Item 4. Purpose of Transaction

The Filers ("Lawndale"), believe Sparton Corporation's ("Sparton" or the "Company") present market value does not reflect the value of the Company's niche businesses largely because inadequate corporate governance practices have effectively entrenched a Board and underperforming management team.

As disclosed in prior filings, Lawndale has expressed concerns over the composition, independence and functioning of Sparton's Board of Directors (the "Board") for several reasons, including, but not limited to the Board's inaction in applying sufficient oversight and accountability over a management team that has overseen substantial shareholder value destruction best illustrated by Sparton's stock depreciating 34% over a ten-year period ended July 2008.

In several prior communications to the Board, expressing similar concerns, Lawndale has requested dialogue with Sparton's Independent Directors to discuss and address these concerns. These attempts at dialogue were repeatedly rebuffed.

At Sparton's October 2007 Annual Meeting, Lawndale, voted "WITHHOLD" on the reelection of three Sparton Directors for reasons set forth in a letter dated October 9, 2007, and attached as Exhibit B, of its Schedule 13D, Amendment No. 11.

After the 2007 meeting, where just shy of 30% of Sparton shares voted "WITHHOLD", Lawndale made additional attempts at dialogue. These attempts have been met with further legalese and obfuscation inconsistent with public company corporate governance best practices.

Lawndale believes that adding new and independent directors with no longstanding relationship to Chairman Brad Smith or Sparton management will improve both the objective oversight and functioning of the Board and its corporate governance practices, which Lawndale believes will contribute to changes that will improve operating performance and shareholder value.

On August 22, 2008, Lawndale sent Sparton's Board and its Nominating Committee a letter (the "Letter"), a copy of which is attached at Exhibit B hereto, and incorporated by reference to this filing) informing the Board that Lawndale was:

- 1) formally recommending ("Shareholder Nominee Recommendation") four independent and highly experienced individuals, Messrs. Joe Hartnett, Jim Swartwout, Gerald LaFlamme and Jay Hunt, (the "Shareholder Nominees") for Sparton's Nominating Committee to consider voluntarily adding to Sparton's Board;
- 2) requesting Sparton's Board hire experienced turnaround management from outside Sparton's historically ineffective managerial culture;
- 3) reiterating Lawndale's prior request that Sparton's Board retain independent reputable advisors to explore strategic alternatives, including the sale of the Company;
- 4) providing required notice (the "Lawndale Notice") of Lawndale's intent, absent a satisfactory settlement of differing viewpoints, to directly nominate the Shareholder Nominees for election to Sparton's Board via an alternative proxy slate, at Sparton's next Annual Meeting.

As described in Lawndale's Letter and Shareholder Nominee Recommendation (a copy of which is attached at Exhibit C hereto, and incorporated by reference to this filing), Lawndale believes that given the substantial turnaround and operating experience of the Shareholder Nominees, they would individually, and together, add significant expertise and value to Sparton's Board.

As disclosed in Lawndale's Letter and the Lawndale Notice (a copy of which is attached at Exhibit D hereto, and incorporated by reference to this filing), absent a satisfactory settlement, Lawndale intends to file a proxy statement with the Securities and Exchange Commission for the purpose of soliciting proxies with respect to election of the Shareholder Nominees.

Lawndale continues to seek and be open to dialogue with Sparton's Board in an effort to resolve this matter in a constructive way so as to avoid a proxy contest. However, to date, Lawndale has not received any communications from Sparton. Failing a positive response from Sparton by close of business on August 29, 2008, Lawndale will take steps to proceed to commence its own solicitation.

Lawndale acquired the Stock for investment purposes, and Lawndale may from time to time take such actions, as it deems necessary or appropriate to maximize its investment in the Company's shares. Such action(s) may include, but is not limited to, buying or selling the Company's Stock at its discretion, communicating with the Company's shareholders and/or others about actions which may be taken to improve the Company's financial situation or governance policies or practices, as well as such other actions as Lawndale, in its sole discretion, may find appropriate.

Lawndale incorporates by reference its activities and discussions disclosed in its prior Schedules 13D to the extent not inconsistent with the discussion herein.

Item 5. Interest in Securities of the Issuer

LETTER FROM LAWNDALE CAPITAL MANAGEMENT, LLC
TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF SPARTON CORPORATION

Andrew Shapiro

President

August 22, 2008

To the Nominating Committee & Board Members of Sparton Corporation:

Gentlemen,

Lawndale Capital Management, LLC, and its affiliates, ("Lawndale") own 968,810 shares of Sparton Corporation ("Sparton" or the "Company"), constituting 9.9% of the company's outstanding voting stock, and remains Sparton's largest independent shareholder. We continue to have serious concerns regarding Sparton's corporate governance and its Board composition, particularly following the Board's decision to improperly strip the Company's shareholders of their cumulative voting rights in 2004. This move, amongst others, further removed Sparton's Board from accountability to Sparton's shareholders, entrenching both the Board and management. We feel the absence of accountability for Sparton Board members has led to its lack of engagement and continued inaction despite multiple years of shareholder value destruction, reflected by a wide number of metrics, but perhaps most easily illustrated by the stock's precipitous decline of 47% in the past four years since shareholders' rights were stripped away.

As evidenced by the significant "withhold" vote at last October's Annual Meeting, Lawndale is not alone in its concerns. It is clear the Board lacks the confidence of the majority of independent shareholders and likely most of the beneficiaries of the John J Smith Trust whose inheritance Sparton Chairman and estate trustee Brad Smith appears to have squandered for over seven years. Since last year's Annual Meeting, the company has reported further losses contributing to eight consecutive quarters of operating losses and the stock has fallen 21%. Furthermore, questions of possible ERISA law violations regarding Sparton's employee Defined Benefit Pension Plan improperly holding an excessive amount of Sparton stock voted by management, and questions regarding the improper use of Sparton's cash to repurchase insider's personal stock have come to light, all under the purported "oversight" of this Board.

Multiple times over the past few years, most recently in June and July, we have attempted to have dialogue with Sparton's "independent" Board members to discuss our concerns regarding the Board's engagement and composition. Unfortunately, our efforts for dialogue have been rebuffed and met with legalese and obfuscation inconsistent with a public company that holds itself out as shareholder friendly.

Consequently, with this letter we are:

- 1) recommending four independent and highly experienced individuals for Sparton's Nominating Committee to consider voluntarily adding to Sparton's Board;
- 2) requesting Sparton's Board hire experienced turnaround management from outside Sparton's historically ineffective managerial culture;
- 3) reiterating our request that Sparton's Board retain independent reputable advisors to explore strategic alternatives, including the sale of the Company;
- 4) providing required notice of Lawndale's intent, absent a satisfactory settlement of our differing viewpoints, to directly nominate for election to Sparton's Board via an alternative proxy slate, at Sparton's next Annual Meeting, the same individuals in our first proposal, set forth above. We also reserve the right to add additional nominees for election to Sparton's Board should additional vacancies to the Board come up for election at Sparton's next Annual Meeting.

Sparton's current Board and management have been given more than enough time to affect a turnaround. With only the recent announcement of current management tasked to implement "recommendations" of consultants and no mention of reputable outside advisors exploring strategic alternatives, we can only presume the Board is not pursuing obvious steps, preferring instead to remain unaccountable and entrenched. Lawndale cannot sit idly by while a discredited board relies upon a discredited management team to extricate Sparton from a morass of their own creation.

The four highly qualified and experienced nominees we have recommended to Sparton's Nominating Committee are independent. Pursuant to corporate law they will act in the interests of all of Sparton shareholders, without bias toward the interests of any particular family or management member, as we believe the current Board appears to have been for years. Further, we believe each nominee exceeds the qualification and skill requirements set forth as criteria in Sparton's proxy (and certainly exceeds the skills and qualifications of several members of the current Sparton Board). We note that all of the nominees have public company experience and can serve on any of your committees, including the Audit Committee, with several having chaired such committees. We have saved Sparton great expense in finding such outstanding experienced individuals and we expect the Nominating Committee to embrace this opportunity and thoroughly review and contact each candidate in the near future.

Our goal is to enhance Sparton's long-term sustainable shareholder value. Through the accompanying formal recommendation of these outstanding candidates to Sparton's Nominating Committee, we are again attempting to work with you and have a dialogue to create a better Sparton. We are hopeful that the Board will recognize that a costly proxy fight is in nobody's interest. However, absent the dialogue we have been seeking for years and implementation of mutually agreeable changes at Sparton, settling our differences, we will have no choice but to mount a proxy contest to add needed improvement to Sparton's Board.

After years of dissipating shareholder wealth, further improper voting of the Sparton shares held in the employee pension plan and any improper influence over voting of employee 401K plan holdings may potentially expose you all to very costly liability. The status quo that has persisted since John's and Lawson's passing has failed to create shareholder value and is untenable. It is time for Sparton's Board to turn over a new leaf and embrace a more enlightened approach to corporate governance and work with us. We look forward to working with the Sparton Board to expeditiously make these needed improvements. The candidates that we have submitted will make outstanding additions to your Board.

Thank you for your prompt consideration of the matters outlined in this communication. While we understand the Committee's need to carefully consider the Nominees, we trust that you understand our need for an appropriate dialogue such that we can make a decision about how to proceed. Accordingly, we request that you respond to this letter no later than the close of business August 29, 2008. If we do not receive a positive response from you by that date we will have no choice but to assume that you have rejected our proposed candidates and proceed to commence our own solicitation.

Sincerely,

Andrew Shapiro

President

EXHIBIT C

Shareholder Recommendation of Nominees to Nominating Committee

Corporate Secretary

2400 E. Ganson St.

Jackson, MI

49202

Mr. Lerczak,

Consistent with the procedure for recommending director nominees set forth in Sparton's proxy, Lawndale hereby formally requests that the Nominating Committee of Sparton's Board of Directors (the "Committee") add the following highly qualified independent individuals (the "Nominees") to Sparton's Board, and further nominate these individuals for election to Sparton's Board at the Company's next Annual Meeting. Because of the Nominees' outstanding qualifications and experience, coupled with our serious concerns regarding most of Sparton's present directors, we would prefer you appoint the Nominees immediately to Sparton's Board. We further request that the Nominees be named as the Company's nominees to fill both this year's staggered class and the vacancy to the class of 2009 resulting from Mr. Hockenbrocht's retirement.

Further, should certain members of this year's staggered class be renominated, then we request that the Nominees replace existing directors from other staggered classes whose time on Sparton's Board should come to an end. Alternatively, if members from other classes leave Sparton's board, we request that the Committee and/or Sparton's Board appoint and/or nominate the Nominees to these vacancies, and Lawndale expressly reserves the right to recommend additional nominees should there be additional vacancies up for election at Sparton's next Annual Meeting.

We believe the following information regarding Lawndale's four independent nominees satisfies all aspects of Sparton's "Procedure for Recommendation of Director Nominees by Shareholders as set forth in Sparton's proxy. If we have omitted anything from our submission please notify us in a timely fashion. Further, all of the information on each Nominee is qualified by the individual bios that we are submitting herewith for each Nominee, and which information should be considered as incorporated by reference into this notice.
