Item 5. Other Events

As described in its 2003 annual meeting proxy statement, until the effective date of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 ("Sarbanes-Oxley"), Allegheny Technologies Incorporated ("ATI") maintained a Stock Acquisition and Retention Program ("SARP"). Under the SARP, certain executives could purchase shares of ATI common stock in exchange for a promissory note payable to ATI, and ATI would match the purchase with a grant of a certain number of shares of restricted common stock. After the enactment of Sarbanes-Oxley, the Company terminated the SARP and no further loans or purchases were permitted. In connection with the winding up of the SARP, on September 11, 2003 an aggregate of 691,339 shares, previously purchased under the SARP between 1995 and the effective date of Sarbanes-Oxley, were sold by participants to a financial institution in a market transaction; all net proceeds were used to reduce balances due under SARP promissory notes. In addition, all of the restricted shares granted to the participants under the SARP in prior years, an aggregate of 501,970, as well as options to purchase an aggregate of 836,466 shares of common stock previously granted, were forfeited by SARP participants. In addition, the Company paid the participants a SARP Termination Payment in cash, which was used by each participant, net of individual tax consequences, to repay to the Company all remaining balances owing on the SARP loans. The Board of Directors has also determined that no equity compensation will be granted to SARP participants for at least six months. As a result of the termination of the SARP, ATI expects to receive approximately $730,000 in net cash and incur an after tax book expense of approximately $3.4 million in the third quarter of 2003.
