Chairman's Letter

Dear Shareholder,

I am pleased to present to you this semi-annual report for the Neuberger Berman Intermediate Municipal Closed-End Funds for the six months ended April 30, 2008. The report includes portfolio commentary, listings of the Funds' investments, and their financial statements for the reporting period.

Each Fund's investment objective is to provide a high level of current income exempt from regular federal income tax and, for each state-specific fund, a high level of current income exempt from that state's personal income taxes (and, in the case of the New York Fund, New York City personal income tax).

We invest in intermediate-term municipal bonds because our experience and research indicate strongly that this maturity range has historically offered the best risk/reward profile on the yield curve, providing much of the return of longer-term bonds — with less volatility and risk.

We believe that our conservative investment philosophy and disciplined investment process will benefit you with superior tax exempt current income over the long term.

Since February 2008, the market for auction rate preferred securities has experienced significant disruption that has resulted in failed auctions for many of these securities, including the auction market preferred shares issued by the Funds. While at this time we cannot predict whether, how or when complete or partial liquidity will return, we continue to work toward finding a solution while keeping in mind the interests of both the common and preferred shareholders of the Funds.

Thank you for your confidence in Neuberger Berman. We will continue to do our best to earn it.

Sincerely,

Peter Sundman Chairman of the Board Neuberger Berman California Intermediate Municipal Fund Inc. Neuberger Berman Intermediate Municipal Fund Inc. Neuberger Berman New York Intermediate Municipal Fund Inc.

Intermediate Municipal Closed-End Funds Portfolio Commentaries

For the six months ended April 30, 2008, on a net asset value (NAV) basis, all three of the Neuberger Berman Intermediate Municipal Closed End Funds posted positive returns, outperforming the Lipper Closed-End Intermediate Municipal Debt Funds Average but trailing the Lehman Bothers 10-Year Municipal Bond Index.

Over the first two months of the period, the fixed income markets showed some signs of stabilizing as the credit crunch triggered by the subprime mortgage crisis appeared to be easing. However, in January, credit market conditions began to deteriorate rapidly as major U.S. financial institutions continued to announce huge write-downs of fixed income assets and France's Société Générale reported a substantial loss. At this juncture, many segments of the fixed income markets, including the municipal securities auction market, seized up. The Fed responded with a 75-basis-point (0.75%) inter-meeting rate cut followed by another 50-basis-point cut a week later at its regularly scheduled January meeting. In addition, it took steps to inject liquidity by creating term auction facilities for banks. However, before these Fed actions could have much impact, in March, Bear Stearns, the U.S.'s fifth largest investment bank, appeared close to failure, prompting panic selling in the corporate bond and equities markets. Once again, the Fed moved aggressively, backing the JPMorgan Chase acquisition of Bear Stearns, cutting interest rates by an additional 75 basis points, and opening its discount window (lending facilities) to primary fixed income dealers. By April, the last month of this semi-annual reporting period, frozen credit markets started to thaw, but fixed income investors remained wary.

In the midst of this kind of market disruption, investment grade municipal securities conceivably could have benefited from investors' "flight to quality." However, several factors created a cloud over the municipal market: paralysis in the municipal securities auction market, credit downgrades and/or credit watches for a number of AAA-rated municipal bond insurers, and the mass liquidation of municipal securities by hedge funds seeking to meet margin calls.

We believe that a decline in the amount of issues enhanced with AAA insurance will create additional opportunities to add yield and illustrate the benefit of our research-intensive approach. We also think the worst of the hedge fund selling is over. The silver lining to this cloud is that the yields on high grade municipal securities now approximate the yields on comparable maturity U.S. Treasuries, creating an even greater yield advantage for investors in high federal and state income tax brackets.

Under more normal circumstances, we would have responded to Fed rate cuts by extending the weighted average maturity and duration of the Funds' portfolios. Recently, we have been selectively adding some longer maturity securities to the Funds' portfolios. However, we are reluctant to move too far out on the yield curve, because inflation remains a problem that we believe Fed Chairman Bernanke will eventually have to confront. This will not likely happen until the economy has weathered the current storm, but when GDP growth increases to the 2%–3% range, we believe the Fed will reverse course and begin tightening.

Our primary response to the challenges in the municipal securities market has been to remain diligent in analyzing the credit quality of portfolio holdings. We have been weeding out revenue bonds of more economically sensitive issuers and gravitating to securities with high levels of debt service coverage and strong legal covenants securing revenue streams.

Looking ahead, although we can't be sure that more "shoes won't drop," leading financial companies have bolstered their balance sheets and we suspect that write-downs will trend lower over the next several quarters. A healthier financial sector along with low interest rates and a Fed that has come up with some creative solutions to free up credit should combine to help stabilize the fixed income markets. In addition, municipal securities' historically high after-tax yield advantage over U.S. Treasuries should, in our view, create a more favorable response from fixed income investors.
