Gafisa Receives Upgrade from Fitch Ratings to 'A(bra)'

São Paulo, May 5, 2008 - Gafisa S.A. (Bovespa: GFSA3; NYSE: GFA), Brazil's leading diversified national homebuilder, today announced that Fitch Ratings has upgraded the Company's corporate debt rating to an "A(bra) from an 'A-(bra)' (A minus bra). Gafisa is one of only two companies within the sector rated by Fitch Ratings to receive an 'A' or higher rating of its corporate debt.

According to Fitch Ratings, the upgrade was partially the result of Gafisa's consistent improvement in operating performance, its significant growth in revenues and its strong position as a leading homebuilder in Brazil. Additionally, Fitch cited that it expects that in the next few years Gafisa should significantly increase its revenues and generation of cash flow as it continues to expand geographically and diversify the products offered and the socioeconomic segments served.

"We were pleased to receive this additional vote of confidence in our capital structure and business potential. The improvement in the rating of our corporate debt should result in lower financial costs for Gafisa and ultimately, greater value for all of our shareholders", said Duilio Calciolari, Chief Financial Officer of Gafisa.
