Item 8.01 Other Events.

On September 17, 2009, Visteon Corporation (the Company) filed a motion with the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware (the Bankruptcy Court) seeking authority to enter into a customer accommodation agreement and related access and security agreement (together, the Accommodation Agreement) with General Motors Company (GM). Pursuant to the Accommodation Agreement, GM has agreed to, among other things:

pay $8.0 million in cash surcharge payments above the parts purchase order price for component parts produced by certain of the Company's interior and fuel tank product groups;

pay up to $10 million to fund the consolidation of certain of the Company's Mexican facilities; reimburse the Company for $4.425 million in up-front engineering, design, and development support costs; accelerate payment terms on outstanding purchase orders from the GM standard payment terms; purchase certain inventory relating to re-sourced component parts according to a stated price formula; reimburse the Company for costs associated with the wind-down of operations related to the production of interior and fuel tank GM component parts;

pay $8.2 million in cure payments in connection with the assumption and assignment of purchase orders with the Company in GM's chapter 11 case; limit its ability to set-off against accounts receivables owing to the Company; and forbear from re-sourcing certain product lines.

In exchange for these benefits, the Company agreed to continue producing and delivering component parts to GM during the term of the Accommodation Agreement as well as provide considerable assistance to GM in re-sourcing production to other suppliers. Also, the Company agreed to build an inventory bank for GM, provided GM pays for such inventory on an accelerated basis and covers the Company's out-of-pocket expenses in maintaining and handling the inventory. In addition, the Accommodation Agreement grants GM an option to purchase equipment and tooling owned by the Company that is exclusively used to manufacture GM component parts, provides GM with a right to access the Company's facilities if the Company ceases production and grants to GM a security interest in certain operating assets that would be necessary for GM component part production.

The effectiveness of the Accommodation Agreement is conditioned upon the approval of such agreements by the Bankruptcy Court.

Court filings, including the above-referenced motion, and other information are available at www.kccllc.net/Visteon.
