Re: Merger Announcement

From: Randy Hogan, Chairman & Chief Executive Officer

To: Twin Cities and Minnesota Business and Civic Leaders

Dear Colleagues and Fellow Leaders,

This morning, Pentair announced an agreement to combine our company with Tyco's Flow Control business in a merger that will create a global growth leader with sales approaching $8 billion and strong positions in flow control, filtration and equipment protection. We expect this transformational transaction to accelerate and enhance Pentair's growth strategy and provide substantial benefits for our many stakeholders. The new combined company will have 30,000 employees and approximately 100 manufacturing facilities around the world. It truly is an exciting day for Pentair – and for our local business community.

As you may know, Tyco had previously announced it is separating into three companies. This separation includes its Flow Control business, a leader in valve, water management and thermal solutions. Our merger combines Pentair with this highly complementary organization, creating a new company with a strong platform for robust growth. The combined entity will be called "Pentair" and will continue to be listed on the NYSE as "PNR." Pentair's executive leadership team, led by me as Chairman and CEO, will manage the company from Minneapolis. In essence, Pentair transforms but many important attributes remain the same.

A few things will change. Tyco is currently domiciled in Switzerland, and as a result, the newly combined Pentair will also be incorporated in Switzerland. Again, our main U.S. office will remain in Minneapolis – and we expect to create some meaningful leadership positions in the Twin Cities. Our current Pentair board will increase by two directors which will be nominated by Tyco. Overall, the vast majority of our leadership team and board of directors will be Pentair personnel.

We expect the deal to close in the fall of 2012, pending shareholder and regulatory approvals. With a proud 45-year history, Pentair is excited to begin this new chapter. Our relationship with you and your organization is important to us – so please contact us if you have any concerns or questions. In the meantime, I hope you share in our excitement.

Thanks for all you do to drive our economy and communities.

All my best,

Randall J. Hogan
Chairman and CEO
