PART III — NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

The well-publicized mortgage credit and liquidity crisis resulted in broad decreases in the fair values of real estate securities, such as those held by the registrant and its consolidated subsidiaries, during the fourth quarter of 2007. Under generally accepted accounting principles, Registrant is required to determine the fair value of real estate securities carried on its consolidated balance sheet at December 31, 2007. The Registrant has completed this process, which resulted in total negative mark-to-market valuation adjustments during the fourth quarter of $956 million, of which $154 million relates to securities held by the Registrant and $802 million relates to securities held by Acacia CDO entities that are consolidated for accounting purposes. As a second step, Registrant is required to determine whether these negative changes in fair value represent temporary or other-than-temporary (OTT) impairments. Temporary impairments are recorded as a reduction of Stockholders' Equity and OTT impairments flow through the income statement as negative valuation adjustments. The process to determine whether a security is temporarily or OTT impaired is complex and requires significant judgment. Registrant has been unable to complete its impairment analysis without unreasonable effort or expense in sufficient time to enable Registrant to file its Annual Report on Form 10-K within the time period prescribed. Registrant anticipates that its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2007 will be filed no later than the fifteenth calendar day following the prescribed due date.

If answer is no, identify report(s).

Yes  No

(3) Is it anticipated that any significant change in results of operations from the corresponding period for the last fiscal year will be reflected by the earnings statements to be included in the subject report or portion thereof?

Yes  No

If so, attach an explanation of the anticipated change, both narratively and quantitatively, and, if appropriate, state the reasons why a reasonable estimate of the results cannot be made.

Registrant anticipates that there will be a significant change in the results of operations for the year ended December 31, 2007 as compared to the year ended December 31, 2006. The change will result primarily from reductions during 2007 in the fair value of securities held by Registrant. Registrant is unable to provide a reasonable estimate of the change, however, until the review of the computations of reductions in fair value and the accounting impact of those reductions has been completed, as described in Part III above.
