ARCADIS WINS MAJOR HIGHWAY PROJECT IN POLAND

ARNHEM, THE NETHERLANDS October 4, 2007 ARCADIS (NASDAQ: ARCAF; EURONEXT: ARCAD), the international consulting and engineering company, today announced the award of a EUR 11 million contract to design a 65 km long section of the A-1 motorway in Poland. The contract was awarded to an ARCADIS-led consortium with partners Mosty Katowice, Transprojekt Warsaw and DHV Polska. Client is the General Directorate for National Roads and Motorways. The project is co-financed by the European Union.

The design work will take 18 months and includes the preparation of building and construction designs, environmental impact and permitting support and construction contract documents. The section will be part of the motorway Gdańsk Toruń Częstochowa Katowice and further to the southern Polish/Czech border. It will be a dual carriageway motorway with two lanes in each direction, a median and emergency lanes. The width of the median will allow for the later addition of a third traffic lane in both directions.

Traveller comfort and safety and environmental protection are essential in the project. It will therefore include the design of architecturally appealing engineering structures and service areas for passenger and freight vehicles. Also, a drainage system and environmental protection features (sound barriers, retention ponds and separators) will be installed. The project will also include motorway maintenance areas for administrative personnel and facilities for the road service staff and materials.

Marek Adamek, CEO of ARCADIS in Poland about the project: Completion of the A-1 motorway is part of a larger investment program for the improvement of road infrastructure in Poland, which is of strategic importance to the Polish economy and society. It will help accommodate the increasing traffic while assuring comfort and safety. Its construction will result in the creation of new jobs and provide new investment and trade opportunities. It will allow for a quicker integration of Poland with other European Union countries. As to why ARCADIS was granted the project Adamek said: It is a combination of many years of experience in high quality road design, a strong market position and the professional reputation of our experts.
