Barclays expands disclosure of compensation outcomes and practices

Barclays has today released additional detail on its revised compensation framework alongside its Preliminary Results Announcement. This recognises the significant interest in bank compensation. Aggregate 2010 performance awards have been reduced as a result of a number of factors, including Barclays commitments in the context of Project Merlin. Barclays pay practices and outcomes are fully compliant with the FSA's revised Remuneration Code.

Notwithstanding a 32% increase in 2010 Group profit before tax, and a 2% increase in Barclays Capital profit before tax excluding own credit, 2010 performance awards were down relative to 2009:

- at a Group level by 7%;
- at a Barclays Capital level by 12%.

Total performance awards for UK-based staff were down broadly in line.

These performance awards include all elements that relate to 2010 performance, excluding salaries and performance awards deferred from prior years, but including awards deferred to future years. They include other current year contractual awards (e.g., guarantees, commitments, commissions and new long term incentive plan awards).

For the first time, Barclays has introduced a Contingent Capital Plan as a part of deferred compensation arrangements for all senior staff. Under the Plan:

- payment of awards is deferred over three years and is only made if the Group's Core Tier 1 capital position at the point of vesting is at least 7%, the new Basel III regulatory minimum;
- the interests of senior staff are directly aligned with shareholders and regulators by linking the payment of awards under the Plan to the Group's capital position; and
- a potential capital buffer is created in a stress scenario through the potential for the vesting of Plan awards to be forfeited.

Barclays has also expanded significantly the number of staff subject to 60% deferral of 2010 performance award beyond those required by the FSA's Remuneration Code.

Detail of Executive Directors' remuneration will be disclosed in Barclays Annual Report, consistent with normal practice.

Commenting on these revisions to Barclays compensation framework and outcomes today, Bob Diamond said:

"We are committed to demonstrating that we are both responsible in our compensation decisions and practices and that we take our regulatory obligations and UK Government commitments seriously. In particular, our overall performance awards for 2010 have been directly influenced by the commitments that we have made under Project

Merlin.

In reaching our final decisions, we have had to balance carefully these obligations with our need to ensure that our decisions are commercial in a highly competitive global environment and with the requirements of our shareholders.

We welcome the UK Government's commitment to ensure that London remains a leading financial centre and the competitiveness of the financial firms based in the UK, in particular by ensuring those firms are able to compete on a level playing field."

In introducing Barclays 2010 Full Year Results today, Marcus Agius said:

"The decisions embedded in today's results reflect the careful deliberation of the Board and, in particular, the Board Remuneration Committee. We believe, in the context of the Group's absolute and relative performance, they demonstrate clearly our responsibility and are fully compliant with the FSA's Remuneration Code."
