Canadian Pacific reaches tentative agreement with the CPPA representing its Police Service members

Calgary, AB Canadian Pacific (TSX/NYSE: CP) and the Canadian Pacific Police Association (CPPA), representing approximately 60 members of the company's police service, today announced they have reached a tentative five-year collective agreement.

I am pleased we were able to reach agreement with our railway police, the third tentative agreement or ratified contract in a matter of weeks, said President and Chief Executive Officer, E. Hunter Harrison.

In addition to the CPPA, a tentative five-year agreement was reached with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) on November 15, while members of the United Steelworkers ratified a five-year contract on November 8.

The CPPA Memorandum of Settlement will be sent to the union membership for ratification in December.

Details of the agreement will be available following ratification.
