On December 9, 2002 Pharmacia is holding a special shareholders' meeting to vote on the proposal to adopt the merger agreement between Pfizer and Pharmacia.

Pfizer stock will be traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Pfizer currently has no intention of listing its shares on Stockholmsbörsen or directly registering its shares with VPC.

It is the intention that holders of formerly VPC-registered SDRs of Pharmacia, whose holding is not registered in a custodian account, will receive their shares in Pfizer in a newly opened account with EquiServe. Holders whose SDRs are registered with a bank or other nominee will not automatically be provided an EquiServe account. Their exchange of shares will instead be handled in accordance with the policies and practices of each nominee.

Holders of SDRs of Pharmacia who do not wish to have their Pfizer shares and fractional shares registered with EquiServe should contact a bank or nominee in sufficient time before the closing date, and instruct them to transfer their holdings of SDRs of Pharmacia from their VP account into a newly opened or existing custodian account. The exchange of shares will be made in accordance with the policies and practices of each nominee.

More information about the exchange of SDRs of Pharmacia for newly issued shares of Pfizer common stock will be made available as soon as possible.

Q&A: The merger between Pharmacia and Pfizer

Why should I vote FOR to the merger?

At Pfizer's call center, we provide information, not opinions. We can provide you a summarized version of arguments presented in the informational brochure you received.

When it comes to analysis of the transaction, we recommend that you contact your bank or other nominee.

Pharmacia's board of directors believes the merger is advisable, fair and in the best interest of shareholders and holders of SDRs and recommends that they vote FOR the proposal to adopt the merger agreement.

Why should I vote AGAINST the merger?

At Pfizer's call center, we provide information, not opinions. If you have read the information material and come to the conclusion that it would not be wise for Pfizer and Pharmacia to merge, you should vote against the merger.

Name three good reasons why I should remain a shareholder of Pfizer?

Pfizer mentions reasons such as

1. Pfizer and Pharmacia will form the world's leading pharmaceutical company.
2. If the merger with Pharmacia is approved, this will place 14 leading pharmaceutical products under one roof. Twelve of these products have annual sales in excess of $1 billion. Together, Pfizer and Pharmacia will have a nascent/innovative and complementary product portfolio (cardiovascular, CNS, respiration, infection, urology, pain, oncology, ophthalmology and endocrinology) as well as a very promising R&D portfolio.
3. The merger with Pharmacia will strengthen Pfizer's market-leading position, which ultimately benefits patients through the introduction of new, innovative pharmaceuticals.

Sales improved by roughly 10 percent to 16.5 billion dollars (SEK155bn) in the first six months of 2002. In 2001, the group reported sales of 32.3 billion dollars (SEK304bn at 9.40 kronor to the dollar). On November 5, 2002, Pfizer was trading at 32.6 dollars a share.

FACTS ABOUT THE SHARE EXCHANGE

The process at a glance

December 6, 2002 Pfizer's special shareholders' meeting
Pfizer's shareholders will vote on a share issue for the purpose of exchanging them for shares of Pharmacia.

December 9, 2002 Pharmacia's special shareholders' meeting
Shareholders of Pharmacia will vote on the proposed merger with Pfizer.

Mid-December 2002 Holders of SDRs of Pharmacia receive an information pack from Pfizer
If the special shareholders' meetings approve the merger, the next step in the merger will begin, i.e., the share exchange.

The information pack from Pfizer outlines the process step by step to make the share exchange as simple as possible. For example, a guide is provided that guides holders of SDRs of Pharmacia through various forms etc.

Delivery of newly issued shares of Pfizer common stock

It is the intention that holders of SDRs of Pharmacia whose depositary receipts are NOT held at a bank or other nominee will receive an account statement from EquiServe showing the number of Pfizer shares held in the account as well as the following forms (in Swedish) from EquiServe:

Form with 2 boxes:

Do you want to participate in Pfizer's shareholder investment program

A form requesting authorization for the automatic reinvestment
of dividends
to purchase additional shares of

Form concerning bank account numbers to enable dividend payments from EquiServe (proceeds from the possible sale of shares, dividends) to be deposited directly into the account of a holder of SDRs, the holder of SDRs must provide an account number and clearing number.

W-8 American tax form. The form must be filled in to prevent holders of SDRs from having too much tax automatically withdrawn in the US. Otherwise, the holder of SDRs must file a request for a refund with the IRS. Holders of SDRs will fill in the form. Holders of SDRs of Pharmacia will normally not be required to fill in this form again for three years. (Information about how to fill in the form will be provided.)

Attached to the account statement is a standard form holders of SDRs can use to sell shares of Pfizer common stock (one or all) commission-free for a period through the end of March 2003. Proceeds, minus a currency-exchange fee, are paid in Swedish kronor.

Edgar Filing: PHARMACIA CORP /DE/ - Form 425

For example, if the currency exchange fee was 0.45% (N.B. This is an example, and currency-exchange fees may vary): The currency-exchange fee on a sale of SEK 40,000 worth of Pfizer common stock would be SEK 180.

The sale can also be executed by phone – a Swedish voice lists the options and a touch-tone telephone is used to automatically execute the trade. Trades may also be executed online.

Further information about details, telephone numbers etc. will be provided in Pfizer's information pack, which will be mailed in mid-December 2002.

March 7, 2003 – Pfizer's first dividend payment

If the holder of SDRs of Pharmacia is registered with EquiServe and has provided bank account information, the dividend will be deposited in Swedish kronor (minus the currency-exchange fee). If the holder of SDRs is registered with EquiServe and has not provided bank account information, a dividend check denominated in Swedish kronor will be mailed to the holder of SDRs (minus the currency-exchange fee).

Holders of SDRs of Pharmacia whose holdings are registered with a bank, Aktiesparinvest or other nominee will receive dividends in accordance with the policies and practices of each nominee.

The end of March 2003 – the commission-free period ends

Shareholders, whose shares are registered directly with EquiServe, may execute a sell order via EquiServe.

Shareholders holding their shares in a custodian account at a bank, Aktiesparinvest or other nominee may execute sell orders via their regular broker.

For shareholders whose shares are registered directly with EquiServe, purchasing additional Pfizer shares via EquiServe is always free, even after the end of March 2003.

The cost of executing a sell order after the end of March 2003, when the commission-free period ends is (currently):

$15 per order + 12 cents per share.

For example:

Executing a sell order for 100 shares would cost $27 ($15 for the sell order and 12 cents per share) or roughly SEK 250.

What is Pfizer?

For your vote to count, you must mail the proxy card so that it will be registered electronically by WM-data prior to 10 a.m. (CET) on December 9, 2002.

How do I go about selling my SDRs of Pharmacia?

Up to the final trading day, which is expected to be by the end of 2002, you may sell your SDRs of Pharmacia by contacting your bank or other nominee.

After your SDRs of Pharmacia have been exchanged for shares of Pfizer common stock, you will be able to sell them through your bank or other nominee, or via EquiServe if your shares are directly registered with EquiServe. Via EquiServe you may sell your shares of Pfizer common stock commission-free until the end of March 2003.

Will I lose my SDRs of Pharmacia if I do nothing at all?

If you choose not to act, it is the intention that your SDRs of Pharmacia will be automatically exchanged for shares of Pfizer common stock.

Will Pharmacia disappear?

Initially, Pharmacia will function as a wholly owned subsidiary of Pfizer. Certain parts of Pharmacia's and Pfizer's operations will be merged.

How does this affect my tax return?

If you are not holding your SDRs of Pharmacia at a bank or other nominee, you will be required to declare your shareholding, dividends and trades to the tax authorities. EquiServe does not report your holdings, dividends or disposals to the Swedish tax authorities.

When will the merger be completed?

The merger is currently expected to be completed by the end of 2002, provided the shareholders of Pharmacia and Pfizer and regulatory authorities approve the merger and all conditions are met.

How much will this cost me?

The merger itself will not cost the holders of SDRs of Pharmacia anything. Pharmacia takes care of the costs of the merger.

Q&A: SHARE EXCHANGE (1)

What happens if I as a holder of SDRs do not fill in the forms provided by EquiServe?

If you do not fill in the forms, U.S. tax may be withheld at an incorrect rate in respect of capital gains and dividends, and you will receive dividend payments by check.

Detailed information about the tax consequences will be provided in the information pack Pfizer will be mailing out to you in mid-December 2002.

If you as a holder of SDRs of Pharmacia choose not to act it is intended that your SDRs of Pharmacia will automatically be exchanged for shares of Pfizer common stock. The share exchange will be free of charge.

My SDRs of Pharmacia are held in a custodian account what does the share exchange mean to me?

Holders of SDRs of Pharmacia whose holdings already are registered in a custodian account will not automatically be provided a newly opened account with EquiServe. The newly issued shares of Pfizer common stock will be registered in a custodian account in accordance with the practices and routines of the bank, Aktiesparinvest or other nominee.

If your Pharmacia SDRs are held in a custodian account, the bank, Aktiesparinvest or other nominee will file your tax forms with the tax authorities. They also handle the currency conversion of dividends and proceeds, often at no extra charge.

Why will Pfizer not be listed on the exchange in Stockholm?

Pfizer aims to offer all its shareholders the same quality service and opportunity to hold shares of Pfizer common stock. Furthermore, Pfizer intends to oversee its European listings, focusing trading to a smaller number of exchanges. This will provide a liquid market for Pfizer's shares. In this process, it is natural not to list the company on yet another exchange.

Because holders of SDRs of Pharmacia will gain the opportunity to register their shares with EquiServe, a listing on the Swedish stock exchange will not be necessary.

What does a liquid market mean?

A liquid market means a high volume of shares traded. A high volume facilitates buying and selling, which is good for shareholders.

Q&A: SHARE EXCHANGE (2)

How will Swedish investors be able to trade shares of Pfizer common stock if there is no listing in Stockholm?

Pfizer is offering Swedish shareholders a cost-effective way to trade their shares of Pfizer common stock directly with the Pfizer registrar, EquiServe. Many of Pfizer's international and Swedish shareholders currently have their shares registered with EquiServe. Like VPC, EquiServe registers shares electronically.

Must I, who have my SDRs of Pharmacia registered with VPC, re-register my SDRs with EquiServe? What can I do if I do not want to register my Swedish depositary receipts with EquiServe?

You may instead contact a bank or other nominee in sufficient time before the closing date, and instruct them to transfer your holdings of SDRs of Pharmacia from your VP account into a custodian account. The exchange of shares will be made in accordance with the policies and practices of each nominee.

The custodian will then manage your shares of Pfizer common stock for you according to their own routines, typically paying dividends in Swedish kronor, and handling reporting to the Swedish tax authorities. Most banks and other nominees will also handle the U.S. tax filings.

There may, however, be an annual cost to the shareholder for the services of a custodian.

What should I do if my SDRs of Pharmacia are being held in a custodian account, and I want to register them with EquiServe?

All Pfizer shareholders are welcome to register their shares of Pfizer common stock with EquiServe. Contact your bank, brokerage or another nominee if you would like to transfer your shares of Pfizer common stock to EquiServe.

What happens if I want to sell my shares after the commission-free period?

Shareholders whose Pfizer shares are registered at an account with EquiServe will pay EquiServe's regular trading fees, and any currency-exchange fees, after the end of the commission-free trading period. Currently, fees are $15 per trade plus 12 cents per share. Purchasing additional Pfizer common shares via EquiServe is always free.

Will there be a central sale of fractional shares of Pfizer?

No, you may hold fractional shares (e.g., 166.6 shares) at EquiServe. If your shares are registered in a custodian account, your bank or other nominee will handle fractional shares according to their respective routines.

How will I receive my Pfizer dividends?

Historically, Pfizer has issued dividends four times a year. It is the intention that Pfizer's Swedish shareholders that are directly registered with EquiServe will receive the first two dividends of 2003 in Swedish kronor minus the currency-exchange fee. The dividend payment will be made by check. If you would rather have the dividend payment deposited into a bank account, you must provide EquiServe with relevant account information. EquiServe will distribute information following the shareholders' meeting.

Shareholders who have elected to join the Pfizer Shareholder Investment Program will have the opportunity of reinvesting their Pfizer dividends in Pfizer stock, and thus eliminating currency-exchange fees.

A major advantage of the reinvestment program is that one does not need to exchange the dollar denominated dividend (dividends in kronor, minus the currency-exchange fee, will only be available for the first two dividend payments after the merger). This can be relatively high in proportion to the amount paid out.

In mid-December 2002, Pfizer will mail further information on exactly which forms you will need to fill in.

I only own a few shares. Will there be any money left after exchanging dollars to kronor following a sale?

Proceeds from sales executed by EquiServe during the commission-free period that end of March 2003 will be converted into Swedish kronor for a minor currency-exchange fee. After this period, currency-exchange commission fees will vary according to transaction size and bank. You as a shareholder will be informed of the exact currency-exchange fee in conjunction with the information pack from Pfizer (mid-December 2002).

How will I declare these shares? What will be the tax consequences?

For individuals resident in Sweden, the tax basis of Pharmacia SDRs will automatically be rolled-over to the Pfizer shares received. Normally, there is thus no need for such individuals to report the merger in their tax return. However, any sale of fractional shares or shares in Pfizer must be reported.

All holders of SDRs of Pharmacia will receive additional information after the shareholders' meeting. For shareholders registered with EquiServe it is important to fill in the form regarding your tax residence to avoid double taxation on future dividend payments and sales.

In addition, these shareholders must report their holdings, dividends and disposal of Pfizer shares to the Swedish tax authorities. Limited liability companies and others must report the merger in their tax return but may claim deferred capital gains taxation.

What will happen to my deferred tax amount when I receive Pfizer shares?

You may continue to defer this amount.

Will the share exchange result in a new deferred amount?

No, under the new rules that are applicable for individuals, the tax basis of the SDRs in Pharmacia (SEK428 if you participated in the previous merger) will be rolled-over to the Pfizer shares received. These provisions are, however, not applicable for limited liability companies and others who instead can apply for deferred capital gains taxation.

What is a deferred tax amount?

Under the old tax provisions in respect of share-for-share exchanges, that were applicable in the merger between Pharmacia & Upjohn and Monsanto in 2000, the shareholders could apply for deferred capital gains taxation. The shareholders had to compute the capital gain (the difference between the tax basis of the shares in Pharmacia & Upjohn disposed of and the fair market value of the shares in Pharmacia Corporation received) but could, after request, be granted deferred capital gains taxation. The deferred tax amount was allocated to the shares received and will be taxable i.e. if the shares are sold (except in a share-for-share exchange) or if the shareholder so claims.

The deferred tax amount is thus deferred tax from a previous share-for-share exchange and will be rolled-over to the Pfizer shares received, see the tax section in the information brochure.

It should be noted that the new provisions in respect of roll-over relief do not result in any deferred tax amount. However, the new rules are only applicable for individuals. Other shareholders, for instance limited liability companies, must still apply for deferred capital gains taxation.

When will the forms arrive how will I know what to fill in?

In mid-December 2002, Pfizer will be mailing complete information about the share exchange, including which forms should be filled in and how. If your SDRs of Pharmacia are held at a bank or other nominee, these institutions will handle the share exchange in accordance with their respective practices and routines.

Will Pfizer translate corporate information into Swedish?

Holders of SDRs in Pharmacia will receive most of the information regarding the merger in Swedish until the closing of the merger. Holders of SDRs who become Pfizer shareholders will receive information in English thereafter, to the extent and in the same way that other shareholders in Pfizer receive information.

How will non-English speakers be able to buy and sell their shares?

Non-English speakers will be provided with the opportunity to sell their shares via an interactive Swedish-language automated telephone service, by regular mail, or online.

I have 59 SDRs of Pharmacia. How many Pfizer shares will I receive?

If you multiply the number of SDRs by 1.4 you will get the number of Pfizer shares that you will own after the share exchange. In your case, you would own fractional shares, as you would be entitled to receive 82.6 shares of Pfizer common stock. You may hold fractional shares at EquiServe.

I thought that I owned shares of Pharmacia. What are depository receipts?

Depository receipts are not literally shares, but function like a receipt for shares held by a bank, in this case SEB.

When will I know how I fill in the various forms, such as the tax form?

Pfizer will keep you continually updated during the course of the share exchange.

You will receive complete information on how to fill in various forms well in advance of their due dates.

When will the merger be completed?

Pharmacia and Pfizer currently expect to complete the merger by the end of 2002, provided that the merger agreement is approved by the companies' respective shareholders' meetings and regulatory authorities.

When will the shares be registered at EquiServe and when can I begin trading my Pfizer shares?

The shares will be made available in the former SDR holder's newly opened accounts with EquiServe as soon as possible after the closing date of the merger. Pfizer expects this to occur within approximately 21 days of the closing. Former SDR holders of Pharmacia will not be able to trade their new Pfizer shares until the new Pfizer shares are delivered into the individual accounts.

How will I be able to follow Pfizer's share price?

On Pfizer's Web site, www.pfizer.com, or on the New York Stock Exchange's web site, www.nyse.com, under the ticker symbol PFE.

How great is the risk that antitrust authorities will halt the deal?

Pfizer and Pharmacia expect to obtain all necessary approvals before the end of 2002.

However, obtaining required approvals and satisfying closing conditions may delay or prevent completion of the merger.

How will this affect Pharmacia's share price?

If you would like analysis or guidance concerning the share performance of Pharmacia and Pfizer, we recommend that you contact a bank or other nominee.
