Item 2.02 Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

The disclosures required by this Item 2.02 are contained in Item 8.01 set forth below.

Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

On November 13, 2012, AK Steel Corporation (collectively with AK Steel Holding Corporation, the "Company") issued a press release, a copy of which is attached hereto as Exhibit No. 99.1 and incorporated by reference herein, announcing guidance for its fourth quarter 2012 financial results.

The Company also is providing information with respect to its Magnetation LLC joint venture ("Magnetation"), AK Coal Resources, Inc. ("AK Coal"), certain other cost reduction initiatives, and its estimates for the Company's required annual pension contributions over the next three calendar years. This information is provided below.

Magnetation. The estimated benefits associated with Magnetation will vary based on the market price of iron ore, which fluctuates with the IODEX. While the future pricing of iron ore is not known, the Company currently estimates that its annual margin benefit attributable to Magnetation when a planned Magnetation pellet plant is fully operational would be approximately $60.0 million, $90.0 million and $130.0 million based on an assumed IODEX of $100, $120 and $140 per metric ton, respectively. This estimated benefit assumes the design and development of the pellet plant is successfully completed, including site selection and permitting and that Magnetation is successful in obtaining financing for its capital needs, and reflects the Company's current estimate of construction and operating costs. Actual results could differ.

AK Coal. The estimated benefits associated with AK Coal will vary based on the market price of low volatile metallurgical coal. While the future pricing of metallurgical coal is not known, the Company currently estimates that its annual margin benefit attributable to AK Coal when fully operational would be approximately $20.0 million, $30.0 million and $40.0 million based on assumed low volatile metallurgical coal prices of $110, $120 and $130 per net ton, respectively. This estimated benefit assumes the development of the mine is successfully completed and required permits are obtained, and reflects the Company's current estimate of capital investment and operating costs. Actual results could differ.

Other cost reduction initiatives. Other strategic initiatives to lower the Company's costs include the higher utilization of its production facilities and the implementation of a strategic purchasing procurement system. The Company estimates that by improving its operating rates by 10%, the Company would achieve annual cost improvements totaling approximately $40.0 million. The Company's estimated annual cost savings with the implementation of its strategic purchasing system are approximately $25.0 million.

Annual pension contributions. Based on current actuarial valuations, the Company estimates that its required annual pension contributions will be approximately $180.0 million for 2013, approximately $240.0 million for 2014 and approximately $153.0 million for 2015. The calculation of estimated future pension contributions requires the use of assumptions concerning future events. The most significant of these assumptions relate to future investment performance of the pension funds, actuarial data relating to plan participants, and the interest rate used to discount future benefits to their present value. Because of the variability of factors underlying these assumptions, including the possibility of future pension legislation, the reliability of estimated future pension contributions decreases as the length of time until the contributions must be made increases.
