GOL Commemorates Sixth Anniversary as One of World's Leading Low Cost Carriers

Sao Paulo, January 15, 2007 GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes (NYSE: GOL and Bovespa: GOLL4), Brazil's low-cost, low-fare airline, marks its sixth anniversary of operations today. The Company, which took on the unprecedented responsibility of popularizing air transportation in Brazil and South America, celebrates this anniversary with some of the best numbers in the history of Brazilian aviation. Over the last six years, GOL transported 55 million passengers; including five million first time flyers. GOL's current fleet of 65 aircraft operates over 600 daily flights to 55 destinations, including seven international routes to five countries in South America. In December 2006, GOL had domestic and international Brazilian market shares of 37.1 percent and 13.3 percent, respectively. The Company's average load factor in 2006 was 74%, the highest in the industry, and GOL has been the most punctual airline in Brazil for over 18 months.

GOL's modern fleet of Boeing 737s; simplified quality service; intensive use of technology; paperless tickets; lowest operating costs in the industry; low fares and constant innovation have revolutionized the Brazilian aviation industry since 2001. "While we have contributed much to the development of the market over the past six years, the popularization of air transportation in South America has just begun," says Constantino de Oliveira Júnior, GOL's President and CEO.

The "GOL Effect" has been evident in Brazil's passenger transportation market over the last six years: average domestic fares have been reduced by over 25% - providing low-cost air travel for more Brazilian consumers; average load factors on domestic flights are at their highest levels ever (above 70%); and the number of first-time flyers increases year after year. In fact, the Brazilian aviation industry has become the growth leader in the region.

"We owe our success to those who believed in GOL and its innovative concept. I thank the more than 55 million passengers who have flown with us throughout the years, our partners and our employees, who have worked hard to ensure high quality air transportation," affirms Constantino Junior. Today, the Company has almost 9,000 employees and, for many, this is their first job. GOL's corporate environment encourages autonomy, team work, a commitment to low costs, and open communication between employees.

GOL's international expansion is one of highlights of its sixth anniversary, as the Company is one of the fastest growing international airlines. In 2006 alone, GOL increased its operating capacity on South American international routes by over 150 percent. In 2004, Argentina was the Company's first international destination; strong demand allowed GOL to expand its services to a total of three Argentinean cities: Buenos Aires, Cordoba and Rosario. Based on the success of these routes, the Company increased the number of international destinations: in 2005, GOL began flights to Bolivia and, in 2006, the Company started service to Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay. In February of this year, GOL will begin operations to Peru and has plans to further increase its operations in Latin America with a new route to México later this year.

GOL became the second company in Brazilian history to simultaneously list on both the Sao Paulo and New York stock exchanges (BOVESPA and NYSE), in June 2004. GOL has repeatedly been recognized for its corporate governance initiatives and its performance has ranked it among the best airlines in the world. GOL has also been recognized for its corporate social responsibility and currently supports 15 projects in areas such as education, environment, health, sports, and culture, organized by well-known Brazilian organizations; including, Pastoral da Criança, Fundação Gol de Letra, and SOS Mata Atlântica.
