Disclaimer Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This press release includes forward-looking statements (that include those within the meaning of Section 27A of the U.S. Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934), as amended about Panasonic and its Group companies (the Panasonic Group). To the extent that statements in this press release do not relate to historical or current facts, they constitute forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements are based on the current assumptions and beliefs of the Panasonic Group in light of the information currently available to it, and involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors. Such risks, uncertainties and other factors may cause the Panasonic Group's actual results, performance, achievements or financial position to be materially different from any future results, performance, achievements or financial position expressed or implied by these forward-looking statements. Panasonic undertakes no obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statements after the date of this press release. Investors are advised to consult any further disclosures by Panasonic in its subsequent filings under the Financial Instrument and Exchange Act of Japan (the FIEA) and other publicly disclosed documents.

The risks, uncertainties and other factors referred to above include, but are not limited to, economic conditions, particularly consumer spending and corporate capital expenditures in the Americas, Europe, Japan, China and other Asian countries; volatility in demand for electronic equipment and components from business and industrial customers, as well as consumers in many product and geographical markets; the possibility that excessive currency rate fluctuations of the U.S. dollar, the euro, the Chinese yuan and other currencies against the yen may adversely affect costs and prices of Panasonic's products and services and certain other transactions that are denominated in these foreign currencies; the possibility of the Panasonic Group incurring additional costs of raising funds, because of changes in the fund raising environment; the possibility of the Panasonic Group not being able to respond to rapid technological changes and changing consumer preferences with timely and cost-effective introductions of new products in markets that are highly competitive in terms of both price and technology; the possibility of not achieving expected results or incurring unexpected losses in connection with the alliances or mergers and acquisitions; the possibility of not being able to achieve its business objectives through joint ventures and other collaborative agreements with other companies, including due to the pressure of price reduction exceeding that which can be achieved by its effort and decrease in demand for products from business partners which Panasonic highly depends on in BtoB business areas; the possibility of the Panasonic Group not being able to maintain competitive strength in many product and geographical areas; the possibility of incurring expenses resulting from any defects in products or services of the Panasonic Group; the possibility that the Panasonic Group may face intellectual property infringement claims by third parties; current and potential, direct and indirect restrictions imposed by other countries over trade, manufacturing, labor and operations; fluctuations in market prices of securities and other assets in which the Panasonic Group has holdings or changes in valuation of long-lived assets, including property, plant and equipment and goodwill, deferred tax assets and uncertain tax positions; future changes or revisions to accounting policies or accounting rules; the possibility of incurring expenses resulting from a leakage of customers' or confidential information from Panasonic's systems due to unauthorized access or a detection of vulnerability of network-connected products of the Panasonic Group; as well as natural disasters including earthquakes, prevalence of infectious diseases throughout the world, disruption of supply chain and other events that may negatively impact business activities of the Panasonic Group. The factors listed above are not all-inclusive and further information is contained in the most recent English translated version of Panasonic's securities reports under the FIEA and any other documents which are disclosed on its website.

Panasonic Announces Company Split (Simplified Absorption Type) to

Integrate Automotive Module Devices Business of Wholly-Owned

Subsidiary, Panasonic Semiconductor Solutions Co., Ltd.

Osaka, Japan, November 27, 2015 Panasonic Corporation ([TSE:6752] Panasonic) today announced that its Board of Directors has decided to succeed operations related to Automotive Module Devices Business (the AMD Business) of Panasonic Semiconductor Solutions Co., Ltd. (PSCS), a wholly-owned consolidated subsidiary of Panasonic, through an absorption-type company split (the Company Split). The Company Split is expected to take effect on April 1, 2016. Details of the Company Split are outlined below.

The Company Split will be conducted through a simplified absorption-type company split to succeed a part of wholly-owned subsidiary, accordingly, some of the matters and details for disclosure relating to the Company split have been omitted.

1. Purpose of the Company Split

Panasonic positions the automotive business as one of its main business, and significant growth is expected in the safety area of the automotive business in the future. In the safety area, due to increasing needs for reducing traffic accidents in the market, applications for active safety systems is expanding, with which the safety of an automobile is enhanced by carrying multiple sensors such as cameras and sonars on the vehicle.

Panasonic succeeds businesses such as an automotive camera module, a strong functional component operated by PSCS, to its Automotive Electronics Systems Business Division owning vehicle electronics and electric system technology by means of company split, and will operate them centrally. Panasonic aims to expand the system business, which includes ADAS (Advanced Driving Assistant System) in the center, as a new pillar of the automotive business.

Through the Company Split, Panasonic will operate the device business and system business in an integrated fashion and seek to accelerate system proposals in safety area of the automotive business.
