & Co., Inc. Liquidity and Capital Resources

Ryan Beck's primary source of funds during the three months ended March 31, 2004 were clearing broker borrowings, proceeds from the sale of securities owned, proceeds from securities sold but not yet purchased, and fees from customers. These funds were primarily utilized to pay operating expenses, pay dividends to the Company, fund the purchase of securities owned and fund capital expenditures.

In the ordinary course of business, Ryan Beck borrows under an agreement with its clearing broker by pledging securities owned as collateral primarily to finance its trading inventories. The amount and terms of the borrowings are subject to the lending policies of the clearing broker and can be changed at the clearing broker's discretion. Additionally, the amount financed is also impacted by the market value of the securities owned which are pledged as collateral.

Ryan Beck is subject to the net capital provision of Rule 15c3-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital and requires the ratio of aggregate indebtedness to net capital, both as defined, not to exceed 15 to 1. Additionally, Ryan Beck, as a market maker, is subject to supplemental requirements of Rule 15c3-1(a) 4, which provides for the computation of net capital to be based on the number of and price of issues in which markets are made by Ryan Beck, not to exceed $1.0 million. Ryan Beck's regulatory net capital was $21.4 million, which was $20.4 million in excess of its required net capital of $1.0 million.

Ryan Beck operates under the provisions of paragraph (k)(2)(ii) of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission as a fully disclosed introducing broker and, accordingly, customer accounts are carried on the books of the clearing broker. However, Ryan Beck safekeeps and redeems municipal bond coupons for the benefit of its customers. Accordingly, Ryan Beck is subject to the provisions of SEC Rule 15c3-3 relating to possession or control and customer reserve requirements and was in compliance with such provisions at March 31, 2004.

Table of ContentsBankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk

Market risk is defined as the risk of loss arising from adverse changes in market valuations that arise from interest rate risk, foreign currency exchange rate risk, commodity price risk and equity price risk. Our primary market risk is interest rate risk and our secondary market risk is equity price risk.

Interest Rate Risk

The majority of our assets and liabilities are monetary in nature, subjecting us to significant interest rate risk which would arise if the relative values of each of our assets and liabilities changed in conjunction with a general rise or decline in interest rates. We have developed a model using standard industry software to quantify our interest rate risk. A sensitivity analysis was performed measuring our potential gains and losses in net portfolio fair values of interest rate sensitive instruments at March 31, 2004 resulting from a change in interest rates. See Item 7A Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk of the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2003 for a detailed explanation of the model methodology and the assumptions utilized by us.

Presented below is an analysis of the Company's interest rate risk at March 31, 2004 and December 31, 2003, calculated utilizing the Company's model. The table measures changes in net portfolio value for instantaneous and parallel shifts in the yield curve in 100 basis point increments up or down.

As of March 31, 2004
Changes in Rate	Net Portfolio Value Amount	Dollar Change
(dollars in thousands)
+200 bp	$496,045	$ 36,467
+100 bp	$493,315	$ 33,737
0	$459,578	$
-100 bp	$413,276	$(46,302)
-200 bp	$389,999	$(69,579)
As of December 31, 2003
Changes in Rate	Net Portfolio Value Amount	Dollar Change
(dollars in thousands)
+200 bp	$470,869	$ 17,666
+100 bp	$482,543	$ 29,340
0	$453,203	$
-100 bp	$408,921	$(44,282)
-200 bp	$391,156	$(62,047)

Our net interest margin has improved since the third quarter of 2003. The improvement primarily resulted from the repayment of high fixed rate FHLB advances in the third and fourth quarter of 2003 as well as a slowing of residential loan prepayments and a significant increase in low cost deposits. Our asset and liability committee monitors BankAtlantic's interest rate risk. Based on the committee's on-going review, it was determined that the repayment of high fixed rate FHLB advances should have a positive impact on BankAtlantic's net interest margin. During September 2003 and December 2003, BankAtlantic repaid $185 million and $140 million, respectively, of FHLB advances and recognized a $2.0 million and $8.9 million loss, respectively, as a result of prepayment penalties. Additionally, BankAtlantic prepaid $108 million of FHLB advances in March 2004, incurring an $11.7 million prepayment penalty. BankAtlantic will continue to evaluate its high fixed rate FHLB advances in light of market interest rate conditions and interest rate risk strategies to determine whether additional prepayments could reduce borrowing costs and improve its net interest margin. BankAtlantic may prepay additional FHLB advances subject to changes in interest rates and its interest rate risk strategies. We expect BankAtlantic's net interest margin to improve during 2004 compared to 2003 as a result of advance repayments and growth in low cost deposits.

Equity Price Risk*BankAtlantic Bancorp

BankAtlantic Bancorp maintains a portfolio of equity securities and exchange traded mutual funds that subject it to equity pricing risks arising in connection with changes in the relative values of its equity investments due to changing market and economic conditions. The following are hypothetical changes in the fair value of our available for sale securities at March 31, 2004, based on hypothetical percentage changes in fair value. Actual future price appreciation or depreciation may be different from the changes identified in the table below (dollars in thousands).

Percent Change in Fair Value	Available for sale
	Equity Securities	Mutual Funds	Dollar Change
20%	$2,450	$21,581	$ 4,005
10%	$2,246	$19,782	$ 2,002
0%	$2,042	$17,984	$
-10%	$1,838	$16,186	$(2,002)
-20%	$1,634	$14,387	$(4,005)

Excluded from the above table is $1.8 million of investments in private companies for which no current market exists. The ability to realize on or liquidate these investments will depend on future market conditions and is subject to significant risk.

Ryan Beck

Ryan Beck is exposed to the market risk that the financial instruments in which it trades and makes a market will fluctuate in value. These value fluctuations can be caused by changes in interest rates, equity prices, credit spreads or other market forces. The Company, through Ryan Beck, is therefore indirectly exposed to these market risks arising from Ryan Beck's trading and market making activities.

Ryan Beck's management monitors risk in its trading activities by establishing limits and reviewing daily trading results, inventory aging, pricing, concentration and securities ratings. Ryan Beck uses a variety of tools, including aggregate and statistical methods. Value at Risk ( VaR ) is the principal statistical method used by Ryan Beck to monitor its risk, and this method measures the potential loss in the fair value of a portfolio due to adverse movements in underlying risk factors.

Ryan Beck uses an historical simulation approach to measuring VaR using a 99% confidence level, a one day holding period and the most recent three months average volatility. The 99% VaR means that, on average, one would not expect to exceed such loss amount more than one time every one hundred trading days if the portfolio were held constant for a one-day period. The aggregate long and short value represents the one day market value of securities owned (long) and securities sold but not yet purchased (short) during the three months ended March 31, 2004.

The following table sets forth the high, low and average VaR for Ryan Beck during the period January 1, 2004 to March 31, 2004.

	(dollars in thousands)
	High	Low	Average
VaR	$ 1,747	$ 113	$ 621

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

As of the end of the period covered by this report, we carried out an evaluation, under the supervision and with the participation of our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, of the effectiveness of the design and operation of our disclosure controls and procedures. Based on this evaluation, our principal executive officer and principal financial officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures are effective in timely alerting them to material information required to be included in our periodic SEC reports.

Changes in Internal Controls

In addition, we reviewed our internal control over financial reporting, and there have been no significant changes in our internal control over financial reporting or in other factors that could significantly affect those controls during the last fiscal quarter.

Limitations on the Effectiveness of Controls

Our management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, does not expect that our disclosure controls and procedures and internal controls over financial reporting will prevent all errors and all improper conduct. A control system, no matter how well conceived and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute, assurance that the objectives of the control system are met. Further, the design of a control system must reflect the fact that there are resource constraints, and the benefits of controls must be considered relative to their costs. Because of the inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues and instances of improper conduct, if any, within the Company have been detected. These inherent limitations include the realities that judgments in decision-making can be faulty, and that breakdowns can occur because of simple error or mistake. Additionally, controls can be circumvented by the individual acts of some persons, by collusion of two or more people, or by management override of the control.

Further, the design of any system of controls also is based in part upon assumptions about the likelihood of future events, and there can be no assurance that any design will succeed in achieving its stated goals under all potential future conditions; over time, controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate. Because of the inherent limitations in a cost-effective control system, misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected.

CEO and CFO Certifications

Appearing as Exhibits 31.1 and 31.2 to this quarterly report are Certifications of the principal executive officer and the principal financial officer. The Certifications are required in accordance with Section 302 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002. This Item of this report, which you are currently reading, is the information concerning the evaluation referred to in the Section 302 Certifications and this information should be read in conjunction with the Section 302 Certifications for a more complete understanding of the topics presented.

Table of Contents*BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc.*PART II OTHER INFORMATION*Item 1. Legal Proceedings

Gruntal Proceedings. In April 2002, Ryan Beck acquired certain of the assets and assumed certain of the liabilities of Gruntal. Ryan Beck was named as a defendant in a number of arbitration claims filed by former Gruntal clients whose claims arose prior to Ryan Beck's acquisition of Gruntal. In these actions, Ryan Beck is alleged to be the successor in interest to Gruntal, which allegations Ryan Beck denies. In some instances, the former Gruntal brokers against whom the claims relate are now employed by Ryan Beck, and in other instances the brokers are not employed by Ryan Beck. Ryan Beck did not assume any of the liabilities associated with these actions in the Gruntal transaction. While Ryan Beck does not consider any individual action to be material, an adverse result in a number of these actions in the aggregate could adversely affect the Company's financial statements. In October 2002, Gruntal filed for bankruptcy protection under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Laws. In March 2004, the bankruptcy court entered an order confirming a plan of liquidation for Gruntal that included a third-party release in favor of Ryan Beck and the Company and their respective officers, directors, employees, agents, successors and assigns. Based on the foregoing, it is expected that the majority of the pending claims will be dismissed by the arbitration panels and the courts currently hearing such matters.
