REFERENTIAL MATERIALS FOR THE MATTERS TO BE REPORTED AND THE 1ST SUBJECT FOR DISCUSSION

Business Report for the 114th Period

(from April 1, 2003, to March 31, 2004)

I. Overview of Operations

(1) Business Results and Future Challenges

General Condition

During the year under review, the Japanese economy showed a trend of gradual recovery, through the favorable condition in Japanese stock market, expanded private capital expenditures, or private consumption, though public works spending remained sluggish. Overseas, the U.S. economy was robust despite some concerns, and in Europe, economic recovery was feeble and couldn't enjoy substantial growth.

Under this economic environment, in line with its Medium-Term Management Strategy, Kubota Corporation (collectively the Company) augmented its efforts to restructure its operations and strove to increase its profitability. As a part of these efforts, our leasing subsidiary, Kubota Lease Co., Ltd., was transferred to Sumisho Auto Lease Co., Ltd., in April 2003. In December 2003, the Company established a new joint operation entity, Kubota Matsushitadenko Exterior Works, Ltd. with Matsushita Electric Works, Ltd., in order to shift our building materials operation to the new entity.

While the Company resolutely promoted those restructuring measures, the Company powerfully continued sales promotion and cost cut. In its Farm & Industrial Machinery operations centering on farm equipment, the Company did its utmost to expand its sales and market shares, leveraged by the attractive sales campaign or highly competitive product lines produced through concurrent engineering. In the public works spending related business, the Company endeavored to regain profitability through the improvement in productivity and the cost cut in every process, such as manufacturing, procurement, and distribution. In the Environmental Engineering Group, the Company responded to market shrinkage and intensifying competition by drastic cost cut in concurrent engineering or reorganization of procurement system. Additionally, for the future growth, the Company endeavored to expand its businesses to private sector or new fields.

As for sales, although overseas sales increased favorably, particularly in North America, domestic sales declined, reflecting the business transfer of the building materials business and a large decline in environmental engineering business. Accordingly net sales were ¥663.8 billion, a decrease of ¥8.6 billion from the prior year.

Ordinary income was ¥45.9 billion, an increase of ¥19.2 billion from the prior year, due to the relentless efforts to improve productivity, reduce personnel cost and selling, general, and administrative costs. Net income was ¥21.7 billion, by ¥29.9 billion of improvement from the prior year. This improvement was owing to the large decrease of extraordinary loss, in addition to the favorable ordinary income.

Table of Contents

Result by Product Group

In the Industrial & Material Systems Group, while the public works spending stayed stagnant, the Company strove to increase its export of ductile iron pipes. However, such increase of exports couldn't offset the decline of other domestic demands. In the end total sales were ¥161.7 billion, a decrease of ¥3.3 billion.

In the Farm & Industrial Machinery Group, exports of tractors, engines, construction machinery, expanded considerably. Sales growth in North America was spurred by new product launches and promotional campaigns featuring zero-interest financing. In EU countries, sales of tractors and construction machinery were also strong. In Japan, the Company aggressively launched attractive new products, and also strove to conduct sales promotion campaign in order to stimulate the market and augment its market share. As a result, total sales were ¥369.5 billion, an increase of ¥28.1 billion.

In the Environmental Engineering Group, while public works spending were declining, the introduction of diversified bidding processes and other factors led to a fierce competition for receiving orders. Moreover, the rush in shipments of large orders in the prior year caused a large drop in the sales of recycling engineering products. Consequently, total sales were ¥98.6 billion, a decrease of ¥19.1 billion.

In the Housing Materials & Utilities Group, total sales were ¥33.9 billion, a decrease of ¥14.1 billion. The main reason of this decrease was the business transfer of the building materials operation to Kubota Matsushitadenko Exterior Works, Ltd.

Capital expenditures

The Company spent ¥7.3 billion on its capital expenditures, primarily on the rationalization of manufacturing processes.

Financing

Finance for capital expenditure were primarily raised from internally generated funds.

Future Challenges

Although the Japanese economy will have an opportunity for building a sustained growth, public investment will continue declining, and the appreciation of yen against the U.S. dollar may have a negative impact on both exports and capital expenditures which have contributed to the recovery of the Japanese economy. Moreover, while price increase of raw materials may cause damages to corporate profitability, there is concern that the U.S. and Euro economies may slow down. All things considered, the Company expects the difficult economic conditions to continue.

Under such conditions, the Company will make every effort to overcome the difficult business environment, continue to work hard towards the vigorous and steady implementation of the new version of the Medium-Term Management Strategy, and establish the business structure and profit structure with stability and growth capability.

Table of Contents

In the public works spending related business, the Company will make rigorous efforts for cost reduction and spending control. At the same time, in overseas businesses of the Farm & Industrial Machinery Group, which is the driving force for the growth of the Company, the Company will implement expansion strategies by taking measures such as continuous new products introduction, and development of peripheral businesses.

As for the financial scheme, the Company plans to continue strengthening its balance sheet so that the Company will be able to provide funding for its future business expansion and cope with rapidly changing environment. The Company will also continue to streamline its balance sheet, and reduce interest-bearing debt. Additionally, the Company will take measures to increase its shareholders' equity ratio representing the ratio of shareholders' equity to total assets. At the same time, the Company will continue to purchase treasury stock in order to reduce the number of outstanding shares.

Regarding corporate governance systems, the Company has moved ahead with such measures as to clarify the management responsibilities of directors, strengthen the supervisory abilities of auditors, and augment its compliance programs. The Company will continue proactively to strengthen its internal control systems and enhance its corporate governance systems with the goals of further increasing management transparency and efficiency.

Through these diverse strategic initiatives, the Company will be doing its utmost to increase its profitability and corporate value.

In closing, we hope for the continued understanding and support of shareholders.

Notes

1. The mark of triangle indicates deficit.
2. From the current business term, financial statements, etc. have been prepared in accordance with the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Commercial Code of Japan as amended by the Ordinance to partly amend the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Commercial Code of Japan (Ordinance of the Ministry of Justice, No. 7, February 28, 2003).
3. Net income per share is calculated based on the weighted average number of outstanding common shares for the period. Shareholders' equity per share is calculated based on the number of outstanding common shares at the end of the period.

Since prior year, these per share amounts have been calculated after deducting the number of shares of treasury stock.

During the 112th period, despite increases of domestic sales in the Environmental Engineering Group; the sales of other groups including Pipe & Fluid Systems Engineering Group and export sales to EU or North America declined sharply. As a result, by sharp reduction of sales, net sales under review were 672.5 billion, down by ¥31.8 billion compared with prior year.

Ordinary income was ¥23.9 billion, down by ¥6.7 billion compared with prior year.

By such extraordinary losses as the loss from disposition of subsidiaries, mainly attributed to transfer of shares of Kubota House Co., Ltd, net income was 0.1 billion.

During the 113th period, despite decreases of domestic sales in all business divisions; export sales increased substantially centering around North America. As a result, the net sales of Kubota remained at the same level as the previous fiscal year, ¥672.4 billion. At the profit level, due to the increase in operating income and improvement of non-operating income and expenses, the ordinary income increased to ¥26.7 billion by ¥2.7 billion compared with prior year. Kubota Corporation recognized a special gain related to the transfer to the government of the substitutional portion of the pension benefit obligation and related plan assets on an approval basis. However, due to the large valuation losses on marketable securities and those on the stocks of our subsidiaries, and special retirement allowance for the voluntary early retirement program ended March 2003, the bottom line became a net deficit of ¥8.2 billion.

Performance during the 114th period is described in item (1) of this section

Significant accounting policies

1. Valuation of securities

Securities of subsidiaries and associated companies are valued cost determined by the moving average method. Marketable securities are valued at their fair values, which are determined at fiscal year end. Unrealized holding gains and losses on marketable securities are excluded from earnings and are reported as a separate component of shareholders' equity. Gains and losses on sales of marketable securities are computed based on the moving-average cost method. Non marketable securities are valued at cost, which is determined by the moving-average method.

2. Valuation of inventories

Finished goods and work-in-process which are manufactured under specific production orders are stated at cost on the specific identification method. Other inventories are stated at cost determined by the moving average method.

3. Depreciation of property, plant and equipment is computed using the declining-balance method.

Table of Contents

4. Allowance for doubtful receivables is stated in amounts considered to be appropriate based on the company's past credit loss experience and an evaluation of potential losses in the receivables outstanding.
5. Reserve for product warranties are determined based on an analysis of the historical data of costs to perform under product warranties.
6. Liabilities for severance payments to the employees are stated at an amount computed under an actuarial method. The amount is calculated as the projected benefit obligation and fair value of plan assets.
The unrealized prior service costs and actuarial loss are being amortized using the straight-line method over the participants' average remaining service period. The actuarial gains and losses are being amortized using the declining-balance method over the same period.
7. Liabilities for severance payments to the members of the board are stated at the amount that would be required if all members of the board retired at the balance sheet date. These liabilities are regulated by Article 43 of the Commercial Code Enforcement Regulation.
8. Allowance for losses from guarantees of loans is computed at the estimated losses relating to the guarantee rendered. This allowance is regulated by Article 43 of the Commercial Code Enforcement Regulation.
9. Consumption taxes receivable and payable are accounted for on the net of tax method.
10. From the current business term, financial statements, etc. have been prepared in accordance with the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Commercial Code of Japan as amended by the Ordinance to partly amend the Ordinance for Enforcement of the Commercial Code of Japan (Ordinance of the Ministry of Justice, No. 68, September 22, 2003).

Notes to Balance Sheet

1. All figures are rounded down to the nearest million yen.
2. Short-term receivables from subsidiaries ¥120,463 million
Long-term receivables from subsidiaries ¥41,903 million
Short-term payables to subsidiaries ¥38,194 million
Long-term payables to subsidiaries ¥16 million
3. Accumulated depreciation for property, plant and equipment ¥362,338 million
4. In addition to the Property, Plant and Equipment on the balance sheet, the Company leases certain metal patterns for production use and computers and peripheral equipment under lease agreements.
5. Notes discounted ¥1,413 million
Loans guaranteed ¥8,968 million
6. With regard to the sale of ductile iron straight pipe in Japan, the Company received a surcharged order of ¥7,072 million from the Fair Trade Commission based on the Anti-Monopoly Law on December 24, 1999. In an effort to appeal, the Company has filed a petition for the initiation of hearing procedures. As a result of the decision to begin the procedures, afore-mentioned surcharge order had temporarily been suspended; however the hearing on the surcharge is again under progress.
7. The restriction amount for dividends is regulated by Article 124-3 of the Commercial Code Enforcement Regulation. The amount of net assets that increased due to the current price evaluation of marketable securities is 54,730 million yen.

Pursuant to Article 2-1 of the Law Concerning Special Measures under the Commercial Code with respect to Audit, etc. of Corporations (Kabushiki-Kaisha) of Japan, we have audited the balance sheet, the statement of income, the business report (with respect to accounting matters only), the proposed appropriations of retained earnings and the supplementary schedules (with respect to accounting matters only) of Kubota Corporation for the 114th fiscal year from April 1, 2003 to March 31, 2004. The accounting matters included in the business report and supplementary schedules referred to above are based on the Company's books of account.

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management.

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

Edgar Filing: KUBOTA CORP - Form 6-K

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in Japan. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. Our audit includes auditing procedures applied to subsidiaries as considered necessary.

As a result of our audit, in our opinion,

- (1) The balance sheet and the statement of income present fairly the financial position and the results of operations of the Company in conformity with the applicable laws and regulations of Japan and the Articles of Incorporation,
- (2) The business report (with respect to accounting matters only) presents fairly the Company's affairs in conformity with the applicable laws and regulations of Japan and the Articles of Incorporation,
- (3) The proposed appropriations of retained earnings are in conformity with the applicable laws and regulations of Japan and the Articles of Incorporation, and
- (4) The supplementary schedules (with respect to accounting matters only) present fairly the information required to be set forth therein under the Commercial Code of Japan.

Our firm and the engagement partners do not have any financial interest in the Company for which disclosure is required under the provisions of the Certified Public Accountants Law.

The above represents a translation, for convenience only, of the original report issued in the Japanese language.

AUDIT REPORT

In respect of the execution of duties of the Directors during the 114th fiscal period commenced on April 1, 2003 and ended on March 31, 2004, we, Board of Corporate Auditors, having been reported by each Corporate Auditor on auditing method and the results thereof and following the discussion among us, have prepared this audit report and hereby report as follows:

1. Summary of the auditing method employed by each Corporate Auditor:

Each Corporate Auditor has conducted its audit in accordance with the auditing policy and allotment of duties as determined by the Board of Corporate Auditors.

- (1) As for audit with respect to accounting, we have reviewed the accounting books and documents, examined the accounting statements and their supplemental schedules, heard from the independent public accountants of their plans and procedures of the audit, attended from time to time the performance by the independent public accountants of their audit, and requested their report on the results of their audit during and at the end of the fiscal period and at any other times whenever deemed necessary.
- (2) As for audit with respect to business operations (other than accounting), we have attended the meetings of the Board of Directors and other important meetings, received reports on the operations of the Company from the Directors and employees in charge of the operations, reviewed important documents including those requiring approval of the executives, inspected the operations and the financial conditions of the head office and other principal offices and plants, requested reports on the operations of the subsidiaries when necessary, and conducted such other investigations as we considered necessary.
- (3) As for competitive business by the Directors, transactions between the Company and the Directors, the free distribution of profits made by the Company, the extraordinary transactions between the Company and any of its subsidiaries or any shareholders, and the Company's acquisition of its stock as treasury and disposal thereof, we have examined them in detail, in addition to our audit mentioned above, by inspecting the records of the related transactions held by relevant divisions, attending the meetings of the examination committee regarding expenditures, requesting such committee reports on each payment, as well as hearing from the persons concerned as we deemed necessary.

2. Results of the audit:

- (1) We have found that the auditing method employed by Tohmatsu & Co., independent public accountants, and the results thereof are appropriate and sufficient.
- (2) We have found that the business report presents fairly the current position of the Company in conformity with applicable laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation.

Edgar Filing: KUBOTA CORP - Form 6-K

- (3) In the light of the financial conditions of the Company and other circumstances, we have found that there is no matter to be remarked in the proposed appropriations of unappropriated retained earnings.
- (4) We have found that the supplemental schedules to the accounting statements present fairly the matters to be described therein and nothing has come to our attention which should be specifically noted herein.
- (5) With respect to the execution of duties of the Directors including those related to the Company's subsidiaries, we have recognized no improper conduct nor any material breach of applicable laws and regulations and the Articles of Incorporation.

As for competitive business by the Directors, transactions between the Company and the Directors, the free distribution of profits made by the Company, the extraordinary transactions between the Company and any of its subsidiaries or any shareholders, and the Company's acquisition of its stock as treasury and disposal thereof, we have recognized no violation of duties by any Director.

REFERENTIAL MATERIALS FOR EXERCISE OF VOTING RIGHTS

1. Number of voting rights held by shareholders 1,334,740

2. Subjects for discussion and referential materials

1st Subject for discussion:

Matters concerning approval of proposed appropriations of unappropriated retained earnings for the 114th period. Proposed appropriations of unappropriated retained earnings were in consideration of the retirement of the treasury stock. Details are shown on page 17.

With regard to dividends, we would like to propose the year-end dividends of ¥3.00 per share, the same as the previous year, making the aggregate amount of dividends per year of ¥6.00 per share including the interim dividends already paid.

2nd Subject for discussion:

Amendments to the Articles of Incorporation

Outline of and reason for the amendments:

Amendments to Take Advantage of Revision of the Commercial Code of Japan

The Law Amending the Commercial Code of Japan and the Special Exceptions to the Commercial Code of Japan Regarding the Audit of Kabushiki Kaisha (joint stock corporations) (Law No. 132, 2003) took effect on September 25, 2003. It permits acquisition of treasury stock by a resolution of a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Company if the Articles of Incorporation has a clause authorizing such a resolution. The proposed amendments are to take advantage of the said amending Law and to set forth new Article 6 (Acquisition of treasury stocks) in the Articles of Incorporation to allow the Company to implement a capital policy even more effectively.

As a result of the said setting forth of a new Article, Article 6 and subsequent Article numbers of the present Articles of Incorporation shall be moved down by one. Details of the amendments mentioned above are as follows:

(Underlining indicates portions changed.)
