Item 8.01 Other Events

As previously reported, the IRS began auditing our federal income tax returns for 1998 through 2000 in 2003. While the audit is not complete, in November 2004 the IRS proposed adjustments that challenge certain of our tax positions primarily related to (i) a capital loss on the sale of a minority interest in our captive insurance company, (ii) the tax treatment for a sale and leaseback of certain revenue earning equipment in 1999 and 2000 (not involving our securitization activities), and (iii) the tax basis for certain revenue earning equipment acquired in 1998 and related depreciation for such assets (collectively, the Proposed Adjustments ). We believe that our tax positions comply with applicable tax law and intend to vigorously defend our positions through applicable IRS and judicial procedures, as appropriate. However, if the IRS were to ultimately prevail on the Proposed Adjustments, the amount of tax the Company would have to pay for all periods to date, excluding interest and possible penalties, is approximately $190 million (after offsets of available federal net operating losses and alternative minimum tax credit carry-forwards). Interest through September 30, 2004 would have been approximately $50 million, net of related tax deductions. The IRS may also seek to impose penalties, the amount of which cannot be determined at the present time.

We have established accruals related to the Proposed Adjustments that we believe are appropriate. However, such accruals require management to make estimates and judgments with respect to the outcome of the Proposed Adjustments. The resolution of the Proposed Adjustments may result in tax liabilities that are higher or lower than the accruals established. Resolution of the Proposed Adjustments within the amounts accrued would not have a material adverse effect on our financial position, results of operations and cash flows. However, a resolution that is materially in excess of our tax accruals could have a material adverse effect on our financial position, results of operations and cash flows in the period in which the matter is ultimately resolved.

Tax audits are by their very nature complex and can take several years to complete. While we cannot predict with certainty how long the resolution of these issues will take, based on our previous IRS audits, we believe that the issues will be resolved prior to December 31, 2006.

We believe that the Company has not entered into any other transactions since 2000 that raise the same type of issues identified by the IRS in the Proposed Adjustments.
