THE VALUE LINE

FUND, INC.

[LOGO]

THE VALUE LINE FUND, INC.

TO OUR VALUE LINE

TO OUR SHAREHOLDERS:

After a three-year bear market, 2003 brought welcome relief to equity investors. The Value Line Fund, which had its portfolio more conservatively positioned, a strategy that worked well during the prior 3-year bear market, returned 16.28% for the year, while the Standard & Poor's 500-stock index climbed 28.7%. (1)

The speculative rally that began in mid-March, after the start of the Iraqi war, clearly did not reward the more conservative, high-quality names in the portfolio. Our best efforts to reposition the portfolio from the defensive strategy that worked well during the multi-year downturn which enabled shareholders to more safely weather the bear market was mostly successful. The Value Line Timeliness Ranking System favors stocks with strong relative earnings momentum, positive earnings surprise and strong relative price momentum. The leaders during the early phase of the rally did not rank well and, therefore, were not represented in the Fund. Higher risk technology stocks, many of which had lost half of their market value over the past four years, especially telecom equipment and semiconductor-related issues, are examples of where we were underweight relative to the benchmark due to their poor fundamentals and low Timeliness ranks. However, as technology companies began to report increased year-over-year performance, they were assigned higher Timeliness ranks and we increased our exposure.

The September quarter was characterized by a more tempered rise in the S&P 500, up 2.6%, and the Dow Jones Industrial Average, up 3.8%, than we had seen in the June period. Again, all of the action was in the high risk, smaller, more speculative names, which we tend to avoid.

Over the course of the year, we have made significant changes in the portfolio. As the economic picture improved, we increased our technology exposure, an area that has shown renewed growth. In addition, we have added to our positions in basic materials and industrials, which should benefit in a cyclical recovery.

Edgar Filing: VALUE LINE FUND INC - Form N-CSR

Overall, the firming in business spending, a stabilizing labor market, and relatively low interest rates for the foreseeable future, should be positive for the equity markets. We believe that the Fund is well positioned to benefit in this environment.

We thank you for your continued confidence in Value Line, and we look forward to serving you in the new year.

Sincerely,

/s/ Jean Bernhard Buttner

ECONOMIC OBSERVATIONS

The U.S. economic recovery, which proceeded at an uninspiring pace in 2002 and the first half of 2003, really took off during last year's third and fourth quarters, when the nation's gross domestic product, buoyed by a strengthening in both consumer spending and capital goods activity, rose at the fastest pace in several years. What's more, early indications are that the economy will continue to press forward at a solid gait in the opening half of 2004, with GDP most likely increasing by more than 4%.

Meanwhile, underpinned by the critical support of the Federal Reserve, which continues to maintain its low-interest-rate policies, and boosted also by the stimulative effects of last year's tax reduction and spending programs, the U.S. economy should remain in forward gear throughout the year with GDP maintaining that healthy pace of better than 4%. We currently expect the business expansion to continue into 2005.

Inflation, meantime, remains muted, thanks, in part, to subdued labor costs. Adequate supplies of raw materials are also helping to keep the costs of production low. We note, though, that as the U.S. economy moves further along the recovery trail over the next several years, some modest increases in inflation may emerge. Absent a stronger long-term business recovery than we now envision, or a further sharp rise in oil and gas prices stemming from an escalating conflict in Iraq and elsewhere in the always contentious Middle East, or some severe production cutbacks by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), inflation should generally remain in check through the latter years of this decade. Long-term interest rates should increase modestly over the next several years, but most likely not to the degree that would bring the expansion to a halt.

THE VALUE LINE FUND, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Fund is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a diversified, open-end management investment company whose primary investment objective is long-term growth of capital.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

(A) SECURITY VALUATION. Securities listed on a securities exchange are valued at the closing sales prices on the date as of which the net asset value is being determined. Securities traded on the NASDAQ Stock Market are valued at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price. In the absence of closing sales prices for such securities and for securities traded in the over-the-counter market, the security is valued at the midpoint between the latest available and representative asked and bid prices. Short-term instruments with maturities of 60 days or less at the date of purchase are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value. Short-term instruments with maturities greater than

60 days at the date of purchase are valued at the midpoint between the latest available and representative asked and bid prices, and commencing 60 days prior to maturity such securities are valued at amortized cost. Securities for which market quotations are not readily available or that are not readily marketable and all other assets of the Fund are valued at fair value as the Board of Directors may determine in good faith.

(B) REPURCHASE AGREEMENTS. In connection with transactions in repurchase agreements, the Fund's custodian takes possession of the underlying collateral securities, the value of which exceeds the principal amount of the repurchase transaction, including accrued interest. To the extent that any repurchase transaction exceeds one business day, the value of the collateral is marked-to-market on a daily basis to ensure the adequacy of the collateral. In the event of default of the obligation to repurchase, the Fund has the right to liquidate the collateral and apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the obligation. Under certain circumstances, in the event of default or bankruptcy by the other party to the agreement, realization and/or retention of the collateral or proceeds may be subject to legal proceedings.

(C) FEDERAL INCOME TAXES. It is the Fund's policy to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code applicable to regulated investment companies, including the distribution requirements of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, and to distribute all of its taxable income to its shareholders. Therefore, no federal income tax or excise tax provision is required.

(D) SECURITY TRANSACTIONS AND DISTRIBUTIONS. Security transactions are accounted for on the date the securities are purchased or sold. Interest income is accrued as earned. Realized gains and losses on sales of securities are calculated for financial accounting and federal income tax purposes on the identified cost basis. Dividend income and distributions to shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations which may differ from generally accepted accounting principles.

(E) REPRESENTATIONS AND INDEMNIFICATIONS. In the normal course of business the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties which provide general indemnifications. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss to be remote.

The Fund bears all other costs and expenses.

The Fund has a Service and Distribution Plan (the "Plan"), adopted pursuant to Rule 12b-1 under the Investment Company Act of 1940, for the payment of certain expenses incurred by Value Line Securities, Inc. For the year ended December 31, 2003, fees amounting to $530,000 were paid or payable to the Distributor under this Plan.

Certain officers and directors of the Adviser and its wholly owned subsidiary, Value Line Securities, Inc. (the Fund's distributor and a registered broker/dealer), are also officers and directors of the Fund. During the year ended December 31, 2003, the Fund paid brokerage commissions totaling $297,000 to the Distributor, which clears its transactions through unaffiliated brokers.

For the year ended December 31, 2003, the Fund's expenses were reduced by $1,000 under a custody credit arrangement with the Custodian.

The Adviser and/or affiliated companies and the Value Line, Inc. Profit Sharing and Savings Plan owned 433,050 shares of the Fund's capital stock, representing 2.9% of the outstanding shares at December 31, 2003.
