Appointment of Chief Financial Officer

On July 10, 2012, Michael Wilhelm, 58, was appointed as Chief Financial Officer of SmartHeat. Mr. Wilhelm is a graduate of Northwestern’s Kellogg School of Management with a Masters of Management in Accounting and is an experienced senior financial manager for both public and private companies. Since 1984, Mr. Wilhelm worked for the Proquest Company, an internationally diversified $1 billion publicly traded company with operations in manufacturing, publishing and business services, and became its corporate treasurer in 1998. In 2001, Mr. Wilhelm joined the Bowe Bell + Howell Company, a $300 million privately held company which was formed through a leveraged buyout of ProQuest. Following the spin-off, Mr. Wilhelm served in multiple capacities for Bell + Howell, including vice president of finance, treasurer and president of its leasing company subsidiary. Following the acquisition of Bell + Howell by Bowe Systec AG, a publicly traded German company, Mike served as chief financial officer for North America and served in this capacity through the eventual sale of the Bell + Howell assets to Versa Capital Management and the court supervised liquidation of Bell + Howell. SmartHeat and its Board of Directors (the “Board”) believes that Mr. Wilhelm’s experience in mergers and acquisitions, corporate finance, accounting and auditing will be a valuable addition to SmartHeat’s management team.

Concurrently with his appointment, Mr. Wilhelm entered into an agreement with SmartHeat for a one-year term at a salary of $36,000 per year. Mr. Wilhelm will be eligible for a discretionary annual cash bonus after SmartHeat’s Form 10K for the fiscal year 2012 is filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
