On April 30, 2015, AeroVironment, Inc. implemented a number of changes to its executive management structure intended to better position the company to more effectively operate its business and pursue growth opportunities. As part of the organizational changes, Wahid Nawabi, Senior Vice President and General Manager of the Efficient Energy Systems (EES) business since 2011, has been promoted to Chief Operating Officer of the company. Mr. Nawabi will continue to report to the company's Chairman and Chief Executive officer, Tim Conver. The General Managers of the company's Unmanned Aerial Systems (UAS) and EES business segments now report to Nawabi. Since November 2014, Mr. Nawabi has been responsible for all engineering, manufacturing and quality functions on a company-wide basis. These functions will continue to report to Mr. Nawabi in his role as Chief Operating Officer.

Prior to joining AeroVironment, Mr. Nawabi, age 45, served as Vice President, Global Sales of Alteryx, a designer and manufacturer of fuel cell power systems, from March 2010 through November 2011, and as Vice President, Americas, and Vice President, Global Sales for C&D Technologies, a producer and marketer of electrical power storage and conversion products from February 2008 through March 2010. Prior to joining C&D Technologies, Mr. Nawabi worked for 16 years with American Power Conversion, a provider of power protection products and services, in a succession of positions of increasing responsibility, most recently as Vice President, Enterprise Segment North America and Canada. Mr. Nawabi has a B.S. in electrical engineering from the University of Maryland, College Park. He does not have any family relationships with directors or executive officers of the company and is not a party to any transaction requiring disclosure under Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.

Another management change being implemented was the assignment of Roy Minson, formerly Senior Vice President and General Manager of the UAS business, to lead the company's strategic entry into the emerging commercial UAS market.
