EGL, INC. TO BE ACQUIRED BY CEVA LOGISTICS FOR APPROXIMATELY $2 BILLION

EGL Shareholders to Receive $47.50 Per Share

HOUSTON and AMSTERDAM, May 24, 2007 -- EGL, Inc. (Nasdaq: EAGL) ("EGL"), and CEVA Group Plc (☐CEVA☐), a UK public limited company owned by affiliates of Apollo Management VI, L.P., today announced that they have signed a definitive merger agreement pursuant to which CEVA will acquire EGL for total transaction consideration of approximately $2 billion. Pursuant to the agreement, EGL's shareholders will receive $47.50 in cash for each share of EGL common stock they hold at the time of the merger. The board of directors of EGL, on the unanimous recommendation of a special committee comprised entirely of independent directors, has approved the agreement and will recommend that EGL's shareholders approve the merger.

In connection with this transaction, EGL has terminated its previous merger agreement with affiliates of James R. Crane, EGL's largest shareholder, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Board, together with investment funds affiliated with Centerbridge Partners, L.P. and The Woodbridge Company Limited (the "Crane group"), after determining that CEVA's offer was more favorable to EGL stockholders. EGL has paid a $30 million fee to the Crane group in connection with the termination.

The purchase price represents a premium of approximately 60 percent over $29.78, the closing price of EGL stock on December 29, 2006, the last trading day before an initial proposal was made by the Crane group to take EGL private. It also represents a 25 percent premium over the $38.00 per share consideration that was to be paid under the Crane group's agreement.

The combination will create the world's fourth largest integrated supply chain management company, with leading global capabilities in freight forwarding and contract logistics.

Chairman of the Special Committee and member of EGL's Board of Directors, Milton Carroll said, "After careful consideration, our Special Committee has concluded that this transaction is in the best interest of EGL and maximizes value for all of our shareholders."

Josh Harris, a founding partner of Apollo Management said, "Together, CEVA and EGL offer tremendous opportunities to better serve our global customer base and will provide enhanced solutions to meet businesses' supply chain needs in a dynamic global environment. We are extremely impressed with the expertise and depth of EGL's senior management team and talented employee base and look forward to working together to further build the business."

CEVA CEO Dave Kulik said, "The acquisition of EGL is a transforming event for CEVA and increases the ability of both companies to serve its existing customers. We are very excited to have many of the senior leadership at EGL join CEVA as our partners and look forward to working together to build the leading transportation logistics provider in the world." Kulik continued, "Maintaining the continuity of EGL's senior management team and its employees around the world is a priority and CEVA is committed to ensuring a smooth transition of ownership and continuing the strong relationships EGL has with its transportation partners."

CEVA expects all existing operations at EGL will remain unchanged following the merger and will be managed under a new freight management division, headquartered at EGL's existing location in Houston, TX. The transaction is subject to regulatory approvals and the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of EGL's outstanding shares. EGL and CEVA anticipate the transaction will close in the third quarter of 2007.

In connection with the transaction, Deutsche Bank served as financial advisor to the Special Committee to the Board of Directors of EGL, and Andrews Kurth served as its legal counsel. Baker Botts served as EGL's legal counsel. Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz served as CEVA's legal counsel. Gleacher Partners and Bear Stearns & Co. provided financial advice to CEVA.
