ICAHN GROUP IS COMMENCING LITIGATION TODAY AGAINST MOTOROLA IN DELAWARE
CHANCERY COURT

Contact: Susan Gordon: (212) 702-4309

New York, NY, March 24, 2008. Carl Icahn and his affiliates (Icahn) today released the attached letter to stockholders of Motorola, Inc. (NYSE MOT), urging stockholders to elect Frank Biondi, Jr., William R. Hambrecht, Lionel C. Kimerling and Keith Meister as directors of Motorola at the 2008 annual meeting of stockholders of Motorola.

In addition, today Icahn is filing a lawsuit in the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware seeking a court order requiring Motorola to make certain materials demanded by Icahn from Motorola available for inspection.

Mr. Icahn stated: Over the past 12 months the statements and predictions of Motorola's management and the Board about Mobile Devices business have too often proven to be wrong. We want to ascertain what the Board could have done in the exercise of its fiduciary duty to assure Motorola stockholders that Motorola's statements and predictions were not incorrect and would not provide Motorola stockholders with an inaccurate perspective on the prospects for the Mobile Devices business.

Mr. Icahn further stated: We demanded these materials for the purposes of enabling us to investigate whether and to what extent the Board of Directors of Motorola failed in their duties as directors in supervising management and setting policy and direction of Motorola. We intend to share with Motorola's stockholders information obtained pursuant to the request as part of our proxy battle with Motorola. Motorola has responded that they will not comply with our demand.

The materials that Icahn is seeking include, among other items:

any board and committee minutes and documents relating to (i) the service and selection of Motorola's senior officers; (ii) the prospects or strategy of Motorola's Mobile Devices business; and (iii) the realignment of its business regarding Mobile Devices, including the potential spinoff of the Mobile Devices business documents, if any, provided to Motorola's Board of Directors regarding matters disclosed in certain of Motorola's press releases and conference calls concerning the performance of Motorola, particularly those that contemplated improvements or changes in the Mobile Device business that have not materialized documents, if any, showing the use of Motorola's aircraft and other property by members of senior management, the board of directors and their families, including the use of the aircraft for personal reasons including all records regarding reimbursements to Motorola

The Icahn proxy statement with accompanying GOLD proxy card will be mailed to Motorola stockholders shortly. Stockholders are urged to vote for Frank Biondi, Jr., William R. Hambrecht, Lionel C. Kimerling and Keith Meister as directors of Motorola at the 2008 annual meeting of stockholders of Motorola.

Dear Fellow Stockholder,

As we all are painfully aware, over the past 18 months, the market value of Motorola has dropped by over $37 billion. More than $17 per share of Stockholder capital has vanished under the guidance and leadership of the current Board. Results in Motorola's Mobile Devices business have gone from bad to worse all under the stewardship of the Board and management that assured us during last year's proxy contest that they had a plan to right the ship, a drumbeat of new products that would address the needs and desires of the worldwide markets, a software and silicon strategy that would drive sales and margins, and a management team that was up to the task.... 2008 was supposed to be a successful and profitable year in Mobile Devices with the potential to achieve 10% operating margins in the near future. Instead, the results are a Stockholders' nightmare.

Last year I argued that Motorola needed true Stockholder representation on the Board; unfortunately, we lost that battle in a close election. Motorola's Board and management made enough empty promises to convince Stockholders to give them another chance to get it right. They didn't. What we got instead was a year of revolving-door executives, a leadership vacuum, and accelerating deterioration at Motorola's Mobile Devices unit.

PROTECT YOUR INVESTMENT VOTE FOR OUR NOMINEES

We now have the opportunity to elect four strong individuals with superlative credentials to the Motorola Board. Three of these individuals, Frank Biondi, Jr., William R. Hambrecht and Lionel C. Kimerling, are independent of Icahn. In my opinion they would not only bring substantial intelligence and experience to the Board but would broaden its perspective and provide voices to challenge the chaotic status quo at Motorola. But most importantly, as I said last year, I am convinced that Motorola must have a large Stockholder on the Board. Icahn entities currently own approximately 145 million Motorola shares. Keith Meister is a top member of the Icahn team and a principal in our funds, which manage over $8 billion of assets. He has been the Chief Executive Officer/Principal Executive Officer of Icahn Enterprises L.P. since 2003, the stock of which has increased from $8 to $80 per share during his tenure. He will have 145 million reasons to advance all Stockholders' interests. However, the Motorola Board, the members of which in the aggregate own less than 1.5 million Motorola shares (excluding option shares), has found that Mr. Meister is not qualified. It should be noted that the nominating committee never even deigned to give Mr. Meister an interview, even though accepting Mr. Meister might avert a distracting proxy fight just another example of the Board's insular ways and flawed judgment. One must wonder what it takes to be board qualified at Motorola. Is it the ability to lose $37 Billion? And what qualified Greg Brown to be the CEO? He certainly as far as I can ascertain has no in-depth experience or knowledge concerning the Mobile Devices business, which was and is by far the major problem for Motorola. Hopefully, our litigation with Motorola will soon reveal just how hard our blue-ribbon board tried to find an alternative to the qualified Mr. Brown. I am convinced that Stockholders need to elect ALL of our candidates to send a message to Motorola's management and remaining directors that the status quo at Motorola and inside its boardroom is no longer acceptable. It is essential to the future of Motorola that its directors realize that the BOARD, especially at this precarious time, is NOT A COUNTRY CLUB OR A FRATERNITY, and that truly qualified people whose interests are truly aligned with Stockholders, are needed on the Board in order to save Motorola. I urge all Stockholders to exercise their voting franchise AND ELECT ALL FOUR OF OUR NOMINEES.

As you may know, the Board has finally announced that it is studying a restructuring at Motorola, including a possible spin off of Mobile Devices a position that we have supported for months (in fact, in an interesting coincidence this announcement by Motorola came the day before we were required to submit the names of potential nominees under the Motorola bylaws). However, it has been almost two months and Stockholders, customers, employees and vendors are still waiting for Motorola's august Board to make a decision. Meanwhile, the Mobile Devices business is melting and the Board is still studying. Now is the time for action, not more indecision. It is therefore especially vital that we have the right people on the Board to drive, guide and monitor this restructuring and spin off process through to completion. This will provide Stockholders the best opportunity to get it right.

SPIN-OFF MOBILE DEVICES WITH A NEW STRONG CEO AND RESTORE THIS ICONIC BRAND

We believe that Motorola's Board and its ever-shifting management team have proven themselves unable to fix Motorola. Their oft repeated and ultimately empty promises of better times ahead (see Motorola's Record of Failed Leadership below) leave us doubting that they either have, or ever had, any real handle on what Motorola is doing and where it is heading. MOTOROLA'S STOCK PRICE OVER THE LAST YEAR TELLS THE STORY BETTER THAN ANY WORDS CAN.

We are convinced that two things are necessary to restore value to Motorola Stockholders:

Spin-off the Mobile Device operations to Stockholders as a wholly separate company with a new CEO. The Mobile Devices industry is driven by unceasing innovation and creativity, neither of which can exist in an organization subject to constant turmoil. Mobile Devices needs a new CEO and new management team free from the inept current leadership of Motorola. I believe that no new top-notch Mobile Devices management team will be willing to report to or be involved in any way with the current Motorola management or Board. A separate Mobile Devices company would have the independence and flexibility that, in our opinion, are required to succeed and achieve the potential of its iconic brand. Today, Motorola's stock price reflects no value for the Mobile Device's business. We believe that outside Motorola, with a new management team and renewed vigor, its value to both Stockholders and the market will become apparent.

Give Stockholders a strong and capable voice in the Boardroom. I believe Stockholders should not be forced to tolerate the erosion of the value of their investment brought about by the lack of judgment and oversight of the current Board. When you consider the statements and assurances that management and the Board are sure to make in this proxy contest remember the statements and assurances given last year. A strong mandate from Stockholders electing all of our four nominees is, in my opinion, absolutely necessary to save this once great American company. Do not allow the past to repeat itself - elect all four Icahn nominees with a clear mandate for change.

Empty Promises

Motorola's Record of Failed Leadership

Consider the following statements made by Motorola's management and Board over the past 18 months:

October 17, 2006 - With our new portfolio of mobile devices shipping in volume this quarter...we look forward to continued successes in the months and year ahead.

Motorola shares closed at $24.85.

January 19, 2007 - I am confident that we remain well positioned for continued growth and success. ... we will continue to execute on our focused, strategic plan to create value for our shareholders.

Motorola shares closed at $19.27.

March 21, 2007 - the actions that we outlined in January were not progressing fast enough, if at all.

Motorola shares closed at $18.74.

April 18, 2007 - This is a great business with a substantially growing market that requires a high degree of R&D investment, supply chain excellence, a cost structure that requires maniacal focus and flawless execution. We know how to do this and have done it for almost three years. Motorola shares closed at $18.22.

May 3, 2007 - Your Board and management are also committed to restoring the profitability of our Mobile Devices business, and are executing a comprehensive plan for doing so. Mobile Devices is a great business in a growing market, and your Board and management have a strong plan for its success. Our plan draws our many years of unprecedented success in this challenging market, as well as the expertise of our newly strengthened management team. Together, we are taking aggressive actions to improve the performance of our Mobile Devices business. Motorola s shares closed at $17.73.

July 19, 2007 - In Mobile Devices we did not achieve the level of sales and unit shipments that we had expected, primarily in Asia and the Middle East and Africa. Europe, as we have been saying all year, continues to be a challenge Motorola shares closed at $18.22.

September 7, 2007 - Mobile devices, as far as we re concerned, is a double digit operating earnings business. We ve been there, we know how to do it, and we will do it again.

Motorola s shares closed at $17.13.

October 25, 2007 - with ... the initiatives we are taking in Mobile Devices we will further improve our performance and create long-term shareholder value.

Motorola s shares closed at $19.30.

January 23, 2008 - We are ... working to get Mobile Devices back on track.

Motorola s shares closed at $10.01.

As of the date of this letter, Motorola stock is trading at $9.25. Mobile Devices has run through four unit heads. Its market share has been almost halved since the fourth quarter of 2006. Sales have plummeted. Operating income has fallen from $2.7 billion in 2006 to a loss of $700 million in 2007 and increased losses are projected in the first quarter of 2008. Meanwhile, Motorola s corporate leadership has been in constant turmoil. Motorola has had two CEO s and three CFO s in little over a year.

The board of a public company is there to oversee management and help guide the company, not man the turnstiles of the executive suite. A board s purpose is to provide stability and direction. A significant Stockholder presence on Motorola s Board might have helped avoid the staggering failure of leadership at Motorola. Stockholders have suffered and Motorola has been damaged. We are convinced that your vote for our nominees can help prevent further harm. Consider the backgrounds of our highly qualified nominees:

Frank Biondi, Jr.

Mr. Frank Biondi, Jr. is well recognized as a senior executive with substantial experience, including nearly a decade as President and Chief Executive Officer of Viacom, Inc. Mr. Biondi is a director of Amgen Inc., Cablevision Systems Corp., Hasbro, Inc., The Bank of New York Company, Inc. and Seagate Technology.

William R. Hambrecht

Mr. William R. Hambrecht is the Founder, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of WR Hambrecht & Co., which was instrumental in persuading Google to use an Internet-based auction for their initial public offering. He also co-founded Hambrecht & Quist, an internationally recognized leader as an investment banker to high technology entities, with early involvement in companies such as Apple Computer, Genentech and Adobe Systems. Hambrecht & Quist was sold to the Chase Manhattan Bank in 1999.

Lionel C. Kimerling

Lionel C. Kimerling is the Thomas Lord Professor of Materials Science and Engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Since 1993, Mr. Kimerling has been Director of the MIT Materials Processing Center where he conducts an active research program in the structure, properties and processing of semiconductor materials, and since 1997 he has been Director of the MIT Microphotonics Center. Prior to joining the MIT faculty, he was Head of the Materials Physics Research Department at AT&T Bell Laboratories from 1981 to 1990.

Keith Meister

Keith Meister has been the Chief Executive Officer/Principal Executive Officer of Icahn Enterprises L.P. since 2003, the stock of which has increased from $8 to $80 per share during his tenure. Mr. Meister also serves as a Managing Director and senior member of the investment team of the Icahn investment funds which manage over $8 billion of assets. He also serves on the boards of directors of XO Holdings, Inc., WCI Communities, Inc., and Federal-Mogul Corporation.

We urge you to support the election of ALL FOUR OF OUR NOMINEES. Help us bring significant and, we believe, sorely needed Stockholder representation, to the Motorola Board.

Sincerely,
Carl C. Icahn
