PART I

Item 1. Business.

Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp. ("SRAC") is a wholly-owned finance subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co. ("Sears"). To meet certain capital requirements of its businesses, Sears borrows on a short-term basis through the issuance of notes to, and in the past sold receivable balances to, SRAC. SRAC obtains funds through the issuance of unsecured commercial paper and long-term debt, which includes medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt.

SRAC's income is derived primarily from the earnings on its investment in the notes and receivable balances of Sears. Under a letter agreement between SRAC and Sears, the interest rate on Sears notes is calculated so that SRAC maintains an earnings to fixed charges ratio of at least 1.25. The yield on the investment in Sears notes is related to SRAC's borrowing costs and, as a result, SRAC's earnings fluctuate in response to movements in interest rates and changes in Sears borrowing requirements.

SRAC's commercial paper ratings are F-2 from Fitch Rating's, P-2 from Moody's Investor Services, Inc., and A-2 from Standard & Poor's. Long-term debt ratings are A- from Fitch Rating's, A3 from Moody's Investor Services, Inc., and A- from Standard & Poor's.

SRAC and Sears have entered into agreements for the benefit of certain debtholders of SRAC under which Sears, for so long as required by the applicable documents, will continue to own all of the outstanding voting stock of SRAC and will pay SRAC such amounts that, when added to other available earnings, will be sufficient for SRAC to maintain an earnings to fixed charges ratio of not less than 1.10.

SRAC provides liquidity support for its outstanding commercial paper through its investment portfolio and committed credit facilities. As of December 29, 2001, SRAC commercial paper was supported by a $5.1 billion syndicated credit agreement; $875 million of which expires in April 2002 and $4.2 billion of which expires in April 2003.

Pursuant to the syndicated credit agreement between SRAC and various banks, the letter agreement between SRAC and Sears concerning SRAC's investment in Sears notes may not be amended, waived, terminated, or modified (except that SRAC's fixed charge coverage ratio may be reduced to as low as 1.15) without the approval of such banks.

SRAC ended 2001 with an equity position of $3.2 billion and a debt-to-equity ratio of 4.2:1 compared to 4.6:1 at the end of 2000.

As of February 28, 2002 SRAC had ten employees.

Item 2. Properties.

SRAC leases 5,865 square feet of an office building located in Greenville, Delaware.

Item 3. Legal Proceedings.

PART II

Item 5. Market for Registrant's Common Equity and Related Stockholder Matters.

None.

Item 6. Selected Financial Data.

Not applicable.

Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Financial Condition

SRAC's investment in Sears notes decreased to $16.0 billion at year-end 2001 from $16.9 billion at year-end 2000, as a result of decreased funding requirements of Sears. Short-term borrowings at the end of 2001 were $3.2 billion, a $700 million decrease from the prior year. Total debt outstanding decreased to $13.3 billion at year-end 2001 from $14.1 billion at year-end 2000.

Results of Operations

SRAC's total revenues of $1,089 million for 2001 decreased from $1,216 million in 2000 and from $1,201 million in 1999. The revenue decrease for 2001 resulted primarily from a 61 basis point decrease in the average rates on earning assets from 2000 to 2001 and a $400 million reduction in average earning asset levels during 2001 versus 2000. The revenue increase for 2000 resulted primarily from a 30 basis point increase in the average rate on earning assets from 1999 to 2000.

SRAC's interest and related expenses were $866 million, $966 million and $955 million in 2001, 2000, and 1999, respectively. In 2001, SRAC's average cost of short-term funds decreased 191 basis points from 6.66% in 2000 to 4.75%. SRAC's average cost of term debt remained at 6.60% for 2001 and 2000. Decreases in interest and related expenses resulted from lower interest rates throughout 2001 and a reduction in overall debt levels. Average daily outstanding short-term debt in 2001 was $3.3 billion compared to $3.2 billion in 2000. Average daily outstanding term debt of $10.5 billion in 2001 decreased nearly $600 million from the $11.1 billion average level in 2000.

The following unsecured securities were issued by SRAC during 2001:

- *$1.8 billion of discrete underwritten notes, weighted average coupon of 6.89% and an average term of 10 years; and

- *$270 million of variable-rate medium-term notes, weighted average coupon of 3 month LIBOR + 1.06% and an average term of 2.3 years;

During 2000, SRAC's management of the debt portfolio resulted in a $600 million reduction from 1999 average debt levels offset by a 36 basis point increase in average cost. This resulted in increases in interest and related expenses throughout 2000.

SRAC's net income was $144 million in 2001, $161 million in

Edgar Filing: SEARS ROEBUCK ACCEPTANCE CORP - Form 10-K

2000 and $158 million in 1999.

4

The financial information appearing in this Annual Report on Form 10-K is presented in historical dollars, which do not reflect the decline in purchasing power that results from inflation. As is the case for most financial companies, substantially all of SRAC's assets and liabilities are monetary in nature. Interest rates on SRAC's investment in Sears notes are set to provide fixed charge coverage of at least 1.25 times, thereby insulating SRAC from the effects of inflation-based interest rate increases.

Item 7A. Market Risk

The primary market risk exposure faced by SRAC is interest rate risk and arises from SRAC's debt obligations. The Company's policy is to manage interest rate risk through the strategic use of fixed and variable rate debt. All debt securities are considered non-trading. At year-end 2001 and 2000, 39% and 45%, respectively, of the funding portfolio was variable rate (including current maturities of fixed-rate long-term debt that will reprice in the next 12 months). Based on SRAC's funding portfolio as of year-end 2001 and 2000, which totaled $13.3 and $14.2 billion, respectively, a 100 basis point change in interest rates would affect annual pre-tax funding cost by approximately $52 million and $63 million, respectively. This calculation assumes the funding portfolio balance at year end remains constant for an annual period and that the 100 basis point change occurs at the beginning of the annual period. The effect on net earnings is mitigated by the fixed charge coverage agreement with Sears.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp. ("SRAC"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co. ("Sears"), is principally engaged in the business of acquiring short-term notes of Sears using proceeds from its unsecured short-term borrowing programs (primarily the direct placement of commercial paper) and the issuance of long-term debt (medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt).

Under a letter agreement between SRAC and Sears, the interest rate on the Sears notes is presently calculated so that SRAC maintains an earnings to fixed charges ratio of at least 1.25.

Cash and cash equivalents is defined to include all highly liquid investments with maturities of three months or less. Receivables purchased from Sears are purchased at par and are interest-bearing.

Edgar Filing: SEARS ROEBUCK ACCEPTANCE CORP - Form 10-K

The results of operations of SRAC are included in the consolidated federal income tax return of Sears. Tax liabilities and benefits are allocated as generated by SRAC, regardless of whether such benefits would be currently available on a separate return basis.

SRAC's fiscal year ends on the Saturday nearest December 31. Fiscal year-ends were December 29, 2001 (52 weeks), December 30, 2000 (52 weeks), and January 1, 2000 (52 weeks).

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities, is effective for all fiscal years beginning after June 15, 2000. SFAS 133, as amended, establishes accounting and reporting standards for derivative instruments, including certain derivative instruments embedded in other contracts and for hedging activities. Under SFAS 133, certain contracts that were not formerly considered derivatives now meet the definition of a derivative. SRAC adopted SFAS 133 effective December 30, 2000. The adoption of SFAS 133 resulted in no transition adjustment.

2. FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

Federal income taxes provided for by SRAC amounted to $77 million, $87 million and $85 million for the fiscal years 2001, 2000 and 1999, respectively. These amounts represent current income tax provisions calculated at an effective income tax rate of 35%. No deferred tax provisions were necessary.

3. COMMERCIAL CUSTOMER RECEIVABLE BALANCES

In the past, SRAC purchased commercial customer receivable balances from Sears. The receivables were purchased, with recourse, and SRAC earned interest on the outstanding balance. The receivables were made up of credit accounts Sears established with merchants and contractors for bulk purchases from Sears and were predominantly paid within 30 days.

Each month, SRAC purchased new receivables and received collections on previously purchased receivables. SRAC discontinued this program as of the end of 1999.

6. BACK-UP LIQUIDITY

SRAC continued to provide support for 100% of its outstanding commercial paper through its investment portfolio and credit facilities. SRAC's investment portfolio fluctuated from a low of $1 million to a high of $899 million in 2001. Committed credit facilities as of December 29, 2001 were as follows:

Expiration Date	(millions)
April 2002	875
April 2003	$4,185
	$5,060

SRAC pays commitment fees on the unused portions of its credit facilities. The annualized fees at December 29, 2001 on these credit lines were $3.7 million.

7. LETTERS OF CREDIT AND OTHER COMMITMENTS

SRAC has been a guarantor of a $70 million promissory note issued by Sears, Roebuck de Puerto Rico, Inc. under the terms of a July 1998 private placement. The note was paid off January 8, 2002 and the guaranty terminated.

SRAC is the guarantor of an office lease entered into by GlobalNetXchange, LLC(GNX) as of October 6, 2000 and expiring on January 31, 2006. At December 29, 2001, SRAC's obligation for the remaining lease payments totaled $6.2 million. SRAC's exposure is mitigated by an indemnification agreement dated as of February 12, 2001 by which certain members of GNX have severally agreed to indemnify SRAC in connection with its liability under the lease guaranty. Furthermore, GNX has secured a letter of credit with SRAC as beneficiary to cover the exposure of a member who is not a party to the indemnification agreement.

SRAC issues import letters of credit to facilitate Sears purchase of goods from foreign suppliers. At December 29, 2001, letters of credit totaling $185 million were outstanding. SRAC has no liabilities with respect to this program other than the obligation to pay drafts under the letters of credit that, if not reimbursed by Sears on the day of the disbursement, are automatically converted into demand borrowings by Sears from SRAC. To date, all SRAC disbursements have been reimbursed on a same-day basis. SRAC also issues irrevocable letters of credit to third parties on behalf of Sears and its subsidiaries. At December 29, 2001, irrevocable letters of credit totaling $37 million were outstanding.

To facilitate an understanding of SRAC's commitments the following data is provided:

8. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

In the normal course of business, SRAC invests in certain notes of Sears and in the past, purchased commercial customer receivable balances from Sears.

SRAC's financial instruments (both assets and liabilities), with the exception of medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt, are short-term or variable in nature and as such their carrying value approximates fair value. Medium-term notes and discrete underwritten debt are valued based on quoted market prices when available or discounted cash flows, using interest rates currently available to SRAC on similar borrowings. The fair values of these financial instruments are as follows:

(millions)	2001		2000
	Carrying Value	Fair Value	Carrying Value	Fair Value
Medium-term notes (net)	$2,762	$2,816	$4,608	$4,544

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Shareholder and Board of Directors of Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp.
Greenville, Delaware

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp. (a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sears, Roebuck and Co.) as of December 29, 2001 and December 30, 2000, and the related statements of income, shareholder's equity, and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 29, 2001. These financial statements are the responsibility of Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp.'s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, such financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Sears Roebuck Acceptance Corp. as of December 29, 2001 and December 30, 2000, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 29, 2001 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
